Complete Stone Work On New City Hall

Stone work has been completed at the city hall, ready for final inspection, including the stone cap on the flag pole base, in the progress report to the council by W. F. Orr, clerk of the works.

The laying of copper on the penthouse roof continues. All boiler room work is in, except connection to the fuel tank, heating and water lines to the library and painting. The concrete tunnel conveying heating and water lines to the library has been poured, and now awaits installation of piping and insulation.

Ventilation duct work is 90 per cent in, and electrical work is well advanced with the installation of transformers completed, and wiring being pulled through the building with some lighting fixtures placed. All concrete subfloors in the basement have been finished.

Terrazzo has been completed and the first grind finished throughout the building with the exception of some of the base and borders in certain lavatories which await plumbing fixtures.

Lathing is proceeding in the main lobby, stairway, court room, council chamber and in the penthouse.

St. John's, Ida, Holds Remembrance Service

CAVAN, June 13 (ENS)—A Remembrance Day service was held at St. John's Church, Ida, on Sunday. The rector, Rev. A. Chote, had charge of the service.

Miss Joan Wilson, Port Whitby, guest soloist sang "Think of Me," accompanied by Miss Jean Lough.

The church was filled to capacity and many were there from a distance to place flowers on the graves of their departed loved ones.

Russians Creating Travel Difficulties

VIENNA, June 13—(AP)—The Russians created difficulties again today on American travel out of four-power Vienna, but United States officials were optimistic the sudden Soviet obstacles would soon end.

Since Monday, the Russians have been returning unapproved abnormally large numbers of American applications to cross the Soviet zone to the British zone of Austria—one of the two exit routes for American citizens from Vienna.

Ottawa Agrees With Frost House Proposal

LONDON, Ont., June 13 (CP) —The Federal Government agrees in principle with Premier Frost's proposal for an Ontario rental-housing project to provide upwards of 5,000 houses, resources Minister Winters said today.

"We will try to see to it that such activities do not seriously impair the effort of private builders constructing houses for sale," he said in an address prepared for the annual convention of the Canadian Federation of Mayors and Municipalities.

Premier Frost announced the scheme, which may be extended to 25,000 houses, in a convention address Monday night.

"We must be assured that rental housing is needed within the community at rentals which keep the project on an economic basis," Mr. Winters said.

"I am glad to say negotiations are moving forward with other provincial governments as well for the development of housing projects of a variety of types. . ."

The Federal-Provincial Housing arrangements were being made under section 35 of the National Housing Act. The legislation provides for the Federal Government to pay 75 per cent of the capital cost.

Spiritual Democracy Stressed To Baptists

HAMILTON, June 13—(CP)—Dr. Townley Lord, president of the Baptist World Alliance of London, England, Tuesday night urged a church organization which would permit "real spiritual democracy" in an address to delegates of the Baptist Convention of Ontario and Quebec. The convention decided to increase the minimum salary of ministers $200 annually, to $2,000.

Private Deal

WASHINGTON, June 13 (AP). —A blind Washington fruit dealer is going to get financial help from the Economic Co-operatin Administration. Employees of the Marshall Plan agency, which has given away billions to foreign governments, are collecting $150 of their own money. It will be given to John B. Triplett, who was robbed of $150 after he left his fruit stand in one of the ECA buildings for a few minutes.

Kick Kills Child

ERIE, Pa., June 13 (AP).—An unemployed 22-year-old father confessed he fatally kicked his 15-month-old daughter in a fit of anger while setting up a new stove. Police said Tuesday Charles Huffman kicked Joyce Marie Huffman in the stomach. She died May 28 in hospital. Her death originally was blamed on an accidental fall.

"Who sent you in there?" asked the chief coroner.—"The chief said he wanted four or five men," said Vinette.

"What did he ask you to do?" —"He said he wanted the ceiling pulled down because there was fire in it."

"You went in on the chief's instructions?"—"Well, he asked for the men."

"Which one told you to go?"—"The chief said he wanted four or five to put out what fire we could."

Whose Orders?

Both Captains Mason and Garnet Brown were asked who sent the men in, but both said they did not know. Sorrie said he expected they had been ordered in by somebody, but he din't know who. He said that he'd heard of and seen men go into spots of that kind without orders.

Fireman Don Bartley said he didn't think anyone sent the men into the store. Bartley was injured in the second crash.

The question of where the fire started was not definitely settled. All witnesses agreed that it started somewhere at the back of the stores. Captain Mason said he belived it started somewhere in the upper storeys.

He said he had looked in the stores when arrived at the fire about 6.10 a.m. Th e was only a little smoke in the stores at that time.

In Upper Storeys

"After looking at the stores, I thought the fire was in the upper storeys. There wasn't much smoke in the stores, but there was a lot upstairs," Captain Mason said.

Captain Brown testified he met Chief Smith in the lane at the rear of the buildings not long before the crash that trapped the four men.

"He asked me if I had any men to spare . . . and I sent Sloan and Deck to see what the chief wanted. A few minutes later, I saw the chief on the second floor.

Not Safe

"From our point of observation, we could see that the floor wasn't safe becauseof the debris piled on it. We shouted a warning to the chief. I don't think he heard us.

"I don't think five seconds lapsed before I heard the crash. I didn't think the chief had time to get out. After the crash, I was down in the debris, and somebody told me there were two men there. I could recognize Vinette's voice and was told that Black with just behind him.

"In my opinion, the chief approached from the wrong angle to see from advantage. I'm not criticizing him, but he might have got a better view of it if he'd seen it from where I was or from the west," the captain said.

Get Me Out

First mention of voices in the debris came from Fireman John George Pruner, who said he heard a voice cry faintly: "Get me out." He thought the voice was about 30 feet from the front of Riley's store.

"Although I couldn't distinguish the voice, I believed it was Deck."

"Did you think it was necessary for the men to be sent in?" Dr. Lawson asked. Pruner said he couldn't see why six or seven were there when the fire was practically out."

Volunteer Robert Webb, 698 Charlotte St., said he'd been helping out with odd jobs all day at the fire, and finally went in with Earl Spencley and five firemen.

"Did anybody send you in?" Crown Attorney John Bradshaw asked. "No one asked us to go in," Webb said. He said he remembered seeing George Reynolds, Grover Deck, Orville Rome, Adelard Vinette, Earl Spencley, Chief Smith, and Assistant Chief Stew Foster in Riley's store.

Webb said he was ahead of Spencley and behind Reynolds. Seconds later, he went to the front of the store and the ceiling fell in.

Faulty Construction

During the afternoon's hearing, veteran contractor Harold Ephgrave claimed the collapse of the firewalls was due to faulty construction "by today's standards."

The two brick walls that collapsed, trapping the firemen, had originally been firewalls, but had had so many holes cut in them that they no longer served their original purpose.

He told the inquest that four major alterations had been made to the building.

"Would you have sent men in there?" Dr. Lawson asked. "As a contractor, no; as a fireman, I don't know."

Ephgrave said Fire Chief Smith had asked him to inspect the west wall, but he didn't have a chance to report on it before the crash that trapped the men.

The contractor said he advised the fire chief that it would not be safe to send rescue squads into the building until the west (rear) wall was torn down. He said it was not until 2 p.m. that he considered it safe for rescue squads to go in.

Constable Douglas Farthing, who first saw the fire and turned in the alarm, said he was patrolling the lane at the rear of the building when "the back window of Ed. Riley's store blew out.

"Flames shot 15 or 20 feet up the wall. Then I went to the alarm box at George and Hunter Sts. and turned in the alarm. I went up the front stairs and woke up a woman in the front apartment.

Woke Tenants

"Then I went to wake up the other tenants, but was forced back by smoke. I tried again and got Mrs. Gallagher (Mrs. Phillip Gallagher) and her daughter out of the apartment.

"She said her husband was still asleep. I told Assistant Chief (Virgil) Carr that a man was still in the back apartment. I heard later that Mr. Gallagher got out on a ladder."

On a previous patrol, about 4.55 a.m., the officer said he saw no smoke or fire. Dr. Lawson complimented Constable Farthing for his "thorough evidence."

Suffocation

Dr. C. B. Waite, district provincial pathologist, testified he performed a post mortem on Earl Spencley and he attributed death to "suffocation from pressure on the chest and abdomen."

He said he didn't perform post mortems on the three other men who were killed, but he believed they also died of suffocation.

Dr. Lawson asked if smoke hadn't something to do with their deaths. Dr. White said no.

"Did you know whose body it was?" Mr. Bradshaw asked Dr. Waite—"Yes, it was Earl Spencley. He was the only one I could identify, although I knew some of the other men."

In the afternoon session, which started the inquest, 15 witnesses were heard, most of them store tenants. In the three-hour evening hearing, 11 were heard, seven of them firemen.

Photos Identified

Two photographers, C. G. B. Nickels and Lewis Parks, identified photographs they had taken during and after the fire.

Most of the afternoon's questions centred on inflammable materials, electrical appliances, wiring, and smoking in the stores.

Wiring Trouble

Only one tenant, Kenneth Sloan, manager of Tip Top Tailors, testified there had been wiring trouble. He said that once a fuse blew in the main fuse box in his store. The cause, he said, was an overload of power.

The first sign of flame noticed by the afternoon's witnesses was in the southwest corner of the Agnew-Surpass store. Ed Riley and William Moorhead, the latter the manager of the shoe store, both testified to this.

Five Peterborough men are acting as the jury: Jack Sinclair (foreman), H. T. Cranford, J. E. Girven, Harry Knox and Thomas McMillan.

He remained with the 36th Battery for the remainder of the war, serving a year at Sussex, N.B., where he was promoted to captain; one year in England and a year-and-a-half in Northwest Europe. He joined the 33rd Medium Regiment in 1945 and w.s promoted to major in 1946.

Proposes Meeting

WASHINGTON, June 13 (AP). — Belgium's foreign minister, Paul Van Zeeland, has proposed a meeting of the 12 Atlantic Pact foreign and defence ministers some time this summer, preferably in July. Diplomatic sources told a reporter today Van Zeeland wants quick action on (1) whether Greece and Turkey are to be brought into the alliance, as informally advocated by the United States; and (2) whether Western Germany is to contribute to the proposed mutual defence force and, if so, how.

Obituary

MRS. GEORGE O'SULLIVAN

CAMPBELLFORD, June 13 (ENS)—Campbellford lost one of its highly esteemed citizens on Monday, with the death in St. Joseph's Hospital, Peterborough, of Mrs. George O'Sullivan. Mrs. O'Sullivan, the former Mary Nathan, was 65 at the time of her death, and she and Mr. O'Sullivan would have celebrated their 37th wedding anniversary this year.

Born in Burnley, the daughter of the late James Nathan, and Margaret Ahern, the deceased came to Campbellford at an early age, where she resided ever since.

She had been ill for only a short time. She leaves her husband, George, and three sons, Frank of Ottawa, Paul of Campbellford, and the Rev. Father Joseph O'Sullivan of the Immaculate Conception Parish in Peterborough.

She was a member of St. Mary's Roman Catholic Church in Campbellford and was active in CWL duties. She also assisted locally in the work of the Red Cross.

Funeral services will be conducted at 10 a.m. on Thursday morning, from the church. Her son, Father Joseph O'Sullivan, will officiate. No further details available.

3 Companies Ask About Old City Hall

Ald. Hugh Waddell, chairman of the property committee of council, confirmed today reports of enquiries about occupation of the city buildings in the old block at Simcoe and Water streets.

It is understood that Colonial Coach is one of three interests who have been asking about the property and to the extent of having engineers examine it.

Ald. Waddell said a coach company was one of the three, but so far no merchandising firm has asked about possibility of obtaining a lease.

"I think the council would prefer to rent the building as a whole instead of dealing with individuals separately, if that could be arranged," Ald. Waddell said. "It would simplify the problem from our standpoint, but we have no idea yet as to whether anyone may be interested in the whole block."

Municipal administration and also the Utilities Commission will vacate the premises probably before the end of the year. With the removal of the outdoor section of the market, the accustomed use of that larger area of the property that has long served public ends will be entirely changed.

Bethany In Front

BETHANY, June 13 (ENS). — The Bethany team of the North Durham League won 13-2 in Janetville earlier this week. David Sanderson Buried Tuesday

Four boys who could as yet have little understanding of the finality and grief of death carried the coffin of their late companion, David Sanderson of Smith, to his grave at Little Lake Cemetery Tuesday afternoon.

The ten-year-old son of Mr. and Mrs. Roy Sanderson was struck down and killed by an automobile on the east side of the Chemong Road, Saturday afternoon, as he pushed his bicycle northerly up one of the grades beyond his home. With him was a companion of the neighborhood, Peter Newmaster, who is nine years of age.

The service at the Kaye funeral home was attended by several hundred friends in silent tribute of sympathy for the bereaved parents and family, and in sadness for a young life suddenly cut short soon after leaving the security of his farm home. Most of the congregation were men and women of the Smith community, and there were also many from other parts of the county and from the city.

Rev. Boyd

Rev. C. G. Boyd of St. Paul's Presbyterian Church conducted the service, assisted the Rev. Walter S. Crone. They also officiated at the cemetery.

The pallbearers were Gerald Milburn, Donald Moncrief, Bobby Hollingsworth and Blaine Boswell. Other little boys were flower bearers: Fred McGregor, Bobby Blewett, Raymond Anderson, Joseph Milburn, Clifford Montieth and Peter Newmaster.

The profusion of flowers included beautiful bloom of remembrance from the children of S. S. No. 3 Smith, where the name of David Anderson is still on the enrolment list.

Police Crack Down On Illegal Parking

COBOURG, June 13 (ENS)— Local police, cracking down on illegal parking, including those who either insert nothing or not enough in the parking meters, handed out 60 ticket Monday and Tuesday. The town council a month ago warned that the police would become more strict in regard to those who violate parking regulations, in view of the fact that new meter heads had been installed and there would be no excuse through faulty meters.

2 Headquarters To Be Set Up In Civil Defence

Two headquarters will be set up by the Civil Defence committee: one centrally located in the city and the other outside the target area, a meeting of the committee decided.

The second location would have duplicate records and plans so the work of the committee could continue with a minimum of disruption should the centrally-located headquarters be destroyed.

It has not yet been decided where these centres will be. Final word will depend on the recommendations of the communications section.

Work has progressed sufficiently for the specialist plans to be incorporated into the master plan, the civil defence planning committee has decided. Alderman Hugh Waddell is the chairman.

Use Services

Services and facilities of picked organizations are being alloted where they will be most useful. The Peterborough Red Cross and St. John Ambulance will be under the welfare division; Boy Scouts and motorcycle organizations under communications, and the various public utility groups where their particular specialty willl be most useful.

For planning purposes Peterborough is being set down as a one-target zone. For warden services the city is being divided into 12 warden zones.

Key Warden service has been largely completed and includes directors, deputy directors and assistants, zone wardens, self-help groups—317 persons in all.

Walter J. Smillie, manager of the Civic Arena, has been appointed secretary for the Civil Defence organization.

The COMINFORM ISSUED ORDERS

On November 29, 1949, the Soviet Cominform adopted a resolution* reading:

"The struggle for a stable and lasting peace, for the organization and consolidation of the forces of peace against the forces of war should now become the pivot of the entire activity of the Communist parties and democratic organizations."

This resolution went on to direct that:

"Particular attention should be devoted to bringing together into the movement of the supporters of peace the trade unions, etc. . . ."

No Evidence of Negligence In Firefighting Jury Rules

Young Cafe Owner Shot To Death Left Beside Road

BRANTFORD, June 14. (CP)—A young Brantford restaurant owner, termed a "toughie" by those familiar with his criminal past, was found shot to death Wednesday night beside a country road. Edward Barbarian, 28-year-old owner of the Omega restaurant,, was first thought to have been beaten to death and his body placed on the outskirts of Mount Pleasant, five miles south of here. But police at noon today said he had been shot through the right temple.

Two brothers, Tom Tincknell, 12, and Bud, 14, found the body about nine o'clock Wednesday night while on their way home. They had passed the spot about an hour before and had seen nothing. A felt hat partially covering the head, the body lay in tall grass bordering a well-travelled road.

Police denied published reports that Barbarian, released seven months ago from penitentiary after serving a term for bond theft had been bootlegging and sought to become Brantford's leader in that illegal field. He recently was fined for obstructing police.

No motive for the slaying was advanced immediately. "At the moment, we're stymied," said an officer.

Hunt Hired Killers

Acquaintances of the dead man, termed a "tough type," said he possibly had been "knocked off" by hired killers but no evidence to substantiate this was uncovered in early police investigations.

Police said the man had been dead about eight to 10 hours when found. The body was lying face up, the rain-soaked clothing neatly arranged, indicating that it had been placed on the roadside with care. There was no blood on the light sport shirt or trousers.

The murder weapon was not located. Police expressed the theory that the body had been taken to the spot in an automobile, possibly Barbarians 1946 blue Cadillac which was located this morning on a west Brantford street. The car had been reported missing.

Search Body

A search of the body produced a wallet, empty except for a driver's licence and motor vehicle permit, $1.05 in a trousers pocket and a loaded, cocked .38-calibre automatic pistol.

Short, Stocky, Barbarian operated the Omega Bar on Queen St. here. Friends said he could "look after himself." He was released only seven months ago from Kingston penitentiary after serving a term for bond robbery and recently was fined for obstructing police.

The victim's parents were advised of his death by police this morning. His father said:

"Poor boy, poor boy. Only 28 years old. I don't know how anybody could do it."

US-Britain Agree On Japanese Treaty Draft

LONDON, June 14 (Reuters)—Full agreement on the United States draft treaty for peace with Japan has been reached with Britain, it was officially announced tonight.

Agreement was worked out in negotiations between Kenneth Younger, Britain's minister of state, and President Truman's special envoy, John Foster Dulles.

A foreign office communique said they also reached agreement on all other main outstanding problems, but there provisional accord was subject to final approval on both sides.

Both negotiators rejected Russia's insistence that the treaty with Japan must be drafted at a meeting of the foreign ministers of the United States, Britain, France and Red China.

Begin Campaign For 35-Hr. Week

MELBOURNE, Australia, June 14 (Reuters). — The first shot in what could develop into a drive for a general 35-hour week throughout Australia is due to be fired soon.

Despite appeals for greater production to overcome increasing inflation, Australia's biggest union, the 183,000-member Australian Workers' Union has asked the Arbitration Court to grant a 35-hour week for gold miners in Victoria and Tasmania.

This is meant to be a test case.

Then in September, the union will ask the court to approve a 35-hour working week for 35,000 union building workers throughout Australia.

The AWU move has not been supported by other Australian unions, who argue that the time is not opportune for a general reduction in working hours.

But some union officials believe it is the beginning of a campaign which will eventually result in a general reduction in working hours. Many unions, they add, are making a 30-hour week their objective

Any move to reduce working hours will meet strong opposition from employers' organizations, which are clamoring for an immediate review of the 40-hour eek granted by the Arbitration ourt in 1947.

Police Question Polish Immigrant

COCHRANE, June 14. (CP)—A Toronto detective today questioned a 32-year-old Polish immigrant in connection with the hatchet-slaying of a Toronto woman last week.

Police said the suspect, Alfred Zalewski, former Noranda miner, left Toronto four hours after the body of Mrs. Gertrude Derkison was found in her mid-Toronto hardware store.

They termed erroneous previous reports that Zalewski had been in the same wartime Nazi concentration camp as the slain woman. His background is still unkown, they said.

Air Defence System Weak–Vandenberg

PARIS, June 14 (Reuters) Gen Hoyt S. Vandenberg, United States Chief of Staff, said here today that the air defence of western Europe is not so strong as it should be.

Before leaving for Luxembourg he told reporters that he and the air chiefs of staff of Britain, France and Canada had been discussing here how to build up an adequate tactical air force in western Europe.

Asked what retaliation the Allied air forces could make if the Russian air force attacked today, he said:

"Obviously I would not advocate greater air power if I did not believe we would be in a safer position if we had more air power"

"Our strategic air power in the United States is well trained, efficient but small," the General said.

"The tactical air force of western Europe is inadequate. The purpose of our meeting was, among other things, to find out how we could make it adequate."

Iranian Premier Ill After Conference

TEHRAN, Iran, June 14 (CP)—Premier Mohammed Mossadegh was too sick today to appear before parliament. Associates said the premier's weak heart was overtaxed by the nervous strain of his battle for nationalization of Iran's oil resources.

The emotional 70-year-old leader had been scheduled to speak to parliament, presumably giving a report on his first meeting Wednesday night with three British representatives who have come here to seek a place for their interests in the nationalized industry Mossadegh burst into tears during the conference and sobbed as he described his country's poverty to B. R Jackson, deputy board chairman of the Anglo-Iranian Oil Company.

Men In Korea May Get Cut In Tax

Abbott Suggests $1 Day Reduction For Fighting Forces

OTTAWA, June 14. (CP)—Income tax relief for Canadians fighting the Korean war has been proposed in the House of Commons by the Government.A non-partisan discussion on the budget taxation bills as they affect fighting men in Korea brought an amendment Wednesday to give them a dollar a day remission of income tax payments of every day they serve there. This would exempt many soldiers entirely and is a formula which may be extended to Canadians serving in any future war theatre.

Many members had protested against making fighting men pay income tax and the Government, while against the idea of setting up any privileged income-tax-paying class, had indicated an open mind from the start.

Finance Minister Abbott, once a teen-aged overseas soldier himself, announced Wednesday that men serving in Korea are going to be given an income tax credit of $1 a day for every day they serve there. He said it will exclude most of them from tax.

The new system means that if a man serves there 365 days he gets $365 knocked off his income tax. If his tax is more than $365 he pays the difference, if it's less he pays nothing.

Think It Over

Mr. Abbott introduced an amendment to the Income Tax Act to make the change effective and asked the Commons to think it over. It applies to men "serving outside Canada" which, he said, means Korea for the present. The House, which has heard numerous requests that the men get combat pay or higher tax exemptions, showed no immediate reaction.

Send Wilgress To Conference

OTTAWA, June 14 — (CP). — Canada is naming her top diplomatic and military representatives in London to attend the Commonwealth defence conference to be held there late this month, it was learned today

Dana Wilgress, High Commissioner, and Maj.-Gen. S. F. (Fin) Clark, head of the military mission, assisted by S. F. Rae, first secretary under Mr. Wilgress, will attend the conference as observers.

The government has decided against sending a Cabinet minister, mainly because the conference is primarily concerned with the Middle East and Canada feels commitments elsewhere prevent her from taking a direct hand in that area. External Affairs Minister Pearson may be in London at the time, but has said he won't attend the meeting.

Ottawa May Spend Millions To Assist Universities

OTTAWA, June 14 (CP)—A contribution of several millions of dollars to Canada's hard-pressed universities may be the government's first step towards acceptance of Massey Commission recommendations for Canadian cultural development.

A statement to this effect may be made by Prime Minister St. Laurent within the next few weeks. The aid, in the form of capital grants, may reach the universities by the time their doors open for the new semester next fall.

Mr. St. Laurent, it was learned, already has asked government experts to estimate how much money would be involved in meeting the Massey Commission on arts recommendation for expanded federal aid to universities.

A memorandum has been prepared, and this likely will form the basis for the government's final estimation of what the treasury can afford to pay out at this time.

In some quarters, estimates of what the government may contribute run up to as much as $7,000,000. This, however, may be trimmed by the time Mr. St. Laurent makes his expected announcement.

The Massey Commission report, tabled in the Commons two weeks ago, recommended two forms of federal aid—capital grants and scholarships. The first step towards helping the universities likely will take the form of capital aid.

The scholarship plan may also be developed at a later stage, probably during the next session of Parliament to be called in the fall. Along with it, the government may give consideration to implementing other Massey Commission recommendations, including a 15-member Canadian Council steering body to direct national cultural efforts.

Aid to universities was one of the main recommendations of the five-member commission, headed by Rt. Hon. Vincent Massey, chancellor of the University of Toronto.

Order Police Patrols

WELLINGTON, NZ, June 14. (Reuters) — Day and night police patrols were ordered out in Wellington today to curb "violence and intimidation" in the raging labor war along the country's waterfronts. An official statement said the government was "deeply concerned" over brawls here Wednesday in which seven longshoremen were attacked, allegedly by members of the striking de-registered waterfront union.

Admiral Nelles Grove Graduate Dies In Victoria

VICTORIA, BC, June 14 (CP) — Admiral Percy W. Nelles, chief architect of Canada's modern-day Navy, died in hospital here Wednesday night.

Canada's only full admiral, the 59-year-old sea dog succumbed after a one-month illness. He had retired to his home here in 1945 after serving 10 years as chief of naval staff.

His funeral will be held today. In line with the Navy tradition he cherished, he will be buried at sea Friday.

Admiral Nelles headed the Royal Canadian Navy throughout most of the Second World War, and saw it grow from a fledgling force of a few ships to a swift, modern anti-submarine fleet that played a leading role in the Battle of the North Atlantic.

His own career was almost as meteoric as that of the Navy he commanded. From the time he entered the RCN in 1908 at the age of 16 until he retired as admiral at 53, he rolled up an astonishing string of naval "firsts."

He was the first Canadian-trained officer to command a British cruiser. That was in 1929 when he was 37. He was promoted to captain in 1933, the first officer of the RCN to hold that rank. And at 49 he became one of the youngest men ever to hold the rank of vice-admiral.

Admiral on Retirement

His appointment as admiral was announced simultaneously with his retirement on January 10, 1945.

Strangely enough, Percy Walker Nelles was the son of one of Canada's leading soldiers of the First World War. His father was Brig.-Gen. Charles M. Nelles, who served in the Northwest Rebellion in 1885, the South African War, and who commanded the Royal Canadian Dragoons from 1914-1918.

Percy, the General's only son, was born in Brantford, in 1892. He was educated at Lakefield preparatory school, Lakefield, and at Trinity College School, Port Hope.

When he was 16, his father called him in and asked:

"Well, what is it going to be: Royal Military College—or the Navy?"

Admit Guerrillas Grow Dangerous

HONG KONG, June 14 (AP)—The Chinese Communists, in an amazing [illegible] that underground armed forces have created a critical situation in the vast and vital East China area.

The admission was in the form of a warning to the East China military and administration commission by its public security chief Li Shih-ying, at a meeting in Shanghai March 10-16. It was published March 18 in the Shanghai newspaper Hsin Wen Jih Pao, received here today.

Li said political assassinations were increasing, the situation was "critical and widespread" and "the losses incurred by the people can hardly be estimated." He called for stronger anti-counter-revolutionary measures.

(The Chinese Nationalist defence ministry has charged the Reds have executed more than 1,000 Chinese in reprisal.)

As a startling admission, Li's statement rivalled the February report of Peng Chen, mayor of Peiping and member of the Central People's Government council. Peng said South China bandits had killed thousands of Communist workers. That report spurred the Reds' purge to even greater intensity.

Allied Tanks Unopposed In Triangle

Reds Streaming North To Escape Being Cut Off

TOKYO, June 14. (AP) — Allied tanks columns roamed at will over the length of the Communists' shattered iron triangle in Korea today. But on the eastern front Communists turned and fought.

United Nations patrols probed through intense artillery fire to outposts of the new Red defence line north of Yanggu and Inje on the east central front.

In some sections the Allies were kept busy Thursday beating off a series of North Korean counter-attacks. The US Eighth Army reported only one advance of as much as a mile.

The picture along the east was in marked contrast to the situation in the west. Giant tanks, literally covered with riflemen, rumbled the length of the triangle Wednesday to Pyonggang. They were almost unopposed.

The two big columns of more than 100 tanks returned at night after sweeping beyond the bomb shattered city.

Little Contact

Tank forces and infantrymen again made "little or no contact" with the Chinese in the triangle area Thursday, the Eighth Army reported.

However, the fifth air force said "a large concentration of enemy troops" poured heavy fire into UN troops in the Pyonggang sector. Jet pilots roared in with fire bombs and blasting machine guns. The air force said they "silenced the enemy."

A reporter for the army newspaper Stars and Stripes said small groups of Chinese left behind as harassing forces made "the going rough" for allies mopping up the area.

UN patrols roamed four miles ahead of lines along the western front without finding any sizable Chinese force, AP correspondent Stan Carter reported.

Farther west UN patrols fought with small groups of Communists leading one allied officer to comment:

Series of Attacks

The eighth army reported the Reds threw a series of probing attacks at the UN lines in the area northwest of Yanggu.

Near Kansong on the east coast Souh Koreans beat back two Red attacks—one by a battalion and the other in regimental strength.

Through most of the eastern area the Reds have been fighting small delaying actions to cover the retreat of their comrades. Reds have been reported streaming north to escape being cut off by the fall of their vaunted "iron triangle" and scrambling out of the triangle itself.

Two UN tank columns found the triangle virtually deserted Wednesday as they rumbled to its apex at Pyonggang.

They met little opposition anywhere along their sweeps from Chorwon and Kumhwa up the valley roads which form the sides of the triangle.

Believes Atlantis May Not Be Myth

CAPETOWN— (CP) —Further research into the possible existence of a prehistoric race in Cape Province about 85,000 years ago has been made by E. J. Sawyer, Capetown archaeologist.

After a five-month search in the Stormberg Mountains, Mr. Sawyer has returned here with a prehistoric stone, pieces of pottery, arrowheads and other implements.

The archaeologist is in constant touch with Prof. J. C. Goodfellow of Columbia University in the United States. They believe that between 5,000 and 10,000 years ago, South Africa and America were one great land mass. There is a striking similarlity between relics found in the Stormberg Mountains and rock drawings discovered in America.

2nd Postponement

NEW YORK, June 14. — (AP) — The Joe Louis-Lee Savold 15-round fight has been postponed another 24 hours and now will be fought in Madison Square Gardens Friday night, the International Boxing Club announced today. The bout originally was scheduled for Wednesday night but was set ahead because of rain.

Plan To Defer Passage Of Railway Law

OTTAWA, June 14 (CP)—The government's legislation for cross-country equalization of rail freight rates was introduced into the Commons today.

Transport Minister Chevrier told the House the government plans to defer passage of the legislation, which implements recommendations of the Royal Commsision on Transportation, and have the subject matter of the measures sent to the house railway committee for study.

Asked if the committee would consider the bill during the brief remainder of the current session, Mr. Chevrier said that was up to the committee itself. His three bills were given first reading today.

Chief provision in the legislation is to lay down a "national freight-rates policy" declaring that generally railway tolls in all parts of Canada must be the same for the same types of service.

"It is hereby declared to be national freight-rates policy that (subject to exceptions in anoher clause) every railway company shall, so far as is reasonably possible, in respect of all freight traffic of the same description, and carried on or upon the like kind of cars or conveyances, passing over all lines or routes of the company in Canada, charge tolls to all persons at the same rate, whether by weight, mileage or otherwise."

Several specific exemptions to the general rule are listed, including "competitive" rates—those that are lowered by the railways in various areas from time to time to meet competition from other carriers.

Pan II Wins Ascot Gold Cup

ASCOT, England, June 14. (Reuters) — M. E. Constant's French-trained Pan II today won the Ascot Gold Cup by three lengths from Winston Churchill's Colonist II before about 35,000 spectators.

Baron Guy de Rothschild's Alizier was third, two legnths farther away.

All three horses in the money were sired in France, their respective starting odds were 100-8, 13-2 and 4-1.

Churchill watched the race from the royal enclosure. Others there included Queen Elizabeth, Princess Elizabeth and Princess Margaret. The King, ill with a lung ailment, watched the race on television.

Cause Of May Fire Unknown But Not Arson Toronto Inspector Reports

Jurymen Recommend Walkie-Talkie Sets Be Purchased For Department, Urge Volunteers Restricted At Big Blaze

The five-man jury found no evidence of negligence on the part of the Peterborough Fire Department or its officers when the inquest into the May 19 fire which claimed the lives of four men and did $500,000 damage, concluded Wednesday. The jury also listed the cause of the fire as unknown. They made three recommendations: 1. That walkie-talkies sets be purchased for the fire department, along with a short wave transmitter and receiver;

2. That the department's respiratory equipment be investigated and modernized if necessary;

3- That volunteers be kept away from burning buildings and danger areas and be allowed to approach only on specific instructions from an officer of the fire department.

No Sign of Arson

Although suggestions of arson cropped up from time to time during the testimony of Tuesday evening and Wednesday morning, the possibility of deliberate firing was pretty well eliminated by the testimony of Inspector Trevor Lucas of the Fire Marshal's Department.

He said he inspected the wreckage for evidence of arson, but found none.

Praises Firemen

Again, the Peterborough fire department came in for some praise from the chief coroner, Dr. Smirle Lawson.

In his summation he said: "I think the fire department did a wonderful job to keep that fire confined to one building. We are all cognizant of the fact that four brave men lost their lives. As chief coroner, I should like to offer to their families my sincerest sympathy."

He confirmed the jury's findings, saying "it has not been brought out in evidence that there was neglect by anyone.

Plan State Funeral For Ex-Prime Minister

CANBERRA, June 14. (AP)—Australia mobilized its pomp and ceremony today for the state funeral of former Prime Minister Joseph B. Chifley, a Labor party leader of simple tastes. Chifley, opposition leader since his party's defeat in December, 1949, died on Tuesday night in the midst of Australia's celebration of her 50th anniversary as a commonwealth. The government cancelled jubilee events for the rest of the week.

He will be buried with a state funeral Sunday at Bathurst, New South Wales, his home town 150 miles west of Sydney. His body will lie in state at Parliament House in Canberra Friday, then will be flown to Bathurst to lie in state at the Roman Catholic cathedral there.

Mrs. Chifley, at their Bathurst home, collapsed when told of her husband's death. They had no children.

Can't Count On Priorities For Ontario Housing Plan

LONDON, Ont., June 14 (CP) —Resources Minister Winters on Wednesday night said in effect that Ontario cannot count on priorities on building materials for its 5,000-unit rental housing program.

He said the project will have to take its chances in competition for materials in the face of a probable shortage arising from the defence program.

Premier Frost, announcing the federal - provincial - municipal housing development Monday night, said an effort was being made to arrange priorities.

But Mr. Winters, speaking to a group of Ontario mayors and newspaper men in London for the convention of the Canadian Federation of Mayors and Municipalities, said:

"There will be priorities if possible, but at the moment there is no plan for priority of material for the Ontario scheme."

The plan at present was on the same footing as private building and if materials were available the houses could be put up. However, there might not be enough building materials for the 5,000 houses Ontario wanted to build as a start on a program that it hoped would eventually provide 25,000 new homes in the province.

Mr. Winters met with the group of mayors after addressing the convention. Members of the group had asked for a chance to explain their objections to the plan. Their main complaints were that 5,000 houses were not enough and that the municipalities' share of the cost, 7½ per cent, was too high.

The Minister said the Ontario government decided on the 7½ per cent and set the figure of 5,000 homes.

The group of mayors persuaded the convention to pass a resolution calling for three-way talks between the federal, provincial and municipal governments. Mr. Winters agreed to attend the meeting.

Think Destroyer Hits Mine, 26 Men Killed

WASHINGTON, June 14. (AP) —The Navy reported today an underwater explosion damaged the destroyer Walke, killed 26 men and injured seven others off the east coast of Korea Tuesday.

The Navy said the blast was "presumably caused by a floating mine." The destroyer suffered damage to her hull but was able to proced under her own power to a Japanese port.

Other American warships stood by as the Walke limped into the port.

No further details were given.

Losses aboard the Walke raised total casualties on US warships mined or shelled in the Korean war to 40 dead, 115 wounded and 36 missing.

The 2,200-ton Walke is a veteran of both the Atlantic and the Pacific during the Second World War.

Four Acquitted In Murder Case

TRENTON, NJ, June 14. (AP)—A Mercer county court jury today found four members of the Trenton Six innocent and two guilty of the 1948 murder of an elderly shopkeeper.

The jury of six men and six women recommended mercy for the two defendants found guilty. This means life imprisonment.

The Jury found Ralph Cooper and Collis English guilty of first-degree murder with a recommendation of life imprisonment at hard labor.

They found McKinley Forrest, John McKenzie, Horace Wilson and James Thorpe innocent.

The jury, appearing worn and haggard, returned to the courtroom after nearly 20 hours of deliberation.

Missing Submarine Located In Channel

LONDON, June 14. (Reuters)—The British submarine Affray, lost in the English Channel in April, has been found, it was officially announced today.

James Callaghan, parliamentary secretary to the Admiralty, announced in the House of Commons today that a signal had been received from the Admiralty [illegible] Reclaim that the Affray lost with 75 men on board has been found.

From the position given in the signal she is lying in about 200 feet of water about 40 miles southwest of her diving position.

Discovery of the Affray means the end of a sea mystery which has baffled naval experts since the submarine, on an exercise, vanished on the night of April 16.

Former Police Chief Pays $400 Fine

STRATFORD, June 14. (CP)—Richard L. Hancock, former police chief of Parkhill, Ont., Wednesday was fined $400 and $337 costs for selling securities without being registered with the Ontario Securities Commission.

Four persons testified that they gave Hancock a total of $1,775 for shares in the Canadian Safe-T-Dial Company, of which Hancock was president.

In passing sentence, Magistrate A. F. Cook said he was taking into account the fact Hancock already had been in custody for six weeks.

Nurses Return To Work After Walkout

SHAWVILLE, Que., June 14—(CP). — Medical routine went quietly on in the wards of Pontiac County's big community hospital today, but its doors were closed to all but emergency patients.

Otherwise there was little evidence of the administrative storm which broke Wednesday about its red-brick walls with a brief walkout of the nursing staff in a dispute which stirred this lumbering and dairying community of 1,500 people.

All but two of the nursing staff of 14 left the hospital and its 30 patients—including three babies—Wednesday. They were doing as they had threatened to do if the hospital's board of directors did not relent in the summary dismissal of 35-year-old Mrs. Irene Benny, superintendent of six months.

But they were back in three hours. And some patients said they did not even know the nurses had been away.

Call Meeting

Eight doctors from Shawville and district met with the dismissed superintendent and a number of nurses Wednesday. They called a public meeting for June 26, inviting the 75 members who make up the general board of the Pontiac County Hospital, a non-profit company incorporated under the laws of Quebec.

Dr. E. B. Horner of Shawville said no adequate reasons were given for the dismissal of Mrs. Benny, whose predecessor, Miss Mabel Haskins of Ottawa, also was dismissed six months ago.

"There was something about spending too much money and not keeping the hospital clean," he said. "But we do not agree."

J. M. Argue, chairman of the board of directors, said: "We are not backing up an inch on our decision." As for Mrs. Benny's dismissal, "we have our reasons."

Commons Endorses Defence Surcharge

OTTAWA, June 14 (CP) — Without a murmur, the Commons Wednesday endorsed the 20-per-cent defence surcharge which becomes effective in personal income-tax payments July 1.

The enabling clause went through without discussion as the chamber, in committee of the whole, gave clause-by-clause study to the bill implementing budgetary income tax changes.

The provision, which means that personal income-tax deductions go up by 20 per cent beginning July 1, had been debated briefly at earlier stages of the legislation, but the opposition concentrated most of its budget criticism on the 25-per-cent-boost—already adopted—in the general sales tax.

Percy said simply:

"You know, dad, there's only one answer."

That was the Navy. The boy from western Ontario, born and raised more than 1,000 miles from the sea, signed up as the second of the first seven Canadian naval cadets.

Chief of Naval Staff

He became chief of naval staff in 1934 and held that post until 1944, when he was made senior flag officer in London, England, with general supervision of all Canadian naval forces overseas. It was a war move, one designed to fit into plans for the impending invasion of Europe. A year later he retired.

Under his leadership, the Canadian navy grew during the war from 2,000 men and a dozen ships to 90,000 men and more than 500 ships. He headed the navy when it was separated from the defence department in 1939, made a department with its own minister.

He was married in 1915 to Helen Schuyler Allen of Bermuda. His widow and two sons, Charles and William, survive.

Golds Take Jump On Toronto Exchange

TORONTO, June 14 (CP) — Golds jumped upward as the session progressed on the stock market today to feature the otherwise trendless market.

For the third straight day prices opened mixed with little price change. Trading was dull until noon when golds began to advance and even then sales came at a slow pace. Volume for the first three hours of 746,000 shares was about 139,000 more than the same period yesterday.

Secondary golds gave the best display of strength. Violamac jumped 57 cents and MacLeod Cockshutt was up 32 cents. Others making good increases included Windward, Preston, Pickle Crow, Pamour, Macassa, Madsen and Cochenour Willans. In the senior list Teck Hughes, Hollinger, Kerr Addison, Lake Shore, Bralorne and Dome added fractions.

Industrials were about evenly mixed with small price changes. Papers, textiles, liquors and manufacturing companies showed a majority of gains in the groupings. Steels, constructions and refining oils were lower and the rest of the board was mixed.

In the mixed base metal section United Keno Hill, Golden Manitou, Hudson Bay and Noranda advanced fractions, while Steep Rock, Sherritt Gordon, International Nickel and East Sullivan declined.

Western oils were fairly mixed but the tendency was to gain. Royalite, Anglo-Canadian, Calgary and Edmonton, Calmont and Federated Petroleum moved upward while National Petroleum, Atlantic Oil and Central-Leduc eased.

Men In Korea

The Minister introduced the change as members considered alterations in the Act brought about by the record budget caused by Korea and the defence preparations springing out of Korea.

The announcement of the tax-credit system signalled a triumph for those members on both sides of the Commons who have been hammering at the government to do something to recognize the service of the men in Korea.

Some members have urged combat pay. Others have plumped for higher exemptions from income tax. Mr. Abbott had asked members for their views.

Additional Exemption

The change would provide an additional exemption from tax of more than $1,900 to the lowest paid men. It would exclude from tax single men probably up to the rank of captain and married men of considerably higher rank.

Officials said later the credit will apply to any man who has served in Korea this year. Thus a man might now be back in Canada and entitled to a refund next spring when his 1951 income tax comes due.

Officials said men of the 25th Brigade in Korea will certainly get the credit, that men on the three destroyers off Korea most likely will get it and that at least some of the RCAF's 426 Transport Squadron may get it.

To Limit Power Over Agriculture

OTTAWA, June 14 (CP).—New legislation to more clearly define and restrict federal powers over Canadian agriculture will be introduced in the Commons shortly.

Agriculture Minister Gardiner gave notice on the Commons order paper Wednesday of a proposed resolution to substitute a new bill—the Canadian Dairy Products Act—for parts of the old Federal Dairy Act, first enacted in 1886.

The substitution decision stems from the margarine issue and a judgment of the Imperial Privy Council last year indicating that power over agricultural trade within a province was ultra vires of parliament.

The government had presumed that under old legislation it had power to set standards and inspection practices for agricultural products within a province, as well as products moving between provinces and in and out of the country.

The privy council decision threw cold water over that presumption.

George I. MacKenzie Heads Accountants

At the annual meeting of the Society of Industrial and Cost Accountants of Canada held at the Chantecler Hotel, Ste. Adele, the members elected as their new president, George I. MacKenzie, BSc, RIA, Toronto.

Mr. MacKenzie assumes office at a time when a ten-year program of organization has been completed. In 1941 this society began an extensive educational program for the formal training of industrial and cost accountants. This called for the building of specialized courses of instruction in cooperation with leading universities. It also required the organization of affiliated societies incorporated in each province with the power to grant to its qualified members the exclusive designation "RIA" representing "Registered Industrial and Cost Accountant". During 1951, this program was completed with affiliated societies organized in all 10 provinces. Correspondence courses are conducted for the Society by Queen's University and the University of Toronto and evening lecture classes are conducted in 17 centres from Victoria to Halifax by local universities.

Other officers elected were: Vice presidents, A. V. Madge, RIA, Montreal; F. E. Wood, Port Arthur; J. H. Thompson, University of Saskatchewan; honorary secretary, D H. Frant, Vancouver; honorary treasurer, T. R. Humphries, Calgary.

Allied Tanks

More than 100 tanks were in the column.

Infantrymen clung to the sides of the tanks- as -they -lumbered awkwardly into Pyongang, 28 miles north of the 38th Parallel.

Not a building was left standing in the once bustling road junction. Infantrymen searched it for Chinese.

Then the tank patrols swept out over the flatlands to the north, under cover of self-propelled artillery.

Only opposition was from a few pockets of Chinese south of Pyonggang. They were wiped out.

Intelligence observers said there were few indications the Chinese planned to make a stand anywhere in the triangle from which they mounted two great spring offensives against the United Nations.

The Reds appeared to be withdrawing to Kumsong in the east and behind the Imjin River on the west.

Disastrous Move

OTTAWA, June 14 (CP). — George Drew, Progressive Conservative leader, described today as "frustrating and possibly disastrous" Britain's decision to produce small arms of a calibre different from that used by the United States. He told the Commons during a defence production debate that it was confronted with "the very real and alarming fact" that such a decision has been taken when standardization of weapons is of the utmost importance.

Cause Of Fire

"There may have been errors in judgment, but it was a big fire and I have only the highest admiration for the brave men of the Peterborough fire department."

"The Peterborough firemen lived up to the highest tradition of a long line of brave firemen who have served Canada for nearly a century."

Well Handled

He expressed to Crown Attorney Bradshaw, KC, his "admiration for the excellent and fair way in which he handled all witnesses. I don't think I've ever seen an inquest better handled."

He recommended, too, more modern respirators, and four sets of walkie-talkies, as well as a short-wave transmitter and receiver. "These might have saved lives," he commented.

As well, the chief coroner complimented Police Chief John Thompson for "his excellent staff". He especially commended Constable Douglas Farthing, who rescued Mrs. Phillip Gallagher and her daughter, and returned to try to rescue Mr. Gallagher.

The findings of the jury said: "From the evidence heard by the jury, no neglect or blame can be attached to any member or officer of the Peterborough fire department."

The jury commended the work of the volunteer firemen, but asked for a "measure of control" by either officers of the fire department or the police department."

Some Confusion

In the afternoon's testimony, the "problem of the open door" caused a good deal of confusion. Inspector Trevor Lucas suggested that the firemen who saw a door open at the rear of Ed Riley's store may have been confused.

Other evidence had already shown that a door at the rear of Tip Top Tailors had been open. Inspector Lucas suggested this may have been the door that was noticed.

"If the door at the rear of Riley's were open," he said, "then there's a possibility the fire could have been set to cover up theft."

A moment later, the chief coroner asked him if he considered the fire more accidental than intentional, and the inspector said: "Yes. There is no evidence of arson."

No Suspicion

Inspector Lucas said there was no reason to suspect any of the store owners or tenants of having anything to do with the fire. "They were all under-insured," he said.

He cited the case of Phillip Gallagher, apartment tenant on the second floor, who had no insurance and took about a $4,000 loss. Ed Riley testified earlier that he had taken a "terrific" financial loss.

The inspector said there was no fire in the basements of any of the four stores, none on the ground floor of Agnew-Surpass shoe store.

"I learned the fire started near the back wall of Ed Riley's," he said. "I believe it started in Riley's office and went up the wall to the ceiling and false ceiling and to the second floor."

Doesn't Blame Wiring

He said he didn't believe defective wiring above the false ceiling was the cause of the fire.

Fire Chief George Smith was sworn in.

"Is it correct that at a fire, you are commander-in-chief of everything, even the police?"

"Yes."

"About these seven men who went in. I came downstairs from the IOOF hall. I walked past the four stores and saw this little fire burning.

"I took those men in and I went in myself. I wouldn't send a man where I wouldn't go.

Didn't Sense Disaster

"I didn't know the walls would come down or I wouldn't have gone in myself.

"Some men tried to get in and we thought it would be better to get the front and back walls down before any rescuing was done."

Checked Up

"Have you any recollection of either seeing the rear of the building yourself or having a report on it?"

"Yes. I was there about 20 minutes before the crash."

"Did you ask or instruct any civilians to help you?" "Absolutely not."

Assistant fire chief Stewart Foster said he saw two civilians in the store and thought one of them was Earl Spencley.

"It was obvious the building had been gutted at that time?" Mr. Bradshaw asked. "Yes."

"What was the purpose of sending men in when the fire was under control?" "To put out the fire in the ceiling."

"Were you aware it was the back of the building that was burning most fiercely?"

"Yes."

Floor Looked Solid

Foster said the floor looked as solid as the one in the county court room.

"The ceilings looked solid and the walls didn't seem in bad shape," Foster concluded.

City engineer A. E. Chalmers testified that the city's building bylaw has provisions for the renovating of older buildings. He said that it was within the discretion of the building inspector to say what is dangerous and to order the owner of an older building to make repairs.

Donald Dunlop, Toronto district fire chief, commented: "The entire personnel is to be commended for a magnificent job: first for their rescue work, and second for confining the fire to one building.

"Insofar as the men in the building were concerned, I believe the chief's judgment has been supported by the testimony of the assistant chief. Sending men into a building to clean up fires is a common practice."

Acting Captain William Sorrie offered three suggestions in his testimony Wednesday afternoon. First, he suggested appointment of more captains. There were too many men for each captain under the present setup.

Second, he said, the fire inspectors should be called to major fires because they know the buildings, the contents and the possible hazards.

Third, he re-affirmed the need for some sort of wireless communication.

David Lowe, of the fire marshal's department, remarked that he thought the city's fire department did "an exceptional job. I concur with the other suggestions offered."

Singled out for praise was Frederick Rathburn, a volunteer. Rathburn was lauded both by the crown attorney and Dr. Lawson. "You did a good job," the chief coroner said.

"This man worked like a Trojan," said Mr. Bradshaw.

On the jury were: Jack Sinclair (foreman), J. E. Girven, H. T. Cranford, Harry Knox and Thomas McMillan.

Howe Predicts Cut In Supply Of Newsprint

OTTAWA, June 14 (CP)—Some cut-back in the North American supply of Canadian newsprint may be necessary to meet emergency allocations for North Atlantic countries, Production Minister Howe said today in the Commons.

He said, however, that every effort will be made to minimize the impact of this cut-back.

Mr. Howe brought up the question of newsprint during discussion of defence production department estimates.

He said an international committee, sitting in Washington, has recommended an initial allocation of 3,000 tons of newsprint to fight "the flames of Communism" in France.

Of this amount, Canadian mills will supply 2,500 tons.

Ordered To Procure

He said his department's pulp and paper director, R. M. Fowler of Montreal, has been ordered to obtain this amount from Canadian mills. The newsprint will be purchased by the government's Canadian commercial corporation on behalf of France at prices currently prevailing in North America, having in mind also other costs that may be involved.

Under a proposed $10-a-ton price increase, the Canadian price of newsprint, effective July 1, will be $112 a ton, plus a 10-per-cent sales tax.

Mr. Howe, in his general review on defence production, made no reference to the controversy which has developed—particularly in the United States—as a result of the Canadian producers' decision to increase newsprint prices.

Make De Valera Prime Minister

DUBLIN, June 14 (AP)—Eamon de Valera, the 68-year-old Irish rebel once sentenced to death, rode back into power Wednesday night as the new Prime Minister of the Republic of Ireland.

The Dail (Lower House of Parliament) elected him Prime Minister by a vote of 74 to 69. Three members abstained and the Speaker of the 147-member body has no vote.

Five of the 14 Independents joined the 69 deputies of de Valera's Fianna Fail (Soldiers of Destiny) Party in putting him over. John A. Costello's coalition was defeated in a previous vote 74 to 72.

Looking calm, the tall, gaunt leader rose and thanked the House in Gaelic for the victory. Fianna Fail members leaped to their feet, cheering and waving papers.

Costello has been prime minister for the last three years.

One Costello supporter was carried into the building on a stretcher in order to participate in the crucial vote. A huge crowd jammed the street outside the parliament buildings, unable to get gallery seats.

Assault Charge Attempt 'To Abuse Court'

What Crown Attorney John Bradshaw called "an attempt to abuse the criminal courts" fell through today in police court.

Mrs. Edith Ward, resident of a Water St. apartment house, had laid a charge of assault against Ross Moore, who lives with his mother in an apartment below Wards.

The charge arose out of an incident at the apartment house May 26, the day Moore's sister was married.

Noisy Party

Mrs. Ward testified that the reception party was noisy and had twice awakened her two children within 15 minutes. She phoned the downstairs apartment and asked that the party be a little quieter.

Shortly after this, she said, Moore came upstairs and said: "So you're the one who's going to have the law on us?" She told him to leave the apartment and mind his own business.

According to Mrs. Ward, Moore said she had picked the wrong man to tell to leave and mind his own business.

She said he grabbed her by the back of the neck, choked her and she fainted.

Moore's mother testified she had followed her son upstairs and had seen the whole thing. She said that as Moore went upstairs, Mrs. Ward ran out of her apartment "hysterical and waving her arms."

Fainted

Then Mrs. Ward fainted, and in falling knocked down a radiator that was not connected. The radiator fell against an ice box.

Mrs. Moore said the next day Mr. Ward came downstairs and asked for money to repair the ice box. He told her that if he didn't get the money there would be four charges laid.

Mrs. Moore said she refused him the money and told him to lay the charges.

Mr. Bradshaw asked for dismissal of the charge and said it was "apparently an attempt to abuse the criminal courts." Magistrate W. R. Philp dismissed it.

Economic Charter

TOKYO, June 14. (Reuters)—The Japanese government will shortly produce an "economic charter" which, among other things, undertakes not to employ a "cheap labor" policy or undercut freight charges, Kyodo News Agency said today. The charter will define the basic trade principles the country will follow after the peace treaty.

1953 Plow Match Plans Laid

COBOURG, June 14.—The International Plowing Match which is planned for this area in 1953, will be held in the rural section just north and west of Cobourg, according to recommendations made by a special committee after a visit to this area a few days ago. The committee selected the farm of the Counties Home for the Aged as headquarters.

The tented city, with its display of machinery and farm equipment with the parking of cars of thousands of visitors will take up much of the area, and the farm owned by Roy Howard will be required for parking purposes. The committee looked over some excellent plowing land on the farms of Harry Ferguson Frank Staples, Roy Lane, Meredith Harper and Leo Lovskin.

It was felt by the committee that the least inconvenience to the farmers donating this land for plowing could be arranged by connecting a number of fields well behind their buildings in this area. If more plow land is needed the back parts of the farms of Bruce Eagleson, Ed Davey and Gordon Macklin were listed as very suitable for match competition. The members of the committee were L. H. Winslow, L. Henderson and Edwin Wilson of Durham County and Reg. McCann, Percy Gooding and Ralph Banbury, agricultural representative, representing Northumberland county.

Purchase Bracelets To Identify Babies

CAMPBELLFORD, June 14 — (ENS)—The June meeting of the Ladies' Hospital Auxiliary was held on the lawn of Mrs. W. F. Scott.

The report on the tea and cooking sale held recently disclosed $130.29 has been realized.

Mrs. Fox announced the bracelets for identification purposes had arrived for new babies at the hospital. She also reported the hospital required some additional bedding and thermos jugs, and it was decided these would be purchased.

Through the courtesy of Mrs. E. MacDonald's dress shop, Mr. Joseph presented the ladies with a fur-skin neck piece of brown squirrel.

Tickets are to be sold on the fur, and the draw will take place on Saturday, September 1st.

WMS Meets

The St. John's WMS met on Tuesday evening when it was reported a bale had been packed and shipped. The value was estimated at $100.

On June 21, the WMS ladies will entertain the mission band and their mothers.

Mrs. C. K. Stephen gave the Bible reading, and Miss Payne gave a talk on God's power, in the four seasons in the out-doors. Mrs. Roberts gave a report on the dominion board meeting.

Political Patronage

EDMONTON, June 14 (CP) — Don Taylor, president of the Canadian Postmasters' Association, said Wednesday there are direct indications of political patronage in awarding positions in post offices. Addressing the annual convention of the association's Alberta branch, he said postmasters are required to submit to district offices lists of persons from which extra help would be chosen. In many cases the district office sent back a new list from which selection had to be made.

AN INNOCENT-LOOKING TRUNK, belonging to a European diplomat, yielded a tidy haul in smuggled watches at Montreal's Central Station recently. Marcel Bidal, customs superintendent, picks up some of the high-priced timepieces that were stuffed into every nook and cranny of an ancient radio, hidden in the trunk. Police estimated the almost 300 watches recovered had a retail sale value of more than $5,000.

Bishop Confirms 20 In Cavan

MILLBROOK, June 14 ((ENS) —The Rt. Rev. A. R. Beverley, Bishop of Toronto, administered the rite of Confirmation to 20 candidates in the Parish of Cavan in St. Thomas' Anglican Church in Millbrook on Tuesday evening. The combined choirs of the three churches of the parish, St. John's Ida, Christ Church, Bailieboro, and St. Thomas', Millbrook, led in the singing.

Bishop Beverley complimented the parish on the progress that had been made under the guidance of the present rector, the Rev. A. A. Chote. In addressing the Confirmees, he admonished them to be regular in church attendance and at Communion, to take part in the work of the church and of the Sunday School and to remember their responsibility in contributing towards the support of the church and its missionary work.

He said there were four things wrong with the world today. There were too many silly people in it who thought only of pleasure; too many who do not tell the truth; too many who are selfish and think only of themselves; and too many who are lacking in modesty and purity. He chose his text from 2nd Timothy: "A vessel meet for the Master's use."

Those Confirmed

The Rev. A. A. Chote presented the following to the Bishop for Confirmation: Shirley Bredin, Thomas Bredin, Phillipa Gray, Carolyn Harkness, Mr. R. Hazelden, Mrs. R. Hazelden, Dorothy Hutchinson, Mariel Howden, Douglas Johnston, Rafmond Lowery, Lena-Marie Lowery, Gerald Morton, Marilyn Palmer, Robert Palmer, Mr. J. Pilkington, Joan Sanders, Glenna Sloan, Sheila Sloan, Charles Smith and David Stinson.

Mrs. G. A. Spicer, soprano soloist, sang "My Redeemer and My Lord." Miss M. Collins was at the organ.

Following the Confirmation service, the wardens and lay delegates of the parish met at the rectory for a social hour with the Bishop and Mrs. Beverley. Refreshments were served.

Farmers' Picnics Plan For Northumberland

COBOURG, June 14—(ENS)—Northumberland county farmers will hold their annual picnic on Saturday here. Chairman is Jim Bird of the Farm Forum committee. Special speaker will be Mr. Fletcher Thomas, former agricultural representative for Elgin county and now provincial member for that county.

Another event of interest to farmers of this county is the picnic of the Northumberland Black and White Cattle Breeders which is to be held on the farm of Gordon Macklin on June 23. With the group of calf clubs, a great many juniors are interested, and agricultural representative Ralph Banbury anticipates that he will have 100 girls and boys present. Speaker at the picnic will be Brigadier J. E. Genet, retired army officer who is now farming in Prince Edward county.

Girl Knocked Off Bike By Car, Shaken Up

A 14-year-old girl suffered a shaking up Monday afternoon when she was knocked off her bicycle at George and McDonnel Sts.

Willis Rutherford, 343½ George St., was driving west on McDonnel St., and stopped at George St. When he started to turn left, the girl, Donna Rutherford, 562 Waterford St., cut in front of his truck.

She had been riding south on George St. The bicycle was a total loss.

Oak Heights Placed In Warkworth Circuit

WARKWORTH, June 14 (ENS) —With the transfer of the Oak Heights congregation from the Castleton circuit to the Warkworth circuit of the United church a change in the hours of service of the congregation has become necessary.

At an official board meeting of the Warkworth circuit on Monday night it was decided the services at Warkworth would remain as usual 11:00 a.m., Dartford as formerly at 3:00 p.m. and Oak Heights at 8 p.m. until December 1 at which time, during the winter months the Oak Heights service will be held in the afternoon.

36 Contagious Cases

COBOURG, June 14—(ENS)—36 cases of communicable disease were recorded for the week ending June 9 at the Northumberland and Durham county health unit. Chickenpox led the list with 20 cases, all of them in Darlington township. Seven cases of German measles, six of red measles and three cases of mumps, completed the list.

A Fresh Life For Little Lake

Peterborough's Medical Officer of Health has removed the condemnation of Little Lake which has kept swimmers from it since 1934. Even before that year the waters were dangerously polluted, but there was no M.O.H. in office to condemn them. Sewage from East City used to debouch into Little Lake after only a preliminary cleansing in a septic tank. Now a new main sewer has been laid with direct connection to the disposal plant. The result is that Little Lake's water is now clean enough for swimming. This is a first and principal step to the reclamation of that beautiful stretch of water in the very heart of the city and of its verges. Little Lake can yet become a gem of purest ray serene.

* * *

The water is clean enough for swimming. But the M.O.H. has not said that it is safe for swimming. It is deep in places; its bottom is muddy in others; its banks are steeply buttressed and there is no gentle sandy beach. Further, the lake has treacherous currents. In fact, the M.O.H. has not approved the waters near the George St. Wharf because there is not enough current there to prevent pollution. It follows therefore that in approved waters there is a current.

* * *

Only able swimmers in company should venture to swim in the Lake. Children should avoid it entirely. When the season begins there will be two good supervised pools—at Inverlea and at the Lions Club pool. There is where the children should swim. Little Lake is not safe, even if it is clean enough. It is a good thing, however, that this beautiful lake is now fit for all kinds of pleasure-boating.

Rental Houses For Peterborough?

Premier Frost's announcement of a plan to provide new houses for rent looks reasonable, on the surface, but it will require study, particularly by municipal officials who have had it thrust on them unawares. Some of the mayors attending the Canadian Federation of Mayors meetings this week in London have objected to it on this score. The plan is to build 5,000 houses, at a cost of about $9,000 each, with Federal, Provincial and municipal funds. The costs are to be apportioned thus: 75 per cent. by the Federal Government, 17½ per cent. by the Provincial and 7½ by the municipality.

Cities like Peterborough must decide if they need the houses and if they can afford to provide even the 7½ per cent. of the cost, which works out approximately to the cost of services like sewers and sidewalks. It is not mandatory on the municipalities that they take any houses. They will apply for them, and have to decide on sites and who will get the houses.

If there is a critical need for rental houses in this province, the new plan is not the determined attack on the problem which some enthusiasts have claimed for it. Only 5,000 are to be built. These are to be allotted on the basis of urban population. Ontario has an urban population of about three million. Thus Peterborough's share would amount to 62 houses. That is not many in comparison with other housing schemes which have been undertaken in Peterborough, and with the number of houses being built annually in the city by private means. Windsor, whose mayor says his city has 3,500 applications for rental houses, will get only 300 houses under the new plan, if allotments are made strictly according to population. The Premier has said, however, that if the scheme proves successful it might be extended, and as many as 25,000 houses built.

The plan will have to be closely studied in Peterborough, and the city's housing and financial situation assessed in relation to it. The Council might be better advised to set up a special committee to discuss the housing plan, than to name one, as it did last Monday, to study the elaborate matter of whether or not to spend the $2,000 extra required to cover the floor of the new City Hall lobby with a mosaic map.

Growth In Kawartha Population

In surveying some of the facts and figures in the Third Annual Economic Survey (1951) record of the Province, prepared by the Ontario Bureau of Statistics and lately published, our interest was quickened by population figures of the various counties. The years 1941 and 1949 have been compared, and we find that the Kawartha zone underwent an increase of 31,107, or 17.2 per cent. The assessed population of this district (the counties of Durham, Ontario, Peterborough, Victoria and Northumberland) was 180,467 in 1941; in 1949 it was 211,575. The total increase is equivalent to a moderate-sized city.

In this five-counties district, Peterborough county had the largest increase, by percentage: 24.4, or 10,985 people, and Victoria the smallest: four per cent. or 964 persons. Ontario County, whose hub is Oshawa, acquired a few more people than Peterborough, 11,540, but this meant only a 19.1 per cent. increase over Ontario county's 1941 population. Actually Northumberland had a higher percentage increase than Ontario: 19.3, or 5,259 people. In fourth place was Durham with a ten per cent. increase, of 2,359 persons.

The average percentage increase for the whole province, in assessed population, was 16.5, so Peterborough County and the whole of the Kawartha district were above the average.

The Russians Aren't The Only Ones

The Russians make themselves look foolish from time to time by laying claim to the invention of marvels which were, as a matter of historical record, invented elsewhere. But the Russians are not alone in their desire to claim uncommon inventive genius. Great Britain and the U.S.A. are at present squabbling as to which invented the moving-pictures. The U.S. says that Edison did it; Britain says that the invention was the work of an Englishman, William Friese-Greene.

The English claim has been vigorously attacked by Mr. Terry Ramsaye, who calls the Friese-Greene story "a perversion of history" and "a romantic fabrication"; he suggests that it is part of a socialistic British scheme to nationalize the movies. Mr. Ramsaye is well known as a historian of the movies; the article about them in the Encyclopaedia Britannica is his work, and it says nothing about Friese-Greene. This does not, in our view, invalidate the Friese-Greene story, for since the great encyclopaedia came under American ownership it has lost the authoritative and impartial spirit which was once its pride.

We should like to see this dispute decided, though we do not suppose that it ever will be. Edison, since his death, has been endowed with almost god-like capabilities by his admirers, and anything which might be thought to diminish him will be fought as vigorously as the constantly-recurring story that Abraham Lincoln was once a bar-keeper. But it is an easily verified fact that Friese-Greene took out the first patents for a moving-picture camera using celluloid film several years before Edison brought out his Kinetoscope; indeed, Friese-Greene was so unwise as to write to Edison, describing his invention, and suggesting that it might be united with the latter's talking-machine in order to produce a talking picture! But Friese-Greene did nothing to develop his invention further, and died in poverty.

Did an Englishman or an American invent the movie? There is matter for an international crisis in the question.

Unemployment And Korea

War has never been totally unbeneficial to Canada—either war in which Canadians have taken fighting parts or war in which Canada has been on the sidelines. During and immediately following each war there has been an advance in production, national wealth and power. Korea is no exception, as Ontario employment figures show. In March 1950 recorded unemployment in the province reached a post-war high of 103,000, or six per cent of the total labour force. This March, despite increases in the labour force due chiefly to immigration, there were 60,631 persons seeking jobs, a decrease of more than 42,000. Ontario statisticians frankly put the increased employment to the "influence of the Korean War, together with generally increased economic activity," which itself has been a result of Korea and re-armament in the West. It's an ill wind . . .

Gentle June Rain

Yesterday's rain was really quite pleasant. We are so used in this land of extremes to rain which flattens, pounds, beats and ravishes, coming violently and disappearing abruptly, that the full day of quiet rain was rather a surprise, and pleasant even for people out of doors. Portia's comparison of mercy with rain:

It droppeth as the gentle rain from heaven
Upon the place beneath

does not suggest the gentle quality to Canadians as vividly as it does to English ears, for whom the comparison was first penned. Actually, yesterday's rain was an English rain: cozy, warm, sustaining, breathing verdure. A fine June rain.

NOTE AND COMMENT

Miss Truman is being referred to in some British papers as "America's Princess Margaret." Perhaps so, but King Harry occupies a pretty wobbly throne.

Though wigs are still supplied free to those who need them in Britain, they must thereafter be maintained by the wearer. Who refers to such costs as overhead charges, we presume.

Europe's Fight Against Inflation

by
SUSAN STRANGE

THE fight against inflation is the first and most important task facing the European democracies in the fourth and last year of the Economic Recovery Programme. "This objective", says the Third Report of the OEEC (Organization for European Economic Co-operation) "is of the highest importance because of its influence on the balance of payments, the efficiency of production and the justice and equity of the social system".

✧ ✧ ✧

IT is a task which calls for "general restraint in claims for higher money incomes—which would be illusory on account of resulting price increases". And though it is also a task which each of the 18 member-nations of OEEC must tackle for itself, "the success of each country's efforts is a matter of international concern owing to the repercussions which national instability has on other countries".

✧ ✧ ✧

FOR this reason, the Marshall Plan organization is to make a thorough review this summer of how each of its members is faring in the fight against inflation. A special study will be made—not as at the start of Marshall Aid, of their dollar gaps and foreign exchange problems—but of their internal financial difficulties and the measures that are being taken to deal with them Material for this study is only just becoming available.

THE fact is that for Europe, as the Report reveals, no other six months since the first conception of the Marshall Plan in 1947, had done so much as the six months up to last December, to undermine financial stability and the confidence of ordinary people in the value of money — whether francs, pounds, marks or lira. In no other six-month period had wholesale prices risen so steeply. Between June and December, they rose 20 per cent in Belgium, 18 per cent. in France and between 9 and 16 per cent. in Britain and other OEEC countries. The result was that even countries like Britain and Sweden which had hitherto managed to maintain a wage-freeze policy, found it impossible last autumn to keep it up. Once more—as in 1947 and 1948—the situation in almost all European countries is one of inflation, open or suppressed. The stability which was maintained in the nine months after devaluation, up to the outbreak of war in Korea in June last year, is once more in jeopardy and with it the whole success of the Marshall Aid program.

✧ ✧ ✧

ONE of the worst features of the present situation in Europe, according to OEEC, is that shortages of raw materials appear to bar one important way by which higher prices might be avoided. If raw materials were not so short—and high-priced—Europe's factories could probably go on raising their production and thus produce enough both for big new defence programs and at the same time, for the civilian market so that living standards could be maintained.

✧ ✧ ✧

CONSEQUENTLY, most of the ten-point program set out by OEEC for Western Europe to follow in 1951 and 1952 is concerned with how to increase supplies of raw materials and how to make supplies go further and do most good. In particular, OEEC urges its members to raise their coal output high enough to make themselves independent of coal imported from outside Europe; to raise the output of iron ore and scrap for steel production and to use impure ores like pyrites and anhydrites to make sulphuric acid, even though the capital cost for new plant to do so may prove high. Another important remedy would be to raise raw material production in Europe's colonies overseas—about five billion dollars are needed in the next five years in investment in Africa south of the Sahara alone.

APART from this ten-point program, however, OEEC's Third Report does not follow the two previous annual reports in giving a detailed forecast of future economic progress in Europe. The world of 1951 is too uncertain for that and every economic calculation can be upset to greater or lesser degree if inflation is not kept under control. Moreover, some countries found it totally impossible this year to produce reliable statistics which would not be altered as a result of rearmament.

✧ ✧ ✧

INSTEAD, OEEC this year has taken the longer view and has tried to put the achievements of the ERP in perspective. These achievements are impressive. They amount to reaching in three years the goals set for a full four-year program. Between 1947 and 1950, output in Western Europe of all kinds of goods and services rose, on the average, to about a seventh above pre-war. Even though Western Europe's population also rose by a tenth above pre-war, the net effect was an improvement on the economic situation of 1938.

THE progress of European industry has been especially marked; because it has so steadily improved in the last three years, it is easy to forget how far Europe has come since the eve of Marshall Aid. Here are some of the bigger jumps in production: Steel output, 70 per cent above pre-war; textiles, 50 per cent; petrol and refined oil products, 200 per cent; electricity, 80 per cent; vehicles, 60 per cent. Taken altogether, industrial production in Western Europe, with the blood transfusion of Marshall Aid, has risen since 1947 from 80 per cent below 1938 levels to 25 per cent above them; by half way through 1950, the annual rate was running at between 30 and 35 per cent above 1938. Farm production in 1950 averaged about 25 per cent above 1947-9, and about ten per cent above 1938. However, as population had also increased by ten per cent, there was no net gain per head.

✧ ✧ ✧

ONE final point stressed by the Report is the offsets made in the past three years in Europe to close the dollar gap and to deal with the balance of payments problem. This has been done in three main ways: by a tremendous export drive which has in three years raised European exports by 12,200 million dollars or by 91 per cent of 1948 prices; by restricting imports so that they rose by comparison by only 22 per cent; and by increasing the trade between member nations even more than the general increase over the past three years in world trade. In 1950 the rate of increase in trade between the OEEC members was 60 per cent above the year before.

FOR this, there is no doubt that the European Payments Union, by which members have had in their trade with one another what amounted to a single currency, is largely responsible. The OEEC program of liberalising trade on private account between member countries may also have had a part in it. What is less sure, and what OEEC leaves the reader to decide for himself, is what the long-term consequences will be of making Europe economically more interdependent, and changing the pattern of its trade with the United States and the rest of the dollar area.

Letters To The Editor

AN ENUMERATOR APPROVES OF THE CENSUS

Sir: With reference to your editorial neighbour as a Census taker I wish to voice my opinion as one of the Census enumerators in the territory in which I am working. I have had the very best of co-operation from everyone and the only surprise they have had is that the questions were so easy for them to answer.

The only question anyone would have any reason for objection is the financial one on the housing document and I think any enumerator who has his mind on his task will not be able to remember the financial condition of his neighbours by the time the job is done. My opinion is that the government was wise in selecting enumerators to work in the locality where they live as they know the boundary of their territory. Where I work a lot of the boundary is just a steamboat channel up the lake and a non-resident would need to hire a guide to find this boundary and there are lots of other enumerator areas with the same problem, so I think that if all enumerators can get the co-operation I have had I think the census will be the best ever despite the fact that a few people want to grouch about it. Thanking you for space in your paper.

Yours truly,
ENUMERATOR.

HOUSES FOR VETERANS WITH CHILDREN

Sir: Last September we filed an application for a veteran's house. We were told that the houses were rented according to the number of points held by a veteran. There were to be so many points for being married, so many points for Canadian and overseas services, and so many for each child.

At that time we had four children and my husband had been in the services over five years, half of which he served in Europe. So we thought we should really get one of their houses. They came to the apartment where we were living and investigated. We didn't hear from them again.

Now we have another baby and we do need a larger place. (We have four rooms here.) I went up last week to see them and was told that when they came to investigate my place wasn't clean enough to get one of their houses. My children aren't destructive around the building.

I'd sure like to know how a mother with five small children living in four rooms, with no place to keep things, can keep a house spotlessly clean every minute of the day. I suppose if we had no children we would get one of their houses tomorrow. There are some people living in these houses with no children, some not even veterans.

How can these people get the houses that were supposed to be built for veterans with children? What are we supposed to do with our children?

Please print this in your paper. There are probably lots of other mothers who feel as I do.

"A MOTHER OF FIVE"

ULSTER VISITORS IMPRESSED

Sir: May I take this opportunity to say thank you publicly to the staff of the Civic Hospital and to Miss Thompson and Miss Wilson especially.

Recently my husband and I entertained for a few days some old friends from Belfast Northern Ireland. I had not seen Mr. and Mrs. Thompson since I left Belfast 21 years ago, and I was eager to show them my adopted city. We spent most of their visit at our summer place in Buckhorn, but came into Peterborough on Sunday. Mr. Thompson is a former member of the workmen's board of the Royal Victoria Hospital in Belfast and is still interested in all hospitals. Miss Thompson very kindly arranged at very short notice on Monday for us to make a tour of the Civic Hospital. Miss Wilson was our very charming and competent guide. Mr. and Mrs. Thompson were very much impressed, and said over and over how kind Canadians were and Peterburians in particular, and said also that the visit to the Civic Hosptal was the highlight of their Canadian visit. Mr. and Mrs. Sam Thompson junior, of Windsor, Ontario, who accompanied them agreed with enthusiasm. My husband and I are very proud of our city and our fellow citizens.

We took our friends on the scenic drive, and they all thought that the view of the city from Armour Hill reminded them of the view of Belfast from the Cave Hill. An Ulsterman could give no higher praise. We also took the trip from Buckhorn through Burleigh Falls, Young's Point, Lakefield. Mr. Thompson senior ate his first hamburger at our restaurant in Buckhorn, and Mrs. Thompson senior enjoyed her first hot fudge sundae.

They left on Monday afternoon to spend a last few days with their son and daughter-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. Sam Thompson junior, and their two small sons, Brian and Gary, at their home on Peter Street, Windsor, Ontario, before sailing for home on the 22nd of June.

I know that my old friends in Northern Ireland will learn a lot about Peterborough, and I know that my husband and I will have even more reason to be proud of our city, because the Thompsons enjoyed their visit so much.

Yours truly,
PAT CUMMINGS.

Bible Message

(From the Authorized Version)

Then said Jesus unto him, Except ye see signs and wonders, ye will not believe. The nobleman saith unto him, Sir, come down ere my child die.

Jesus saith unto him, Go thy way; thy son liveth. And the man believed the word that Jesus had spoken unto him, and he went his way. And as he was now going down, his servants met him, and told him, saying, Thy son liveth.

Then enquired he of them the hour when he began to amend. And they said unto him, Yesterday at the seventh hour the fever left him. So the father knew that it was at the same hour, in the which Jesus said unto him, Thy son liveth: and himself believed, and his whole house. (John 4: 48-53.)

For ever, O Lord, thy word is settled in heaven....O how love I thy law! it is my meditation all the day....

Thy testimonies have I taken as an heritage for ever: for they are the rejoicing of my heart....Hold thou me up, and I shall be safe: and I will have respect unto thy statutes continually....

Righteous art thou, O Lord, and upright are thy judgements. (Ps. 119: 89, 97, 111, 117, 137.)

Lettuce And Pigs

(Wall Street Journal)

The Department of Justice has sued the lettuce growers of Salinas County, California, because they plowed under some of their crop. The Department says this was done to restrict supply and raise prices, which is contrary to the anti-trust laws.

The lettuce growers claim the Department of Justice is wrong and no doubt they will tell their story to the judge. Until such time we withhold judgement.

But it does seem timely to call attention to whom is suing whom for what.

Was it not at one time considered wise policy and even patriotic duty to destroy little pigs? And even more recently it was considered proper to encourage people not to plant cotton. Tobacco plantings are limited. We can even remember when people were being sued for growing too much wheat. We could mention the potatoes that were dumped and the eggs that were in caves—may still be there for all we know.

It's a puzzling question. What is there about lettuce that differentiates it from little pigs? One would suppose some affinity because an order of a ham sandwich usually brings more lettuce than ham whereas our personal choice is a good deal of ham and no lettuce at all.

His Apple Tree

His apple tree is blooming now
Above the garden's cobbled way,
And hourly every limb and bough
Takes on more loveliness today.

And as I gaze I think of him
Who set it here, and watched it grow
Until his eyes were tired and dim
And feeble was his step and slow.

And once again I hear him say,
As he so often used to do,
"When I am dead and laid away
There will be apples still for you.

"There will be apples on this tree
In summers when I am no more,
And maybe you'll remember me
Who set it out in 'Eighty-four."

His apple tree is blooming now,
And there'll be apples, as he said;
And when I strip each laden bough
I shall remember him who's dead.

Labor Paper Ceases Printing In N.Z.

By J. C. GRAHAM

WELLINGTON, N.Z.—(CP)—The only metropolitan newspaper in New Zealand supporting the Labor Party, The Wellington Southern Cross was forced by rising costs to suspend publication March 17.

Published by a company sponsored by the Labor Party itself, the newspaper had a life of a little over five years. It lost money each year of its existence and several appeals were necessary to the party's branches and trade unions to keep it going.

The chairman of its board of directors, J. Roberts, stated the suspensnion was necessary by shortage of staff and lack of replacements, together with an abnormal increase in costs of material and production.

For more than 10 years from 1935, New Zealand had a labor government without a single metropolitan newspaper giving editorial support to the government. The only daily newspaper in the country supporting the Labor Party was the Grey River Argus, in the small town of Greymouth on the west coast of the south island.

Party Organ

Shortly after the war the Labor Party started a campaign for its own daily paper. Funds were subscribed largely by party branches, trade unions and individual supporters. The paper was launched in Wellington, the capital, although not the largest city. Wellington already had a morning and an evening paper. The Southern Cross was launched as a morning paper and efforts were made to give it a national circulation among labor supporters.

However, transport in New Zealand is not sufficiently developed for any daily paper to attain a truly national circulation. The paper built a circulation approaching 40,000, but this was considerably below that of the other Wellington dailies. Although Wellington returned a large Labor representation to parliament, a big percentage of Labor supporters continued to support the earlier established newspapers.

Rearm Germany Said Dangerous

LONDON —(CP)— Lord Strabolgi, a Labor peer generally regarded as on the left of the party, contends that the rearmament of Germany would make a third world war inevitable.

Speaking at a meeting called by the Emergency Jewish Committee to protest against proposals to rearm Germany, Lord Strabolgi said there were two clearly-discernible trends in German opinion.

[illegible] pacifist and opposed to participation in any future war, the second favored remilitarization on equal terms and with full sovereign rights.

In the event of an East-West clash, the West could offer to Germany only the Saar, but the Russians could offer the great eastern provinces of the old empire, Lord Strabolgi said. This would mean of new partition of Poland.

For this reason he believed remilitarization made a third world war inevitable.

Citadelles Make Hap Emms Offer

QUEBEC, June 14 (CP). — Owner Frank Byrne of Quebec Citadelles confirmed Wednesday he made an offer to Happy Emms to coach the Quebec entry in the Junior Amateur Hockey Association.

Emms coached Barrie Flyers to the Memorial Cup championship last year after Flyers eliminated Citadelles in the eastern Canada junior final.

No contract has been signed so far between Emms, who resigned as Barrie coach after last season, and the Quebec Club.

In Barrie, Emms would say nothing about terms, but said he is thinking the matter over closely.

"I think I'd like Quebec City, but there are many things which have to be considered before I could accept Byrne's offer," he said. "Quite frankly at the moment I don't know what I'll do."

Denies Being Forced To Sell Browns

NEW YORK, June 14 (AP).— No deal has been completed for the Dewitt's stock in the Browns declared Bill Dewitt, president of the St. Louis American League club.

The Browns president, however, declined Wednesday specific comment on reports Bill Veeck, former owner of the Cleveland Indians, is negotiating for the purchase of the club.

"We are not being forced to sell or negotiate or being forced to talk to anybody because of any debts and we did not borrow $600,000 recently from a bank," he said in commenting on a story by Joe L. Reichler of The Associated Press. Reichler said negotiations for sale of the Browns to Veeck have been completed.

Dewitt said he and his brother, Charles, owe the American League $300,000 but "that is a personal loan, not due until Feb. 1, 1954," and is entirely separate from the indebtedness of the baseball company.

The club debt has been reduced approximately $500,000 during the last three years, he added.

No Stipulation

The club's chief executive further said:

"There is no stipulation in our loan agreement with the American League that requires us to consult anybody if we wish to sell.

"The statement that the Browns may not sell any of their top stars to a rival club without the consent of the American League is absolutely false. There is no such agreement between either the Browns or the Dewitts and the American League or any other person or organization. This can be confirmed by president Will Harridge of the American League.

"The charge in Reichler's story that the Browns are 'debt-ridden' is entirely false. The entire indebtedness of the Browns consist of a $600,000 long term loan from an insurance company and a bank, the details of which are on record in the office of the recorder of deeds in the city of St. Louis."

Bill Dewitt, president of St. Louis Browns, said Wednesday night that "no deal has been completed for sale of our stock in the Browns."

He referred to the stock held by himself and his brother, Charles, vice-president of the Browns.

President Dewitt declined specific comment on reports that Bill Veeck former owner of the Cleveland Indians, is negotiating for purchase of the American League Baseball Club.

Commenting on a story by Joe L. Richler of The Associated Press that negotiations for sale of the Browns to Veeck have been completed, Dewitt said:

"The statement that the Browns may not sell any of their top stars to a rival club without the consent of the American League is absolutely false. There is no such agreement between either the Browns or the Dewitts and the American League or any other person or organization."

At Detroit, the Stockholm AIK soccer team Wednesday night defeated a Detroit and Ontario all-star club 6-1 before 4,500 fans.

The Swedes booted home five goals in a rousing second half to register their second victory in four starts.

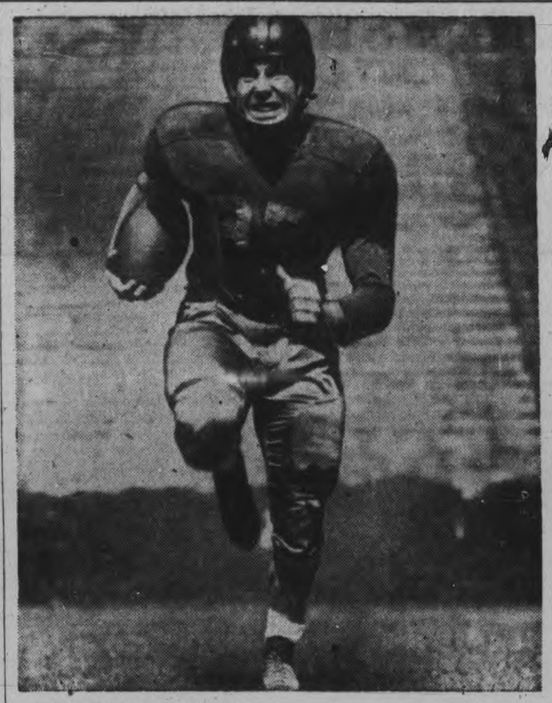
At Boston, Greentree Stable's One Hitter, twice victor over Noor, the great Irish champion, Wednesday won the $25,000-added Massachusetts Handicap by one-half length over George Widener's Lights Up.

Some 20,000 Suffolk Downs racing fans cheered as the son of Shut Out came through in the stretch under the deft guidance of Toronto-born Ted Atkinson.

Chief Justice Wendell B. Farris of the British Columbia Supreme Court Wednesday was appointed to arbitrate a purse dispute between horsemen and the BC Turf and Country Club.

The club operates Lansdowne Park, where the racing season is scheduled to open June 20. It has offered minimum purses of $850. The horsemen want a $950 minimum.

Racing secretary H. J. Van Gundy of Du Quoin, Ill., said on Wednesday the purse for the 1953 Hambletonian at Goshen, N. Y., may top $100,000.



He said the Hambletonian Society has received payments on 561 eligible yearling trotting horses and if the usual percentage is kept in good standing, the 1953 stake would top $100,000.

He said 128 trotters are qualified for the 1952 Hambletonian.

Mrs. M. H. Currer of the St. George's Club Wednesday won the Toronto and district ladies' golf championship and the Rodger Trophy. Playing in intermittent rain, she finished with a four-stroke margin over Ada MacKenzie, eight times winner in the 25 years the championship has been held, and 12 strokes in front of Mrs. N. J. Carlson, the defending titleholder.

Mrs. Currer herself has won the title three times previously.

HARRELL (RIP) COLLINS, above, is expected to solve a lot of the Montreal Alouette problems. He's the answer man. Lew Hayman announced recently that the all-round back, the triple threat whiz, had been signed for the 1951 campaign. Collins was with Baltimore Colts last season. The Colts were coached by Rocco Pirro, now Hayman's assistant. Lew said that Rocco calls the 24-year-old player "terrific", everybody does. Collins can kick, run and pass. He won't be the quarterback, so it can't be said that he is successor to Frank Filchock exactly. Green Bay Packers selected Collins second in the draft. He started as a pro with Chicago Hornets, switched to the Colts when the Hornets disbanded. Rip earned all-star honors when with Louisiana State University and was rated among the top five punters in the United States. Collins is a six-footer, weighing 190 pounds.

SPORTS SHOW WINDOW

No senior lacrosse here this Friday night. However, there'll be a real interesting gutted-stick game at 8.45 p.m. on the morrow in Miller Bowl, the opening of the OLA junior season. Niagara Falls plays the local squad, and the Falls team of this semester is practically the same one which won the Dominion junior "A" crown for St. Catharines last fall. The team moved there holus-bolus this spring, figuring on drawing bigger crowds in the Falls, where there is no senior lacrosse. So the young Petes, who took the provincial junior "B" title last year, face their toughest opposition in the opening game. It should be a swell struggle.

* * * * * *

Coach Lou Vitarelli has bolstered his OLA juniors plenty in recent weeks. Several newcomers, plus the pick of last year's outfit and the class of the PMLA all-stars. Here are the names of the Peterborough pack as they'll line up Friday, their sweater numbers running from No. 1 to 16: Bill Nicholls, Bev Groves (who may not see action this time), Lou Nickel, Doug Powell, Carl Brioux, Gary Robinson (captain), Brian Robinson, Jim Shearer, Grant Burns, Steve Morrissey, Jim Heffernan, Rocky Batley, Frank Farley, Carl Fitzgerald, Jerry O'Reilly and Bob Wyatt—who may be an absentee, too, the first fray. Brian (Red) Robinson and Lou Nickel are assistant captains. Many of these will be senior aces in another year or two.

* * * * * *

Harry Lights The Lamp

All OLA senior "A" games, here and aboard, were washed out last night. The Petes trek to Fergus on Monday and are at home to Mimico next Friday. So, the group standing remains unchanged. Scoring marks we compiled today show Harry Wipper leading the local parade with 21 points in eight games, 20 of them goals, plus one assist. A swell show for a defenceman, huh? Another defender, Jerry Fitzgerald, appears in for a grand season with 20 points to date in seven games. Tricky Ike Hildebrand is up there along with dependable Curly Mason with 18 points apiece so that the forwards won't be completely overshadowed. Coming along good now are Arn Dugan, Don Ashbee and Dootch Vitarelli, with Russ Slater, Nit O'Hearn and Bob Thorpe not so far behind.

* * * * * *

Weather permitting, Kingsways of Toronto play the Petes at 8.30 tonight in Riverside Park under the arcs. It's a postponed Viaduct Baseball League tilt, and should be a hard-fought one. The Kingsways are rated presently as one of the top three teams in this senior circuit, and the Petes are leading the way at this date. Both clubs are busy adding the odd player—not odd in an odd sense, you know—of proven ability as they shape around for a hot race during the coming weeks of the campaign. Some fine ball is sure to be dished up when these teams tangle, and the fans should get in on it while the getting is good. The summer is all too short for most ball fans.

* * * * * *

And Then Came The Rain

The senior ball club didn't travel to Oshawa last eve as word was received that rain had sent that Viaduct League game down the drain. The Petes play Kingsways here tonight and Staffords in Riverside on Saturday p.m. They're away to Toronto next Tuesday. No word yet on when they'll pick up that postponement with the Motor City Merchants, who are busy bolstering these days from across the line. Kingsways climbed over Oshawa into sole possession of second place in the standing—just back of Peterborough — by defeating Staffords the other night 13-9. Staffs are fourth, a game and a half up on Toronto Croftons.

* * * * * *

That "California dew" in the gloaming Wednesday also ruined the scheduled twin bill for the girl softballers at the Bowl, no games being played. Marines go to Cobourg tomorrow, and the Monday setup is: Woollens vs. Ashby's, and Marines vs. Westclox. These postponements must be picked up sometime, and the lasses have access to Friday nights at the Bowl. They haven't been cashing in on Fridays so far as they find the civic rental a bit high for three evenings a week. The men softballers aren't finding the sledding too easy so far, either, as they pay double the rent for use of the park—and the crowds usually aren't very big until playoffs approach.

* * * * * *

Dese, Dem and Dose

Men's Bowl games tonight, starting at seven: Orphans vs. Revoy's, and UEW vs. Lakefield....King Edward intermediates took a 16-3 school win o'er Central to wind up their schedule....And now 'tis playoff time in the public school circuits....Orphans expect to have Skeeter O'Heron in the near future....St. Peter's meet St. Alphonsus tonight in the Catholic Softball League....Utilities and Foresters have a duel this e'en in Morrow Park; two Bowl games Friday, opening at 6.45: Bell vs. S. Army, and Busmen vs. Utilities ....In fastball tonight, it's: McGinness at Norwood, and Woollens vs. Rays at Brinton....Welch's bantams drill at 6.15 p.m. Friday in Riverside....Welcome plays at Bailieboro on Friday in the South Durham League....Soccer Saturday has Trenton vs. UEW in Morrow Park, as O'Halloran's go to Kingston....PMLA bantam tilt at 6.30 tonight: St. Alphonsus vs. Quakers; peewees have an open workout at 10 Sat'day morn....Mimico juniors beat the Falls 11-10 ... Ralph Gordon and Don Bush, Orillia lacrossers, are strutting their stuff now with Chatham....No recent word on PMBA games.... Again it is cloudy at this writing, but 'tis hoped the weather clears ere evening....Only beef we have today is the price of it.

Harry Whipper Leads Petes In OLA Scoring

Tall Harry Wipper is leading the Petes' OLA scorers with 21 points after eight league games been played. The former St. Catharines' defenceman scored 20 goals to date and aided on another in a fine showing, probably the best so far in the Ontario Lacrosse Association. Trailing him closely is solid Jerry Fitzgerald with six goals and 14 assists for 20 points in seven tilts. Ike Hildebrand and Curly Mason are well up there, too, with 18 points each, Arn Dugan coming along fast now with 16, Don Ashbee clicking for 15 and Dootch Vitarelli for 13. The list so far:

	P	G	A	Pts.
Wipper	8	20	1	21
Fitzgerald	7	6	14	20

Fulham Overwhelms Manitoba All-Stars

WINNIPEG, June 14 (CP). — Fulham, the touring English League first division soccer team Wednesday night overwhelmed Manitoba all-stars 5-1.

A crowd of 3,500 watched the visitors win their sixth game in eight Canadian starts. They have lost one and drawn one.

After taking a 1-0 lead in the first half, Fulham opened up in the second to pump home four goals to the Manitobans' one. Three of the second-half goals came within 4½ minutes.

Wilsons Edges Millars 9-7 In Cobourg Game

COBOURG, June 14—Brandy Hie, veteran softball hurler on the Wilson Motors team, twirled an eight-hitter and hanged out two triples, to beat Baltimore Millars, 9-7, in a Cobourg and District Softball League game here Tuesday night.

Hie, a pitcher for 22 years, walked none and excelled at the plate. He scored two men with one of his triples. He was badly bothered only in the second, when the losers got three runs on successive hits, including a homer.

Dodgers Take Two Straight From St. Louis Cardinals

By RALPH RODEN,
Associated Press Sports Writer.

Home may be a man's castle but Brooklyn Dodgers are finding the road more fruitful than their Ebbets Field citadel.

The Dodgers, sprinting six games in front of the National League pack, are terrors on foreign soil. The darlings of Flatbush have won 15 games and lost only five away from home for a terrific .750 pace.

At home where in the past few years, they were pillars of strength, the Dodgers have won 18 and dropped 13, a respectful .581 gait.

The Dodgers, on their second tour of the west, made it two straight over St. Louis Cardinals Wednesday night, 7-4.

Duke Snider was the big gun for the Dodgers. Snider pounded out four hits, a home run, double and two singles and drove in three runs to spearhead the Dodgers' 11-hit attack.

Snider broke up the game with a three-run homer in the fifth inning. The blow was his 14th and snapped a 3-3 tie. Young Tom Poholsky served up Snider's homer.

New York Giants remained in second place as a result of their 5-2 victory over Cincinnati Reds. Eighth-inning errors by Virgil Stallcup and Connie Ryan helped the Giants to score three runs and win the game.

Bag Victory

Whitey Lockman drove in the first two Giant runs on a fly ball and home run. The Giants led 2-0 until the sixth when the Reds tied the score on a two-run single by Ted Kluszewski. Kluszewski's blow chased starter Monte Kennedy and George Spencer and Sal Maglie finished up with Spencer bagging the victory.

Ewell Blackwell went all the way for Cincinnati and suffered his fifth loss.

Errors aided Robin Roberts and Philadelphia Phillies to beat the Chicago Cubs 5-0. The Cubs committed four errors that helped the Phils to score three runs.

Roberts blanked the Cubs on four hits, two of them extra base smashes. The triumph was his seventh.

American League action was restricted to one game. The Boston Red Sox defeated the Tigers 2-0 behind the five-hit pitching of Bill Wight who went the distance for the first time this year.

The Red Sox nicked Dizzy Trout for only six hits.

The league-leading Chicago White Sox and Washington Senators were rained out along with St. Louis Browns and New York Yankees, Cleveland Indians and Philadelphia Athletics and Boston Braves and Pittsburgh Pirates.

Royals Lash Toronto In 8-5 Victory

By The Associated Press.

Tom La Sorda, little lefthander of Montreal Royals is en orute to the best season of his brief organized ball career.

La Sorda, who worked out with the parent Brooklyn Dodgers in the spring, has won six games and lost only one for the Royals who are threatening to run away with the International League pennant.

He won nine games for the Royals last year, his highwater mark so far. He won nine in 1948 following a two-year service hitch but also dropped 12 for Schenectady of the Canadian-American League.

La Sorda turned in his sixth victory Wednesday night as he pitched the Royals to an 8-5 victory over Toronto Maple Leafs.

The Leafs played the game under protest from the sixth inning on after Bob Morgan of the Royals pulled the hidden-ball trick on Les Fleming, veteran Toronto first baseman.

The Leafs claimed La Sorda had his foot on the pitching rubber at the time, but the umpire ruled this was not the case.

Fail To Hold Lead

The Leafs tagged La Sorda for three runs in the second inning to take a 3-2 lead but the Royals came back in their half on a three-run homer by Al Gionfriddo to move ahead for keeps. Jackie Gilliam homered for the Royals in the fourth and Lew Morton socked one for the Leafs in the fifth. Jack Bruner was the loser.

The victory enabled the Royals to move seven games ahead of the runner-up Buffalo Bisons. The Bisons' game with Ottawa was rained out as were games between Syracuse and Rochester and Springfield and Buffalo.

3 Lacrosse Games Postponed By Rain

TORONTO, June 14 (CP). — Rain Wednesday forced postponement of three Ontario Lacrosse Association senior games scheduled for Wednesday night—Fergus at Peterborough, St. Catharines at Mimico and Toronto at Hamilton.

The association announced that the Hamilton game will be played tonight.

New dates were announced for two other games, postponed earlier in the season—St. Catharines at Hamilton July 5 and Hamilton at St. Catharines July 16.

Presbyterians Pass Resolution Asking Hope Report Considered

OTTAWA, June 14 (CP)—The 77th General Assembly of the Presbyterian Church in Canada, which was highlighted by demands for—and examples of—renewed vigor in the church, closed Wednesday night.

In the eight-day assembly, commissioners from 47 presbyteries across Canada had:

1. Elected as moderator the Rev. Norman D. Kennedy of Regina—a man of humility and strength, who conducted the assembly in an efficient manner.

2. Set up machinery for a $1,000,000 campaign for church extension.

3. Set themselves the task of raising another $5,500,000 for ordinary budgetary and congregational needs.

4. Accepted the responsibility of maintaining minimum stipends for ordained ministers.

5. Revealed the church's growing strength by a near doubling in church givings during the last five years.

"If we had the men and the money," said the Rev. G. Deane Johnston of Brantford, chairman of the General Board of Missions, to the closing session, "we could double the size of the church in five years."

Hope To Iron It Out

Some of these problems they hoped to iron out by the time the commissioners meet again at the 78th General Assembly—set for the first Wednesday in June in Knox Church, Toronto.

The Assembly after cautious debate Wednesday night passed a resolution urging consideration of the Hope Report on education by the Ontario Legislature.

The resolution, presented by the Rev. E. C. McCullagh of Dunnville, as convenor of the Board of Evangelism and Social Action, noted the Hope Report had been tabled by Premier Frost.

"The commission was pleased to hear and embody in the report nearly all the recommendations of the inter-church committee representing most of the Protestant churches of the province," the resolution stated, and it "seems to have made a wise and constructive approach to the reorganization of the school system of the province."

The moderator said he felt "embarrassed" presiding during passage of a resolution of concern to one province in which he does not reside. Other commissioners expressed doubts over a national Church Assembly concerning itself with a strictly provincial matter.

Resolution Passes

But the resolution passed after strong representations by the Rev. Mr. McCullagh. He said: "This is of extreme importance to us. It means simply strengthening the hands of our premier . . . and the biggest percentage of our church membership is in Ontario."

An amendment asking that the matter be referred to the Ontario synods was defeated.

The commissioners stood off for at least another year a move to boost minimum stipends of ordained ministers.

The proposal, made by the Presbytery of Brandon, claimed the present minimum—$2,000 plus a maximum of $300 for travel allowance and extra allowances from the ministerial fund for wives and children—had not kept pace with the cost of living. It asked for a raising of the minimum stipend to $2,400 with the travel allowance unchanged.

Too Heavy a Burden

Mr. Johnston said the raise would impose too heavy a burden on the Board of Missions.

The Assembly agreed with a suggestion of James Dutton of Peterborough, chairman of the Board of Administration, that the measure be referred to the boards of administration and missions to consider jointly and report back to next year's Assembly.

A national campaign council was named, with representation from every presbytery in Canada to head the $6,500,000 drive for funds, including the special million-dollar campaign for extension work.

Max Baer toppled the giant Primo Carnera to win the world's heavyweight boxing title at New York, 17 years ago tonight. Carnera, who had won the title a year before from Jack Sharkey, was toppled to the canvas 12 times before the fight was stopped in the 11th round. Baer himself lost the crown to Jimmy Braddock a year later.

King Edward Wins

King Edward intermediates of the School Softball League took a 16-3 victory over Central. They scored six runs in the first stanza, two each in the next three and four in the fifth. Central counted a pair in the third and one in the fifth as McIntosh hurled good ball. W. Rowe hit a homer and Stevens clouted a four-run circuit blow. Murphy pulled off an unassisted double-play at second. Teams:

Central: Lloyd, McInroy, Naish, Tetlock, D. Lustic, Hayman, J. Lustic, Kelly, Armstrong, Simpson, Ellis, Sorrie, Lang.

King Edward: Murphy, Rose, R. Rowe, W. Rowe, Stevens, Ball, Byers, Vogelsang, McIntosh, Waldie, Park, Collins, Riel.

Umpire, K. McKee.

CORNERBROOK, Nfld.—(CP)—Papa swan and mama swan of the Glynmill Road pond have become the proud parents of three baby swans, or cygnets. The male swan was obviously pleased as he guarded the three healthy little swans taking their first swimming lessons.

Worth It

TORONTO—(CP)—An American tourist thought $4.50 was too much for an Indian guide for a day's fishing in Algonquin Park north of here. He offered $1 a pound instead. At the day's end he cheerfully paid $40 for the three fish he caught, weighing a total of 40 pounds.

Trot Betting Bill Gets Second Reading

OTTAWA, June 14 (CP)—The Commons Wednesday gave second reading to a bill bringing betting at pacing and trotting races in Canada under governmental supervision.

Agriculture Minister Gardiner, piloting the measure, said the move had been requested by trotting and pacing associations, which were anxious to have betting at their meets placed on the same supervised basis as that applying to ordinary horse racing.

Their request stemmed from the revived interest in trotting and pacing meets, particularly in Ontario.

Says Papers Not Only Ones To Be Subsidized

OTTAWA, June 14 (CP)—Senator W. A. Buchanan, publisher of the Lethbridge Herald, said Wednesday he resents suggestions tha newspapers alone are subsidized by the government.

The Liberal Senator from Alberta spoke before the Senate gave second reading—approval in principle—to a bill amending the Post Office Act and providing for an increase in the postal rates on newspapers and publications.

Senator Buchanan said he was not rising to speak as a publisher or to complain about how the new postal rates will affect his own newspaper. He said he was speaking because he resented suggestions that newspapers and no one else are receiving subsidies.

He took the floor after Senator Thomas Reid (L—British Columbia) said he wished to protest against the post office department "subsidizing" newspapers to the extent of $12,000,000 a year through low postal rates.

If publishers were receiving a subsidy and this was to be stopped, then a stop should also be put to subsidies paid to others in any other form, Senator Buchanan said.

Senator Peter Campbell (L—Ontario) explained provisions of the bill, passed Wednesday by the Commons. He said it will increase the postal rates of daily and weekly newspapers, periodicals, magazines and other publications by about $1,800,000 a year.

Alberta Government Favors Export Of Natural Gas

JASPER, Alta., June 14 (CP)—Mines Minister Tanner today indicated that the Alberta government favors export of natural gas provided there is enough to justify export, and that it is developed without unnecessary waste.

In an address prepared for delivery to the Investment Dealers' Association of Canada, he recalled the findings of the petroleum and natural gas conservation board. These, he said, were:

"That present established gas reserves are approximately equal to the amount of gas the board estimates is necessary to insure present and future requirements of the province; and that, accordingly, these reserves should be increased before the export of gas is approved.

"On the other hand, the board concluded that as quickly as adequate additional reserves were established, it would be in the best interests of the people of Alberta to make surplus gas available for sale outside the province."

Agrees With Report

The government, Mr. Tanner said, "concurs fully with the board's conclusion, believing that it would result in encouragement to develop petroleum and natural gas reserves, as well as to make it possible to produce fields which otherwise would not be produced; and, therefore, encourage and make posible greater and more rapid industrial development within Alberta.

"The Pincher Creek field (in southwestern Alberta) is a good example. It is a condensate or wet gas field, with the largest known gas reserves in the province; and it is estimated that some 1,250,000,000,000 cubic feet of marketable pipe line gas will be recovered from it.

"The high capital expenditure involved . . would require a minimum of about 100,000,000 cubic feet a day . . if the resulting products, including the residue dry gas are to be produced at a price which would be attractive to the prospective consumer.

"For every 100,000,000 cubic feet of residue gas produced, over 3,000 barrels of natural gasoline, 700 barrels of butane, 550 barrels of propane and some 430 tons of sulphur, would also be recovered."

BIGGEST HERDS

The United Kingdom had 10,610,000 cattle in 1950, or about 15 per cent more than in 1939.

MAIN SOURCE

It is estimated that eight out of 10 families in Britain use gas for domestic cooking.

MacArthur Takes Anti-Truman Stand To Texas

By TIM PARKER.

HOUSTON, Tex., June 14 (AP) — Gen. Douglas MacArthur brought his anti-administration stand to the South's largest city today after drawing a record crowd at a Houston welcome parade.

His speech tonight in a 70,000 seat football stadium will give the deposed Far Eastern commander an opportunity to develop these arguments he voiced on arriving in Texas Wednesday.

1. American policy makers are guilty of appeasement in Korea—appeasement that could lead to war with Russia.

2. The administration is guilty of "moral weakness" in talking of a peace settlement.

The biggest crown even seen in Houston turned out—but cheered only with marked restraint — to see MacArthur's arrival parade late Wednesday.

Mayor Oscar Holcombe estimated the crowd at about 440,000, almost double the previous record 250,000 drawn by President Franklin D. Roosevelt in 1936 Other estimates ran considerably lower.

Appeasement Accusation

MacArthur made his appeasement accusation from the steps of the State capitol in Austin. About 20,000 Texans listened as the 71-year-old General declared America's first line of defence is on the Yalu river at the Manchurian border and not the Elbe river in Europe.

He blamed "the moral weakness of the free world"—not Soviet military strength—for Russian advances.

"It is a weakness which has caused many free nations to succumb to and embrace the false tenets of Communist propaganda. It is a weakness which has caused our policy makers, after committing America's sons to battle, to leave them to the continuous slaughter of an indecisive campaign."

The General has three more Texas speeches to make—at San Antonio and Dallas Friday, and at Fort Worth Saturday. Then he flies back to New York City.

Get First Call

WASHINGTON, June 14 (AP) —A National Production Authority official said Wednesday industries other than newsprint would get first call on "dangerously-low" domestic sulphur stocks. Sulphur is an essential ingredient in the manufacture of newsprint which itself is in short supply. John F. Wood, chief of the sulphur unit of NPA told a House of Representative interstate commerce sub-committee on newsprint that "there is no assurance for the newsprint industry, or any other industry, that they will receive their full operating requirements," Wood said in reply to questions.

Truman Says Casualties In Korea Are Under 80,000

WASHINGTON, June 14 (AP) —President Truman said Wednesday that casualties in Korea total less than 80,000. He used the figure to point up a call for a drive against carnage on the highways which left 1,035,000 dead and injured in the United States last year.

Truman addressed the annual highway safety conference. His central theme was that "a highway accident does just as much damage to the defense effort as a deliberate act of sabotage by hostile agents."

His Korea casualty figures represented a new sort of tabulation. The White House said it covered killed, wounded and missing in combat, plus non-battle casualties who have not returned to duty. The latest combat casualty report shows battle losses of 68,-352.

Gen. Omar Bradley, chairman of the joint chiefs of staff, testified in the Senate MacArthur hearing May 25 that combat and non-battle casualties together numbered 141,955, but his listing included such things as a toothache.

Truman departed from his prepared speech to make the comparison, introducing it by mention of the effort to stop aggression in the Orient.

"The total casualties for the whole operation have been less than 80,000 and that includes everything: Sickness and death in jeeps by accidents, killed on the front, captured on the front and wounded," he said.

"It has been less than 80,000 and that means every kind of death and injury that could take place in that operation that is on the mind and tongue of every citizen.

"But right here at home we kill and permanently injure 1,-035,000 people and there is no outcry by the sabotage press, no misstatement by the columnists or the congressional demagogues. . . ."

Killed By Truck

KINCARDINE, June 14 (CP)— Two-ear-old Sandra McLeiland of nearby Bervie was killed Wednesday when a truck driven by her uncle, Glen McLeiland, ran over her while she was playing. Kincardine is 50 miles southwest of Owen Sound.

CITIZENS OF PETERBOROUGH

A RECORD OF WHICH TO BE PROUD!

UE has been the Union for CGE Workers since 1937; the established bargaining agency for Toronto CGE Workers since 1941, and for Peterborough CGE Workers since 1946.

7,000 CGE workers are united through UE in the following plants: Peterboro Works; Toronto Davenport Works, Ward Street, Royce Avenue, Lamp Works, and Carboloy.

Some of the Gains Made for Local CGE Workers Through Regular Negotiations Between the Company and UE Since 1946

Average wage for all employees has risen from $32.88 for a 48-hour week to $59.77 for a 43-hour week. (Minimum wage for girls $43.86; Minimum wage for men $52.46.)

VACATIONS: Tweek after 1 year service; 1½ weeks after 3 years service; 2 weeks after 5 years service; 3 weeks after 20 years.

Before UE, each Statutory Holiday was a lay-off without pay. Now we are paid for all 8 Statutory Holidays.

Job security through one of best contracts in Canadian industry, as protection against economic cycle of lay-offs.

OUR GAINS HAVE SPREAD TO THE ENTIRE COMMUNITY

Since 1946 over $15,000,000 (Fifteen Million Dollars) in extra pay has been received by CGE Peterborough workers through wage increases negotiated by UE. This set a pattern for increases in other Peterborough plants. It has been a tremendous boon to the standard of living of the whole community.

UE-GE 1951 wage increases range from $6 to $15 a week and only last week over a Quarter of a Million Dollars was circulated in retroactive pay to CGE workers here.

At this very moment we are in important negotiations with CGE aimed at further raising rates and classifications of the workers.

These Gains Have Been Secured by CGE Workers Through UE Without Strikes

A vote of plant workers in CGE Peterborough has been ordered by the Ontario Labour Relations Board. This is NOT a contest between two unions, nor is it a jurisdictional dispute.

It is a LAST DESPERATE EFFORT by a group of highly-paid labor politicians from OUTSIDE OUR CITY AND COUNTRY to RAID AND "TAKE OVER OR SMASH" the organization of CGE workers. They want POLITICAL DOMINATION of Peterborough labour. THEY WON'T SUCCEED!

UE WILL CONTINUE TO SERVICE ITS MEMBERS AS IN THE PAST. WE SHALL CONTINUE TO BRING THE TRUE FACTS TO PUBLIC ATTENTION. WE REALIZE OUR RESPONSIBILITY TO THE CITIZENS AT LARGE, AS WELL AS TO OUR MEMBERS.

These self-seeking outsiders have had the assistance of a group of likewise politically-ambitious individuals in Peterborough, and have temporarily confused a MINORITY of workers.

In the past they have constantly sought to disrupt the normal peaceful negotiations between CGE and our Union, the UE.

WARNING

The IUE, with nothing to lose for themselves, will probably intensify their barrage in a last desperate effort to "rule or ruin".

The favorite weapon of this group—the IUE—is red-baiting. By smearing our Union as "red", they try to intimidate our members and stampede the workers.

The thousands of UE Members refuse to be intimidated or stampeded into acting against their own interests.

OUR MEMBERS OPPOSE DOMINATION BY ANY GROUP. WE ARE GOVERNED BY DECISIONS OF ALL OUR MEMBERS REGARDLESS OF CRAFT, SEX, POLITICAL OR RELIGIOUS BELIEFS OR AFFILIATIONS.

We want a vote without unnecessary delay. We are confident the vote will result in a tremendous majority for the Union of the CGE Workers—the UE

C of C Speaker Talks On Fishing

LAKEFIELD, June 14 (ENS)—Guest speaker at Wednesday night's meeting of the Chamber of Commerce was T. H. Matthews, manager of a Toronto fish company, who spoke on deep sea fishing and outlined the history of fishing.

From Biblical times, when the fishing road was built around the sea of Galilee, until 50 years ago, no changes were made in the fishing industry. Today, a trawler will bring in as much as 300 tons of fish at one hawl.

He said that in Canada there are two of the world's greatest fishing grounds—in fresh and salt water.

Mr. Matthews was introduced by Harold Hamblin and thanked by C. J. Davis.

Second speaker was J. A. Duncan of the Association of Tourist Resorts of Ontario who outlined the group's work. He was introduced by G. H. Northey and thanked by Captain J. C. Sloan.

A resume of the year's meetings was given by the secretary, Mrs. W. O'Brien, and the treasurer's report by Mrs. L. Leonard. Don Hendren, chairman of the tourist committee, announced the information booth would be open June 23 and Mrs. O'Brien would be the attendant.

A huge campfire was lit and Skipper Jakins and Cubmaster Burger led in a sing-song.

The evening's festivities were brought to a close with the singing of "Abide With Me" and closing prayer by Skipper Jakins.

Funeral Service Held For Frederick Skitch

The funeral service for Walter Frederick Skitch, 76, 231 Dublin St., was held Wednesday in Trinity United Church, the Rev. Dr. D. Bruce Gordon officiating.

Mr. Skitch, believed to be the first express company representative in the city, died in hospital Sunday, two weeks after his wife had died.

Honorary pallbearers were S. Briggs, A. W. Pratten, E. G. Taylor (Toronto), G. A. Macdonald, James Juby and R. F. Downey.

Active pallbearers were Roy Powell, Richard and William Ford, David Fleming, Jack Curtis and Bruce Telford.

Burial was in Little Lake Cemetery. Funeral arrangements were made by the Belleghem funeral home.

Mother Rescues Son From Scugog River

Mrs. Sylvit Hughes, of 63 Ridout St., Lindsay, ran a block from her home to the Scugog River on Douglas, 3, from drowning.

The first intimation that something was wrong occurred when the child's playmate, John Polito, toddled to her house and told her Douglas was in the water. Discarding her dress as she ran to the river, she jumped in and pulled her son out. She was assisted by Grant Willis and Charles Saunders.

Today the boy seems none the worse for his experience.

Friends, Neighbors Shower Lakefield Girl

LAKEFIELD June 14 (ENS)—Miss Lee Anna Doubt, whose marriage to Cameron Payne takes place Saturday afternoon, was guest of honor at several showers this week.

Mrs. Clarence Coons was hostess to 30 neighbors Monday evening when the bride-to-be was given a shower of miscellaneous gifts.

Mrs. Charles Hunter and Miss Frances Clarke brought in the presents in a decorated basket, while Mrs. Coons read an address.

The ladies spent the evening in making a loose leaf cook book for the bride.

A skit entitled "Robert Burns," was put on by Mrs. Jack Arnott, Mrs. Hunter and Mrs. S. A. Grylls.

Lunch was served by the hostess, assisted by Mrs. Chester Lilley, Mrs. T. Last, Mrs. E. Hopkins and Miss Frances Clarke.

Mrs. Tom Birch and Mrs. Helena Geraldi entertained Thursday evening at a miscellaneous shower.

Mrs. Birch read an address and Misses Anne Richardson and Denise Doubt brought in the gifts.

A sing-song was enjoyed and the bride-elect thanked her friends.

Among those present were: Mrs. Warren Payne, Mrs. R. Doubt, Mrs. Stanley Goodall, Mrs. Cameron Wasson, Mrs. Charles Birch, Mrs. William Millage, Mrs. Jack Chittick, Mrs. T. Birch, Mrs. J. Andrews, Misses Anne Richardson, Denise Doubt, Connie Orr, Bette Millage, Dewey Wilford, Sue Wasson. Those unable to attend but who sent gifts were: Mrs. Earl Orr, Misses Barbara Hamblin, Betsy Hamblin and Anne Samis.

294 Employees Receive X-Rays

During May 294 persons were x-rayed prior to accepting employment in Peterborough industries it was announced here today by Charles Elliott of the Peterborough County Tuberculosis Association, in the absence of James Heffernan, president.

"We are receiving wonderful co-operation from local industry and the scheme has already been adopted by 99 percent of the industries," Mr. Elliott said.

Under the plan all employees before being engaged are required to take an x-ray provided by the Tuberculosis Association. The plan has been put into operation in a couple of months while in several other cities it has been years before it was accepted. "Industry is well pleased and the employees are happy," Mr. Elliott said.

Obituary

FREDERICK D. BUCK

NORWOOD, June 14—(ENS)—Frederick D. Buck, 67, of RR 2, Norwood, Asphodel township, died today at his residence following a lingering illness. He was born on the farm where he lived all his life and was the son of the late Thomas J. Buck and Esther McMillan.

He leaves his wife, the former Pearl Dyer, and two sons, Percy and Erlin, at home. There are four brothers in Norwood, George, William, Edgar and Daniel D. Buck. Mr. Buck was a member of Norwood Baptist church.

Funeral service will be held on Saturday at 2 p.m. at the McConnell-Warner funeral home. The Rev. W. J. Bingham will officiate and burial will be at Norwood cemetery.

Denbigh Students Finance Own Tour

Twenty-six Denbigh High School students, headed by teachers Exra Getz and Ezra Ball, stopped briefly in Peterborough today en route to Guelph, Kitchener and Hamilton.

They will be guests at the OAC, Guelph, tonight and Friday. On the way there today they will see parts of Toronto. They plan to visit the Mennonite Market at Kitchener, the botanical gardens at Hamilton and hope to view the Lift Lock in Peterborough on their return trip.

This is the sixth season of sightseeing trips, the teachers said, although not in this direction. The students raised the money for expenses by giving class plays and a few last-minute funds were contributed by Denbigh citizens.

Brakes Fail, Car Hit

When the brakes failed to hold, a car driven by William Collinson, 502 Cambridge St., hit the rear of an auto waiting in a line of traffic on Aylmer St.

Driver of the other car, Gerald Howley, 141 Charlotte St., was waiting for the traffic light at Hunter and Aylmer Sts. to change. Both cars were northbound.

Damage to Collinson's car was estimated at $50 and to Howley's at $40.

Smith H and S Officers

LAKEFIELD, June 14 (ENS)—Officers elected at the organization meeting of SS number six Smith Home and School Association were as follows: president, Mrs. Allan Gill; first vice-president, J. McConkey; second vice-president, Mrs. G. Carveth; recording secretary, Mrs. Harold Dunford; secretary, Mrs. Roger Charlton; treasurer, J. Butterworth.

Baptist Convention Raps Delay On Hope Report

HAMILTON, June 14—(CP)—The Baptist Convention of Ontario and Quebec Wednesday criticized the lack of action on many of the recommendations of Ontario's Hope Report on education, especially one which says Separate Schools should teach children for only six grades.

A resolution, approved by the 500 convention delegates, urged the limitation of privileges and concessions granted the Separate Schools in 1863. It urged the Ontario Government to take steps to correct and eliminate "abuses" in the system under which Separate Schools are established at the present time.

The delegates also opposed any proposal that Canada appoint an ambassador to the Vatican. Such action, a resolution said, would constitute political discrimination in favor of the Church of Rome.

Approve Plan

Scores of ministers who can not afford to participate in the church's superannuation scheme were given new hope. Delegates approved a plan under which the superannuation board will assume 75 per cent of the cost.

Previously the board paid only 50 per cent, the balance being paid by the ministers. Many who could not meet the payments were forced to forego the benefits. To meet the extra expense, the superannuation board set aside $24,000 of its capital funds.

Rural churches, like farms, are losing their youth to the cities and towns, said Paul T. Hellyer, Liberal member of Parliament for Toronto Davenport, during a discussion on rural church problems.

He thought the large city churches should, in return, provide more money and leadership for rural churches.

The Home Mission Board announced that salaries for its ministers have been substantially increased during the last four years. The Rev. W. J. MacDonald, superintendent of the board, said the increases have outdistanced the rise in the cost of living.

Lions Club Inducts Officers

LAKEFIELD, June 14 (ENS).—Fifty Lions and their wives enjoyed a turkey dinner at Thelgar Lodge, Young's Point, for the ladies' night of the Lakefield Club on Thursday evening.

Art Duncan, personnel manager of the Bata Shoe Company, Battawa, and past president of the Frankford Lions Club, was guest speaker of the evening. Mr. Duncan in his address spoke on fellowship, and asked the members of the club to welcome the displaced persons from the European countries.

Mr. and Mrs. Duncan then sang a group of selections, accompanied by James Jones.

Stanley Darling of Peterborough, presided for the installation of officers as follows: president, Doug. Davis; first vice-president, Jack Ryan; second vice-president, Joe Wright; third vice-president, Harold Hamblin; Lion tamer, Stan Burger; tail twister, Clarence Coons; secretary, Paul Riches. treasurer, Sam Henderson; directors, Frank Coyle, Everett Sloan, Eric Anderson and Bill O'Brien.

Stan Burger gave a humorous report on the Lions' convention which Mr. and Mrs. Burger, Mr. and Mrs. Clarence Coons attended in Montreal.

Guests included Mr. and Mrs. Duncan, Mr. and Mrs. C. Birch, president of the Frankford Lions' Club, and Mr. and Mrs. Stanley Darling of Peterborough.

Renfrew Honors Lakefield Man

LAKEFIELD, June 14 (ENS)—High tribute was paid to an old Lakefield boy, when 450 citizens of Renfrew attended a testimonial dinner held for Frank Dench, agricultural representative of the county for 21 years.

Mr. Dench is the son of Mr. and Mrs. B. I. Dench of Lakefield, and attended Lakefield Public and High School, and the Grove.

The dinner was held to show appreciation for what Mr. Dench has done for the development of agriculture in the county.

Deputy Minister

Guest speaker of the evening was C. D. Graham, Deputy Minister of Agriculture and a classmate of Mr. Dench at Guelph Agricultural College.

John A. Kluke, president of the Renfrew County Crop Improvement Association, was chairman for the evening.

Civic Welcome

A civic welcome was expressed by Mayor J. T. Moran of Renfrew, and Warren Otto Danker welcomed the guests on behalf of the county.

Presentations were made to Mr. and Mrs. Dench by the citizens of Renfrew, the county and by the Junior Farmers.

Mr. Dench thanked all present for their part in the evening's proceedings and said he felt the dinner was a tribute to the real progress made in agriculture in the county. Nothing could have been accomplished, he said, without the whole-hearted support of the citizens and the various organizations.

Staff Changes At McMaster

HAMILTON, June 14 (CP).—Three staff changes at McMaster University were announced today to the Baptist convention of Ontario and Quebec. Sessions are being held at the university.

The Rev. Harold E. Bridge is retiring as registrar of the university because of poor health, and will return to pastorate work, said the Rev. Dr. G. P. Gilmour, university president.

Dr. Gilmour reported that Mr. Bridge, who had been given eight months' leave for his health two years ago, will become pastor of First Baptist Church, North Bay, early in September.

Dr. James Wreford Watson, head of the university's geography department, has resigned permanently after two years on leave to the Department of Mines and Technical Surveys, Ottawa.

Dr. Norman MacDonald has been named head of the history department.

Dr. Watson will remain with the geographical branch of the department. Dr. MacDonald succeeds Chester W. New, who retired at the end of the last session to continue writing and research.

Will Negotiate Wages When Men At Work

TORONTO, June 14 (CP). — The Goodyear Tire and Rubber Company will negotiate wage settlements with its employees after they return to work, a company official said Wednesday night.

The workers, members of United Rubber Workers of America, walked off the job a week ago in support of their demands for an hourly wage increase of 25 cents.

Last Wednesday, 3,200 workers in company plants at Toronto and Bowmanville staged a spontaneous walkout when negotiations between management and union officials broke down.

School Nurse Tells WI Of Work With Children

LAKEFIELD, June 14 (ENS)—The June meeting of the Women's Institute was held Thursday at the home of Mrs. Ernie Waldon.

The group decided to send $10 to the Mayor's Fire Fund.

Mrs. J. Moore gave a report on the district annual.

Plans were made for a bazaar and tea to be held on July 28.

Mrs. C. Foster was convener of the program. The topic was health.

Mrs. Wallace Hendren, school nurse, was speaker for the afternoon, and told of the work done in the school in the past three years.

Lunch was served by the hostess and committee.

PeterboroughSpeaker Explains Work Of WA

BENSFORT, June 14 (ENS).—Mrs. Carmen Bell of Fairview, president of Woman's Association of Peterborough Presbytery, was guest speaker at a Woman's Association gathering held in Bensfort United Church on Tuesday afternoon.

In Mrs. Bell's address to ladies from Stewart Hall, Fraserville, Centreville, and Bailieboro, she gave some very valuable information regarding WA work and urged the members to put forth every effort to further the work.

Mrs. Merton Thompson, president of the local association welcomed the visitors. Mrs. Allen Dawson played the organ.

The devotional was taken by Mrs. George Hanbridge, Mrs. Willie Chambers and Miss Gertie Thompson of Stewart Hall.

A vocal solo by Mrs. Russell Kidd of Bailieboro and a song by a quartette composed of Mrs. Fred Wood, Mrs. Grace Muspratt, Mrs. Cliff Hall and Miss Allie Berry of Centreville were given.

Mrs. Roy Whittington of Bensfort thanked all those who had taken part.

Later all retired to the basement where a lunch was served Proceeds amounted to $43.35.

Tea was poured by Mrs. W. C Dawson and Mrs. Frank Buckham.

RECRUITS FOR 27TH—First arrivals of Canada's new 27th Brigade Group found these five recruits on a rifle-cleaning spree within a few hours after reaching Petawawa Military Camp. The brigade is destined for service in Europe. Left to right, they are: Sappers R. P. Deslauriers of Dalhousie, N.B.; A. Gallant of Amherst, N.J.; W. Main of New Carsile, Que.; G. R. Grosser of Delhi, Ont.; and I. H. Tovell of Calgary.

Hope To Avoid Price Controls Howe Declares

TORONTO, June 14 —(CP)— Production Minister Howe said Wednesday night that Canada is pressing ahead with her defence effort "on every front," but in spite of the vast amounts of money and materials involved, Canadians may yet avert widespread price controls.

"I hope we shall not have to impose widespread price controls in Canada," he said in a speech prepared for delivery before the American Society of Mechanical Engineers.

Mr. Howe's speech also ranged widely over Canadian war effort ievelopments.

He told of Canada's ground, sea and air forces in the Korean theatre, of plans to send a brigade to Europe, to increase Canada's single air squadron in England soon to a wing of three squadrons and to expand it finally to a full air division of 11 squadrons, equipped with Canadian-built planes.

To engineers, it was hardly necessary to emphasize, said Mr. Howe, the importance to the free world of expansion in base metals production, or steel or petroleum or hydro power.

"Here in Canada we rate projects designed for these purposes on a par with defence industries. And it is fortunate for the free world that here in Canada the potentialities for expansion of these critical materials are so favorable.

US Census Bureau Plans To Use New Electric Brain

PHILADELPHIA, June 14 (AP) —A $600,000 "electric brain," able to supply in split seconds mathematical answers to the toughest problems, goes to work today for the United States Census Bureau.

Development of the universal automatic computer, trade-named the UNIVAC, took five years. Now what used to take many people weeks to compute can be done in hours by UNIVAC alone.

J. Presper Eckert and Dr. John W. Mauchly, who invented UNIVAC, are the same two who created the famous ENIAC in the Second World War for the United States army. The ENIAC was used for military problems, particularly to reckon the trajectory of shells.

UNIVAC is less than half the size of the original ENIAC. It is 14½ feet long, 7½ feet wide and eight feet high. Its wiring required 500,000 soldered joints. It operates with 5,400 electronic tubes.

Amazing Memory

Even more amazing is UNIVAC's memory. It can store for future us tens of thousands of electrical impulses, each a fact in itself. These impulses are fed into the memory tank at the rate of 2,250,000 pulses a second. Each group of seven pulses represents a character that may be either a letter or a number.

Better to understand UNIVAC's operation let's look at its functions for the census.

In the census 132,000 persons made a written record of the characteristics of more than 150,000,000 people, accumulating more than 12,000,000 facts about Americans, their homes, businesses and farms.

UNIVAC in one-sixth of a second will compile 20 facts about a given person: where he lives, his sex, marital status, age group, employment, income, education, war service, birthplace, and, if foreign born, whether he has been naturalized.

UNIVAC will be used to prepare tabulations.

Visits Washington

WASHINGTON, June 14 (AP) —L. B. Pearson, Canadian minister for external affairs, arrived Wednesday night for talks with State Secretary Dean Atcheson of the North Atlantic treaty and other current American-European porblems. Pearson will leave next weekend for a visit of two or three weeks to Britain and other Western European countries.

Test Dismal Flop

WINDSOR, June 14 (CP)—An air raid siren, similar to those which will be installed as part of the city's civil defence system, was tested Wednesday at the request of General F. F. Worthington, Canada's civil defence coordinator. The test was a dismal flop in the downtown area because it coincided with a parade featuring the Cisco Kid, movie and television juvenile hero.

Meet Power Demands

TORONTO, June 14 (CP)—The Ontario Hydro Commission last week met all primary demands for power on five consecutive days—the first time it has done so since July, 1949, Chairman Robert Saunders reported Wednesday. Power demand exceeded that of a year ago by about 69 per cent. Total power output for use in Southern Ontario increased almost 20 per cent over the week ending June 1, 1950.

"TAKE IT AWAY," BERLINERS SAY—Germans in the U.S. sector of Berlin have asked permission to remove this Russian tank erected as a memorial by the Reds on Potsdamer Chaussee prior to partition of Berlin in 1945. The tank, resting on a white marble base, shows traces of pitch from a recent attempt by anti-Communist Berliners to burn it.

Brother's Letters Reveal Hungarian Hardships Under Russian Rule

ALLAN, Sask.,—(CP). — John Matiz is a perfect example of why so many European immigrants are eager to come to Canada.

His story is not one of sensational success—but when he compares it with the heavily-censored letters he receives from his brothers behind the Iron Curtain he thanks God for his good fortune.

Mr. Matiz arrived here from Budapest, Hungary, in 1927. He was a penniless immigrant and worked for five years as a farm laborer for $40 a month. Renting his former employer's farm in 1932, he attacked the problem of farming with ambition and zeal which has rewarded him well.

Now he has a fine herd of registered Hereford cattle, a large acreage seeded to grain, and a modern home for his wife and family of two boys and a girl.

Back in Hungary he was the eldest son in a family of 10, on a 50-acre farm.

Today, he says, he has often thanked God for his move in coming to Canada and leaving Hungary. Having kept in touch with his family back in Hungary, he tells of letters which although they are written under severe censorship, tell about hardships and severe discrimination unknown in Canada.

Deeply moved by the apparent plight of his brothers, he once made all the necessary arrangements with Canadian authorities to have his oldest brother come to Canada. But the ruling Russians would not even consider the idea.

Happily married since 1936 to Mildred Hunt, the owner of his own farm (which he bought in 1945), and raising purebred registered Hereford stock, he would not trade his section of land for the whole continent of Europe.

"RETIREMENT" FOR KING GEORGE?—One London newspaper speculates that King George VI may "retire" from the throne because of ill health. Several papers have commented recently about the 55-year-old monarch's condition, urging that he be given a chance for rest and quiet. The pictures above illustrate the change in the King's physical appearance in the past few years. That at left was taken in January, 1947, just before the Royal family sailed for South Africa. The other was made when the King made one of his last public appearances during the recent opening of the Festival of Britain.

Grandfather's Money Stolen By Youth

OSHAWA, June 14 (CP) — A youth who stole $1,200 from his grandfather and spent it on a five-week splurge in Montreal and Quebec City was remanded Wednesday for sentence when he pleaded guilty to theft.

Robert Foote, 19, of Hamilton, told police he took the money, in $100 and $50 bills, from a cash box in a bedroom. He had been living with his grandfather here since he lost his job in Hamilton.

Political Foes Seeking Depose Nehru

PATNA, India, June 14 (AP)—Prime Minister Nehru's chief political foes are gathering here to seek his downfall, though they generally approve his neutral foreign policy. They are gunning for him on domestic issues.

This is the founding convention of a new political party, born of dissension in Nehru's ruling Congress Party. Committees on platform issues and party organization have already begun work in preparation for the general sessions this week-end, which are expected to draw 1,100 delegates.

Socialist leaders will attend the sessions by special invitation to plan a joint strategy in the country's first general elections late this year.

There is dissatisfaction and unrest among India's masses. Nehru's opponents will try to pin on his party the blame for high prices, shortages of food and clothing and blackmarketing.

While Nehru's name and its entrenched organization probably will carry the Congress party to election victory, observers foresee the emergence of a substantial parliamentary opposition for the first time since India won independence from Britain in 1947.

Don't Want Either

Except for the Communists and a tiny pro-American segment, no group in India favors lining up with either the Western or Russian camp.

Jai Prakash Narain, American-educated Socialist leader once described by Nehru as his likley successor, said his only objection to the prime minister's policy was that it has not proved really independent.

"It wobbles," he said. "Sometimes he follows the Soviet lead, sometimes the American."

The Socialist party foreign affairs chairman, Hammonohar Lohia, calls Nehru a prisoner of the "keep left" group in Britain's Labor party. This, he says, will ultimately swing India into the Western bloc.

The leader of the new movement, J. A. Kripalani, former Congress party president and one of the late Mohandas Gandhi's lieutenants, and the Socialists expect to settle which faction's candidate will oppose the Congress party candidate in each constituency. They hope to go before the voters with a common program.

Request Conciliation

BRANTFORD, June 14 (CP)—The United Automobile Workers (CIO) Wednesday announced that it has taken its wage and contract dispute with Brantford Coach and Body Company to conciliation. The firm employs 430 workers. The union said it seeks a "substantial" wage boost. It rejected a company offer of four cents an hour towards pensions and two cents for a hospital and medical plan.

Wire Tapping Endangers Public Welfare, Won't Act

TORONTO, June 14 (CP). — The Bell Telephone Company told the Legislature Crime Committee Wednesday that wire tapping and tracing of calls to catch bookmakers would endanger the public welfare more than it would help police.

In testimony before the committee, which is looking for ways to stop bookies by hitting at their communications, Telephone Company officials said they were legally obliged to provide telephones on request for any legal purpose.

CCF Leader E. B. Jolliffe replied with a charge that the company departed from its policy of impartial service in 1939 in turning down a request by the Jehovah's Witnesses for a Montreal-Toronto circuit.

The incident, Mr. Jolliffe said, occurred before the religious group was branded as subversive during the war and before there was any question of a shortage of circuits. Mr. Jolliffe was then solicitor for the Witnesses.

"It was perfectly clear to me that refusal was for reasons of policy—that it would not be in the public interest," he said.

Espionage System

H. G. Young, general manager for Bell Telephone's Western Region, denied committee suggestions that the company was able to censor calls, or that it had a moral duty to.

Tapping or tracing calls would be an "espionage system" and would bring "far more danger to the public welfare than any help to law enforcement."

Mr. Young said the company knew of no case of telephone service being used by bookmakers, although he had no doubt that some were being used by bookies.

Attorney-General Dana Porter, committee chairman, asked if it did not appear peculiar to the company when a larger number of calls came through to Howard Kerr in Windsor, who is alleged by police to have headed the race-wire service there.

Newspapers at the time had also speculated on Kerr's connections. Mr. Porter said. "You'd think somebody in an executive position might have put two and two together."

Don't Make Reports

N. A. Munnoch, Bell solicitor, said it was not the company's policy to report suspicions.

"A report to a higher level of the company is not an accusation," said C. E. Janes, Progressive Conservative member for Lambton East.

Replying to W. J. Grummett, CCF member for Cochrane South Mr. Munnoch said that on an application to install 40 telephones at one place "we would not go to the police."

The Bell official said the company would ask the Federal Board of Transport Commissioners for a ruling on wehther the service had to be supplied.

Hearing Adjourned

OSHAWA, June 14 (CP) —Preliminary hearing of an arson charge against Alphonse Martin in connection with a Feb. 8 fire of the General Mills and Lumber Company at nearby Whitby, Wednesday was adjourned to July 12. Bail of $5,000 was continued.

EX - COWBOY—From cowboy to lawyer to minister is the story of Rev. Dr. T. Wardlaw Taylor, who is marking his 26th year as clerk of the General Assembly of the Presbyterian Church in Canada. Dr. Taylor rode the western range in the pioneer days of the 1880s and was a lawyer for eight years before going into the church. Ordained by the Calgary Presbytery in 1902, his first charge was at Banff, Alta. Later he went to New Westminster, B.C., Toronto, Vancouver and St. Andrew's By-the-Sea, N.B. He was appointed clerk in 1925 and hasn't missed a session since.

Postmaster Rinfret Raps Paper Boost

OTTAWA, June 14 (CP)—Postmaster General Rinfret said Wednesday an increase in the mail subscription rates of The Toronto Globe and Mail is 5½ times greater than what the newspaper will pay in higher postal rates under a bill adopted by the Commons.

Mr. Rinfret said that the Globe and Mail recently increased its 30,380 mail subscriptions by $3 a year—to $10 from $7.

This meant mail subscriptions were increased a total of $91,140 a year. The new legislation boosted the newspaper postal charges $32,886 before deduction of income tax and $16,183 after deduction.

He said the difference between what the Globe and Mail will receive from rural subscribers and what it will pay in increased postal charges will represent a profit of $74,957.

In Toronto Oakley Dalgleish, editor-in-chief of the Toronto Globe and Mail, said the newspaper since 1938 had absorbed two postal-rate increases without raising its subscription rates.

Commenting on Postmaster General Rinfret's statement Mr. Dalgleish said the minister had "ignored the main point at issue." This was that the paper only now was passing on to its customers postal-rate increases made since 1938.

C. H. Graham Found In Otonabee

Body Discovered Near Point Overturned Boat

The body of Charles Henry Graham, 62, of 439 Edison Ave., was recovered from the Otonabee River, ten miles south of the city by Bruce Bradley, George and Gerald Speirs, members of the Provincial Police and cottagers of the Bensfort Bridge vicinity.

Mr. Graham's overturned boat was located on the river on Monday evening by his wife, daughter and son-in-law. He was not a strong swimmer, it was said Both his legs had been permanently injured.

It was believed that a swell from a passing boat may have toppled Mr. Graham into the water if he were refuelling his outboard motor. He began his vacation on Monday, the day he drowned.

Born In Keene

Born in Keene 62 years ago, he was the son of William Robert Graham and Susan Castle. Mr. Graham has been living in Peterborough for the past four years and before that in Toronto for more than 30 years. He was employed at the Peterborough Civic Hospital.

He leaves his wife, the former Sadie Wilson, and one daughter, Mrs. Thomas Bradley (Robert), both of this city. There are four sisters, Mrs. Thomas Muirhead (Roberta) of New Toronto, Mrs. Allen Pierce (Margaret) of Parry Sound, Mrs. George Stinson (Minnie) and Mrs. Charles Leahy (Jennie) and three brothers, Gerald, Merritt and Alex Graham, all of Toronto. A fourth brother, Richard, lives in Peterborough. Mr. Graham attended Trinity United Church.

Funeral service will be held Friday at 2 p.m. at the Comstock Funeral Home. The Rev. Dr. D. Bruce Gordon will officiate and burial will be at Little Lake cemtery.

THIS 35-FOOT CABIN CRUISER, the Bob-Anne, will be launched this week in Little Lake and Stewart Gardiner, 55 Maria St., (left), who has been working on it four years now, will install a motor and build another cabin on the rear. Mr. Gardiner is waiting for the rain to stop before he builds a launching platform.—Examiner Staff Photo.

1952 County Assessment Jumps $1,629,982 As Properties Equalized

Only Belmont-Methuen Reeve Opposes; Assessor Stewart Sparling Trying To Adjust Values In 15 Municipalities

(Editor's Note: See comparative tables on Page 30.)

The 1952 equalized assessment on the 15 municipalities in Peterborough county has jumped from $12,300,477 to $13,930,459—an increase in one year of $1,629,982. This was the result of a recommendation of the committee on equalization and assessment that passed Wednesday afternoon with only Reeve W. A. Griffith, Belmont-Methuen, opposed. It must still be passed in open council but this is expected to be little more than a formality.

Three Aims

Stewart Sparling, county assessor, said he was pleased with the progress made this year in county assessment. He said he was trying to do three things:

1. Make sure the basic assessment record is correct.
2. Equalize properties within the municipality.
3. Equalize the properties among the 15 municipalities.

Mr. Sparling said this year's equalized assessment of $13,930,459 would probably be doubled when a true assessment was finally arrived at.

Three equalizing factors were used in this present assessment. Farmlands were compared with those in Smith township, suburban properties were compared with the 1945 Lakefield assessment, and cottages were compared with those in Galway-Cavendish township. Mr. Sparling said these were chosen because they came nearest to his conception of the correct equalizing factor.

Higher In Each

The equalized assessment is higher in each municipality though their percentage of the total is less in eight municipalities: Asphodel, Chandos, Douro, Dummer, Ennismore, Otonabee, Smith and Havelock.

Smith township has still the largest assessment. It went up from $2,586,996 in 1951 to $2,846,975 in 1952. Otonabee township had the next largest assessment ($2,497,817), and it was followed by Douro, Asphodel and Dummer—each with more than $1,000,000 in assessment.

Each of these five municipalities though bearing an increased assessment, pay a reduced percentage of the total levy compared with the year before.

Reeve Griffith was the only member of the county council to vote against the committee report.

Final Figure

He said he was not objecting to Belmont-Methuen's share in the total levy, but he couldn't see how the county assessor arrived at his final figure.

Two township industries — Building Products and the Nepheline mines—were increased an extra $25,000. Mr. Griffith said he couldn't see why these two industries were boosted so high and the nearby farmers correspondingly raised.

Mr. Sparling said it was because the industries were far too low and, in effect, the ratepayers were subsidizing these industries.

As an indication that higher assessment does not necessarily mean higher taxes, he cited the case of Galway-Cavendish. The local assessment has nearly doubled but many cottagers are paying a smaller tax bill and only one resident is paying higher taxes.

School Board Employees Must Be X-Rayed

Plans are going forward for the X-raying of all school board employees, including caretakers, teachers, bus drivers, maintenance workers, clerks and other persons who work directly or indirectly with children, an official of the Peterborough County Tuberculosis Association said today.

At the recent session of the Legislature legislation was passed making the X-ray compulsory and in today's mail K. S. Wightman, superintendent of schools, received notification that the Peterborough Tuberculosis Association would conduct the X-rays free of charge in this county.

It was less than a year ago that all employees of the Peterborough Board of Education were given the patch test and those showing positive re-action were X-rayed. It also has been a policy of the Board to require X-ray tests on employing teachers.

Conducted in September

The X-rays in this area will be conducted in September and all those affected will have until October 31 to present their certificates to their employers, according to the regulations of the Department of Education.

A province-wide X-ray of teachers was done in 1943-44. Of the 24,765 teachers then examined 14 active cases of pulmonary tuberculosis were discovered. This is the first time other school board personnel have been required to take a province-wide X-ray.

In making the announcement Hon. Dana Porter, minister of education said: "It is felt that this survey will be an important factor in safeguarding the health of school children."

Market Change To Break Up Farmers–Reeve

Rural representatives aired a round of grievances over the moving of the market site at a meeting Wednesday night of the city-county liaison committee. There was also preliminary discussion on rural participation in the over-all civil defence plan.

It was the first meeting of the special committee, consisting of aldermen and county council members, set up earlier this year by Mayor Max Swanston.

No final decisions were reached.

Both city and county representatives agreed that it would be a good idea to have a small county committee to work with the city civil defence committee. The county council will probably give this some consideration at their present session.

Critical of Market

But county councillors—speaking on behalf of the rural people and not as representatives of the county—were strongly critical of the new market setup.

Reeve Willard Waterman, North Monaghan, said: "There's a feeling in the country that it's a move to break up the farmers' market to the benefit of the city merchants."

Reeve Dick Stewart, Otonabee, said the market is finished if it remains divided—part in the old market hall and part at the new outdoor site, opposite the George St. wharf.

He said the producers were told last Saturday by the market clerk that there was still one more Saturday market at the old site. Many of them told their customers to do business with them again June 16 at the usual place.

Torn Up Monday

It wasn't until later they learned that the last outdoor market there was last Saturday. Monday morning the area was torn up preparatory to installing parking meters.

"The producers consider it more or less of an insult," said Reeve Stewart. "There are no tables at the new site, no rest rooms, and no scales."

Marketers could hardly expect to remain on the site all morning without any facilities, he pointed out.

Alderman J. A. Dewart said he thought this "fair criticism."

Reeve Stewart said he was not opposed to moving the market as he thought the old one had "outlived its usefulness." But he didn't think the market could survive if it was divided. And he said the rural people had some rights in the market property.

Crown Land

He gave a brief account of the history of the market. Crown land was set aside for a market site in 1832, 18 years before Peterborough was incorporated as a town. The land was to be a market site for all time.

Town councillors became trustees, not for the city but for the people in the district. In 1947 a private bill passed the legislature making the site city property. The bill passed either unnoticed or unopposed by the producers.

Reeve Waterman said it looked as though the city pulled a fast one.

Alderman Harold Rehill stated that if the bill went through legally (which would include local advertising), and if there were no protests, he couldn't see how the city could be accused of being unfair.

Reeve James Gifford, Ennismore, said there is a "very sour feeling" in sections of the country caused by the market situation.

May Be Legal

"The city may be clear in its legal right," he said, "but there is a feeling that the city has a moral obligation as well. The land was never intended to benefit any one municipality, and the people in the district feel they have an equity in it."

Alderman Hugh Waddell, elected chairman, said the city has been investigating the cost of conveniences at the George St. site, and the cost of covered stands and moving of the scales.

Alderman Rehill asked how much the producers would be willing to pay toward cost of a building.

"For developing it—nothing," said Reeve Stewart. "But they would be willing to pay a reasonable price for the use of it."

Received Rent

He said the city had already received a substantial revenue by St., located on the site.

"It wasn't a horse-trading deal" said Alderman Rehill. "People shouldn't think the city pulled a fast one."

Reeve Stewart replied that only a minority of the dealers thought that way. What they did want was a good substitute market, not divided, and with all facilities.

Alderman Dewart said that it was a matter of greater concern to rural people.

"In Peterborough the taxpayers just don't seem to be interested," he said.

Alderman Waddell said city members would let their colleagues on the city council know how the rural members felt about the market.

Worker Loses Foot

Leonard J. Minicola, 45, 189 Stewart St., had his left foot amputated early today when the cable of an automatic grain loader looped around it and he was dragged eight feet to a pulley wheel. He is now in St. Joseph's Hospital under the care of Dr. H. M. Yelland. The accident occurred at 8.30 a.m. while Minicola and a fellow worker, Jack Brewster, were unloading grain from a railway car at the Quaker Oats Co. Minicola pulled slack the shovelling cable and unwittingly stepped into a loop that had formed beneath the grain. He engaged the clutch and the pulley started up, dragging him by the left foot to the pulley wheel. Brewster heard his shout for help but was unable to get the power shut off before his injured workmate was pinned against the pulley wheel. Minicola had been working for the company for 10 years, seven years in that job. Company officials say they have not known a previous accident of this kind. He was taken to the plant hospital and then to St. Joseph's.

Donations Come From Wide Area For Mayor's Fund

Sentiment gleams from all parts of the compass in today's list of subscriptions to the Mayor's Fire Fund.

Readers of the Examiner will perhaps be surprised at the geography indicated, surprised and also deeply appreciative of the sentiment directed from near and far places toward the cause of this Fund. Name and contributions extend from the second concession of Smith to New York City, and there is a whole sheaf of donations from the district neighboring to Peterborough, Indian River, Norwood, Havelock, Hastings, Campbellford, and up through Keene and South Monaghan, Millbrook, and all around the area up to Apsley.

This range of source of subscription will be read with a great deal of gratefulness to those citizens outside the immediate radius of Peterborough for their goodwill and their kindly interest in the Mayor's Fund and the spirit and purpose it represents in Peterborough.

The Fund totals today $52,213. One of the contributions is the sum of $25 from the neighboring volunteer fire department of Norwood.

Hughes Fined Backed Into Car

Charged with wilful damage to a car owned by Mrs. Mary Ketchum, Thomas Hughes, Lansdowne St., was today convicted and fined $75 and costs by Magistrate W. R. Philp.

Mrs. Kitchum, who lives near Hughes, testified that on May 27 he baeked his half-ton truck into did damage she estimated at $400.

Mrs. Kitchum's husband, Ezra, told court the first bump knocked the car two feet sideways, and the second drove it into a manure pile.

Defending Hughes, W. J. Arthur Fair, KC, suggested that there was no malice involved. "There's no evidence that Hughes was anything but intoxicated," he said.

Before, the Ketchums testified, Hughes had been drinking. Hughes' housekeeper, Mrs. Ruth McMaster, said Hughes was "very drunk" that night. She said he had quarrelled with her and that she had been sitting in the car when he backed into it.

SUMMER AT LIBRARY

The Public Library will start summer hours Friday which will be in effect from June 15 to Sept. 15. During these weeks, the adult section of the library will be open from 9 a.m. to 8 p.m.; the children's from 9 a.m. to 12 noon and from 2 p.m. to 5 p.m. The south-end branch will be open from 2 p.m. to 6 p.m. and 7 p.m. to 8 p.m. The only change this makes is that the adult section of the main library will close an hour earlier.

Cruiser 4 Years Abuilding Ready To Slip Into Water

The climax to nearly four years work will be reached this week when the Bob-Anne, a 35-foot quarter deck cruiser slips from its dry dock into Little Lake.

Stewart Gardiner, 55 Maria St., first began to build the sleek-lined craft in the winter of 1947. In the basement of his home the frames and keel were shaped and later assembled in the back yard.

Last summer the hull was planked and the cabin space roughed in. During the past winter it was protected from the wind and snow by a large transport tarpaulin until the spring work began.

Mr. Gardiner then started down the home stretch. After the finishing carpentry touches were done, the first exterior coat of paint, red and white, was applied as well as the stern especially stained and varnished and the craft's name painted. The launching stage has now been reached.

Month's Work

But after the cruiser touches the lake water for the first time there is still a good month's work ahead. Another coat of paint will be aplied; the cabins, decks and mechanisms inside will be finished off and the flying deck built immediately behind and above the storm deck.

So far the six-ton hull has cost an estimated $700. Mr. Gardiner while looking through a motor cruiser handbook discovered two plans which he later modified to his own specifications. To buy the cruiser from a factory would cost between $8,000 and $10,000.

Immediately after the launching, the 175 horsepower engine, will be installed. This work, Mr. Gardiner hopes, will be finished in about two weeks.

Second Cruiser

This is the second cruiser built by Mr. Gardiner, a navy veteran —he spent three years afloat in the Atlantic during World War Two as lieutenant. In 1937-38 he rebuilt a hull into a cabin cruiser which he called the Hi-Ho, now owned by Neil Harrington of Peterborough.

The Bob-Anne, named after the Gardiners' children, is designed to draw two feet, eight inches of water when launched.

The work on the launching platform has been stalled for the past week by rain. But Mr. Gardiner hopes to slide the cruiser down the 16-foot back by Saturday.

When completed the cruiser will have three cabins which will sleep six people, a breakfast nook on the port side ,a galley in the forward cabin and an after cabin with two bunks. The storm control deck is in addition to the flying bridge.

Mr. Gardiner plans to take the cruiser on weekend jaunts until "everything is working satisfactory," then on his holidays a trip through the Trent canal to Lake Simcoe will be made.

Mrs. Gardiner's comment on the cruiser was: "It takes an awful lot of time."

Accident Cuts Hastings Hydro

HASTINGS, June 14 (ENS) — Hydro power in Hastings was cut off Wednesday night after a car hit and snapped off two hydro poles in the village. Electricity was off for three hours until the damage could be repaired sufficiently for the rest of the night.

Work was then stopped because rain and darkness made work with wire hazardous. The damage was fully repaired today during another brief cutoff.

Cyril Weese, Picton, was driving the car.

The accident happened inside the town limits on the Westwood road at 7:30. The car failed to make a curve and snapped off the hydro poles, one at the quarter mark and the other at the half-way mark. There was only slight damage to the car.

Town constable S. L. Switzer investigated.

Joseph Jones

NORWOOD, June 14 (ENS)— The funeral of Joseph Jones of Belmont township was held on Tuesday afternoon from the McConnell-Warner funeral home, Norwood, with service in the Norwood Baptist Church. Burial was in Norwood cemetery. The Rev. K. Bigelow of Havelock Baptist Mission officiated assisted by the Rev. W. J. Bingham of Norwood Baptist Church. Mrs. William Hubble and Mrs. Roy Nevins rendered a beautiful duet "City Four Square" during the service. The funeral was largely attended. Pallbearers were: Alfred Jenkins, Hayden Jones, Arthur Hannon, Percy Newell, Albert and Clayton Jenkins.

Flower bearers were: Jack Hyslop, Don Telford, Gordon Henry, Clare Kidd, Kenneth and Allen Jenkins.

Price Of Beef Climbs 6 Cents

Beef steaks have gone up another six cents or so in wholesale and retail markets in Peterborough. Experts say that it is caused by many factors.

June is a short-delivery month of beef cattle to packing plants; this causes a meat shortage and demand-over-supply puts up the price to the consumer.

Ceiling prices placed on live and dressed meats in the United States a short while ago were too low, American farmers protested. They say they will not and cannot sell at those figures and are holding back deliveries.

Retail prices quoted today by retailers are as follows: Sirloin steaks, from 95c last week to $1 and $1.02 at present; round steak is selling for 98c to $1, and loin pork chops, from 72c to 79c.

One retail buyer said, "We are giving away steaks at any figure less than $1.20 per pound."

Machinery Control Plan To Be Tested

NEW YORK, June 14 (AP)—Durability of the controlled materials plan machinery is being tested this week by a stampede to get under the CMP umbrella, The Iron Age, metal-workng trade weekly, says today. "Industries included under CMP are vying for larger shares of basic metals," the publication says. "Those not included are carefully but quickly collecting evidence that they are essential—or at least more so than some who have got the nod from the national production authority."

US Negoes Formed First Militia In B.C.

VANCOUVER—(CP) — Musty records in the provincial archives and a faded photograph tell the story of British Columbia's first militia—a force made up entirely of Negroes.

After Lincoln emancipated the American Negroes some of them in California, hopeful of attaining freedom under the British flag, sent delegates to Sir James Douglas, the province's first governor.

Realizing the condition they faced in the United States, Douglas immediately offered them protection and the opportunity to become British subjects.

Funds were raised among themselves and two ships chartered. Six hundred Negroes, their goods, machinery, and even their cattle, made the voyage north to a free life.

Upon arrival near Esquimalt they purchased land and settled down to take a keen interest in the community.

When a volunteer fire brigade was formed the Negroes were prevented from joining.

They then petitioned the governor to form their own military unit. The request was granted and the regiment when recruited was called the Pioneer Rifle Corps. It consisted of a captain, three officers and 40 privates. The corps was officially sworn in on July 4 1861.

Uniforms and rifles were supplied by the Hudson's Bay Company and voluntary donations by the Negro settlers supplemented the $225. annual allotment for operating the unit.

Arthur Kennedy was appointed governor of Vancouver Island in 1863 when the Island was separated from the mainland colony and from the control of the Hudson's Bay Company.

The Black Militia, with all its pomp and army polish and with a new flag sewn especially for the occasion, planned to form a guard to honor the new governor.

Trouble was brewing, however, and to prevent racial clashes, all parades were banned on Inauguration Day.

Aware of the humiliation the Negro militia felt, governor Kennedy called for a sepcial parade the following day and reviewed the militia for the first and last time.

In an address he told them that he regretted he was compelled to refuse them recognition as an army unit. He advised them to disband.

So the first militia in the West turned in their equipment to the Hudson's Bay Company and passed into history on April 6, 1864.

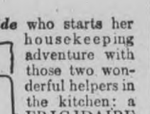
Mr. Jack Peacock, motored from Detroit to take his parents Mr. and Mrs. William Peacock, Cordova Mines, to that city to visit their daughter, Mrs. Merrill Miller, who recently suffered a broken ankle in a fall. They visited Mrs. W. Stevenson here enroute.



HOPE FOR A HEMOPHILIAC—Hope that his crooked legs, deformed by the "bleeder" disease hemophilia, could be straightened was high in the heart of 14-year-old Jerry Ince, right, as he arrived at New York's LaGuardia Field from his Lubbock, Tex., home. He was welcomed by Robert Henry, left, president of the Hemophilia Foundation and his 10-year-old son, Lee, whose affliction by the dread disease inspired Henry to organize the foundation. Jerry Ince, who will have four to six weeks of treatment at the Lenox Hill Hospital, was accompanied on the flight by his father, Earl W. Ince, behind him.

A WEEKLY INFORMATION SERVICE

MONTREAL, June 14th—What man doesn't like having a fuss made over him? And what better way to fuss for him than to bake his very special favourite cake? Perhaps it is chocolate or perhaps it's a white cake, but I'll bet whatever type it is, it's a Swans Down cake that gets the loudest praise! For all cakes are fluffier, more evenly textured, more all-round delicious when made with SWANS DOWN CAKE FLOUR. That's because Swans Down is sifted and resifted until 27 times as fine as ordinary flour. You'll find all sorts of grand cake recipes in the Swans Down booklet "Learn to Bake—You'll Love It." Mail your request for "Learn to Bake—You'll Love It," with your name and address and 20c in coins, to General Foods, Limited, Dept. K, Cobourg, Ontario.

Cottagers And Campers! You must have noticed how Blackflies and Mosquitoes work a double shift during June? While the sun's up, the Blackfly leads the attack. After sun-down, the Mosquito concentrates on making life miserable. Personally, my first line of defence against both these insect pests is FLY-TOX. It's the quickest, surest insect killer of them all—yet pleasant smelling and so harmless to spray on blankets or clothing. At better stores everywhere, better ask for a tin of Fly-Tox Liquid Spray—in 3 convenient sizes; or the long-lasting, economical Fly-Tox Aerosol Bomb!

Tired Of being given the "run-around" by your food budget? Then discover the 8 thrifty-main-course dishes that Heinz offers you—to give you meals at less than half price! Yes, it's true! Just compare the cost per pound of most substantial foods with the cost per pound of a delicious, nutritious Heinz main-course dish. HEINZ COOKED MACARONI or HEINZ OVEN-BAKED BEANS, for instance. Their cost is less than half of some expensive foods—but there's no "half-way measure" in their flavour or nourishment! For low-cost, delicious recipes—write to me—Barbara Brent, 1411 Crescent St., Montreal, P.Q.—and I'll send you a copy of "Oven-Baked Bean Recipes"—for FREE!

Lucky the Bride who starts her housekeeping adventure with those two wonderful helpers in the kitchen: a FRIGIDAIRE REFRIGERATOR and FRIGIDAIRE ELECTRIC RANGE! Matched for beauty, they're also matched in the wonderful convenience they bring, in the oceans of work they save and in the grand way they help out the budget! I've had so many veteran homemakers tell me how much their Frigidaire appliances have meant to them that I'm recommending that every bride-to-be at least look them over. Your nearby Frigidaire dealer has a fine display of the new 1951 models. He's there to demonstrate them to you without any obligation whatsoever. Whatever you do, don't decide on your kitchen equipment until you've had that Frigidaire demonstration!

Dame Fashion has a brimming bag of new style tricks for Summer ... light-as-a-whisper fabrics for lovely summer frocks ... sports clothes and bathing suits to make you the belle of the beach or the tennis court. And I'd like to remind you of TAMPAX ... the indispensable method of sanitary protection that will enable you to wear these new fashions with poise and assurance. For when Tampax is properly in place, internally, you can't even feel its presence! No chance of revealing bulges, no wrinkles or ridges to show through even the sleekest gown or the briefest bathing suit! Perfected by a doctor, Tampax is made of pure absorbent cotton throughout. It comes in three absorbencies—Regular, Super, Junior. Ask for Tampax at drug stores or notion counters.

Are You Weary 'n' tired of the "old you"? ... then here's exotic beauty-magic to turn you into a South Seas siren with the flick of a powder puff. Luscious colour—gorgeous effect—when you wear that wonderful new WOODBURY POWDER SHADE — TROPIC TAN. And because it's Woodbury—the powder with the foundation-cream ingredient ... it smooths your skin to velvet-softness. Gives your skin a natural — not powdery look. And — mm-m! — that lovely crushed-flower fragrance that clings like a tropic spell. Try Woodbury Powder in the sun-enchanted new Tropic Tan shade — 23c, 45c and 75c ... with Woodbury's "Red Poppy" lipstick — 23c and 55c.

Off To Your Summer Cottage—or spending your vacation in town? No matter where you go this summer, you're probably busy right now checking over vacation clothes for [illegible]. So here's a tip: Replace those faulty zippers with the best zippers you can buy! ... LIGHTNING SLIDE FASTENERS in the famous red and black package. Lightning gives you so many marvelous features ... a wide range of sizes and colours—flexibility and launderability — and, best of all — the exclusive Automatic Lock. Lightning zippers lock where they stop! Ask for Lightning Slide Fasteners for the family. Practical as all get out for Junior's playsuits ... and so very fashion-wise for your summer frocks!

What Is So Rare ... as that precious time skimmed from a sunny June day when you sit and enjoy a cool, relaxing glass of iced tea? And my, how a generous lemon wedge brings out the tangy, refreshing flavour! Whether your refreshment is iced tea or lemonade ... do be sure to use SUNKIST CALIFORNIA LEMONS—they make all the difference ... they're the finest, juiciest lemons grown! That's why it's such a good idea to keep a supply of Sunkist lemons on hand these warm days. Then, when you're feeling tired 'n' hot—just make yourself a glass of iced tea with lemon wedges—or a glass or two of Sunkist lemonade. So zestful—so refreshing ... you'll feel better in a jiffy!

Love That Baby! ... of course you do! Nothing's too good for Junior—so let's feed him good-to-eat, good-for-him 5 Minute "CREAM OF WHEAT"! He'll love its tempting smoothness. And it's brimful of so many of the things that babies need to help maintain normal growth and health. For 5 Minute "Cream of Wheat" provides Iron for good red blood, and Calcium and Phosphorus for diets deficient in these elements. And, mother!—just five minutes of boiling and '5 Minute "Cream of Wheat" is cooked to baby-ready digestibility—tempting and flavourful ... so good the whole family will enjoy it!

Movie Column

Movie Actors Need Names Easy To Say

By BOB THOMAS

HOLLYWOOD, June 14 (AP)—"Spangler Brough and Ruby Stevens discuss reconciliation."

"Jeanette Morrison marries Bernie Schwartz."

Headlines such as these wouldn't attract much readership. But perhaps they would if you inserted the screen names of the above parties, which are (in the same order): Robert Taylor, Barbara Stanwyck, Janet Leigh, Tony Curtis, Jennifer Jones and Cary Grant.

Obviously names can make a difference in the success of movie stars. But why and how do they get new names? I sought some answers from Milt Lewis, a top talent executive at Paramount.

"What's in a name?" he mused. The answer was obvious: Fame and fortune can be in a name. But what makes a good name for a movie star?

"The name should be simple and pleasant-sounding," Lewis replied. "It should be easy to pronounce, without any trick spellings. For instance, I told Sterling Hayden it was a mistake to let the studio spell his name "Stirling" as it was before the war. Now he's changed it back to Sterling and everybody's confused.

Simple Names

"Personally, I like simple names like Nancy Olson, Jane Powell, Betty Grable, Esther Williams. The trend seems to be in that direction and away from the exotic handles of the past, like Theda Bara, Greta Garbo, Marlene Dietrich.

Made to Fit

Movie names should be fairly short, Lewis said, in order to fit on a movie marquee. He usually advises budding young players to keep their own handles as long as they are short enough and not too outlandish.

Champagne Case For Fisherman

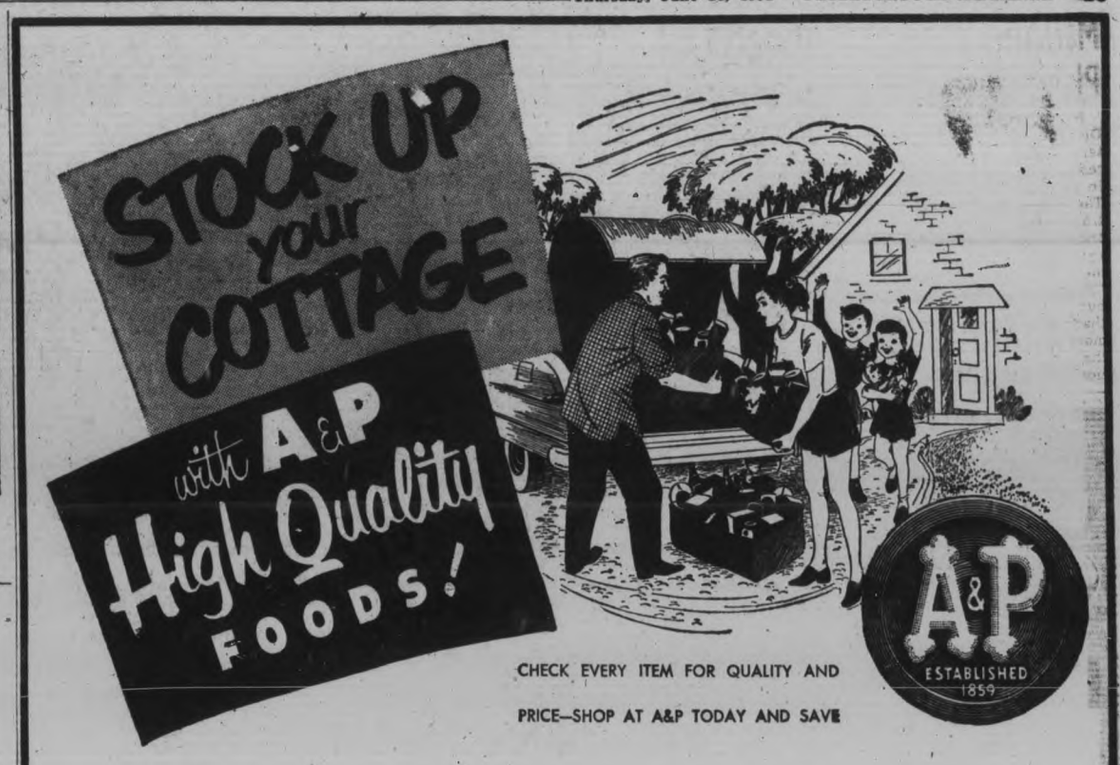
AUCKLAND, N.Z. — (CP) — There is a case of champagne and a bottle of whisky waiting for a deep-sea angler at the Bay of Islands, Northern New Zealand. It will be donated by the Moturoa Island Fishing Camp to the first fisherman who lands a broadbill swordfish.

But the donors of the trophy are confident that it will lie unclaimed for years. Many broadbills have been seen in the area, but the last one caught was in 1926.

Large numbers of swordfish are caught off the Bay of Islands each year, but they are all either black, blue or striped marlins. The Bay of Islands is one of the world's finest deep-sea fishing grounds and anglers come from all parts of the world to try the sport. Many world's records have been established in the area.

But the great broadbill swordfish continue to elude fishermen. On other fish the swords grow about three feet in length, but on the broadbill the swords are always at least six feet long. To catch one is regarded as the pinnacle of achievement for a deep-sea fisherman. The man who finally lands one will probably have to add a good deal to the case of champagne to provide for the celebrations that will mark his catch.

Maritimers Wary Of Seaway Project



HALIFAX, June 14 (CP) — Members from both sides of the Nova Scotia legislature took a wary look at the St. Lawrence seaway project Wednesday.

J. Smith McIvor (L-Cape Breton South) and CCF leader Russell Cunningham, representing Cape Breton's coal and steel areas, urged thorough study of the project and intimated its completion might be disastrous for the Maritimes.

Refugee Routes Mapped Out

ST. CATHARINES, June 14 (CP) —Defence planners have already designated certain Ontario highways as refugee routes in case of atomic bomb attack, and other routes have been earmarked for military and official vehicles, Maj.-Gen. F. F. Worthington, Canada's civil defence co-ordinator, said Wednesday.

He told the second anual Ontario Traffic Convention that plans should be made for road blocks and traffic officers to keep refugee traffic off military routes.

Civil defence planning in any target area must set out a network of routes in and out of the city, with control systems to keep them clear of refugees. Ontario would use a color code on official maps with red for refugee roads and black for military roads.

Civilians could expect to have their cars commandeered in an emergency, he said.

Coveted Jobs

WELLINGTON, N. Z. (CP). — There are 40,000 jobs going begging in New Zealand, but the lighthouse service has a waiting list. Radio, improved communications and good pay have made lighthouse-keeping attractive, but with the housing shortage the big appeal is that assured accommodation goes with the job.

Tire Prints, Grass Clues To Stolen Gold

COCHRANE, June 14 (CP) — Barked saplings, bent grass and tire prints led to the recovery of $75,000 in gold bullion stolen from the Delnite Mine, near Timmins, June 2 it was revealed in court here Wednesday.

As the trial of Edward Clement, 21, and Morley Latham, 21, moved into its second day, Ontario Provincial Police Constable P. M. Dwyer told the court how the clues had led police to the gold. It was found locked in a safe about five miles from the mine several days after the robbery. Both men, former Delnite employees, are charged with breaking, entering and theft.

Senator Opposes Federal Sales Tax

OTTAWA, June 14 (CP) — Senator John T. Haig, opposition leader in the Senate, said Wednesday the federal sales tax is the "most wicked" tax that can be levied.

"It is a desperation remedy in desperation times and we are not in those times now," said Senator Haig before the Senate gave second reading—approval in principle—to a bill giving legal effect to the sales and excise-tax changes announced in the 1951-52 budget.

Senator Salter Hayden (L-Ontario), sponsor of the bill in the Upper House, said he was opposed to taxes as much as anyone, but if Canadians wanted to stay free they had to be prepared to accept the higher taxes needed to meet defence expenditures.

All contents went up in flames with the house which was used as a hunting lodge.

Houde Turns Sod To TV Transmitter

MONTREAL June 14 (CP) — Mayor Camillien Houde Wednesday turned the first sod on the construction site of Canada's first TV transmitter.

Stalled more than six months by the provincial government, construction of the TV building will cost the Canadian Broadcasting Corporation $150,000. It will be erected atop Mount Royal.

CBC officials requested authorization to build the transmiter last Nov. 3 ,but Quebec's Premier Duplessis turned it down when the CBC would not authorize a provincial radio network.

Rule UEW Takes Part In Unlawful Strike

TORONTO, June 14 (CP) — The Ontario Labor Relations Board ruled Wednesday that members of the United Electrical Workers (Ind.) are taking part in an unlawful strike at the General Dry Batteries plant here.

In one of the first rulings of its kind under the revised Ontario Labor Act, the board found that the strike, which started April 24, was authorized by the union although the union's agreement with the company was due to expire June 1.

The company Wednesday dismissed its 132 striking employees.

MEALS AT LESS THAN HALF PRICE

HEINZ OFFERS 8 THRIFTY MAIN COURSE DISHES

Compare the cost per pound of most substantial foods with the cost per pound of these main course dishes that Heinz makes and you will find that you can cut meal costs in half. Compared with some expensive foods, the cost will be less than half—but not the nourishment. The nutriment value of beans, for example, is actually higher than many foods commonly supposed to rate higher in the nutritional scale. For energy-building fare there are few foods that equal beans —and when they are oven-baked by Heinz in rich, luscious sauces you have a taste-treat that appeals to the whole family.

So, you see, you gain both nourishment and flavour when you serve these low-cost Heinz varieties. You know they're good because they're Heinz.

Thumb-Sucking Cure Found In Slow-Feeding

By LOUIS L. LECK.

SYDNEY, Australia — (CP). —Scientists have at last found a solution to an age-old problem—how to stop baby sucking his thumb.

And they did it without the help of even one thumb-sucking baby. Sixty-four calves in a farmyard at Badgery Creek, NSW, provided the solution.

H. J. Geddes, of the Sydney University Research Centre, Badgery Creek, said a Sydney dentist believed thumb-sucking was caused by a child's being hungry, or else receiving its milk so quickly it satisfied its hunger without satisfying its natural sucking urge.

The dentist had noticed that calves had a habit of sucking the ears of other calves, and thought this might be the bovine equivalent of thumb-sucking.

Mr. Geddes said one group of calves at the centre was fed through suction tubes, which enabled them to gulp down their entire milk ration in two minutes.

Other calves were forced, by the size of the holes in their feeding tubes, to take 20 minutes over their meals.

The gulpers turned into a bunch of "suckers." The slow feeders didn't.

Mr. Geddes considers that if mothers use the slow feeding technique with their babies — he suggests up to half an hour for a meal—the thumb-sucking habit could be eliminated with most normal infants.

Mary Moore Says: Juicy Red Strawberry Pies Will Bring Family Home

In Australia I have a friend who always puts the same question in her letters: "When are you going to write a cook book so that I shall have the recipe for Emem's Fresh Strawberry Pie in a book instead of a bit of a little flimsy file card?"

To stop these bleats I've sent her stiff file cards with a half dozen copies of the recipe printed on them—and add in my letter "I didn't know you could buy strawberries in Australia." This infuriates her and she replies to me faster than she normally would. We have a jolly correspondence.

Before I die I hope to write a cook book and smack in the middle there will be a full-page spread with color picture of this "Fresh Strawberry Pie with Glaze." Make one from the recipe below then you will see what I mean.

One of my readers said this "And I wonder how many broken homes, and delinquent children could have been saved by full cookie jars and juicy red cherry pies?"

A friend of mine said she failed in raising her children, because she did not bother to feed their friends at home. She thought she was turning a wonderful double trick when she gave them money to go to the dairy bar, and got out of preparing lunches herself that way.

Such easy-going short-sightedness doesn't work. It never has and never will. Home is where your young people should be—and home is where the food is.

Emem's Fresh Strawberry Pie with glaze

So that you do not have a skimpy amount of pastry use 1¼ cups stirred but not sifted pastry flour and ⅓ cup plus 1 tablespoon shortening or lard, ¼ teaspoon salt and 3 tablespoons ice cold water for your pastry. Cut in the shortening with a pastry blender or your hands, add salt, then quickly stir in water. Roll out on lightly floured board to fit your pie plate which should be deep. Flute edges with fingers and thumb and prick crust all over with fork. Bake at 475 deg. Fahr. for about 8 minutes. Watch closely as they have a way of burning on the bottom quick as a wink. Cool.

Wash, drain and hull 1¼ quarts berries. When you are sure they have dried off place half of them in the cooled pie shell, using most of the choicest ones. Mash well and strain all but about 8 of the remaining berries—picking out the choicest ones for garnishing at finish. This mashed and strained puree should amount to 1½ cups—make it up to this amount, if you lack a little, with water. Stir together 1 cup sugar and 3½ tablespoons arrowroot flour (buy this at the drug store—but if you cannot get it use cornstarch). Stir this ino the strawberry juice over boiling water until thick then let cook for at least 25 minutes—or until perfectly transparent. No cloudiness should be evident. Cool enough to enable you to hold your hand on the pot. Sprinkle 1 or 2 tablespoons berry or icing sugar over berries in shell. Pour glaze over, being sure it covers all the berries. Chill at least 2 hours but do not keep overnight. Decorate with whipped cream piped around edge through pastry tube and garnish this edging with the perfect berries reserved for the purpose.

Variation: If you are not satisfied with all that and want to "gild the lily" spread a 3-oz. package of white cream cheese softened with cream over the pie crust before adding the berries and glaze. And if you still aren't satisfied serve it with ice cream instead of whipped cream.

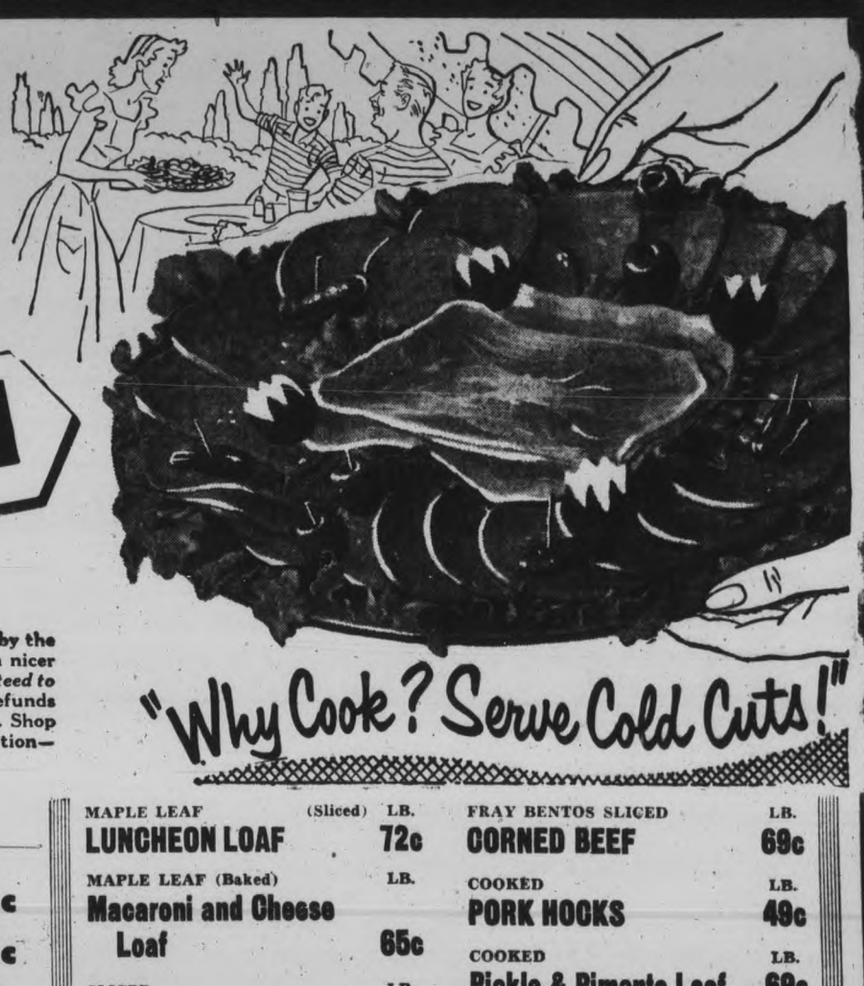
NOW—AN OPEN SECRET

"That cup of tea at Muriel's just about saved my life—I could have hugged her, I was so weary shopping."

"Yes, it was good, too—I know! I've got her secret."

"Oh?"



"Yes — Mother Parker's Orange Pekoe."

"That's a coincidence! Only yesterday Aunt Bella was praising Mother Parker's Tea.

"Says she just loves the Quality and convenience of their Tea Bags."

A GREEN GIANT PRODUCT

DEL MAIZ BRAND CREAM STYLE CORN

Grown in Essex County, the Sun Parlour of Canada, Fine Foods of Canada Limited, Tecumseh, Ont.

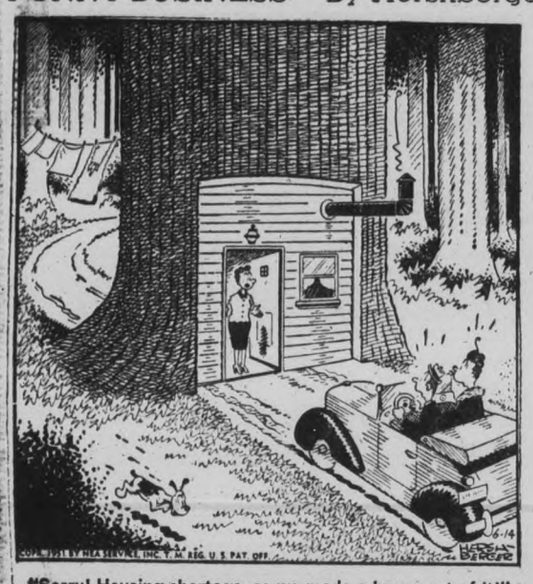
Attractive Stockings Can Flatter Women Of All Ages

By GAILE DUGAS



NEW YORK (NEA)— Putting on a pair of stockings can be fun. When stockings are something special, when they really do flatter a pretty leg, when they make a woman more attractive, then stockings are fun. Such stockings are very much a part of fashion.

Willys of Hollywood, a former boxer turned hosiery designer, believes that stockings should flatter women of all ages. He also thinks they should contribute to the harmony of a woman's costume. Contribute something more, that is, than a shade that blends well with black, brown or navy.

The sparkling butterflies, the star flowers, forget-me-nots and violets that flutter and twine on hosiery of Willys' design are all strategically placed to accomplish the most in ankle and leg flattery. For the woman who's fifty or more and who has a weight problem, there are stockings designed to slenderize. The stocking with a dark heel and seam does the best job of slimming down a plump leg and ankle.

Jeweled decorations and fancy motifs are meant for wear with late-day and evening dresses. For daytime, the dark heel and seam, done in many variations, are fashion-right.

THE SUMMER SLIP that can double as a dress is doubly easy on the budget. Black rayon taffeta (left) woven with bright red jacquard polka dots has cuffed top, scalloped hem. Checked rayon taffeta (centre) has sheath look, simple gored skirt, slim lines. White rayon crepe (right) with gold print makes cuff-topped slip that can serve as blouse, or team with a duster.

Summer Slips Can Double As Dresses

By GAILE DUGAS

NEW YORK —(NEA)— The summer slip that's designed to double as a dress is, to the woman on a budget, the biggest thing since the day of free dishes at the neighborhood movie.

Not only can these slips be worn as dresses, they can also do duty as summer blouses. They can combine with plain sheaths and brief jackets to make up an ensemble.

Of course, all of this does raise the question: Is she wearing a slip under her slip? If so, which kind? Could it, too, double as a dress?

Lest the whole thing become too complicated, let's make it clear right now that the woman who buys a slip-dress (or a dress-slip) is on her own. She may invent, or camouflage, but there are no specific instructions from the designers.

Black rayon taffeta, enlivened by bright red jacquard polka dots, is cut into a slip that has wide straps, a cuffed top and a shallow, scalloped hem. This slip can, with the addition of a stole, go to parties after five.

Black-and-white checked rayon taffeta makes a sheath-slip with slim lines. The skirt is slightly gored; bodice fits smoothly. Straps are fairly wide.

For touring art galleries, there's a white rayon crepe slip that's highlighted with gold print. It has a cuffed top and is adaptable to the blouse-and-skirt idea. It could also go to informal parties with the addition of a black sheath in a sheer fabric.

Youngster 5, Has Way With Horses, Veteran Trainer

MONTREAL — (CP). — No dolls for little five-year-old Lucy Webb—she is a veteran racing trainer.

Lucy, with her baby-like face and pigtails, has had a way with horses ever since she was found at the age of 2½ sleeping in the stall with a big mare. This became a practice and the mare would nuzzle her, but never harm her, her cat, or dog.

Lucy, who has travelled throughout the United States with her uncle's string of race horses, is now at the Blue Bonnets Race Track for the first time.

Lucy, daughter of Sam (Quarter Horse) Webb of Ranson, W. Va., can mix feed as well as her father, roll leg bandages, put medicine on the horses' legs, clean out a stable, and cool out a "hot" horse. She thinks nothing of lifting up a horse's hoof to check for thrush, a hoof disease.

Does Nearly Everything

Sam says she can do "most anything I can do with a horse."

The story of how Lucy nursed back a 10-year-old mare, for whom veterinarians had lost all hope, has become a legend in racing circles. Everyone thought the mare had broken a bone in her right front ankle, and would never race again.

Lucy went to work on the sore leg, rubbing it with alcohol as she had seen her father do, and the horse eventually got better, winning five races in 1949, and bringing Sam Webb $4,179 in purses.

Meet At Member's Home

Women's Friendly Group of All Saints' Anglican Church met on Wednesday afternoon at the home if Mrs. R. J. Miller, Mark St., for the last monthly meeting of the present season. President Mrs. A. Watkins was in the chair for the devotional period. Discussions were on the picnic to be held at Nicholls Oval on July 4th. After the devotions and business, dainty refreshments were served by the hostess.

Hold Sunset Service

St. James' young people met Tuesday evening in Lakefield, where they went swimming. Afterwards the group of 30 went out in rowing boats on the lake. The boats were grouped together on the water while a sunset worship service was held, conducted by Misses Marion Lee and Shirley Woods and Ron Davis. Boating was enjoyed for a while and then a lunch was eaten at the Coronation Inn.

This weekend the young people are going to Camp Quin Mo-Lac with George St. YPU members.

Honorary President Attends

A picnic party at the summer home of the Misses Agnes and Jane Horsefield which is situated on Long Point, Lake Chemong, was the outing enjoyed Wednesday afternoon by members of the Evening Branch WA of St. John's Anglican Church. A very special guest was the honorary president Mrs. W. E. Conway of Bracebridge who came to the city this week especially to attend. Other guests were Archdeacon and Mrs. C. W. Balfour and Mrs. Allan Young of Ottawa. The buffet lunch was convened by Mrs. E. E. Young and Mrs. B. Ottewell. The evening was spent pleasantly with games.

Club Picnic Camp Kawartha

Annual picnic of St. Paul's Presbyterian Young Married Couples' Club was held Wednesday evening at Camp Kawartha with about 60 members and their children attending. Due to rain the activities were in the common room where a cheery fire blazed in the fireplace. Lunch was convened by Mrs. Howard Perry and Mrs. John Morrow. Afterward a rousing sing song was led by Mr. Gordon Minty, accompanied by Mr. Tucker on the accordion, and varied stunts were held before the fire. Mr. Tucker favored with several fine accordion selections and played informally during the evening.

Varied Attractions At Garden Party

The garden party which is planned for this Friday afternoon at the home of Mrs. W. J. Gordon, 566 Gilmour St., promises to be outstanding because of the variety of its attractions. Ladies of St. Paul's Church are to be in charge and Mrs. R. B. McWilliams is convening the arrangements.

Children will be very welcome guests at this event because a separate tea room for them is being arranged with Mrs. H. Toole in charge and there will be ponies to ride and Topsy Turvy Club of Bewdley presenting four puppet shows during the afternoon, also a fish pond and balloons.

Adults will be ushered to the rear garden by Mrs. Herbert Mason and Mrs. Stewart Finnie and the attractions there for them include fortune telling, a home bake table and the opportunity to have quick character sketches made by Doug Landry.

Mrs. C. G. Boyd President University Women

The University Women's Club annual meeting was held following a dinner at the Kawartha Country Club Monday evening. Executive elected for the '51-'52 term is as follows:

President, Mrs. C. G. Boyd, succeeding Mrs. J. E. Watters; first vice-president, Miss Kay McDougall; second vice-president, Dr. Frances Stewart; secretary, Miss Mildred Bailey; treasurer, Mrs. R. Rankin; Federation representative, Miss Leonora Park.

The executive committee is: program, Mrs. D. Lamont; membership, Mrs. C. K. Hurst; hospitality, Mrs. A. R. Stevenson; social, Mrs. Maurice Clarkson and Mrs. S. C. Howard.

CWL Garden Party Rained Out Held In Convent

The garden party, which the Catholic Women's League of St. Peter's parish had planned for Wednesday afternoon, when rained out was held in the board room of St. Mary's Convent. It was well attended in spite of the weather and the guests were welcomed by president Mrs. John Begley and first vice-president Mrs. F. Guilfoyle.

Flowers on the daintily - arranged tea table with lace cover, were in the CWL colors, yellow and blue, and the candles were in matching shades. Presiding in turn at the silver tea services at either end of the table were Mrs. W. S. Fitzpatrick, Mrs. F. P. McNulty, Mrs. I. Young, Mrs. D. J. Fitzgerald, Mrs. P. J. Cadigan and Mrs. T. J. Carroll.

Guests were ushered to the tea room by Mrs. F. J. Lynch, Mrs. P. Burke and Miss Lillian Hurley and they were served by Mrs. J. Lane, Mrs. E. Finn, Mrs. J. Evans, Mrs. W. Vondette, Mrs. J. Ahern and Mrs. T. J. Cavanagh.

The refreshments were in charge of Mrs. E. O'Brien, Mrs. J. Legris and Mrs. E. Quinlan.

Mrs. J. E. Sullivan and Mrs. L. McCabe sold draw tickets on the cake donated by Mrs. F. D. McCarthy and the winner of the cake was Mrs. P. J. Cadigan.

A very successful bake sale was conducted by Mrs. S. J. Houlihan and Mrs. A. Willis. Games of bingo were played under supervision of Mrs. D. Sullivan, Mrs. J. Morrissey, Miss A. Murray and Mrs. C. Quinlan.

Mrs. F. D. McCarthy attended the treasurer's table.

WMS Auxiliaries Honor Miss C. Wagar

Afternoon and Evening Auxiliaries of the Women's Missionary Society of George Street United Church held an interesting meeting Tuesday evening. A large attendance of members and friends listened to an inspiring message from the special speaker, the Rev. W. H. Tonge, minister of Lakefield United church. His subject was "The Challenge of the World."

Mr. Tonge said among other things: "Communism can never stand the test of time; it never has, and never will." He urged each one, as individual Christians who have so much of this world's goods, to go out to meet this challenge by demonstrating to those in other lands who are so desperately in need of food and clothing at the present time that we are interested in them to the extent that we do something right now for them in the way of real help.

A pleasant part of the program was a presentation to Miss Connie Wagar, who leaves for Trinidad August 20th to serve as a missionary for the United Church of Canada. Miss Mary Faulkner assured Miss Wagar that the interest and prayers of the women of George Street church would follow her in the noble work she has chosen. Mrs. W. H. Morton presented Miss Wagar with a beautiful leather writing portfolio.

Mrs. J. Goldie and Mrs. C. C. Carson rendered a lovely duet, accompanied by Mrs. Ross Moore on the piano.

Mrs. Fred Horton's group in charge of the devotional period. Mrs. J. P. Bickle took the chair for this part of the meeting.

The scripture lesson was read by Mrs. J. W. Kelly with Mrs. J. McMillan leading in prayer.

Mrs. W. T. McLaren thanked all those who made the evening so pleasant and profitable.

President Mrs. E. H. Brown conducted a short business meeting with reports from various secretaries. She announced that the executive of the Peterborough Presbyterial W.M.S. will have a part in the evening service of George Street church Sunday, June 17, to honour Miss Constance Wagar.

At the close of the meeting a cup of tea was served and a social time enjoyed.

Lawn Tea Moved Indoors By Mark St. Mother's Group

Plans for a lawn tea at Mark St. United Church had to be set aside Wednesday and arrangements made hastily to hold the tea in the Sunday school auditorium. The mothers of the Baby Band who were sponsoring this event were most disappointed for they had thought to have sun umbrellas, tables and picket fencing as well as the spacious green lawn as their setting. An all-day rain made all this impossible.

The room was decorated by Mrs. G. Hopcroft with the centre of attraction a large basket of colorful Holland poppies and peonies banked with ferns and she had other baskets containing iris, phlox, lemon lilies and other flowers. The ten individual card tables were each centred with a rose bowl and flowers.

A hand-crocheted tablecloth was on the table and between triple silver candlebra with pink and white tapers was a bouquet of deep pink peonies in full bloom with trailing ivy. Mrs. R. Wood and Mrs. W. Parnell, both past presidents, of the organization, presided at the tea table.

Convener Mrs. A. Poolman and assistant Mrs. A. Downer were assisted in serving by Mrs. J. E. Spears, Mrs. D. Dorsett, Mrs. R. Russell, Mrs. E. Downing, Mrs. S. Craig, Mrs. B. Pammett, Mrs. C. McIvor, Mrs. C. Agnew, Mrs. [illegible] Hopcroft. The plates and teapots were replenished by Mrs. A. Roberts, Mrs. M. Pomeroy, Mrs. W. Terrace and Mrs. A. Worsencroft.

President Mrs. H. Guppy received the guests, assisted by Mrs. F. L. Edworthy who is vice-president of the WMS. Mrs. W. Lawson was taking tickets and estimated about 150 attended the tea.

The children who accompanied their mothers were looked after by Mrs. W. Beggs and Mrs. E. Toms. For their benefit a fish pond was arranged and the prizes were buried in sand.

A very fine display of children's cotton print dresses, rompers, sun suits, etc., made by the members who sew was offered for sale at the bazaar table attended by Mrs. K. Armstrong, Mrs. C. Ferguson and Mrs. K. Hopcroft.

Several attractive patchwork quilts, also for sale, had been made by the Quilting Club of the group.

Mrs. J. Southgate and Mrs. W. Sanderson attended the candy table and the fish pond.

Home baking was being sold by Mrs. D. Toms, Mrs. H. Green, Mrs. G. Davis, Mrs. M. McFadden and Mrs. M. Green.

Chapter News

JEANNETTE SCOTT CHAPTER

Jeannette Scott Chapter meeting Tuesday was in the form of a dinner at Lakeview House, Young's Point, followed by bridge.

The evening was arranged by Mrs. W. C. Boate and the prize winners for bridge were Mrs. M. Comstock and Mrs. J. Turner.

In a short business session it was decided that the membership would be divided into four groups and each group is to be responsible for one activity during the year. A donation was made to the Mayor's Fire Fund.

A small presentation was made to Mrs. Gerald Bailey, a charter member who is leaving the city to live in Toronto.

MAJOR BENNETT CHAPTER

The annual spring picnic and meeting of Major Bennet Chapter IODE, was held Tuesday evening at Bailieboro where the WA catered for supper at the United Church. Mrs. R. J. Garner convened the outing and about 50 members attended.

Regent Mrs. John D. Hooper presided for this meeting but owing to her leaving the city to live in Perth she has now vacated the office and former first vice regent Mrs. William Taylor has become regent of the Chapter.

Presentation of two engraved silver plates was made to Mrs. Hooper.

A donation of $100 was made to the Mayor's Fire Fund and members Mrs. R. Huggins, Mrs. A. H. Ball, Mrs. Wm Hughes and Mrs F Craig gave their services in collecting donations at the Charlotte St booth. A donation of $10 was made to the Health League. Mrs. Robert Gibbons, child and family welfare convener, reported that one boy and two girls will be sent to camp this summer.

It was arranged to have a flagpole and flag, modelling clay and recreational equipment ready for the adopted Indian School at Burleigh Falls when it opens in the fall. Educational secretary Mrs. B. E. Metcalfe reported letters of thanks from the school for medical supplies and library sent them.

Mrs. T. Gaskell distributed wool for the members to knit up during the summer months. Mrs. Reg. Reid reported 10 boxes has been packed and sent overseas.

Mrs. Gibbons and Mrs. Reid, co-conveners for the fall tea in October, reported plans well under way. A Chapter scrap book is being compiled by Mrs. H. James and Miss June Fraser and members were asked to clip from the various newspapers items of interest about IODE.

An invitation has been extended by Mrs. G. K. Fraser to have a corn and weiner roast at her home in the fall.

Premature Babies Flown To BC Hospital

VANCOUVER (CP). — Seventeen months ago, St. Paul's hospital here instituted a "flying incubator" service to carry on for storks with a faulty time sense.

Until that time, babies born prematurely in remote regions of the province had little chance of survival. Incubators, oxygen supplies, skilled hospital personnel were all at least 24 hours away.

Since then, a total of 40 babies have been rushed in the incubator by ambulance or airplane from points in the interior and Fraser valley to the ultra-modern clinic at St. Paul's.

Teams of special nurses are available day and night to go to the aid of the mites and bring them back to the clinic.

Get Best Care

The nurses take a portable incubator, oxygen tanks, hot water bottles and stimulants so that the babies can have the best possible care en route.

So far, nine babies have been flown to the clinic and 31 have been rushed by ambulance. Another 40 have been admitted from the Vancouver area.

Of the total of 80, 46 have survived. Most of those who died, lost their lives through other factors and complications which made the odds too great.

But specialists say the mortality rate would doubtless be higher without the special clinic and portable incubator service—especially in the out-of-town "premmies."

And the specialists feel the mortality rate will drop still lower. They have started a long-range research and check-up program to develop new and better techniques.

Rose Bowls and Roses Sold At Federation's Rose Tea

The Rose Tea was the first event planned by the Women's Federation of George St. United Church, organized only three months, and there had been much anticipation and hope for a big success. However, there seemed to have been a damper put on Wednesday when there occurred no let-up in the rain during the tea hours and there was not the usual rush to the well - stocked home bake table at three o'clock although about [illegible] tickets had been sold beforehand.

"All's well that ends well," the saying goes and in this case it applies directly, for today the members are happy with the result. A nice crowd did find its way to their charming tea room and enjoy their hospitality, and was especially appreciative of their feature attraction.

This attraction was the sale of small rose bowls and also lovely roses to go in them. The bowls were selling at a lower-than-retail price, due to the kindness of the supplier, and so there was the bargain opportunity that no woman can resist.

Briarcliffe roses were chosen for the rose bowls and for the tea table bouquet because their deep rose color matched that of the advertising posters and tickets for the tea. Deep rose peonies were effective on the mantelpiece and artificial roses of the same shade were affixed to a white trellis on which there perched realistically a bird and a butterfly.

Ivory tapers on table and mantel lighted the room. The table was laid with a lace-edged madeira cloth and the bouquet set on a circular glass plate to which rose-colored ribbons from the roses were tied.

There was music in the tea room, supplied by Mrs. A. Bacon, Mrs. A. Milburn and Miss Dorothy White.

Serving were Mrs. R. Chenoweth, Mrs. G. Gatfield, Mrs. R. Vance, Mrs. J. Thornton, Mrs. F. Frost, Mrs. H. Allison, Mrs. A. Townsend, Mrs. H. Mesley, Mrs. H. Hutchinson, Mrs. C. Brickman, Mrs. R. Dunsford, Mrs. S. Redout and Miss Myrtle McKeown. The plates were replenished by Mrs. H. Nicholls, Mrs. C. Turnbull, Mrs. E. Ivey and Mrs. P. Wellwood an dMrs. H. Dulmage made the tea.

Tea pourers included a guest, Mrs. W. S. Johnston, president of the Federation Group at Trinity Church, and Mrs. Ray Parnell, president of George St. Baby Band Mothers, followed by Mrs. E. H. Brown, president of George St. WMS and Mrs. G. C. Munro, president of the W.A.

The bake sale was convened by Mrs. S. Thompson and her assistants at the table were Mrs. R. Colmer and Mrs. S. J. Rowe.

Mrs. E. Hucks was in charge of the rose bowls and roses with Mrs. E. Dibble and Miss Gladys Walker assisting.

The tea was convened by Mrs. R. S. Hutton. President Mrs. A. Black received, assisted by Mrs. A. A. Mathews.

Mrs. H. Race and Mrs. A. Wigfield attended the treasurer's table.

Mrs. S. Gatfield decorated the tea table.

Want June Brides Toasted With Soft Drinks

TORONTO, June 14 (CP) — The world president of the Women's Christian Temperance Union yesterday urged substitution of soft drinks and fruit juices for cocktails and other alcoholic beverages at June weddings.

Mrs. Forrester Paton of Alloa, Scotland, speaking an a luncheon in her honor, suggested:

"Why not a soft drink list as well as a wine list in our eating places?"

"You in Canada have such a wonderful opportunity with all your delicious soft drinks," said the WCTU head, who is here on a tour of Canada with her husband. "We should try to get so many good things for our young people that there will be no room for the harmful," she said.

Amount of drinking scenes in television and radio programs would give one the impression that the liquor interests must have lobbyists at Hollywood, she said. "Hollywood goes around the world," she reminded. "Why should our children have to look at and listen to drinking scenes?"

Women's Groups Need Rousing Tells Dietetics

NIAGARA FALLS, Ont., June 14 (CP).—Byrne Hope Sanders of Toronto said last night that Canadian women are "too afraid of raising trouble."

There aren't any women in parliament, she told the Canadian Diatetics Association, because "politics are too far separated from the average woman's life."

"Across Canada I find in women's organizations a condition that stultifies me," she said. "They must not have controversy and must not discuss politics.

"We need a little more trouble in our women's organizations, a few more women saying unpleasant things to rouse us. We are too lethargic, too comfortable, too afraid of raising trouble."

Less Severe Suits Shown For Fall In Many Fabrics

MONTREAL, June 14 (CP). — Suits for the well-dressed Canadian girl this fall will be less severe. Skirts are straight and slim with one centre pleat for ease in walking.

This style was a feature presentation at Montreal's current fashion week show. The well-tailored suits were shown in many fabrics, particularly blends.

Melbourne flannel, a viscose blend, was shown by Lee Parker. Lapels were made of a series of clever tucks to match pocket detail. Gabardine was chosen in a hunter's green for a slim suit, with revers sewn to the jacket for a vest effect.

Authentic wool tartans added color to the range. One suit was velveteen trimmed on the usual collar and again at the waistline pockets. One Glen-checked blend model featured the slimming line by adopting the lounge lapels on men's clothes.

In one collection by Lady Esquire most blouses were a frosty white with delicate detail in lace or tucking.

As a contrast there were dark shades. One blouse in navy blue had a centre box pleat with inserts of nylon marquisette in petal effect from the collar to the waistline.

Watermelon, a high shade for fall, was made with lavish bishop sleeves caught in a deep tight-fitting cuff. Pearls on the cuff repeat themselves from the Peter Pan collar to the skirtline.

Housecoats had gracious full skirts. One in black satin was entirely over-printed with a delicate tracery of gold. Made with a full zipper, it had a small collar, bracelet-length sleeves and one large carry-all pocket.

Towel Shower Is Held For Minister's Wife

MILLBROOK, June 14 (ENS) —About 35 friends gathered at the home of Mrs. J. T. Crowley on Tuesday evening for a farewell to Mrs. T. Garnett Husser, before she leaves later in the month for her new home in Aylmer, where her husband will be pastor of the United Church. It was a surprise party, and took the form of a towel shower. Elinor Crowley and Carol Ridge presented the gifts.

The evening was spent in doing contests and in singing.

Mrs. Chester Fisher poured tea. Others who assisted in serving were: Mrs. John McKnight, Mrs. Lavern Gibson Mrs. G. A. Spicer, Mrs. M. E. Hobbs, Mrs. B. E. Ingham and Carol Ridge and Elinore Crowley.

DOROTHY DIX

False Pride Too Often Prevents Reconciliation

DEAR MISS DIX: My husband and I are separated at present, over very foolish things. I love him very much and I deeply regret the break-up. I really think he still loves me, too, but he is ashamed to confess he is wrong. Is there any way I can get him to see I am sorry for the things that happened, and that I still love him?

Dorothy Dix

WILMA

ANSWER: A direct attack is the best course for you, Wilma. Either you win or lose everything, but at least you'll know exactly where you stand. Arrange for a personal meeting, or if that isn't feasible, write him a letter, admitting where you were wrong (and if you admit to a little more than you really feel guilty of, remember much is at stake) and ask for a new start. If he still loves you, he'll be only too glad to accept all overtures and meet you halfway.

Pride is a fine thing, in its place, but to wax righteous with false pride and refuse to admit a wrong is small consolation for a broken heart.

Hard To Apologise

An apology is the hardest thing for some people to make. The words "I Apologise" come so glibly as a song title, and so haltingly as a form of human speech. Almost any wrong will be forgiven if the culprit will just say "I'm sorry!"

A husband stays out late at night, and returns home the following evening laden with candy and flowers. They avail for nothing as a peace offering unless accompanied by a verbal gesture of apology.

A woman who will do anything to give physical assistance to a neighbor considers it belittling to apologise for a careless remark that has caused hurt feelings. Where is there a neighborhood that doesn't have at least one pair of people who "don't speak"—still the rift, no matter how wide, could be closed in a jiffy by an outstretched hand and a simple "Forgive me!" Such gestures are far from belittling. They take breat moral courage and the longer the breach has prevailed, the harder it is to make apologies. Isn't the mended friendship, the soothed feelings, and the resultant harmony worth the effort?

So don't stand on ceremony, Wilma. Put your pride in your pocket, admit your fault in creating the separation and make a new beginning.

DEAR MISS DIX: I have the most wonderful girl in the world. She is thoughtful, lovable, and has stood by me in everything. I love her dearly and I know she loves me. She is everything a guy could ask for in his future wife, except for one thing—her feelings are very easily hurt. If I start to tease her she will twist my words around so that their meaning is entirely different. Then she starts to cry, and the crying is what gets me. I wouldn't hurt her for anything in the world, but what can I do to cure this habit of hers? It angers me and at the same time makes me feel sorry for her. As a result she always gets her own way. Is this just one of a woman's natural habits or is she just spoiled? PAUL.

ANSWER: You hit the nail on the head, Paul — she is just spoiled! You are unusually susceptible to a woman's tears and it didn't take your girl friend long to find it out. Crying is surely the easiest way to get what you want—when it works, as it seems to with you—and the technique has been developed to perfection in this case.

So let's face it! You have two courses open. You marry the girl and spend the rest of your life in this lachrymose atmosphere, giving in to her on every possible count to avoid the teary consequences, or have a showdown right now. I strongly advise the latter course, even though it will loose a veritable Johnstown flood of tears.

Of Interest to Women

FIRST WOMAN to qualify for a place on the Canadian Bisley team, Lieut. Mary W. MacLennan is shown above. "This is the happiest moment of my life," bright-eyed, sharp-shooting Miss Mary MacLennan, Charlottetown school teacher, said on arrival in Montreal to take her place with the Canadian Bisley team, which leaves for England June 13th. First Canadian woman to achieve the ambition of representing Canada in the most famous of all international rifle shooting events, Miss MacLennan qualified for her place by placing tenth in the Bisley aggregate at the annual meeting of the Dominion of Canada Rifle Association last year. There are 17 other shooting members on the team.

DERRETT—In loving memory of a dear wife and mother, Mrs. George Derrett, who passed away June 14, 1950.

One year has passed and gone
Since one we loved so well
Was taken from our home on earth
With Jesus Christ to dwell.
The flowers we place upon her grave,
May wither and decay,
But the love of her who sleeps beneath,
Shall never fade away.

—Lovingly remembered by her husband and family.

TOWNSHIP OF SMITH

By-law Number 1237

A BY-LAW TO REGULATE THE RUNNING AT LARGE OF DOGS IN A DEFINED AREA OF THE TOWNSHIP OF SMITH.

WHEREAS under the provisions of the Dog Tax and Live Stock Protection Act, Sections 6 and 7, By-laws may be passed by the Councils of Townships having a population of less than 100,000 for Prohibiting or Regulating the running at large of Dogs in a defined area of the Township.

NOW THEREFORE the Council of the Corporation of the Township of Smith enacts as follows:

(1) That in the defined area of the Township of Smith described in Section 2 hereof, no person during the period June 15th to September 15th inclusive in any year, shall allow any dog to run at large.

(2) That portion of the Township of Smith described as follows: Lots 8 and 9, Concession 6, Registered Plans Numbers 23, 33, 43 and 4, and that portions of Lots 12 and 13, east of Communication Road and Lot 12, Concession 7, lying north of the Bridgenorth-Selwyn Road, shall be and is hereby designated a defined area.

(3) For the purpose of this By-law a dog shall be deemed to be running at large when found in a highway or other public place and not under the control of any person.

(4) Any Constable or other person appointed by the Council shall have power to seize, impound or kill any dog running at large in said defined area during the period June 15th to September 15th inclusive in any year, and if the dog is impounded may sell such dog by giving notice of his intention to do so by posting three notices in public places in the area at least 10 days before such sale.

(5) Any person contravening any of the provisions of this By-law shall pay at the discretion of the convicting magistrate a penalty not exceeding $50.00 exclusive of costs, and such penalty shall be recoverable under the "Summary Convictions Act."

PASSED in Open Council, this 5th Day of September, 1950.

ROSS HARRISON,
Reeve.
A. I. EDMISON,
Clerk.

June 4, 1951.

I hereby Certify that the foregoing is a true copy of By-law No. 1237 of the Township of Smith, and that Carmen English has been appointed to enforce the By-law.

Unusual Visit

SHAWINIGAN FALLS, Que., June 14 — (CP) — Lieutenant-Governors Gaspard Fauteux of Quebec and Ray Lawson of Ontario will visit Kingston next Monday, and this city next Wednesday in the first such series of exchange visits ever made by Lieutenant-Governors of the two provinces.

LARGEST INDUSTRY

Farming is Scotland's largest single industry, employing more than 90,000 regular workers plus 40,000 farm owners.

Mayor's Fund To Be Given To Trust Board

The Mayor's Fire Fund will be transferred to its Trust Board Monday June 18 at 10 a.m. at the city hall.

The Trust Board has been announced by Mayor Swanston in accordance with the instructions from the group of citizens who met in the council chamber May 21 in spontaneous desire to open a fund for the aid of the families of the four men who died on duty in the George St. fire of May 19.

The understanding of that public meeting which undertook to collect monies and arrange for their distriubtion was to the effect that Judge Sheldon L. Smoke be requested to act as head of the Trust and to select a small group of citizens to become associated with him in that responsibility.

Committee

Representation on that committee was recently reported as follows, with Judge Smoke as chairman: the Mayor, the president of the local branch of the Fire Fighters' Association, considered as a representative of Labor; T. J. Carley, K.C.; the president of the Red Cross Society.

In that preliminary step authority came from the citizens who assembled for the purpose of considering the opening of the benefit fund. They were representative of all the citizens. So far the work has gone on smoothly and actively, and with generous results.

What then is the next step in the establishment of the trust? The understanding has been that the Mayor's Fire Fund committee will disband at the meeting next Monday, leaving any later contributions to be paid directly into the Bank of Montreal for the trust.

Set Up Trust

As to establishment, it may be presumed that the city council will have to relay the wishes and authority of the people to the trust by bylaw. So far the council has simply been a spectator of the public response to the fund. Some of the members attended the early fund meetings.

A prominent lawyer said today that the course of the council would probably be to prepare a bylaw formally setting up the trust, its members, with provision for their replacement at the end of official terms, as when there will be a change of mayors, and also of other members who are appointed through their elective offices.

The council receives its authority from the people, and in turn confers it upon the trust. The suggested bylaw would doubtless set out in some detail the duties of the trust, no doubt mentioning the element of discretion in dealing with phases of its responsibility as it changes with the advancing years of the children of the four bereaved families, and other circumstances.

In the democratic way of doing things, the Fire Fund Trust Board has been appointed as directed by a public meeting, but it is felt that the further authority and definitions of a bylaw are essential to its operations.

Bride, Groom Of 50 Years Celebrate With Attendants

CAVAN, June 14 — (ENS).—Mr and Mrs. R. S. Staples celebrated their golden wedding anniversary recently at their home, Sylvan Sward, 7A Highway, Cavan.

Mrs. Staples was formerly Ethel M. Sharpe. She and Mr. Staples were married on June 5, 1901, at the home of her parents, Mr. and Mrs. David Sharpe, Cavan, by the Rev. Mr. Coon. They came to live on the homestead farm which was pioneered by Mr. Staples' grandfather, and they still reside there.

In the afternoon the original wedding party and original wedding guests and close relatives of the family were entertained at a supper party. Mr. and Mrs. Staples' bridesmaid, Mrs. J. F. Woodsworth, Toronto, and the wife of their groomsman, Mrs. M. F. Hawkins, Port Hope, poured tea, and the guests were served by the four sons of the family, Dr. R. O. Staples of the Normal School staff, Toronto, Ralph F. Ontario manager of the Co-operative Life Assuurance Co. of Ontario, Gordos S. on the homestead farm, and David M., superintendent of the chemical plant of the Dow Chemical Company of Sarnia, and their wives.

In the evening open house was kept from 8 to 10:30 o'clock when friends and relatives from near and far availed themselves of this privilege to congratulate and extend their good wishes to the bride and groom of half a century. The house was made festive by a bouquet of 50 golden roses and many other bouquets of beautiful flowers which were all gifts from relatives and friends.

The table in the dining-room was covered by a white Irish linen cloth, centred by the four-storeyed wedding cake, flanked by golden tapers in silver holders. Silver tea services were placed at either end of the table and in the evening tea was poured by Mrs Norman Seaton, Peterborough, and Mrs. W. L. Hannah of Bethany. Those assisting with the service of refreshments in the evening were Mrs. Stanley Sharpe of Peterborough, and Mrs. Charles Smith, Cavan, and Mrs. Eric Fallis, Millbrook. Mr. and Mrs. Staples were very pleased to have both their bridesmaid, Mrs. J. F. Woodsworth, Toronto, and their groomsman, Mr. M. F. Hawkins, Port Hope, with them on this occasion. They received many lovely gifts, telegrams and cards of congratulations and good wishes.

Girl Given Job Of Tempting Young Appetites

CALGARY — (CP).—Mother, if you have trouble making junior eat his carrots, imagine the kind of a job Sheila Sinton has.

The pert Saskatchewan dietitian will have to plan about 700 meals a day for her staff and a hungry army of invalid youngsters at the new Alberta Red Cross Crippled Children's Hospital.

Miss Sinton is head dietitian for the $1,000,000 hospital. She has never planned youngsters' meals before, but the new hospital is one of the few places in Canada providing an opportunity for a children's dietitian. Miss Sinton is happy at the prospect of feeding scores of children whose appetites, likes and dislikes will be her responsibility.

The 23-year-old dietitian was born in Regina, educated in Moose Jaw, and graduated in 1949 with her Bachelor of Household Science degree from the University of Saskatchewan.

After her graduation in 1949, she took post-graduate work in dietetics at the Vancouver General Hospital and worked at the Regina General Hospital.

Must Be Mechanic

Not only is Miss Sinton responsible for buying food, storing it, preparing meals for hungry kiddies and formulas for babies, but she has to be something of a mechanic and know how all the kitchen gadgets work.

The $1,133,000 Red Cross kiddies' hospital has the latest in equipment and most modern kitchen accessories.

These include everything from butter slicer and apple-coring machine to soup boilers as big as bathtubs and a cake-mixer that can mix batter enough to feed 200 persons.

False Pride

Marriage is for adults, and there can be no truly happy marriages except between adults. Crybabies and thin-skinned lassies are not adult and will not bring to matrimony the sense of responsibility it needs. Think twice, Paul, before you embark on the stormy sea of matrimony with a mate who has nothing to contribute but salty tears.

DEAR MISS DIX: Do you think it harmful to a girl's reputation if she accepts blind dates?

ANNA

ANSWER: Going out with a totally strange boy who isn't known to anyone in your social group is harmful to any girl's reputation. If you have a particular boy in mind, there is always some way of meeting him through a mutual friend, or even through a school or church group. Don't court trouble by picking up strange boys for dates!

65 Men Join Up In Past Month

Recruting in the past few days for the 27th Brigade at the armouries has been more active after a slack period lasting nearly three weeks. So far this week nine men were sent to No. 5 Personnel Depot, Kingston, for further examinations. These brought the total since recruiting opened May 8, to 65.

Capt. F. J. Frape, recruiting officer sent H. C. Smith, E. L. Coltman, A. V. Junkin, E. C. Croft, W. Barbaro and K. R. Johnson.

Veterans of World War II number more than half the recruits and the majority of the 39 veterans are former infantry men from the Stormont, Dundas and Glengarry Highlanders and the Hastings-Prince Edward Regiment. Only two navy men and six former air force veterans have applied.

Early recruits indicated a preference for the Army service corps during the first several weeks but now the artillery and infantry are popular. The favorite artillery units are the 14th and 29th Field Regiments and the favorite infantry, remains the Hatie-Pees. A few men have chosen the Governor-General's Guards in the armour corps.

Average age to date is 26 years.

Mrs. Charles Buttar Dies At Bewdley

BEWDLEY, June 14 (ENS) — Mrs. Charles Buttar died at her home here early today. Mrs. Buttar suffered a cerebral hemorrhage Wednesday noon.

She was formerly Lillian Linton of Plainville.

Fifty-five years ago she married Charles Buttar and lived on their farm at Plainville for seven years. They moved then to their farm at Bewdley where they have lived ever since. For the past 23 years they have lived in a smaller home on the farm. Five years ago Mr. and Mrs. Buttar celebrated their Golden Wedding anniversary.

Mrs. Buttar was a member of the Cold Springs United Church, and had always taken a keen interest in community affairs.

She is survived by her husband; one son, Arthur, two grandchildren, Warren and Joyce; a sister, Mrs. Thomas Buttar of Bewdley and two brothers Mathew and John Linton of Plainville.

Funeral service will be held Saturday afternoon at 2:30 from her son's home at Bewdley, the Rev. Preston Brown conducting the service.

London Tally Clerks Return To Jobs

LONDON, June 14. (Reuters)—London's 1,464 tally clerks, who check the loading and unloading of ships' cargoes, went back to work today, ending a 10-day strike that had held up 107 ships.

Their strike had thrown about 10,000 longshoremen out of work and food cargoes amounting to between 40,000 and 50,000 tons were tied up, including about 14,000 tons of meat.

The tally clerks started the walk out to protest a London dock Labor Board's decision to hire 80 new clerks without consulting them. The strike was called off Wednesday when the tally men were assured they would be given opportunities of discussing future recruitment.

Asks British Press Set Up Own Council

LONDON, June 14 (AP)—The chairman of The Press Association suggested Wednesday that the British press set up its own group as its spokesman as an alternative to a government-proposed "watchdog" press council.

The suggestion came from C. T. Barton, who also is managing director of The Leicester Mercury, at a luncheon preceding the annual general meeting of the press association, Domestic News Agency owned by Britain's newspapers.

Barton suggested that a livery company — the worshipful company of the press — ge organized by existing press groups. A livery company is the modern version of the mediaeval craft guild.

Two years ago, a Royal Commission on the press recommended setting up a press council to act as press "watchdog."

Clever Family

NEW ORLEANS, June 14 — (AP)—When their first child was born 21 years ago, Mr. and Mrs. W. L. Guerin wondered how they were going to send him to college. The financial future was not too certain. Today the Guerins have no worries. Their three sons and one daughter have won 10 scholarships since their grammar school days.

Daughter Born To Missing Envoy

LONDON, June 14 —(CP)—Mrs. Donald MacLean, Chicago-born wife of a missing British Foreign Office diplomat, gave birth today to an eight-pound daughter.

The maternity department of London hospital said both the mother and child were doing well.

The father disappeared nearly three weeks ago with Guy Burgess, another diplomat. Police throughout Western Europe are engaged in a gigantic manhunt for the two men but thus far have failed to find any trace of them.

It was Mrs. MacLean's third child.

Moscow newspapers mentioned the two missing British diplomats—for the first time today.

The headline "disappearance of two employees of the English Foreign Ministry" appeared in Pravda, Izvestia and other newspapers over a 27-line Tass dispatch from London.

The dispatch—printed without comment—reported that the British press was "persistently commenting on the disappearance" of the two diplomats.

Logging Agreement

ST. JOHN'S, Nfld., June 14 (CP)—Premier Joseph Smallwood of Newfoundland Wednesday introduced a bill in the legislature for a large-scale logging agreement with a Swiss company. The proposed agreement would be made with a group headed by Dr. Arthur Seighem of Switzerland. It calls for an annual pulpwood cut of 200,000 cords in 1,500 square miles of timberland in the Lake Melville area of Labrador.

Build Five-Mile Tunnel For New Niagara Plant

By DON PEACOCK

NIAGARA FALLS, Ont. (CP)—Human moles have begun their work in Niagara Falls.

They will be burrowing for the next four years under the heart of a city that owes its existence to a 162-foot waterfall. They are digging for electricity.

When they finish, a four-storey-high tunnel will carry water from above the falls to a 600,000-horsepower generating station going up on a 300-foot cliff five miles down the Niagara River.

The water will flow under the city at a depth of 300 feet. After its five-mile trip, it will resurface in a canal 2½ miles from the Ontario Hydro-Electric Power Commission's new $157,000,000 plant.

Of the 5,000 men expected to work on the project, not all will be underground.

Varied Work

Most of the 1,900 now crowding this honeymoon city are building three camps in which they will live. Others are blasting a service road wide enough for two-way traffic down the rock face of the Niagara Gorge. Still others are gouging out the canal.

When the camps are completed, the area will be virtually a hydro city complete with fire protection, recreation facilities and a hospital.

The tunnel alone will use enough concrete to build a sidewalk from here to Regina—1,700 miles away—and the whole project will require enough to extend the walk to Vancouver, a distance of some 2,680 miles.

Steel for the tunnel supports is being moulded in Luxembourg and some of the workers will come from England, where two commission personnel experts now are interviewing applicants.

Will Be Landscaped

After the project is completed, the service road will be landscaped and turned over to the national parks branch of the department of resources and development.

Rock and earth excavated from the tunnel and canal will be hauled to four main dumps which later also will be landscaped and made 'tractive.

This preservation of Niagara Falls' scenic beauty is one of the provisions in the 50-year treaty signed last fall with the United States to make the project possible.

The treaty also makes sure the falls won't dry up. It requires that enough water be left in the river to assure at least 100,000 cubic feet a second falling all day during the summer.

When the moles finish their burrowing and the water begins to flow, the new plant will provide enough electricity to supply a city 1 1-2 times the size of Toronto, a city of some 900,000 population.

Friendship With US Said Not Inconsistent

CANBERRA, June 14 (Reuters)—Prime Minister Robert G. Menzies said Wednesday that Australia's friendship for the United States was in no way inconsistent with the strong ties binding this country with Britain.

"It is sometimes thought that the warm friendship that unquestionably exists here for the United States is in some way inconsistent with our affection for the mother nation," he said in an address connected with the 50th anniversary of Australia's federation.

"I hope nobody will think that for a moment. Everyone knows the friendship, understanding, mutual tolerance and determination between the Commonwealth and the United States are vital to world peace and are therefore one of the essential elements in the future happiness of mankind."

"Sleep Disturbed Often Every Night" Says This Man

Kidney Trouble, Nerves Kept Him Awake, Rundown, Had Stomach Disorder, Backache. Says Syntona Gave "Astonishing Relief."

"A few weeks ago I was in such poor health I would lie awake till all hours of the night, but thanks to Syntona I am now like a different person," said Mr. John McKechnie, 83, who takes great pride in his well-kept vegetable and flower garden at 72 Clemens street, London, Ontario.

"As a result of not getting my proper sleep I felt so tired and worn-out all the time I was just dragging myself around. The kidney trouble was very bothersome and I suffered with backache and dizzy spells. My stomach became upset and nearly everything I ate caused indigestion and burning pains and the gas pressed around my heart. My nerves were all on edge and I had no appetite.

"I had used Syntona several times in past years when I was not feeling well, so I decided to try it again. Now once more, this medicine has given me astonishing results. Since I've taken this medicine I am able to work in my garden, backache is gone and I eat well without having indigestion, gas or other distress afterwards. Best of all my kidneys and nerves have obviously improved, because I am now able to get sound, restful sleep and my entire system feels built up and improved."

In common disorders of the stomach, kidneys, liver and bowels the good results to be obtained by taking Syntona Herbal Compound are vouched for by thousands of delighted men and women who have used it. Syntona is pleasant to take and the results are quickly felt.

Syntona is sold and recommended in Peterborough at Elliott's Drug Store. (Advt.)

Say Canadian Flag On Ships Going To Red China

OTTAWA, June 15 (CP)—The Commons Thursday night heard the case of a fleet of Chinese ships which fly the Canadian flag into Red China ports, possibly carrying war material which eventually is used against Canadian troops. The story was drawn to the Chamber's attention by Maj.-Gen. G. R. Pearkes, VC, (PC-Nanaimo), who urged that Canadian destroyers now in Korean waters be sent to strip the vessels, one manned by a Soviet captain, of their Canadian registry.

Trade Minister Howe, to whom Gen. Pearkes directed his proposal, confessed the Canadian government is "not happy" about the situation, but finds itself unable to do anything. The ships were given Canadian registry when the Communists toppled the Nationalist government in China.

OTTAWA— (CP)— External Affairs Minister Pearson told the Commons this afternoon the government has official advices from Hong Kong denying that ships of Canadian registry are carrying war materials to ports in Red China. The minister disclosed that the government has investigated the matter. And though its information "is not yet complete" there is no substantiation of the charges.

Gen. Pearkes broached the question of the Chinese ships after telling reporters he had been informed the vessels were carrying war materials to Communist China from Hong Kong.

Say No Contraband

Mr. Howe said the Canadian government has been assured by the Hong Kong government under whose supervision they come, that the ships are not carrying contraband. If they were, the only action the government could take would be to withdraw their Canadian registry.

The vessels—seven originally, with two later seized by the Communists—were built in Canada after the Second World War for the Ming Sung Industrial Company, a Chinese trading firm. The loans were guaranteed by the Chinese Nationalist government and the Canadian government.

All "went well," said Mr. Howe until the Nationalist government fell. Canada then gave the vessels Canadian registry and exempted them of the requirement that they carry Canadian crews while flying the Canadian flag.

Mr. Howe said the government now has no direct interest in the ships, except that it guaranteed the construction loans.

Series of Questions

Gen. Pearkes has placed a series of questions about the ships on the Commons order paper. He told reporters the Ming Sung firm which operates them out of Hong Kong has an office in Montreal.

Johnson Feared US Ready Recognize China

WASHINGTON, June 15 (AP) —Louis Johnson testified today that as defence secretary he feared the United States was moving toward recognition of Communist China.

Johnson told the senate's MacArthur inquiry that he "never knew of any decision by the state department, despite the British talk and the British recognition, for us to recognize."

"But because of the things that were said in those days, I feared that we would not oppose their becoming a member of the United Nations, and then we would have to recognize them," he added.

Johnson also told the senators:

1. Gen. Douglas MacArthur took responsibility and carried out the Inchon landing in Korea last September despite misgivings by the US joint chiefs of staff.

2. He questioned the "accuracy" of an early draft of the state department's "white paper" on China. This document was a bulky account of developments in China and contained a good deal of material highly critical of Chiang Kai-shek's Nationalist government.

Before Johnson returned to the witness chair, Senators Owen Brewster (Rep. Me.) and Harry Cain (Rep. Wash.) told reporters they wanted to dig further into the former cabinet member's differences with State Secretary Dean Acheson

Brewster said Johnson's initial testimony Thursday showed "the Korean war is an Acheson-Truman promotion," and he added:

"The military leaders did not advise it—Johnson said "concur" in it was too strong—and they did not oppose. He also testified that there was no estimate of our military requirements at the time State Secretary Dean Acheson and President Truman decided to go into Korea.

Johnson now in private law practice here, put on Acheson the main burden of the advice to Mr. Truman to intervene in Korea.

40 At Dairy Stage Strike

OSHAWA, June 15 (CP)—Forty employees of the Oshawa Dairy Company went on strike early today to back demands for a union shop and a five - day 40 - hour week. The dairy serves some 6,000 Oshawa homes.

Members of Local 561 of the Retail, Wholesale and Department Stores Employees Union (AFL), the men went off the job shortly after six this year. Milk deliveries and collection from farms have been suspended.

Union officials said they have agreed to supply the Oshawa General Hospital and other needy institutions with milk.

The walkout followed union rejection of a Conciliation Board report last week which said there was no case for a closed shop at the dairy. Company officials have said they will abide by the conciliation report.

Governor-General Visits Britain

LIVERPOOL, England, June 15 (Reuters)—Field Marshal Viscount Alexander of Tunis, Governor-General of Canada, arrived here today aboard Empress of Canada on a six-week visit to Britain.

He was accompanied by his wife and their 11-year-old son, Brian.

Lord Alexander hopes to see more of Britain during his stay than he has been able to for 17 years.

Overseas service with the army and, since 1945, his duties in Canada having prevented him from setting up home in Britain, except for a short period before the war. Though he has bought a house at Chalfont-St-Giles, Buckinghamshire, he has never seen it.

"I love Canada and the Canadians," he said on his arrival. "It is a country full of opportunity for the young fellow who is prepared to rough it at first and work hard. British emigrants are fitting in very well with the country's great progress and development."

Lord Alexander will receive an honorary degree from Oxford University Wednesday.

Reds Fight Fiercely In E. Korea

New Chinese Troops Digging In On Steep Ridges

TOKYO, June 15. (AP) — Large numbers of fresh Red troops were reported digging in today on the rain-swept ridges of eastern Korea. Reds battled United Nations tank columns on the central front but vanished in the west.

Allied tank columns rumbled up two roads toward Kumsong, new Chinese base in the centre. One patrol moved through a mountain pass to the Chupa area, nine miles south of Kumsong. It met only sporadic fire. Another tank patrol clanked out of Kumhwa, 11 miles west of Chupa, blasting at Chinese along a ridge route.

To the southeast, North Koreans showered the allied line with mortar fire AP correspondent George McArthur reported.

"The Reds are digging in" a UN officer said, "trying to establish a defence line."

In the Yanggu-Inje area, Red and allied artillery duelled, McArthur reported.

Intense Fire

UN infantrymen straightened their lines and probed Red positions all along the east. North of Inje the allies pushed about a mile through intense fire.

Along the western front, allied patrols pushed four miles out in front of UN lines without running into sizable Communist forces. AP correspondent Stan Carter said "all indications were that the main body of Reds had withdrawn many miles to the north of UN lines.

The US Eighth Army said patrols operating through the fallen Kumhwa - Chorwon - Pyonggang "triangle" made only light enemy contact.

The dormant Red Air Force showed signs of life. Two planes struck far behind UN lines in their deepest penetration in months.

The United Nations "could take care of the Chinese air force" with combat planes already in Japan and Korea, US Secretary Thomas J. Finletter commented in Tokyo. US army officers have estimated the Reds have 3,000 planes in Manchuria.

Whole Villages Under Guard

SINGAPORE, Malaya, June 15 (Reuters)—Whole villages may be put under special guard and shopkeepers will have to keep records of what every customer buys under sweeping new emergency regulations which come into force in Malaya Saturday.

The regulations, announced announced today by Lt.-Gen. Sir Harold Briggs, director of operations against Malayan guerrillas, is aimed at starving the guerrillas out of the jungle.

They prohibit any movement by night of food of all types, medicines and the women.

"Shoplifters" Found To Be UN Family

NEW ROCHELLE, N.Y., June 15 (AP)—Apologies have been made to the wives of two Pakistan delegates to the United Nations and the daugher of one, who got into a tussle with police because they wore their native costumes.

The minor international incident went like this:

The women and girl were picked up in a local department store on Monday on suspicion of being "gypsy shoplifters."

Taken to police headquarters, the two women refused to give their names and the daughter ran away, only to be caught a moment later.

Eniwetok Atomic Grounds Cost More Than $65 Million

NEW ORLEANS, June 15 (AP) —The Eniwetok atomic weapons proving grounds in the mid-Pacific cost more than $65,000,000 plus other millions needed for routine base operations, Representative F. Edward Herbert (Dem. La.) estimates.

Its regular population of scientists and military men is about 8,000, Herbert said today in the second of a series of articles written for the New Orleans States, which made them available to The Associated Press. Herbert returned last month from the latest series of tests at the proving grounds where he was an observer for the hosue of representatives armed services committee.

Only five accidental deaths have occurred since the atoll was taken over in 1947 as an atomic proving ground. None has been connected with actual atomic experiments, he said.

The air force and navy share the duty of guarding the area from unfriendly observers, ships or planes that might accidentally wander into the danger zone, he disclosed. The security of the atoll itself is in the hands of highly-trained military police.

Eniwetok and the neighboring atoll islands are "busy, thriving communities," Herbert says, similar to any corresponding business community in North America of 6,000 or 8,000 population.

He said Eniwetok has been womanless for more than 1½ years.

"The island is encased in a rim of steel derelicts, remindful of the awful toll taken by the Americans who literally destroyed more than 3,500 Japanese troops when the atoll was captured.

"Thousands of tons of scrap have been pushed off the island into the Pacific. Several small craft remain where they were beached during the capture."

Propose Big 4 Meet Without Discussion

Note Handed To Gromyko Asks Parley Without More Delay

PARIS, June 15 (CP). — The western powers today proposed to Russia a meeting of the Big Four foreign ministers without any further discussions on the agenda between the ministers' deputies. The proposal was contained in a note handed to Soviet deputy Andrei Gromyko at today's meeting of the foreign ministers deputies by Ernest Davies of Britain.

The note said the four powers should meet in Paris on the basis of the measure of agreement already reached by the 70 meetings of the deputies.

Identical American British and French notes handed to Gromyko called for a Big-Four parley "without further efforts by the deputies to complete agreement on the agenda."

See No Reason to Delay

The British note, released in London today by the foreign office, said the Big Four "should be able to proceed without delay to their task of seeking to reduce the existing tensions in Europe."

The western powers a fortnight ago specifically proposed the foreign ministers should get together in Washington July 23. Russia agreed but with a big unacceptable "if."

She reaffirmed she would go along if the west agreed that the Atlantic Pact and American bases overseas were included in the agenda as separate items of discussion.

This, British American and French spokesmen repeatedly made clear, was unacceptable.

US Reported Opposing Any Cease-Fire

WASHINGTON, June 15 (AP) —The United States is reported opposed to any action aimed at seeking a cease-fire agreement with the Chinese Communists now.

Its attitude, however, would not preclude talks if the Reds made the first overtures. Officials here say they have no knowledge of any truce feelers.

The State Department, it was learned today, has informed the diplomats of the 16 countries with troops in Korea that it believes Red China's fighting power must be further reduced on the battlefield before any new cease-fire proposal can hope to evoke a favorable response from Peiping.

Informed officials told a reporter that Dean Rusk, assistant state secretary, laid down the American position in a series of meetings with foreign diplomats. These officials asked not to be quoted by name.

British Proposal

Britain is reported to have suggested the possibility of reviving a 16-country appeal for a cease-fire. This would be similar to one drafted for President Truman last March but which was shelved when Gen. Douglas MacArthur issued his own truce bid first.

The State Department is reported to have resisted this British suggestion thus far on the grounds that it would do no good.

As an alternative, it has suggested that Truman might make a report on the Korean fighting to Secretary-General Trygve Lie of the United Nations. Such a report, however, would stick to generalities without listing any detailed terms and conditions for a settlement, it was said.

A more precise spelling out of these conditions, it is felt, could come later on behalf of all 16 countries after Communist China has had more time to realize, as officials think it must eventually, that it cannot win in Korea.

Pirates Trade Two For 5 Card Players

PITTSBURGH, June 15 (AP). —Pittsburgh Pirates, desperately trying to get out of the National League cellar, today swapped third-baseman Wally Westlake and pitcher Cliff Chambers to St. Louis Cardinals for five players.

In exchange for the slugging Westlake, who has 16 homers, [illegible] got these players from the Cards:

Pitcher Howie Pollet, catcher Joe Garagiola, outfielder Bill Howerton, relief pitcher Ted Wilks, and rookie shortstop Dick Cole.

No cash is involved in the swap.

Nelles' Body Buried At Sea

VICTORIA, BC, June 15 (CP) —The body of Admiral Percy Nelles, who headed the Royal Canadian Navy throughout most of the Second World War, will be committed to the deep today from the minesweeper Sault Ste. Marie.

Private funeral services for Admiral Nelles, 59, chief of naval staff for 10 years, were held here Thursday.

Admiral Nelles, who retired in 1945 after watching Canada's Navy grow from a fledgling force to a modern anti-submarine fleet, died Wednesday night. He had been ill for about a month.

Ask Canada Strike Blow Behind Iron Curtain

OTTAWA, June 15. (CP)—The Opposition's foreign policy spokesman told the Commons today Canada should be speaking with a bigger, stronger voice to the people behind the Iron Curtain. Gordon Graydon (PC-Peel) launched a House debate on foreign affairs by saying that the time has come to make better use of the facilities of the international service of the CBC.

Canada has reached the end of an era in which she was using that service simply to talk to her friends. She should change her approach to try to reach "the millions upon millions of listening ears behind the Iron Curtain who might be her friends."

This country, because she was a small power without international appetites, was in a good position to sell freedom. One possibility that was being overlooked was the use of freedom-loving Ukrainian-Canadians to talk to their Ukrainians behind the Curtain.

Should Start Alone

Mr. Graydon also said:

1. There are important reasons, including an endless maze of obstacles in Washington, why Canada should start at once to build the St. Lawrence seaway alone.

2. The idea of informal meetings of members of Commonwealth parliaments should be extended to meetings of Canadian, British and American parliamentarians who might do a lot to mend rifts and improve understanding.

3. Canadians are confused about just what is happening to get a peace treaty with Japan.

4. Russia is paying a "scandalously disproportionate" share of the United Nations budget—seven per cent compared to Canada's three—and every effort should be made to rectify this situation:

New China

M. J. Coldwell, CCF Leader, said he believes "New China" is the "China of the future" and could not rightly be kept out of any Japanese peace treaty. The regime of Chiang Kai-shek is "permanently eliminated and any moves to try to restore that regime would be a tragedy for the world."

Mr. Coldwell said he wants to see Communism stopped, but "if we adopt policies that throw great masses of the people into the orbit of the Soviet Union we will bring about a situation which will mean a third world war." Suggestions that the West can fight China and bomb her cities are "unrealistic."

Meat Prices Being Studied

OTTAWA, June 15 — (CP).— Trade Minister Howe told the Commons today that the question of the sudden, sharp rise in meat prices in Canada is under departmental study.

The rise in prices, he told Wilfrid Lacroix (L-Quebec Montmorency), is due to an "abnormal" situation in the United States.

Mr. Lacroix asked if anything could be done to slow down this rise, which was affecting living costs in Canada.

Mr. Howe said that the matter was under study, but no conclusions have yet been reached as to what can be done to stem the increase.

Several Teen-Agers Nabbed In Drug Raid

NEW YORK, June 15 (AP).— On the heels of a state narcotics inquiry, police Thursday night and early today swooped through three city boroughs to arrest 21 persons on dope charges.

A man identified by police as a United Nations official appeared at the apartment of a young couple arrested while the raid was still on. He was not held.

Five detectives, two of them women, waged a street fist fight to keep a prisoner and disperse a menacing crowd of more than 100. The detectives had to draw their guns.

Among those seized as drug sellers and users was a 15-year-old boy and another half-dozen 'teen-agers.

Ask Rent Frozen At April Level

TORONTO, June 15 (CP)—A proposal that rent ceilings stay frozen at the April 1 ceiling level in Ontario subject to appeal by tenant or landlord was made today during sessions of the select Legislature committee on rentals.

The suggestion was made by Eamon Park, CCF member for Toronto Dovercourt and John Dowling, CCF member for Hamilton East, during discussions of a formula for rent controls in the province. The seven-man committee, which held hearings in major Ontario cities during the last six weeks, is working on a control plan on the basis of briefs submitted during the tour.

The CCF members suggested that uncontrolled rents be rolled back to the April 1 level on the expiration of voluntary leases. They also said lawful rents should include percentage increases allowed under federal regulations.

Four Children Die Because Woman Chats

EVERETT, Wash., June 15 — (AP)—Four children who died in a house fire Thursday might still be alive if a woman on a party line had yielded to a plea for an emergency call, firemen said.

The victims were Beth Bryant, 2, her brother Boyd, 3; Paulann Sweeney, 5, and her sister, Renee, 2½. Several other children escaped.

Neighbors of Mr. and Mrs. Bryant, whose home was destroyed, told firemen they tried to phone the alarm, but a woman would not give them the line.

They said they told the woman there was a fire.

"Fire? Who are you trying to kid?" The quoted the woman as saying. "I'm paying for my phone, too."

A phone call eventually got through from a naval reserve armory.

Firemen said a few more moments would have given them time to try to save the children.

Hope Fingerprints On Car Will Give Clue To Killer

BRANTFORD, June 15 (CP). — City and provincial police today continued their investigation of the fatal shooting Thursday of 28-year-old Edward Barbarian, but no reports of any progress were made.

Fingerprints which were found on Barbarian's 1946 Cadillac are being studied in the hope that they may yield some clue to the identity of the killer or killers.

Police were non-committal concerning reports by friends and relatives of Barbarian who suggested he had been "knocked off" by hired killers. Police would not disclose any theory as they sought some lead in a case which thus far has them stymied.

Sgt. Thomas Blower, head of the city police morality squad, replying to reports that Barbarian had operated a gambling establishment here without police opposition, declared that as recently as last April, Barbarian had been convicted and fined for a breach of the Ontario Liquor Control Act and for obstructing a police officer.

"He wasn't in business two weeks before we were after him" said Sergeant Blower. "His abortive attempts to start a bootleg racket here were smashed within two weeks after he started operations."

Sgt. Blower said gambling operations were "down to a minimum" in Brantford and several operators who had been convicted had closed their establishments.

One police officer said it was impossible to stamp out completely bootlegging or gambling, "while we have liquor and money."

"We have nothing to hide," police said. "Our files are open for inspection."

Sgt. J. L. Whitty, in charge of the Brant County Detachment of the Ontario Provincial Police, said the county was free of gambling operations. "If anyone wants to come forward with information, we will act on it at once," the officer said.

200 Children Reported Safely Evacuated, Total Casualties Uncertain

Blaze Started Near Institution's Elevator Shortly Before Noon Hour, Terrible Traffic Jam Hampers Firemen

MONTREAL, June 15. (CP)—At least four persons were reported dead and a varying number unaccounted for today in a fire that swept through the Hospice St. Cunegonde on downtown Atwater Avenue. At 1:45 p.m. EDT the fire was dying down but there was nothing to verify the death toll. Some reports said 40 aged persons were trapped on the upper floors of the building and there were unconfirmed reports that 25 bodies were believed to be in the 75-year-old wood and stone building.

There was no confirmation from police or firemen although one fireman said four persons had died. Another—and this was sure—said two bodies had been found.

Two hundred children who lived with about 200 aged persons in the hospice were all reported to have escaped.

24 Nuns Escape

Twenty-four of the 26 nuns attached to the institution operated by the Grey Nuns were reported safe.

Father P. M. Seguin, chaplain at the hospice, said Mother Superior Gervais and Sister Chauven were still unaccounted for.

He said the fire started near an elevator shaft in the five-storey building.

It was believed most of those trapped were aged women. Most of them lived on the upper floors of the five-storey wood-and-stone building, operated by the Grey Nuns.

Aged men lived on the lower floors and it was thought most or all of them had escaped.

Father Seguin said the missing Sister Superior had stayed in the building to look after the patients.

He said it was impossible at the time to say how many persons escaped or how many might be trapped.

Blind and Crippled

About a dozen of the aged persons who lived at the hospice were blind and a number of the children were cripples.

The three fire alarms brought out equipment from all parts of the city and ambulances from all nearby hospitals.

A terrific traffic jam was created. Thousands of pedestrians and

Frost Has Sore Arm Finds It's Broken

TORONTO, June 15. — For some time Premier Frost had been bothered by a sore left arm. He had twisted it, but thought the trouble no more than that.

The Premier combined a look-around visit and an X-ray examination of the paining arm at the Wellesley Hospital, Thursday. Before the visit was over, he was shown the plate.

Dr. John L. McDonald set the broken arm. With it encased in a shiny new cast, the Premier went home to Lindsay Thursday night to attend the opening of a theatre as scheduled.

Oxygen Supply Failure Caused Crash

OTTAWA, June 15— (CP). — The April 5 crash of Canada's first CF100 Canuck jet fighter near London, Ont., was caused by failure of the oxygen supply to the crew, the RCAF said Thursday. This was the finding of an inquiry into the crash that took two lives.

An official statement said there will be no delay in production of the planes, and it is expected that within the next few weeks the first Orenda-powered CF100 will make its initial test flight.

The statement was apparently a reply to reports that the crash was caused by some serious defect in the plane.

Production Minister Howe told the Commons Canucks should be flowing off the production lines of the A. V. Roe Co. of Canada at Malton in volume by fall. They will be powered by the Canadian-designed Orenda engine.

A board of inquiry was conducted by the RCAF after hearing expert witnesses from A. V. Roe Co., National Research Council, the Institute of Aviation Medicine, and civilian eyewitnesses.

Say UK Envoys Slip Out Of Spain

BARCELONA, Spain, June 15 —(AP). — A well - informed source said today the two British Foreign Office diplomats who disappeared mysteriously late in May left Spain for France Thursday after two days here.

The two men stayed at the Victoria Hotel under slightly changed names, the informant said. He gave this account:

Donald Maclean, 38, head of the British Foreign Office's American Department, used the name "Marshall Maclean," and Guy Burgess, 40, recently recalled from his job as second secretary of the British Embassy in Washington, used the name "Willis John Burgess."

The two diplomats were said to have driven across the frontier from Spain into France by way of Puigcerda, a border town about 80 miles northwest of Barcelona.

The informant, who cannot be quoted by name, said authorities at the border reported the two men crossed Wednesday morning under their changed names, showing passports.

Mayor Leaves Sick Bed To Make Presentation

LONDON, June 15 (CP)—Still nursing a temperature but feeling "much better," Mayor Hiram McCallum of Toronto left a sick bed today to begin the business which brought him to Britain.

He started by taking a train to York, a Yorkshire city of 100,000 population. With him he took a "secret" gift to be presented to the the Lord Mayor of York, Alderman J. H. Kaye.

The presentation, originally scheduled for Thursday but delayed because of the Canadian mayor's illness, will take place at an official dinner Saturday. McCallum said he didn't want to say what the Canadian gift will be, but it is understood it stresses the historic links between York and Toronto.

Toronto was known as York until 1834.

Expect Beef Price To Go Higher, US Taking More

TORONTO, June 15.—An Alberta rancher can sell his beef as easily in the United States as in neighboring Saskatchewan or any other province. And he gets a higher price than in Canada. That, a livestock authority in Toronto in close touch with the industry across the country said Thursday, is why Canadian prices are rising. They likely will go higher. How far Canadian meat prices climb depends almost entirely upon what happens in the next few months in the United States, said this authority who preferred to remain unidentified.

Likely Take More

The US last year depended upon Canada for only about 5 per cent of its meat supply; this year it probably will take more.

Price jumps in the last fortnight a period of extensive American purchasing of Canadian meat, have been general across the country, a Canadian Press survey showed Thursday. They ranged from a few cents a pound to as much as 16 cents in some instances depending on the cut. Current prices are sharply above those prevailing at this time last year.

One of the biggest factors in the increased American demand for Canada's meat, the Toronto source said, is the quota system imposed on US packers early this month. The system was imposed in the hope of assuring even distribution —a sort of rationing of suppliers. Under it the number of cattle that can be slaughtered in the United States has been cut to about 80 per cent of the number killed last year.

But American buyers can purchase as many Canadian cattle—at any price—as they wish, as long as the cattle are killed in Canada and the beef sold at current ceiling prices in the United States. American buyers have been doing just that and they are expected to continue to do so.

In Accident, Charged With Drunk Driving

An accident Thursday night resulted in a charge of drunk driving being laid against Kenneth John Ridley, 38, of Burlington.

He appeared in police court today and was remanded to June 21 on $500 bail. A second charge, of careless driving, was adjourned to the same date.

Ridley, who was driving east on Simcoe St. Thursday night at 9.50, drove his car into the rear of a parked car owned by Thomas Cavanagh, 320 Maitland Ave.

Shortly after, constable Reg. McMillan approached Ridley and asked him what happened. Ridley said the constable had run into him. Constable McMillan said Ridley appeared drunk.

Prices Remain Firm On Toronto Exchange

TORONTO, June 15 — (CP) — Prices remained firm as the session progressed on the stock market today. Trading was extremely quiet.

A handful of industrials advanced a point or more. Most of the section stayed in a mixed narrow price path. Papers were well ahead and banks, constructions, retail stores showed a majority of gains. Steel, utilities, refining oils and manufacturing companies were mixed and agricultures and foods were lower.

A wide list of lower-priced base metals climbed pennies but a few leaders weakened. Steep Rock, Sherritt Gordon, Silver Miller, New Calumet, Noranda and Falconbridge were ahead while Golden Manitou, Hudson Bay and United Keno Hill were down fractions. Consolidated Smelters, selling ex-dividend of $5 today, lost $4.50.

Western oils were moderately higher.

Golds suffered profit-taking from yesterday's strong advance and were mixed. Changes were mostly less than five cents.

Dollar Lower

MONTREAL, June 15 (CP) — The American dollar today opened at 7 3/16 per cent premium to the Canadian dollar, down 1/16 from Thursday's close. That is, it took $1.07 3/16 Canadian to buy $1 American.

The pound sterling was $3.00-3/16, unchanged from Thursday.

Outdoor Market Moves To George Street Site

The Outdoor Produce Market, which has been located North of Charlotte Street and West of Water Street, will be moved to its new location on George Street, between Townsend Street and Rink Street, commencing with the Market to be held Saturday, June 16th. All produce usually sold on the Outdoor Market should be taken to the new location commencing on that day, since there will be no space available for market sales on the old location.

The City now will commence immediately to install the parking meters on the former Market Square; these meters having been delivered and awaiting installation for several months.

The Upstairs Market will still be available for sale of fowl, eggs and butter from baskets, as formerly.

May Raise Bread By One Cent

Ottawa Increases Price of Wheat By 6 Cents A Bushel

OTTAWA, June 15. (CP) — Canada Thursday increased the price of wheat by six cents a bushel. The increase, announced by Trade Minister Howe, is effective immediately on domestic sales and Aug. 1 on sales to foreign countries.

The decision appeared to have resulted from protests by western Canadian wheat growers that Canada was not getting a high enough price for its wheat under the terms of the four-year international wheat agreement.

In Toronto, a bread company representative said the retail price of bread may increase one cent in some areas of Canada as a result of the six-cent boost. He thought Winnipeg and Montreal would be among the places affected.

In London, Japan has been unanimously admitted to the international wheat agreement which allocates supplies to importing countries and assures markets for producing countries.

Experts of 45 countries meeting here in secret as the international wheat council agreed to this step Thursday night, it was learned today.

An application for membership from the Kingdom of Jordan was rejected.

For all other importing countries no adjustments were made to the import quotas already fixed for the year starting Aug. 1.

No progress was made on two other problems—the desire of India and many other importing countries for bigger import quotas for next year and the demand of some exporting countries, particularly Canada, for an increase in the agreed maximum price.

The council is to meet again here next month to elect officers for the coming year.

Import Quota

Japan was granted an import quota of 500,000 tons. This is less than the 1,200,000 which she was understod to have originally asked.

It is expected to be supplied mainly by the United States.

By the terms of a 1949 agreement, the maximum price for all countries is fixed at $1.80 a bushel in United States funds until July, 1953.

Canada felt entitled to an increase, because of the sharp increases, unforeseeable in 1949, in prices of other commodities including those which the wheat-exporting countries have to import.

But the claim was not pressed at this week's council meetings, and there was believed to have been relatively little discussion of it.

MORE ABOUT—

Say Canadian Flag

His Commons questions are based on a letter from George T. Lloyd, general secretary of the China Coast and Navigating and Engineer Officers Guild, who wrote from Hong Kong that the use of the ships "is a scandal, exploited by a few Canadian speculative shylocks."

The general quoted Aloyd as saying essential war materials are being carried from Hong Kong to both Macao and Canton by ships "trading under the Canadian flag and with it (the flag) painted prominently on their sides."

Aloyd also reported that the ships "wear the Canadian ensign in Communist ports" and are manned by Chinese. One has a Russian captain.

The vessels operate between Hong Kong, Canton and Macao.

Seek Agreement

The Chamber, spending a day on trade and defence production estimates heard Defence Minister Claxton disclose that he has appealed to Britain and the United States to try to reach agreement on standardization of a common rifle. Britain is adopting weapons of one calibre; the United States another.

He made the disclosure after George Drew, Progressive Conservative Leader, described as "frustrating and possibly disastrous" Britain's announced decision to adopt small arms differing from those of the US. The two countries, along with Canada, have been trying to standardize weapons for five years.

Earlier, Mr. Howe reported on the progress of his new defence production department and said the department hopes to handle $1,000,000,000 worth of business this year. It already has placed orders for $400,000,000 of new aircraft along with other contracts for ships, guns, electronics, and small arms.

EDITORS START TRIP

The 23 American weekly newspaper editors who will visit Peterborough June 22, during their 10-day goodwill tour of Ontario arrived Thursday in Toronto and will leave for Haliburton Saturday. The editors are the guests of the province's Department of Travel and Publicity, the Ontario Hotel Association and the Class A weeklies of Ontario.

Plant Using Safety Devices

OTTAWA, June 15. (CP)—Production Minister Howe said on Thursday night he has been informed that "every safety device known to man has been installed" at the crown-owned Polymer rubber plant at Sarnia.

He was replying in the Commons to J. W. Murphy (PC-Lambton West) who asked for information on the explosion at the plant May 6.

Mr. Howe said he believes it was a great tribute to safety measures at the plant that the explosion caused no loss of life and no extensive damage.

The area where the explosion occurred now is back in production.

Mr. Howe said if experience shows that additional safety measures can be taken to avert explosions they will be adopted.

Hold Inquest In Track Death

TORONTO, June 15. (CP) — Blank cartridges should not be used in starting pistols fired by coaches or trainers during training workouts for track events, an inquest jury recommended Thursday night.

In actual contests, only a qualified starter should be permitted to use a blank cartridge revolver and the starting gun should be of the proper vent-type, it added.

It was inquiring into the death May 23 of 17-year-old Paul Vamplew as the result of the accidental discharge of a blank cartridge revolver at close range during a training session. No blame was attached to Coach Lloyd Percival, who was holding the revolver when the promising middle-distance and cross-country runner jarred it.

During the inquest, Dr. Joslyn Rogers, consulting chemist to the Ontario Attorney-General's Department, emphasized the danger from blank cartridge revolvers at close range. He said the gun which killed Vamplew must have been within two inches of the youth's chest when it was discharged.

Marmora WI Arranges For August Picnic

MARMORA, June 15—(ENS)—The June meeting of Marmora Women's Institute was held Wednesday evening at the home of Mrs. E. C. Prentic. In the absence of the president, Mrs. H. P. Nayler, the chair was taken by the first vice president, Mrs. Frank Grant.

Following confirmation of minutes Mrs. Eugene Brady presented the monthly financial statement. She also read correspondence relating to the Federal Women's Institutes of Ontario holiday at the OAC, Guelph, and a circular on child maternal health.

A discussion followed on suggested short courses but the branch decided not to sponsor one this year. Instead members were urged to attend a proposed branch picnic to be held at Glen Allan Park on the afternoon of August 8. It was decided to hold a bake sale June 30.

Mrs. Frant then gave a reading "She Helped the Farmers' Wives". Mrs. Hogarth Sabine in line with the month's motto gave "Incidents in the Lives of the Royal Family". A fish contest put on by Mrs. E. Post was won by Mrs. Howard Sabine.

It being "Agriculture and Industries Night" W. J. Cottrell related some interesting and humorous incidents occurring during his 30 years at Deloro.

Fenella Institute Plans For Short Course

FENELLA, June 15 (ENS)—Office Patients, was the subject of an address given by Dr. W. H. Gear, Cobourg, guest speaker at the June meeting of Fenella Women's Institute. The speaker was introduced by Mrs. Percy Marklin and thanked by Mrs. Frank George.

The meeting was held on Wednesday at the home of Mrs. Beecher McDonald with a large attendance. The presdent, Mrs. Frank George presided. An invitation from Roseneath Women's Institute members to a cooking school to be held in Roseneath township hall on Wednesday evening, June 20 was accepted.

An application will be made to the W.I. Department, Toronto, for a short course in "Something to Wear" or "Your Food and Your Figure".

Mrs. Ambrose Fanning and Mrs. Harry Hutchison were in charge of the program.

A detailed report of the West Northumberland District Annual W.I. meeting held in Roseneath, June 14 was presented by the branch director, Mrs. A. Fanning.

Mrs. William Sandercock contributed a reading and Mrs. Clifton Rogers was in charge of a quiz.

Lunch was served by the hostess assisted by her daughters, Mrs. Howard Evans, Norham.

TB Deaths Decline

LONDON (CP).—Deaths from tuberculosis in England and Wales fell by 20 per cent last year, the biggest decline recorded for any one year since 1929. The death rate per million for respiratory TB last year was 321, compared with 403 in 1949.

Carmel Waiting Room On Way To Oblivion

The Carmel waiting room shack, uprooted from its whistle stop site on the C.N.R. south of Millbrook, was on its way to oblivion yesterday.

On a Peterborough siding it was a reminder to local people of the enterprise of the Canadian National Railway in salvaging this small building from the remnants of the old passenger line and service between Millbrook and Port Hope. It had been lifted onto a flat car, temporarily waiting transfer to some other destiny in the C.N.R. economy.

This red shack still bearing its Carmel station name presented a rather forlorn appearance to those who remembered its site down where the pink briar roses are blooming along the fence of the rural right of way.

motorists tried to get to the scene. Persons seeing great clouds of smoke billowing into the sky flooded newspaper offices with telephone calls.

Firemen said they had the fire under control shortly before 1 pm about an hour after the outbreak, but smoke continued to fill the downtowon section.

Firemen were blocked by smoke for a considerable time from reaching the fourth and fifth floors in the west wing. Ladder equipment was put to use.

Within an hour after the blaze started one fireman, blackened and gasping after working at the scene, told The Canadian Press two persons were dead.

He had barely time to get out this information and then go on with his work, as firemen tried to get into the old building through the east end which was not burning as badly as the rest of the building.

But even at this east end the firemen had to fight their way through dense smoke.

Two Overcome

Two were overcome and removed from the scene.

Co-incident with the report that two were dead came word—passed from hand to mouth among the dense crowd around the burning building—that several persons had been injured.

The building is operated by the Roman Catholic Grey Nuns and is almost a landmark in the part of Montreal it occupies—not far from Montreal's forum, the home site for Montreal Canadiens' Na-

One of the biggest handicaps firemen and police had to cope with in the three-alarm blaze was the density of noon-hour traffic Atwater street was a scene of piled up buses and private cars that made it difficult to get ambulances and fire reels through.

Three persons were brought from the burning building on stretchers within the first hour of the blaze. One was Mrs. Clarence Tremblay. Her face was black from close touch with the smoke. She was able to mutter a few words to attendants as she was placed in an ambulance.

Thousands of persons—workers enjoying their noon-hour lunch period—jammed the area.

Could Change War

It might be a different story if the Russians entered the war with their "very powerful" air force, Finletter said. That would create "a very serious situation." However, he said, he had no information that Russians have been flying the Soviet type jets that have tangled with American planes over northwestern Korea.

Just how far allied commanders intend to send their ground troops inside North Korea in their present drive was puzzling. Both the US Eighth Army and general headquarters communiques Friday morning mentioned only patrols going beyond present lines.

They have pushed two spearheads roughly 30 miles north of the 28th parallel—through the steep hills of the east coast beyond Kansong, and up a fertile western valley through Pyonggang.

If the supreme allied commander, Gen. Matthew B. Ridgway, decides to send strong forces up the Pyonggang valley to Wonsan on the east coast, he may clamp sizable Red forces in a yise.

Buying Curbs Cause Layoffs In Industries

OTTAWA, June 15 — (CP) — Consumer credit-buying curbs are cutting down sales enough to cause layoff of workers in some industries, Labor Minister Gregg said Thursday.

In his fortnightly review of employment, the minister said the restrictions are beginning to affect sales in some consumer durable products and, as a result, employment in the plants making the products.

"Four automobile and parts manufacturers were forced to lay off workers in May as a result of reduced sales," he said, "but the number losing more than a week's employment was small.

Mr. Gregg's statement, issued through the Labor department, indicated no anxiety about the unemployment in the industries coming under the consumer-credit regulations. It appeared to be in conformity with the government's policy of steering workers, without ordering them, into industries engaged in direct defence production as they are needed.

Other Interruptions

Some other work interruptions were reported during the fortnight in Mr. Gregg's statement, caused by shortages of steel. These were at Brantford, Hamilton and Montreal.

The minister said also shortages of paper, leather and wool affected production in other places.

For Canada generally, the statement said employment conditions improved rapidly in May as construction and farm work picked up and labor requirements increased in the logging, manufacturing and transportation industries.

Applications for work through National Employment Service during the first two weeks of May declined by 42,000 from the preceding fortnight. The total registered for work at May 17 was 175,000, compared with 217,500 at May 3 and 306,000 a year earlier.

Newsprint Price Varies Across Country

By FORBES RHUDE
Canadian Press Business Editor

The price of newsprint is ordinarily quoted in terms of its United States price delivered in New York, and a Canadian price $4 below that.

Thus, when we say that newsprint now sells at $106 a ton, we mean it sells for that in New York; and when we say it sells for $102 in Canada, we mean that is a sort of Canadian base price, though the precise figure applies only in Quebec and Ontario, and west of Winnipeg.

After July1, if a $10 increase announced by a number of companies becomes general, then we will say $116 in New York and $112 for Canada.

However, these are minima quotations and, because of various factors, including long - haul freight, the price is higher in most other parts of the United States and Canada.

Canada is the world's largest maker of newsprint, but the United States buys most of it, and the price at which it is sold in the United States is the decisive one.

Long History

The system for United States prices goes back a long way. It divides the United States into 10 zones. One of these, No. 4, located in the middle west and including Illinois and Minnesota, is called the "based zone" and gets the lowest price.

Thus, under the proposed July 1 increase, No. 4 will pay $117 a ton, and other zone prices will run upward, chiefly within a $5 range, but above that in more distant areas.

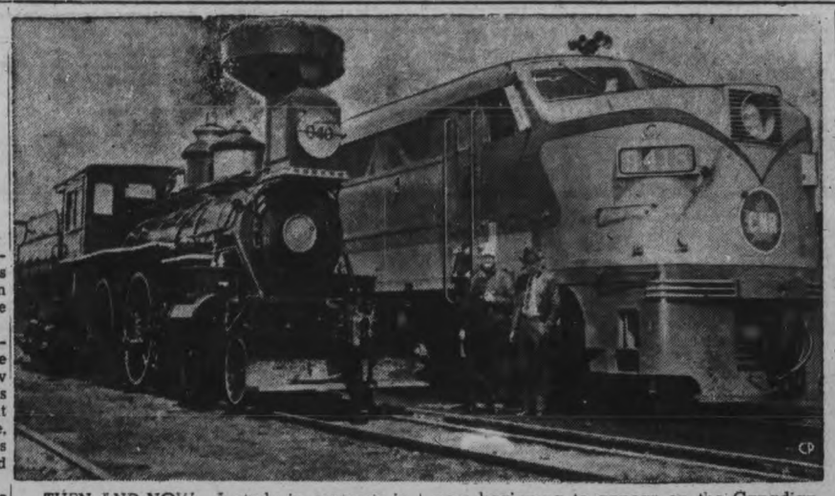
At the same time, however, United States ports, including great lakes ports, are charged $1 less than the lowest zone; or at July 1, $116. That is the port, or New York, price, and the so-called Canadian price is traditionally $4 less.

That means $112 in Quebec-Ontario, but variations occur in the maritimes and the west in the working out of newsprint economics.

In the maritimes, supplied mostly from maritime mills, prices run $1 to $2 a ton more than in Quebec-Ontario.

In the west the Quebec-Ontario price prevails to Winnipeg; but, after Winnipeg, the freight from Winnipeg to destination is, in effect, added.

At about Edmonton and Calgary, eastern and pacific coast newsprint meet and become competitive.



Pacific coast mills are faced with their own economic factors. They have not yet announced an increase for July 1, but one mill has said there will be an increase, without naming the amount.

So, taking their prices of today, they quote $110 to most United States points, pretty well disregarding the zone-port system.

In British Columbia they now quote $109, freight paid to Vancouver, with interior B.C. points paying added freight. For Alberta, they quote, in effect, $104 plus freight.

All Canadian newspapers have an additional newsprint cost which United States publishers do not have—a 10 per cent sales tax.

The tax does not apply to the part of the price which covers freight, and this freight - part in, say, an Ontario centre, is about $10. So after July 1, the quote to an Ontario centre, will be $112, plus 10 per cent sales tax on $102, which will give a total price to the publisher of about $122.20.

THEN AND NOW—A study in contrasts is presented by the "last word" in locomotives of the years 1872 and 1951. On the left is a wood-burning engine made in the Portland (Me.) Companies works in 1872 with its quaint smokestack, headlight, sand dome, safety valve and bell—curiosities these days. Beside it is a diesel locomotive of the latest design, now beginning to appear on the Canadian National Railways and other lines throughout the country. The wood-burner—still operating under its own steam—was on its way to Durand, Mich., to take part in an exposition when this photo was taken at Sarnia, Ont. The two men in the photo are Edward Jarvis, left, engineer of the diesel and Thomas Roberts, C.N.R. road foreman of engines.

BRAUND'S Make
An Important Announcement

Just about one year ago we took over another chain of stores which gave us a neighbourhood store in practically every district in town, leaving us in a position where parking problems are negligible.

With this thought in mind we have disposed of our stock and fixtures in our Charlotte Street Store, which will close Saturday, June 16, 1951.

We trust that the many customers we have had the privilege of serving for so long from our Charlotte Street Store will find it convenient to shop in one of our neighbourhood stores closest to their homes.

I thank each and every one for their patronage.

What Are We Doing About Sex Criminals?

On Wednesday, a man named Owen Dulmage was sentenced by Judge W. S. Lane to one year, and eighteen months indefinite sentence in the reformatory, for a sex offence against a boy. The Judge said: "This is one of the most difficult sentences I have ever had to impose, because I think you are a sick man; we don't treat sick men as criminals." The Judge's opinion that Dulmage was a sick man arose from evidence given by three psychiatrists that he possessed homosexual and sadistic traits of personality. The Judge also said that he would make representation so that the man under sentence might receive treatment while serving sentence, and said that our country was at fault in not providing proper institutions for the treatment of such cases. We feel that this case is an important one, for the evidence presented, and the Judge's comments, throw into prominence a problem which our penal and legal systems have failed to meet.

* * *

Evidence was presented that Dulmage was conscious of the quirks in his character which finally brought him into disgrace. He had sought psychiatric treatment, but had not persisted with it; he had tried in several ways to conquer his nature, and thought that he had done so. But anyone with even a superficial knowledge of psychiatry knows that sexual abberations do not yield in most cases to self-treatment; they require expert treatment, often continued over a long period. But such treatment will be available to Dulmage—if it is ever given to him—only after a conviction which must have a powerful and unfavourable influence on his whole future. His case is one more proof of the need for better psychiatric service in this country, and a more general understanding of the place of psychiatry in the national life.

* * *

We doubt if many psychiatrists could be found who would say that sexual aberrations can be cured completely; it is very often possible, however, to learn to control them. It is a disgraceful aspect of our society which leaves sex perverts without advice or help, and then treats them as criminals. Dulmage, be it noted, is a man of education and intelligence; many sex perverts are of low intelligence and their offences against children are very much more brutal than his. What does the law provide for these people? Too often it puts them in prison for a while, and then lets them loose, no better than before and perhaps worse. The intelligent sex pervert, like Dulmage, suffers miserably until some chance outburst brings him into disgrace; the stupid sex pervert may do great harm before he is finally caught, imprisoned, and then set free again.

* * *

There is no easy cure for this situation. But more widespread information about sexual perversion, and more qualified psychiatrists in the country, could help many of these unfortunate people to control the impulses which may bring them into disgrace. And more intelligent laws, providing for detention and treatment of habitual offenders, might save many children from shocking assaults. At present police and magistrates are faced with great difficulties in handling sexual offenders; one of the greatest difficulties facing the police is that they can do nothing until a rape is committed, or a child has been hurt, or even killed, and there are many offences which are not reported to the police.

* * *

We make no plea for indulgent treatment of sexual offenders—only for a humane and sensible treatment of them which may reduce the number of crimes of this sort. When society has been outraged, society must take action against the offender; but society is not guiltless when, by a conspiracy of silence on the matter of sexual perversion, and inadequate laws and penal provisions for dealing with it, thousands of men and women are condemned to acute mental suffering, and often to disgrace. We neglect this matter at our peril, and hapless children and women pay the price of our neglect.

Ripping Into Town

Peterborough's four main entrances, by Highways 7 and 28, are not invitations to slow down. The reason is that the city has sprawled over the highways, and, despite the fact that the highways now technically end at the extended city limits, and become city streets, they do not look as if they do. The chief way drivers know that they are in the city and not still careening along a highway lined by houses, are rather inconspicuous signs, and warnings to slow down to thirty.

Home folk are just as unmindful as foreigners. For years they have rolled along home from the east at highway speeds right to the Locks Bridge. They still do, despite the fact that the city now begins half a mile before the bridge. For years they have driven back by the Port Hope highway to Monaghan Road, where Charlotte Street began, at high cruising speeds, perhaps beginning to slow down at the turn at the top of the hill. So local drivers still beat the pavement at 45 and 50 until they make the "last" turn into town. But now Charlotte Street has extended itself half a mile along Highway 28 (disguised as Clonsilla Avenue). The city limits are in actuality beyond the Kawartha Golf Club.

North Monaghan and city officials met Thursday to discuss this matter with the divisional highway engineer and a 30 m.p.h. speed limit may be decreed for the section of Highway 28 from the Highway 7 cut-off to the official city limits at Western Avenue. If this limit is set, sufficient notices of it must be posted and better attention paid to it than drivers now give to the section between Western Avenue and Monaghan Road, which is already governed by the 30 m.p.h. limit.

The imperceptible merging of highway with street is an invitation to continue at high speed. Before too many accidents occur should not a firm invitation be given to slow down? There are not big enough and plain enough warnings to drivers that the city has begun, and that the speed limit should be observed, please. Particularly at the west Charlotte Street entrance there is need for a better sign and more advance warning.

Why Cricket?

This is the time of year when the private schools are holding their prize-days and breaking-up ceremonies. It was at one of these last week that we heard some comments by the headmaster on cricket which impressed us.

Some people wonder, said he, why the independent schools continue to foster the playing of cricket in this country, when baseball seems to be the obvious game for Canadian boys. But cricket is a game which is really a game; it does not depend upon an unusually powerful physique, like rugby, or upon extreme speed, like hockey, or upon the keenest eyesight, like tennis: it is a game in which any boy of moderate physical development may make his mark, and have a good time. It is a complicated game, but its complications are of a kind which a small or frail boy may master as well and even better than a big, strong boy. It is a game in which not only physical advantages, but also brains, style, and strategy have their part. In short, it is anybody's game, and almost anybody may turn out to be a first-rate cricketer.

There are people who complain that cricket is slow. That is true, if you are a spectator, but it seems quite fast enough when you are batting. And it must be remembered that there are many boys who cannot enjoy very fast games, like hockey, because they are temperamentally unfitted for them. Fast games are good sport for the spectators, but cricket is primarily for the players.

All of this impressed us, for it seems to us that in the present day we all confuse speed with enjoyment, and physical advantage with sportsmanship. A game is, after all, something that is played to give pleasure to the players; whether the spectators enjoy themselves is a secondary consideration. Cricket is rapidly becoming one of the few games left to us which may be played simply for fun.

Ireland Goes Out Of Horses

The Ruhr, Europe's biggest iron and steel area, is being forced to import coal, so Ruhr industrialists claim. It is their own coal they are buying back; coal which, under Occupation requirements, they have been forced to export. Germany is not the only corner of the world doing a strange trade. Cape Breton sends coal to England. Canada imports butter from New Zealand now and then. Newfoundland ships stones to Britain.

The trading situation has not got so muddled that Ireland is importing pigs; though judging from the rapidity with which farmers there are reducing their potato acreage, the island may soon be buying New Brunswick spuds (dehydrated in tins, we presume). Ireland also is going out of horses. One can pass through some of the most notable farm and horse-breeding areas in the country and not see a horse. The reason for this shocking state of affairs is not that the people are reverting to donkeys. No. The farmers are all changing to tractors. What horses still remain are being sold by the ton to England for dinner steaks.

NOTE AND COMMENT

Irish history in brief: the pagan era, the Christian era, and now the country is back to De Valera.

A man in Colorado staged his own funeral, so that he could see it. It is expected that his own performance at the subsequent revival will show improved qualities of repose.

Notes And Queries

By ALPHA

Questions are solicited for this column particularly those relating to local lore and tradition.

DEAR ALPHA: How many houses has the King got?

ANSWER: The royal family have five residences in regular use: Buckingham Palace (London); Windsor Castle, Balmoral Castle in Aberdeenshire, Scotland; Sandringham in Norfolk, and The Royal Lodge, Windsor Great Park. There are other places which they have, in theory, which are the property of the Crown (Hampton Court Palace, for instance). These they do not use, but lend to relatives and state officials.

Buckingham Palace is the best known Royal residence, and is the King's town house, office and state reception place. Windsor, an ancient, gray stone monument of several hundred rooms, has not been popular with our sovereigns since Victoria. The King uses it only at Easter, for house parties during Ascot week in June, and for occasional special state functions. It, like Buckingham Palace, serves both as ceremonial reception place and, when required, as family house. During the war it was the royal family's main place of abode.

Balmoral is the private property of the King, and does not belong to the Crown. It was built between 1850-53 by Prince Albert (Queen Victoria's husband) and is set in 55,000 acres of mountains and moors with the river Dee at its foot. The decoration is chiefly and severely Scottish. It is well-liked by the present monarchs.

Sandringham was much favoured by King George V. It is a big, red brick, country mansion in 200 acres of park land. It was bought by Edward VII, when Prince of Wales, as a shooting lodge, remodelled and enlarged 1869-72, in designs copying Elizabethan mansions. It is more a home than either Windsor or Buckingham Palace. It is the King's Christmas home. Sandringham, like Balmoral, is also the private property of the King.

The Royal Lodge, Windsor Great Park, is the simplest and smallest of the royal residences. It has two stories and a new wing, added when the King and Queen took up residence there. It is, more than the others, the home of the King and Queen, who keep it very private from state officials and grant few audiences there. It was built by George IV. The King and Queen spend most of their week-ends at the Royal Lodge, away from equerries and ladies-in-waiting; and there the servants do not wear royal livery. The words 'The Royal Lodge' never appear on official Court circulars.

SIR: When you were in Italy, did you see Florence? Is the Ponte Vecchio repaired, and all the other bridges destroyed in the war? I was there in 1914 with the Hasty P's and am interested.

ANSWER: Yes, the famous Old Bridge is a thoroughfare again, and the shops on it are being restored in their original form. The Arno's banks are cleaned up, but the channel is still messy, and remnants of other bridges can still be seen. The army bridge put across after Florence was taken, is still there—at least, it looks like the same one — and is strengthened and more or less permanent. Florence itself is looking fine and its streets and buildings are as much a delight as they were when Canadians had military leave there in '44-'45. The Canadian officers' hotel, the Minerva, beside Santa Maria Novella, is now very sedate and quiet. There is not even a public bar, that I, not a guest of the hotel, could discover.

ALPHA OLD BOY: In Tuesday's Examiner report that Mr. Gledhill had been named musical director of the Coventry Singers, the announcement came from one T. J. Allen, the "gerent" of the choir. Now what in the name of all the cherubium and seraphim, is a "gerent". A kind of gerund? It's not in my dictionary.

ANSWER: You need a bigger dictionary, young fellow. I saw the report too, and so looked the word up in a BIG dictionary. It means manager, director, ruler, carrier-on. As an adjective, it means bearing, carrying. It is obsolete, it comes from the Latin 'genere', and is closely related to the common French word for manager or director, "gerant". It is pronounced with a soft g and accent on the first syllable.

I rang up Mr. Allen and asked why he was called "gerent". He said that that was his job in the choir; neither manager, director, ruler nor major-domo; but gerent. And why picked on an obsolete word? He said the word was not obsolete; that the Shorter Oxford Dictionary classified it as rare; that it was a good word in 1600, and much of the choir's music belonged to that time, so why not its office-bearers' titles? And, said he, even if the word had been obsolete, it was no longer obsolete, since the Coventry Singers were using it. With this, mild Alpha deferred to Mr. Allen, and bowed himself off the inter-communication set.

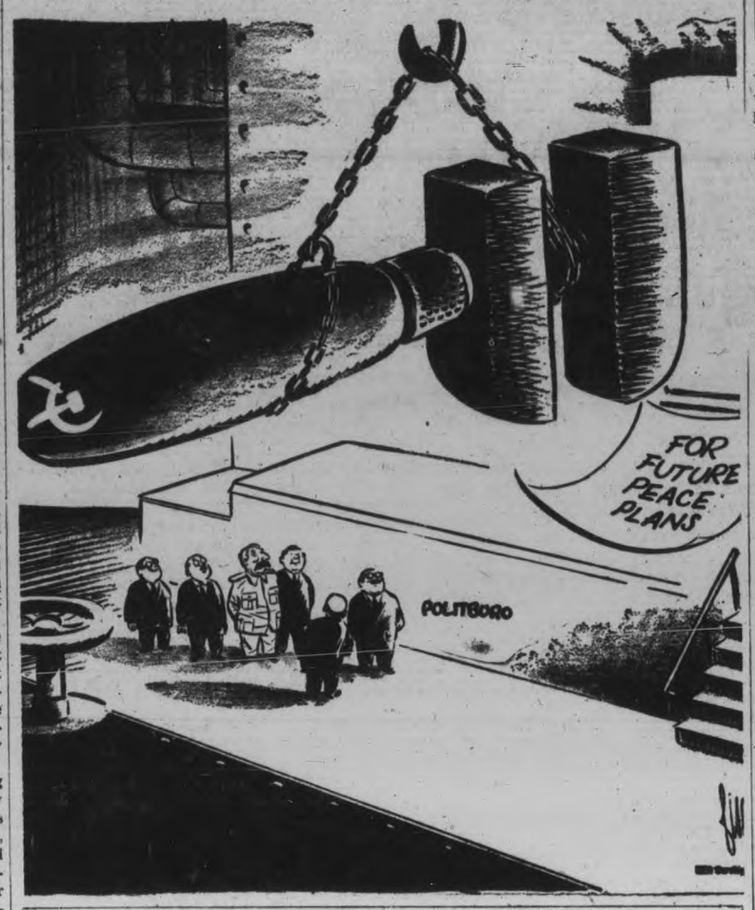
WELCOME HOME, APHA: Here's one reader who hasn't deserted you. Thanks for last Friday's information about the Folies Bergere. I saw the show in 1922 and it was lively and colourful then, too. I have one question: Did you see Omega? You said in April, in the last column before you left, that you might track him down in Albania!



ANSWER: Thank you, thank you, for the kind welcome. Actually I did stand, hand shielding eye like Cartier at Gaspe, on the strand at Rimini looking across the Adriatic towards Yugoslavia and Albania, but I did not see Omega. The rumour that he was in Albania was confirmed by a postcard from Omega himself, addressed to me in Venice. It had been posted in Yugoslavia and said: "No truth behind supposition I am behind unrest in Albania. Have leased villa former property of King Zog and am very much at rest. Lovely hills and gals here. Can you send me a hundred smackers?". I did not send him the $100; after all, he, not I, rented the royal villa.

FOR THE RECORD: Lindsay is a holier place than Peterborough. Lindsay has a Saint Patrick street, a St. James, a St. John, A St. David, a St. George, a St. Lawrence, a St. Paul and a St. Peter street. Peterborough has long had only a short St. Luke's street (two houses) and—did you know?—a St. Thomas street—no houses. It runs from 548 Charlotte to Gilmour. Lately, the city has acquired, in new housing areas, St. Catherine street and St. Marys street (not St. Mary).

Why the scarcity of saintly streets in Peterborough? Was not the town an Irish Catholic settlement? Ah! But the English came first into the district, and the English were in the seats of the mighty after the Irish immigration, when the time came to name streets. Though the English are not, and were not, averse to saints, it might have let the flag down to call George Street 'St. George Street'; (George IV was no saint); to prefix John and James streets with the word 'Saint'. These are local tributes, as is Mark Street (not St. Mark)—for the Rev. Mark Burnham. Perhaps there was a belief that saints' names were too good for the streets of a backwoods town. We have, of course, saintly churches: St. Andrew's, St. Paul's, St. George's, St. John's, St. Alban's, St. James'. St. Luke's and St. Peter's.

NEWS ITEM: RUSSIAN PRODUCTION SETS NEW RECORD

The Hanging Of Walter Rowe

(KINGSTON WHIG-STANDARD)

WALTER Rowe was hanged at London, Ontario, on Tuesday, June 5, after repeated appeals against the sentence had failed. As far as we have seen, the execution was the first time the capital punishment penalty has been imposed under a law specifically designed to cover the killing of an innocent person during the commission of a crime. It is apparent from the Rowe case that this law provides the capital penalty even though the killing itself may be shown to have been accidental beyond reasonable doubt.

✧ ✧ ✧

We have no doubt some persons will regard this as rather brutal justice, but we think those who may be of that opinion will have failed to give proper consideration to certain incidents which provided the basis for drafting and passing this law. These were cases in which persons were killed during the commission of crimes, and in which those responsible for the killings escaped with prison sentences, sometimes light. Killings and the threat of killings of this nature had become common, and public indignation was thoroughly aroused. At the time of the killing of a Toronto tailor, during armed robbery by a group of young hoodlums, there was widespread public indignation, resulting in demands for adequate protection of the public in this respect.

✧ ✧ ✧

This law is the answer. We regret deeply that it became necessary, but we firmly believe that it is necessary, and that it should be enforced. We think there will be sober approval throughout the nation of the sentence and of the execution, and we see nothing bloodthirsty or merciless about such approval. It is not bloodthirsty to expect protection against potential killers, and surely mercy must be given a new meaning if it requires that citizens generally be exposed to the danger of killing by such persons, without the most thorough protection the law can devise.

✧ ✧ ✧

When a man goes out to commit a crime, when he compounds that crime by carrying a deadly weapon, and when that weapon brings about the death of an innocent person, we see no reason why that killing should not be regarded as murder. Even if no more than the first condition were fulfilled, a subsequent killing of an innocent person should be murder. When innocent people are killed by criminals in the pursuit of criminal activities, it should be a capital crime.

✧ ✧ ✧

The basic issue is not consideration of the criminal who kills accidentally. It is the protection of the public against accidental death during the deliberate commission of a crime. When it becomes widely realized that the death penalty awaits persons convicted of killing while committing crimes, that realization should provide a deterrent lacking before the new law was passed.

Blind Goddess

(Hamilton Spectator)

In lean prose and with a good ear for dialogue, a New York reporter named Ed Wallace has shown why some judges age before their time and need a long summer vacation.

The scene is an ordinary session of the Small Claims Section of Municipal Court, a tribunal with a jurisdiction not unlike that of a Canadian Division Court. The cases are numerous and time is of the essence.

A claim for damages is being heard, with the claimant testifying that he was crossing the street, minding his own business, when a motorist stopped his car and banged the claimant over the head with a guitar.

Judge: Who was driving? The fellow with the guitar.

Claimant: No, the other fellow. The one with the car.

Who had the guitar? The claimant for damages had the guitar.

Well, let's see now. The man driving the car hit the claimant with the claimant's guitar?

No, it was a friend's guitar. The claimant was carrying the friend's guitar. The man that hit him was in the car.

Hit him with the car, or the guitar?

Guitar. The man driving hit the man walking with his friend's guitar.

At this point in the hearing the judge cleared his throat and ran his hand through his white hair.

"I will put this case over until tomorrow," he said. "Bring in the friend. The claimant and defendant must also be here—the man driving the car and the man who got hit with the guitar. And another thing," he added: "Bring that guitar!"

Making It All Clear

(British Admiralty instruction dealing with the storage of warheads and torpedoes.)

It is necessary for technical reasons that these warheads should be stored with the top at the bottom, and the bottom at the top. In order that there may be no doubt as to which is the top and which is the bottom for storage purposes, it will be seen that the bottom of each head has been labelled with the word TOP.

Bible Message

(From the Authorized Version)

And Jehoshaphat dwelt at Jerusalem: and he went out again through the people from Beer-sheba to mount Ephaim, and brought them back unto the Lord God of their fathers. And he set judges in the land throughout all the fenced cities of Judah, city by city, and said to the judges, Take heed what ye do: for ye judge not for man, but for the Lord, who is with you in the judgement.

Wherefore now let the fear of the Lord be upon you: take heed and do it: for there is no iniquity with the Lord our God, nor respect of persons, nor taking of gifts. (II Chron. 19: 4-7.)

For the oppression of the poor, for the sighing of the needy, now will I arise, saith the Lord; I will set him in safety from him that puffeth at him. The words of the Lord are pure words: as silver tried in a furnace of earth, purified seven times.

Thou shalt keep them, O Lord, thou shalt preserve them from this generation for ever. (Ps. 12: 5-7.)

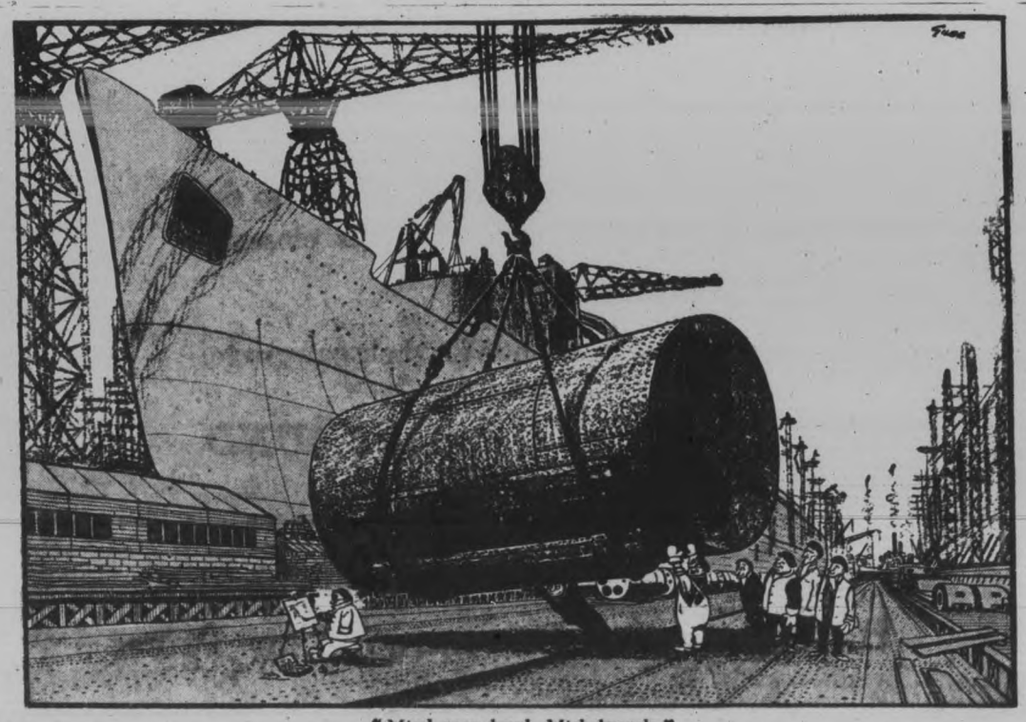
I know that the Lord will maintain the cause of the afflicted, and the right of the poor. Surely the righteous shall give thanks unto thy name: the upright shall dwell in thy presence. (Ps. 140: 12, 13.)

When The Library Was Saved

(Montreal Star)

Monday in this column we noted the Massey Report's criticism of the lack of a national library in Canada. The parliamentary library—something quite different and poor substitute—is all that we have seen fit to provide. With original space for probably not many more than 100,000 volumes, 500,000 or more are packed anywhere room for them can be found in a building which, owing to its circular design, cannot be enlarged. The fire hazard, we said, remains.

It may have been forgotten—if indeed it was ever generally known—that only the presence of mind and good memory of a member of the library staff of that time, Michael C. MacCormac, saved the library on the night the parliament buildings burned in 1916. He alone remembered the existence of iron firedoors at the entrance to the library. These doors had never, to anyone's memory, been closed or perhaps even seen. They were almost concealed behind immense cross sections of Douglas fir logs, the rings marked to indicate the age of the trees. By great good fortune "Mac" was on duty that night, having good-naturedly substituted for another member of the library staff.



When the fire began — not far from the short corridor leading to the library—and spread almost with the speed of an explosion Mr. MacCormac managed, single-handed, to get the doors freed and closed. In a few minutes the wooden-panelled passageway would have carried the flames into the main rotunda.

The new parliament buildings are not the fire-trap the old ones were, but the library with its large irreplaceable contents is still the same fire hazard it always has been,—only worse.

Marrying Farmers

(Stratford Beacon-Herald)

Farm life doesn't frighten Wisconsin girls, judging from a poll taken of 220 girls in the home economics course at the University of Wisconsin. Asked if they would be willing to marry a farmer, more than 70 per cent. said they would. There wasn't much difference in the response of the city-bred girls and the girls raised on farms. Lorna Smithyman of Pewaukee had a reservation. She said her answer would depend on "which farmer." That's smart. It applies just as well to marrying a city fellow, too.

Here and There In Sport

By The Canadian Press

Jimmy McGrory, manager of the Glasgow Celtics soccer team, put his home-town reputation on the firing line Thursday when asked about the greatest team in the last 50 years.

Without hesitation McGrory said the Celtic team which won the Scottish League for six years in a row, beginning in the 1907-08 season, was easily the best squad ever to wear the green and white, and was probably the best team in soccer history.

The touring Scottish team under McGrory was given a civic reception and banquet in Toronto Thursday and will play the touring Fulham team there Saturday.

Wellington Cup star Gerry Kesselring heads a strong Kitchener delegation to the Guelph Lions Club's annual golf tournament Saturday.

Moe Norman, Milt Plomske, and Bill Franklin, three of Ontario's top amateurs, will also represent Kitchener in the 18-hole medal play tournament. The Guelph club has offered $200 to any other Lions Club that can defeat a selected local foursome.

Bud Smith, Bill Thompson, Bill Martin and Garth Nelson will carry the home town's colors.

Sheriff Dan Tehan of Cincinnati has sued heavyweight boxing champion Ezzard Charles for $24,050 damages as a result of an automobile accident.

Tehan alleged he was struck by Charles' car while it was being driven by Mrs. Lucille Belle Ferguson, who also is named in the suit.

The accident occurred during a celebration following Charles winning the heavyweight championship after a 15-round bout with Jersey Joe Walcott in Chicago in 1949.

American Baseball League club owners ruled Thursday that, effective this Sunday, lights in their parks would not be turned on to complete games started on Sunday afternoons. The lights, however, will be turned on to complete day games on week days.

Sweden led Britain 2-0 at the end of the first day's play in the European zone third round Davis Cup tennis Thursday, as Lennart Bergelin defeated bespectacled Geoff Pais 9-7, 6-1, 6-3 and Sven Davidsson, 21-year-old star whipped Tony Mottram, Britain's top player 4-6, 7-5, 6-2, 8-6.

Citation Thursday won Hollywood Park's one-mile $15,000 Century Handicap, beating his previous conqueror, Be Fleet, in a thrilling stretch duel. Citation, taking the winner's share of $8,250, boosted his all-time earnings to $952,710. Sturdy One was third.

It was Citation's 44th start. Only once in his brilliant career has he finished out of the money.

Australia's Don Candy defeated Lorne Main of Vancouver 6-2, 6-4 Thursday to move into the men's singles semi-finals in the Kent, England tennis championships.

Also ousted was Brendan Macken of Montreal, Main's Davis Cup teammate, who bowed 9-7, 6-0 to Nigel Cockburn of South Africa.

Frank Udvari of Kitchener and Jack Mehlenbacher of Hagersville Ont., have been offered contracts as National Hockey League referees, referee-in-chief Carl Voss said Thursday.

Both men were referees last year in Ontario Hockey Association Junior A and major series.

Voss said that two other men, whose names were not disclosed, have been recruited as NHL referees from the Pacific Coast Hockey League.

Petes Down Kingsways 5-3 For Firmer Grip Atop Loop

In the best senior ball game seen here this year—and a good-sized crowd viewed it—the Petes yanked out a 5-3 win over Toronto Kingsways last night in Riverside Park. It tightened the locals' grip on first place in the Viaduct Major League and kept Kingsways from climbing up to practically even terms with them in the standing. George Brabin's single to score two in the seventh proved the clincher in a tight, hard-fought fray, as each side was limited two six hits and both teams kicked in with three miscues.

Maeson Good

Twenty-year-old Bunny Maeson, in his local mound debut, looked impressive for eight innings. Apart from three hits in the second for a run, the Kingsways were held well in check as he showed a fine assortment of stuff, fanning seven and walking but three. A hit and walk put two on in the ninth with none out, and Bill Edger was rushed in to put out the fire. He did that handily with two infield pop flies and a strikeout. Big Alfie Williams also hurled neat ball with but six hits off his delivery as he fanned five and walked four. It should have been 2-1 for Ed Whitehill's crew on earned runs.

Maeson also led his side at bat with a booming double and single in four times up. Joe Irvine argued too hotly on the double, claiming Maeson was out, but it was Joe who was out—getting the finger from Umpire Pat Calladine, in the seventh. Norm Watson led the losers at the plate with two for four, and Frank Malloy blasted out a long three-bagger. The Petes pulled off one neat double-play and Fred Garvey drew applause with a nifty squeeze play to score Joe Lowrey in the fifth.

How It Happened

Lowrey walked in the first, stole second, moved up on an error and home on an out. Kingsway got it back in the second on hits by Watson, McClelland and Williams. They went ahead with one in the fifth when Williams was hit, took third on an error and stole home, the catcher dropping a third strike on the play. Petes tallied two in their half on singles by Huntley and Lowrey, a steal, an error and Garvey's squeeze sacrifice. Kingsway tied it in the seventh when Williams was safe on a miscue and raced around on Mallo's triple. The Petes put it on ice in their seventh when Maeson doubled, Lowrey drew a walk, Golden strolled to fill the sacks and Brabin bingled two home. The box score:

Lakefield Falls To UEW In Weird Tilt

U.E.W. and Lakefield staged a weird battle in the afterpiece of last night's men's softball double bill at the Bowl when 43 runs crossed the plate, a possible record. U.E. tallied 28 of these to remain close on the heels of Revoys in the exciting race for first honors.

The Dalton gang fell on Bill Achison in the first stanza for eight runs on six hits and three walks and though Merchants smote the offerings of Hinton with gusto to score 12 in five innings on their own part, U.E. continued punching heavily as well to pile up a safe margin. McCracken relieved Achison in the fifth and twirled fair ball but a flock of errors afield hampered his cause.

Grafstein clouted another homer for U.E., while triples went to Robson, Casey and Dalton, and a double to Walton for U.E.; McCracken had two hits for Merchants, one a triple. Red Wasson had three safeties and fielded well for his team.

Athletics Pound Brampton 18-8

By The Canadian Press.

St. Catharines Athletics jumped into a first-place tie with Peterborough Petes in the Ontario Lacrosse Association's Senior A standing last night by defeating Brampton Excelsiors 18-8 at St. Catharines.

Hamilton Tigers moved into a three-way tie for third place with Toronto and Mimico when they defeated Toronto West Yorks 12-6 at Hamilton.

Hamilton took an early lead which they never relinquished. They led 4-2 at the end of the first quarter 6-4 at the half and 7-4 at the end of the third.

Tiger captain Blaine McDonald was high scorer with four goals and five assists. Jack Dorney and Phil Howell each got two and singles went to Erv McKenzie, Barney Welch, Elmer Leed and Bobby Grainger.

Steve Kapasky scored two goals for the losers. His brother, Jack, Bruce Webster, Frank Facto and Frank King tallied one each.

Ken Croft led St. Catharines to victory with four goals and eight assists. Other four-goal men were Tony Damico and Jim McMahon.

Top goal-getters for Brampton were Bob Sutherland, Nick Ferri and Al Garbutt who each scored twice.

LAWN BOWLING

By HERB MARTIN

After being rained out in all events on Wednesday, bowlers got back into high gear last night. Tonight they continue with the men's doubles tournament at 7:00 p.m. and the ladies' Tip Top tournament at 7:30 o'clock.

The ladies are holding their rained-out open tournament for the Duffus Trophy on Friday, June 29, at 1:30 p.m.

The winning skips in the ladies' tournament yesterday afternoon were Mrs. C. Willison and Mrs. H. Beatty.

Now don't forget "Pop" over the weekend.

SPORTS SHOW WINDOW

By CEC. PERDUE, Sports Editor

Right ambitious are the local junior lacrossers—they have their sights set for a Dominion title this year. A high target, indeed. But they might be good enough, at that, to clean up on junior "A" competition in the province and get a crack at the Canadian final. St. Kitts did it last fall and won the Minto Cup. That same squad—now playing in the Falls—opens the junior schedule here tonight at 8.45 in Miller Bowl, weather permitting. A few changes in their lineup but also some worthy changes in Lou Vitarelli's team. It ought to be a fine fray before a big Friday night OLA following.

* * * * * *

Down in the Intercounty Ball Loop of Western Ontario—it's of at least Class "C" pro calibre, if not "B"—they're worrying 'cause some major league scouts are eyeing certain players. Philadelphia A's and Detroit Tigers, among others. Interested only in the younger chaps who show real promise and, of course, not expecting them to measure up to major league standards for some time. But maybe worth bringing along through their minor pro farm clubs with a big league berth the eventual goal. Provided they make good along the line. The big leaguers do not pay amateur clubs for players they take—only the players get any return. Which is probably fair enough, at that. But some so-called amateur clubs don't like it.

* * * * * *

Let's Make A Deal, Eh?

London scribe says: "There should be an answer to this. One would be to have leagues like the senior Intercounty, the Niagara and District, and the Toronto Viaduct affiliate with professional baseball. Those three leagues are probably the top circuits in Ontario and all are professional in some degree, even if they do operate under amateur colors. By affiliating with pro ball they would be in a position to demand payment for players moving up to faster company. There have been rumors that some Intercounty clubs plan to make working agreements with major league teams. In this connection, a London-Cleveland deal has been mentioned." Mayhap the Petes could make a deal with Detroit and get some promising material sent here from time to time. One should follow the trend.

* * * * * *

Toronto Staffords have a Viaduct Major League ball game with the Petes here tomorrow. It's at eight p.m. under the lights in Riverside Park. Staffs are striving to get back up there with the top three clubs, Petes, Oshawa and Kingsways, and they're still building up, too, as the schedule progresses. In fact, Manager Hosking told us in Toronto recently that his team should be up round the top now. "We've got a much stronger club than last year," he said, "and we'll beat Peterborough frequently before the season is over." Maybe they will, at that. If the weather is good, this ought to be a right interesting contest, and it rates another hefty crowd.

* * * * * *

Petes Gain Nifty Win

Kingsway threatened all the way at Riverside last night, but the Petes had it in the pinches for a neat 5-3 win before a goodly gallery. Bunny Maeson pitched fine ball and Bill Edger was tops in a relief role in the ninth when the visitors looked like they might sew it up again. Alf Williams was okay, too, on the rival slab. Maeson and Watson led the rival clouters, and the Whitehill crew pulled a neat twin killing. Also, Garvey crossed 'em up (but good) with a perfect squeeze as Lowrey came tearing in from third. Brabin drove in two runs that spelled the difference in a first-class ball game, the win keeping the locals atop the heap. A victory for Kingsways would almost have knotted them with the Petes for first place.

Hits were a dozen to the dime over Bowlward last eventide as the men softballers mauled the melon all over the patch. Orphans were nudged out in the 10th, 17-16, by Revoy's on Buck Legrow's payoff double. Bigford going the route for the Guilfoyle gang as Wade and Woods saw slab action for the Dormer dudes. Homers, triples, doubles, singles and loud fouls in abundance, plus too many miscues by the losers. Other affair was a lengthy and high-scoring one. UEW rolled to a 28>15 verdict o'er Lakefield, with the latter kicking the cabbage plenty. Achison and McCracken tossed for 'em, with Hinton hurling for the Dalton pack. The scorer still has a lame arm today, but he'll be okay for next Tuesday when Lakefield plays Orphans, and Revoy's meets UEW.

Foresters Get 5th

The leading Foresters of the Civic Softball League last night racked up their fifth straight win, downing Utilities 7-3 in a neat number at Armour Field. They pushed three runs over in the third, and got two each in the next two times to bat. Utilities counted a brace in the fifth and added one in the seventh. Miller hurled seven-hit ball, fanning four and walking five. Willshaw gave 10 hits and six free tickets as he whiffed three. Parnell led Foresters at bat with three for four, and Willshaw got two in three for Utilities, the latter team booting three to Forester's one. Teams:

Revoy's Victors In The 10th Against Orphans

Buck Legrow's timely double to right with Bigford and Fryia on base, in the last of the 10th inning, enabled Revoy Motors to edge Orphans 17-16 in last night's men's softball opener at the Bowl and thus retain their one-game league lead over U.E.W., who also won.

It was a hard-hitting see-saw battle with 10 extra-base clouts, including homers by Blair Thomson and Red Sullivan, the latter with two aboard in the fourth to give Orfs a 7-6 lead. Revoys tallied four in the seventh to earn a 12-9 edge but the Dormer pack bounced back with seven in the next two frames and seemed headed for certain victory over the leaders. Four solid bingles by Giardino, Conlin, Fryia and Legrow and an outfield error, however, gave Revoys four to tie up the game. A fast double-play, O'Donoghue to McGrath, retired the side to force extra innings, but the men of Guilfoyle had it in the next frame.

Giardino, Scriver, Curry, O'Donoghue and Jaquith hit triples while Legrow doubled twice and drove home five runs. Sullivan and O'Donoghue hammered home three apiece. Fryia's running catch off McGrath in the ninth featured while Legrow fielded well. Woods pitched fine ball after relieving Wade in the fourth until the unlucky ninth.

Constable Takes Time To Hurl Drugs To Win

LINDSAY, June 15. — Police Constable John Hunter took time out from his beat to pitch Carruthers Drugs to an 8-6 win over Visking in a Lindsay Men's Softball League game here Thursday night.

The husky lefthander gave up five safeties, fanned 11 and slammed two hits, including a homer in the Druggists' big four-run seventh inning. Don Lucas hurled nine-hit ball for the losers and also hit for the circuit. Herb Baker and manager John Eagins smashed out two hits each for the victors.

White Sox Dump Senators In Night Doubleheader

By RALPH RODEN,
Associated Press Sports Writer.

It will be sink or swim for the major league teams at midnight tonight, the trading deadline.

After midnight no major league teams will be allowed to trade until the completion of the season. The only loophole is that players may be obtained on waivers.

At the pace Chicago White Sox and Brooklyn Dodgers are moving it is doubtful if any team will trade with them. Both are looking for additional strength.

The White Sox stretched their American League lead over New York Yankees to 4½ games Thursday by beating the Washington Senators 8-7 and 14-5 in a twi-night doubleheader. The Yanks' game with St. Louis Browns was rained out.

Brooklyn remained six games in front in the National League as a result of a stirring 2-1 triumph over St. Louis Cardinals.

The prize apple sought by the White Sox and Yankees is Ned Garver, brilliant righthander of St. Louis Browns. Garver has won nine games, half of his team's total.

Make Overtures

The Yanks, who are seeking pitching help, also are reported to have made overtures for Bob Kuzava of Washington. Bobby Shantz of Philadelphia and Stubby Overmire of the Browns.

Brooklyn is reported to be after pitcher Bob Rush of Chicago Cubs. The Dodgers are dangling infield spares as bait.

The Cards pounded out 15 hits but blew the decision because of inept base running sluggishness on the base paths and the alert play of Dodger catcher Roy Campanella. Twice the Cards collected three hits in one inning and failed to score.

Joe Presko, rookie righthander, blanked the Dodgers on five hits until the ninth. He retired the first two batters but Duke Snider singled and Gil Hodges followed with his 20th homer to break up the game. Carl Erskine, who took over from Ralph Branca in the eighth, was the winner.

Giants Triumph

The Giants remained in second place, six games behind the Dodgers, by beating Cincinnati Reds 11-6. Larry Jansen, provided with a 4-0 lead in the first inning, coasted to his seventh victory. The Giants sewed it up with four runs in the fifth. Hank Thompson and Willie Mays accounted for seven of the Giants' 15 hits and drove in three runs each.

Heavy hitting also enabled Russ Meyer of Philadelphia Phils and Murry Dickson of Pittsburgh Pirates to post easy triumphs.

Meyer stopped the Chicago Cubs 11-3 and Dickson turned back Boston Braves 9-4.

The Phils pounded out 16 hits with Ed Waitkus and Richie Ashburn leading the way with three safeties each. Bill Nicholson contributed his first home run to the bombardment.

13-hit Attack

Wally Westlake featured a 13-hit Pirate attack, driving in four runs on his 16th homer and two singles. Dickson scattered 10 Boston blows including a home run by Sid Gordon enroute to his eighth victory.

Pinch-hitter Floyd Baker's two-run eighth-inning double gave the White Sox and relief pitcher Marv Rotblatt victory in the opener at Washington. Joe Dobson breezed to his fifth victory in the second game. The Sox scored six runs in the second inning to sew it up. Six errors helped the Sox cause.

The sweep extended the Sox winning streak on the road to 15 games, two shy of the major league record set by the Giants in 1916.

Sixth inning home runs by Ray Boone and Jim Hegan sparked Cleveland Indians to a 3-1 triumph over Philadelphia Athletics. Bob Lemon went all the way to post his seventh victory. He allowed six hits. Sam Zoldak was the loser.

Rain washed out games between St. Louis Browns and Yanks and Detroit Tigers and Boston Red Sox.

Bisons Crush Montreal In 6-2 Upset

By The Associated Press.

Gene Markland, indirectly figures in Buffalo Bisons' surge to a contending position in the International League pennant race.

Markland, an infielder with the Bisons last [illegible] was drafted last fall by Ne[illegible]k Yankees. The Bisons put in a claim for Markland in the event the Yanks decided to send him down.

The Yanks decided to option Markland to Kansas City and induced the Bisons to pass their claim by agreeing to switch the option of outfielder Archie Wilson from San Francisco to Buffalo.

Since his arrival from the coast league Wilson has supplied the Bisons with plenty of punch. He helped the Bisons reel off their ninth straight victory Thursday night—with a two-run homer in the seventh inning. The blow was his 12th, tops in the circuit. The Bisons went on to down the pace-setting Montreal Royals 6-2.

The victory moved the runner-up Bisons to within six games of the Royals. They have four games left with the league-leaders in the current series.

Sixth Victory

Rookie Tom Acker went all the way and stopped the Royals on five hits to bag his sixth victory. George Moskovich and Wally Post also homered for the Bisons.

Veteran Karl Drews survived a rocky start and pitched the Baltimore Orioles to a 6-3 victory over Rochester Red Wings. The Wings scored three in the first on a two-run homer by Russ Derry and double by Hal Rice. The Orioles came back with one in the second and took the lead for keeps with three in the third.

Rain washed out games between Ottawa and Toronto and Springfield and Syracuse.

Kroehler Club Out Of Hockey

STRATFORD, June 15 (CP).—Harold Wyatt, president of the Stratford Kroehler Hockey Club, Thursday confirmed that the club will not operate in the Ontario Hockey Association Junior A League next winter.

Wyatt, who is also president of the furniture company which sponsors the team, said increasing operating costs and poor gates last season are the reasons for the decision.

He said the decision was made 10 days ago, but the club was not officially withdrawn.

The club still has control of its players, and some of these are apparently headed for other clubs.

Guelph Biltmores Thursday announced the purchase of Stratford forwards Ray Ross and Guy Henri. Ross has already signed a Guelph certificate. St. Catharines and Kitchener were reported also bidding for the two Strstford players.

Alf Riches, secretary of the Stratford club, said that as soon as the club discontinues operation, there can be no new team in Stratford until an application is made and accepted by the OHA.

PRESIDENT PROMOTES RED CASE KEY MEN—Two men who came into national prominence in the government's fight against Communists and fellow travellers have been promoted by President Truman. They are: Judge Harold R. Medina, left, who presided over the conviction of the nation's 11 top Reds, and Thomas F. Murphy, right, New York police commissioner who, as an assistant U.S attorney in New York, prosecuted Alger Hiss for lying when he denied he passed government secrets to a Russian spy in pre-World War II days. Medina moves up to the Second Circuit Court of Appeals in New York City, and Murphy succeeds him in the New York Court.

Howe Doesn't Expect Price War In Canada

OTTAWA, June 15—(CP)—The United States price war is not likely to spread to Canada, Trade Minister Howe said Thursday night in the Commons.

He thought it "unfair" to describe as a price war what had occurred in a few stores in New York.

"It was a skirmish, perhaps," said Mr. Howe.

"I don't think it had any great significance."

The price cutting had resulted from a court action in which a fair price law was declared invalid.

Movie Love Scene Tricks Divulged

By BOB THOMAS

HOLLYWOOD, June 15 (AP)—Curtis Bernhardt, a top "woman's director," today divulged some tricks of the trade, including how to get the most out of a love scene.

A woman's director is a guy who can evoke fine performances from the heavy emoters of the distaff side.

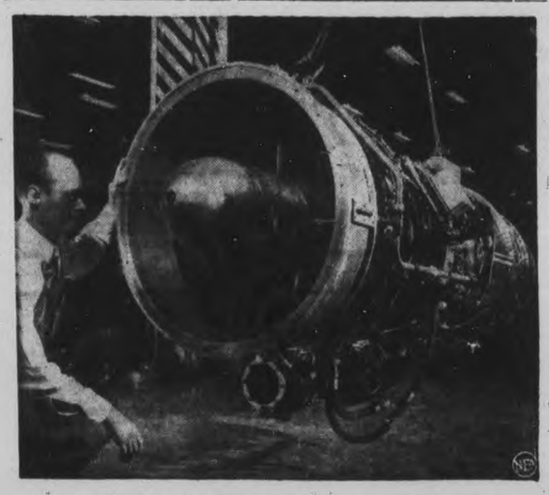
He offered a hint as to his success with directing these gals: "It's exactly like being married to them; it is a wedding of talents. When I started to direct Jane Wyman in 'The Blue Veil,' I sent her a note saying: 'For the next few weeks, you are going to be married to me; your evenings will be free, but you belong to me in the daytime.'"

Love Scenes

Everybody wants to know how directors produce love scenes, so I explored the topic with Bernhardt.

"Of course, it would be easy to direct the kind of love scene that everybody expects," he observed. "I mean the breathy, half-closed-eyes sort of thing that has been imitated ever since the days of Garbo and John Gilbert. With them it was real; but with most other actors, it looks phony.

"The authentic love scene requires something different. I try to plan it out so it will seem like a spontaneous reaction between a man and a woman.



"When I have a love scene to do, I always rehearse it first in a dressing room or somewhere alone. In that way, the actor and actress can feel as though it is he real thing; they can rehearse it without 50 people watching them. When we have to shoot the scene, I try to have as few people around as possible, and no one wihin the eye range of the stars. The crew always has an amazing sense for difficult scenes; they invariably are quiet and helpful."

Operating Rights

TORONTO, June 15 (CP). — Eighteen western Canada truckers have been granted operating rights in Ontario by a decision made public Thursday by the Ontario Municipal Board. The truckers will span up to 2,600 miles each way in making two-way hauls of automobiles and freight between Ontario and western points. They will use United States highways, entering Ontario at Windsor.

Move In September

TORONTO, June 15 (CP). — The commander of Canada's 27th Brigade said Thursday he expects his troops will be ready to move by late September or October and will probably finish their brigade training in Europe. Brig. Geoffrey Walsh paused here briefly on a cross-Canada inspection tour of units making up his command.

NEW G.E. TURBOJET ENGINE developed by General Electric and being tested at the Lockland, Ohio, plant, is for more powerful than its battletested predecessors of the same size. Described as "an important step in the world race for jet supremacy," the new J-47 engine will power such fighting planes as the North American F-86 "Sabre" jet and the six-jet Boeing B-47 "Stratojet" bomber. Total power of the new engine is a secret, but it put out far more thrust than the current J-47, rated in excess of 5200 pounds.

SERVE IN THE CANADIAN ARMY ACTIVE FORCE WITH THE 27th Canadian Infantry Brigade Group

Canada is a magic word of freedom in many lands under the dark shadows of oppression. To keep this country free — to keep hope for a free world alive everywhere, we must help to discourage armed aggression wherever it threatens. This is our best hope for freedom — for world peace.

Thousands of Canadian men have joined the Active Force to make sure that we are able to discourage any threats to our way of life. We must all play our parts to make sure that Canada remains a bright word synonymous with — FREEDOM.

MEN ARE NEEDED IMMEDIATELY FOR

Signal Corps — Linesmen, teleprinters, telegraphers — tradesmen to help keep the Army communications system operating.

Service Corps — Automobile mechanics, drivers, butchers, cooks, stenographers and many other trades to keep our Army mobile and well supplied.

Medical Corps — More doctors are urgently needed; also men who have qualified or who would like to train as specialists in X-ray or laboratory techniques, as Nursing Orderlies, or Operating Room Assistants.

Dental Corps — Dentists are required as well as men qualified or ready to train as Dental Technicians and Assistants, Instrument repairers, clerks, and storemen.

Ordnance Corps — To obtain and distribute stores and fighting equipment, tradesmen of every description are needed — from storemen and ammunition examiners to tailors and shoemakers.

"RCEME"—The Electrical and Mechanical Engineers need automotive mechanics, fitters, toolmakers, instrument makers, welders, machinists — over fifty types of tradesmen.

Bandsmen — Men qualified in any musical instrument are required for military bands, this includes a special requirement for pipe bands.

MEN ARE WANTED NOW!

Enrollment Standards:

To enlist you must:

1. Volunteer to serve anywhere.
2. Be 17 to 40 (Tradesmen to 45).
3. Meet Army requirements.
4. Married men will be accepted.

Terms of Engagement:

You will be enrolled in the Canadian Army Active Force for a period of three years.

All men are eligible for Overseas Service. If the military situation permits, married men after one year's Service Overseas and single men after two years' Service Overseas may be returned to Canada at which time they may request discharge even if they have not completed full three years' service.

Conditions of Service:

Current rates of pay and allowances. Serve for 3 years or make it a career.

Veterans' Benefits:

Reinstatement in civil employment, Unemployment Insurance and other appropriate benefits under Veterans' Charter as extended by Parliament.

Men — Retention of present Reserve Force rank or the rank held in Second World War, subject to proving qualifications in service within a 90-day period.

Officers — Short Service Commissions will be granted to officers who do not wish to enroll in the Active Force on a career basis. Further information should be obtained from your own unit or the nearest Army Personnel Depot.

Apply to the nearest Recruiting Depot:

British Judgment Upsets Home Sanctity Tradition

By EDWIN S. JOHNSON

LONDON (CP)— An Englishman's home is no longer his castle.

He has been told, in fact, that an assortment of more than 25,000 officials and inspectors have the right to force their way into a private home without a search warrant—and he doesn't like it.

The traditional view about the sanctity of the British home was shattered by a London high court judgment upholding the legality of forced entry, by a government gas inspector.

The action that upset a cherished principle was brought against the Eastern Gas Board by Charles A. Grove, a middle-aged business man of suburban Edmonton. He sought redress in the court after the company admitted that its representatives had removed a pane of glass to gain entry into the Grove home when the family was out.

Evidence was given that Gas Board officials had visited the house 11 times in an attempt to read the meter but they never found anyone at home. Notes were left under the door and follow-up letters asking for an appointment, failed to produce a reply. Forced entry followed.

Public Safety

In declaring the gasmen in the right, Justice Sir Malcolm Hilbery said there was nothing extraordinary in extending such authority to a public body where community interests were concerned. Meters had to be checked while public safety demanded that pipes and connections must at times be inspected.

The decision provoked a roar of protest in the daily press. Correspondents complained that even a rat-catcher was given the right to break-and-enter, without the normal credentials required by an officer of the law. Editorials branded the law as "intolerable" and a "challenge to the rights of the individual." There was a general cry for its early repeal.

Brought Up In Commons

Aroused by the public reaction, members of parliament brought the issue to the floor of the House.

Two Conservative members, Henry Price and A. C. Bossom, challenged Attorney-General Sir Frank Soskice to restore the traditional privacy of the British home by banning entry without production of a search warrant.

Sir Frank rejected the suggestion.

"It is unfortunately unavoidable," he said, "that the law should in certain circumstances permit entry without a warrant. This has been found necessary in our legislation for a long time. In the case of the gas inspectors such a power has been the law since 1871."

Shouts of "Gestapo" and "police state" were fired from the opposition benches when a demand was ignored for drastic restriction of the number of officials exercising the powers of forced entry.

But the case won't rest there. Mr. Grove, who still calls his home his castle, has given notice he intends to appeal the high court ruling.

NEW QUEEN FOR THE SEAS—Streamers flying, the SS Constitution steams into New York harbor after a trip from Boston. The 29,500-ton, $25,000,000 vessel will go into the New York-Italy-France express service. The ship carries 1,000 passengers in three classes and can hit 26 knots.

Announce Casualties

WASHINGTON, June 15 (AP) —Announced United States casualties in Korea reached 70,317 Thursday, an increase of 1,965 since last week. A defence department summary based on notifications to families up to June 8 reported 10,432 killed, 48,133 wounded and 11,752 missing in action.

Can't Predict Diesel Engine Effect

SAINT JOHN, N.B., June 15 (CP).—Donald Gordon, chairman and president of the Canadian National Railways, told the Board of Trade Thursday it is impossible to predict the long-range effect of the present trend to Diesel engines.

"If the Diesel retains its present advantages of economy and efficiency, then coal-burning locomotives may well become as extinct as the dodo," he said at a luncheon meeting. "But research is going on in many quarters aimed at development of new power plants which would make more efficient use of coal as a fuel. The gas-turbine locomotive, burning pulverized coal, is only one of the possibilities being studied. Accordingly, the CNR is not in any sense committed to the adoption of any single type of motive power."

Take a Long Time

It is certain, he said, that even if the Diesel were to supplant coal-fuel types as completely as the automobile has replaced the horse—"and that is a supposition I am by no means prepared to accept"—such a change could not possibly take place overnight, or even in the space of a few years.

A 3,000-horsepower Diesel road locomotive costs nearly $400,000. To replace the 1,900 freight and passenger steam locomotives now in service would require an estimated capital investment of $400,000,000, almost 20 times as much as the CNR spent on all types of equipment last year.

Experience on the National System with Diesels had established that savings as high as $150,000 a year per double Diesel unit could be effected, said Mr. Gordon. On the other hand, advances in type or design of coal-burning locomotives could well alter or reverse that trend.

Circulation Mgrs. Will Hold Convention

Eight hundred circulation managers, who have charge of the sales and deliveries of United States and Canadian newspapers will swap ideas and methods at the 52nd annual convention of the International Circulation Managers Association, Hotel Statler in Washington, June 18 through 21. Ideas ranging from how to give your own neighborhood boy better basic business training to speeding up distribution by airplane are packed into fifty-six discussion sessions scheduled for the three days. H. B. Cowan Jr., and Stanley Pogue are attending from the Peterborough Examiner.

Salesmanship will keynote the sessions. Well it must for these are the men responsible for selling over fifty-seven million copies of newspapers every day on this continent. At a nickel a copy, the astounding fact is that Americans and Canadians pay over twenty million dollars a week for their newspapers. It takes salesmanship and specialized services to build and increase this market for newspapers with annual gross sales already exceeding the billion dollar mark. The keynote sales appeal will be given at the opening breakfast early Tuesday morning the nineteenth by Arthur H. (Red) Motley, president of Parade Publications, Inc.

BAUDOUIN FOR LEOPOLD — King Leopold III of Belgium, at right, above, has agreed to abdicate on July 16, in favor of his 20-year-old son, Prince Baudouin, left. Baudouin will be enthroned in Brussels on the day after his father's abdication. The ceremony originally was planned for Sept. 7, Baudouin's 21st birthday, but was moved up for convenience of the Belgian parliament.

Water At George St. Wharf Has Highest Bacteria Count

Water tests by the department of health indicate that the water in Little Lake, except at the George St. wharf, and in the Otonabee river as far south as Park St., is pure enough for swimming this year.

The highest count of bacteria in a cubic centimetre of water was off the wharf. There it numbered 180 and is believed due to the large back wash and the emptying of the Jackson park creek there.

Otherwise all the other tests as far south as Park street were well under the standard of 50 bacteria per cubic centimetre. When the bacteria reaches that mark the department advises against swimming.

At Point St. Charles and at the T-wharf the water tested only four bacteria and zero, respectively, being the purest water tested from Inverlea Park to Monaghan Road. A test made in the Otonabee river at Lansdowne St., resulted in 22 bacteria in a cubic centimetre.

The river at Wilson Ave. tested 12 bacteria. From there the bacteria increased to 25 at the Lock St. wharf, 31 at Chester St., 73 at Park St., and 108 at Monaghan Road.

Dr. Kelly explained that the water becomes more contaminated in its course through the city and becomes more so when adjacent to the sewage disposal plant.

No tests were made this year outside the city boundary.

The canal water tested good for swimming. At McFarlane Ave., the bacteria numbered three and at Maria St., 16.

At Inverlea park, where the recreation commission is holding its swimming program, the water conditions are good. Along the beach, the water tested 10 bacteria in a cubic centimetre and off the bridge only one.

Will Buy Plane

BUFFALO, N. Y., June 15 (CP) —Buffalo sportsmen some time ago told the Rev. Gustav Lamphon of Foleyet, Ont., they would buy him a plane to cover his vast Algoma district parish if he learned to fly. They can now keep their promise—Father Lampron, a Roman Catholic missionary, now has a pilot's licence. The sportsmen were informed Thursday by External Affairs Minister Pearson and Revenue Minister McCann that customs duty and sales tax totalling $2,565 on the plane would be waived.

Likely Recover

NEW YORK, June 15 (CP).—A Toronto woman was found unconscious Thursday in her room at the fashionable Hotel Savoy Plaza apparently suffering from barbiturate poisoning, police reported. She had registered in the hotel early Thursday as Mrs. Joseph Dunkelman of Toronto. At the hospital a spokesman said before midnight Mrs. Dunkelman remained in a "semi-conscious" state but the chances of recovery are good.

Bandits Get $4,500

MONTREAL, June 15 (CP). — Two bandits Thursday escaped with $4,500 from a branch of La Banque Provinciale du Canada at Ste. Placide, some 50 miles from here, after taking the money from a female cashier, alone in the bank at the time.

Improved Pastures Can Cut Beef Price

GUELPH, June 15—(CP)—Ontario beef producers can help bring down beef prices in the province by improving their pastures to feed more animals, Prof. R. G. Knox, head of the Ontario Agricultural College's animal husbandry department said here Thursday.

It costs between $35 and $40 to ship one steer from Alberta for fattening on Ontario farms, Prof. Knox said. It costs about the same amount to renovate an acre of run-down pasture so it can carry one steer through the grazing season each year. Once renovated, the acre is good for four or five years.

Thousands of acres of pasture in Ontario are so poor that each animals needs three acres, he said.

AIDS IMMIGRANTS — Mrs. Marina Mathews, pretty Dutch war bride, came to Canada five years ago as the wife of a Canadian soldier. Now employed by the federal immigration department she meets thousands of immigrants as they arrive and assists them in becoming established in their new homes. Stationed in Toronto, she works with the Canadian National Railways Colonization Department. Here she looks at a painting of the family homestead of Mrs. Van der Zanden, left, one of the hundreds of Dutch immigrants to settle in Ontario. Mrs. Van der Zanden lives on a farm near Bronte, Ont.

Netherlands Girl Welcomes Immigrants From Home

TORONTO—(CP). — The first year in a new country usually is the most difficult, says pretty Maria Mathews.

She should know. Five years ago Mrs. Mathews came to Canada from the Netherlands as the bride of a Canadian soldier. Now an employee of the Federal Immigration Department, she meets thousands of her countrymen on their arrival in Ontario.

Fluent in Dutch, German and French, she talks to them in their native tongue; straightens out such travel tangles as may crop up. She also helps with other problems which may occur —after all many of these are the same she faced when first coming to Canada.

"The first year is always the hardest," says this tawny-haired young woman who speaks English with only a slight trace of accent. Language difficulties, getting accustomed to new living conditions, are just two of the problems facing newcomers.

Mrs. Mathews admits things were easier for her—"because my husband was a Canadian."

Canadians Can Help

But those who come to the new country alone often find things most difficult.

"Make them feel at home," is her piece of advice to the people of Canada.

As early at 6 am Mrs. Matthews sometimes may be seen in Toronto's Union Station awaiting the arrival of an immigrant train. She figures that in the 2½ years she has been in her job she has met some 10,000 of her countrymen.

Most of them are men and women going to employment in Ontario. She doesn't deal with those headed for other parts of Canada.

An office worker before her marriage in Amsterdam, Mrs. Mathews said goodbye a short time ago to her mother who returned to the Netherlands following an eight-month visit.

One of these mornings her sister, whom she hasn't seen since her own visit to Holland two years ago, will step from one of the trains Mrs. Mathews is constantly meeting. The sister, Mrs. Cornelia van der Maaden and her husband plan to settle in Canada.

City Planners Form Association

LONDON, Ont., June 15—(CP)—An association of municipal planning officials, the Ontario Society of Municipal Planners, was formed here Thursday with the Hamilton, Brantford and London areas represented.

Allan J. Barker, secretary-treasurer of the London and Suburban Planning Board, was elected chairman and Hugh T. Lemon, secretary-treasurer of Hamilton - Wentworth Planning Area Board, was appointed secretary.

The association plans to meet regularly and to invite representation from all other planning boards and officials in the province.

Rail Official Retires

ST. THOMAS, June 15—(CP)—J. W. Farrah, assistant superintendent of the St. Thomas division of Canadian National Railways, and the Buffalo division of the Wabash railroad, retired Thursday after 45 years service. Mr. Farrah is a former member of the city council.

Approve Annexation

HAMILTON, June 15 (CP). — City council Thursday night approved a proposal for annexation of 400 acres in Ancaster township west of the city. It will make available building lots for 2,000 homes. A joint meeting of officials from Hamilton, Dundas and Ancaster agreed three weeks ago on Hamilton's annexation of the strip of land. The councils will apply jointly to the Ontario Municipal Board for final approval.

Want Bookie Telephones Seized Like Slot Machines

TORONTO, June 15—(CP)—A provincial police officer told the Ontario Legislature crime committee Thursday that telephones used in gambling premises should be seized just as slot machines are.

E. T. Doyle, deputy commissioner of the Ontario Provincial Police, said that, in his opinion, there is no difference between the two.

"We've seized over 1,000 slot machines since 1942 when the anti-gambling squad was organized, and most of them have been destroyed," he said. Police should have authority to seize phones used in gambling.

Doyle, former head of the anti-gambling squad, testified before the committee which is investigating crime and enforcement of justice in Ontario.

He said that while in many cases the Bell Telephone Company had co-operated with police, there were some cases where co-operation was not given.

One such case was the failure of telephone company men to remove 26 telephones from a bookmaking establishment in Hamilton. Doyle said police officers were forced to remove the phones which were returned to Bell after A. B. Jones, who operated the bookie, was convicted.

Need More Leeway

Doyle suggested there should be legislation to give police more leeway in tracing phone deals. He said this was needed to deal with the more suppertitious techniques employed by bookies since the anti-gambling squad of the OPP was formed.

Bookies, he said, no longer operate openly in large establishments where raids would usually produce the evidence needed for prosecution.

Doyle admitted that telephones were not the only problems facing police in restraining illegal race betting. He said bookies also received bets and race results on telegraph wires. They could also get results from the radio. A bookie could operate using only the daily newspapers and the racing form.

N. R. Munnoch, general counsel for Bell, also suggested that the problem was not all with his company. He said provincial police seemed to feel disatisfied at anything less than perfection in stamping out bookies.

"Their inability to attain this perfection is no justification to try to lay this problem at the doorstep of the Bell Telephone Company," he said.

"The source of the bookmaking evil is the running of races. Yet no one has suggested suppression of racing which is the root of the evil."

THE BELL X-5, first aircraft to feature wings whose degree of sweepback may be varied in flight, will begin flight tests soon at Edwards Air Force Base, Munroc, Calif. The X-5, seen with wings forward and swept back, is jet-propelled and capable of sustained flights for long periods of time. With wings forward, the experimental craft will be able to take off, climb and land like any conventional jet. With wings swept back, it is expected to reach supersonic speeds — the greater the sweepback, the greater the possible speed. The X-5, developed by Bell at Niagara Falls, N.Y., is slightly over 33 feet long, has wingspan of 32 feet, nine inches, and is 12 feet high, from ground to fin tip. Its glistening white coating will afford highest visibility when the plane is tracked through cloudless skies high over the Muroc dry-lake bed.

New System Of Censorship

TOKYO, June 15—(AP)—A new system of censorship of Korean war news went into effect today.

The press advisory division of Matthew B. Ridgway's supreme headquarters assumed sole control of all news stories from the Korean fighting fronts.

The new system replaced the double censorship in effect since last December. Previously, stories were censored first by the Eighth Army in Korea, telephoned by correspondents to their offices in Tokyo, and then censored again by the headquarters press advisory division in Tokyo.

Under the new setup, stories passed by a branch office in Korea will not require further clearance in Tokyo.

The bulk of the copy will be transmitted from Korea to Tokyo by army teletype.

Pulpwood Cutters Needed In Ontario

TORONTO, June 15 — (CP) — Pulpwood cutters are needed in Northern Ontario, the National Employment Service said Thursday. An official said there is "plenty of work" for cutters in the areas of Timmins, North Bay, Sudbury, Sault Ste. Marie and Kapuskasing. There also are shortages of cutters at Pembroke and Hawkesbury in Eastern Ontario.

Nickel mines at Sudbury are looking for a large number of men, needed to put a 40hour week into effect July 1, Workers also are required by silver mines at Cobalt and by gold mines at Timmins and Kirkland Lake.

Doesn't Want Seaway To Be Partisan Issue

WASHINGTON, June 15 (AP) —Minority leader Joe Martin (Rep. Mass.) of the House of Representatives asked Thursday to "make sure" that the proposed St. Lawrence seaway and power does not become a partisan issue.

Julius H. Barnes, a Duluth, Minn., honorary chairman of the Great Lakes - St. Lawrence Association, [illegible] Americans that he had heard reports "attempts were being made to line up partisan opposition to the (project)."

He credited the attempt to "certain railroad interests."

Barnes said the project should not be sacrificed "upon false counsel of partisan advantage."

Legislation to authorize the $818,000,000 project now is pending in the House Public Works Committee.

TORONTO June 15 (CP). — Dr. John F. McCreary of the staff of Toronto Hospital for Sick Children has been appointed professor of pediatrics in the faculty of medicine at the University of British Columbia. Dr. McCreary was born at Eganville, Ont., and is a graduate of the University of Toronto.

Shot By Hitch-Hiker

TORONTO, June 15 (CP). — A Toronto motorist was shot in the lung Thursday by a hitch-hiker who tried to rob him. The man, identified as Herbert Rayher, 35, was taken to hospital after he staggered into a north end restaurant and asked for help.

Jailed Five Years On Forgery Charges

NIAGARA FALLS, Ont., June 15—(CP)—A 38-year-old Hamilton truck driver Thursday pleaded guilty to 32 charges of forgery, uttering forged cheques and false pretences.

Robert Earnest Charette, alias John Grassi, R. J. Irwin, and Robert Fraser, who obtained more than $2,000 from a series of worthless cheques cashed across Canada, was sentenced to a total of five years in penitentiary.

He agreed to be tried in Niagara Falls on charges laid by police in Welland, Fort Erie, St. Catharines, Hearst, Timmins, Kirkland Lake, Hamilton, Dundas, Whtiby and London.

Urges 1-Way Streets As Aid To Cities

ST. CATHARINES, June 15—(CP)—Extensive use of one-way streets and progressive stop-light systems can help cities get more use out of their streets, A. E. Lowe, Buffalo's assistant traffic engineer, told the Ontario Traffic Conference here.

One-way streets allowed increased traffic volume, reduced accidents, permitted parking on narrow streets and eliminated congestion at complicated intersections.

Retain Seat

LONDON, June 15—(CP)—The Labor Party Thursday retained its parliamentary seat in the East Woolwich, London, by-election caused by the death of Foreign Secrearty Ernest Bevin. Christopher Mayhew, former undersecretary of foreign affairs, defeated his Conservative opponent, R. J. Harvey, by 20,801 votes to 13,449.

VOL. CII. No. 140 — FRIDAY, JUNE 15, 1951

HORACE OLIVER STEER, MA, PhD, son of Mr. and Mrs. O. M. Steer, 4 Inverlea St., has been appointed assistant professor in the department of psychology, University of Toronto. At present, Mr. Steer is pyschological consultant to East York—Leaside health unit working in the schools, chairman of the adult education committee of the Toronto Welfare Council and vice president of the Ontario Psychological Association.

Samuel Wood Wins Award For Heroism

Refused Other Award Buckhorn Man Will Accept This

Samuel Wood, postmaster at Buckhorn, was one of 13 persons honored by the Royal Canadian Humane Association for acts of heroism in 1950. All are being awarded the association's parchment certificates.

After refusing the Dow award for rescuing Bill Pearson, a seven-year-old Buckhorn boy, Mr. Wood said today that he will accept this award. Ruling elder at Buckhorn Presbyterian church, Mr. Wood said that he refused the previous award several months ago because "my principles wouldn't allow it."

While on his way to sort the Christmas mail on December 15, 1950, the 65-year-old man saw young Pearson slip through the railings of the bridge and into the icy water of Buckhorn lake. Although not in the best of health, Mr. Wood without hesitation leaped off the bridge after the boy.

Bert Calvert, also of Buckhorn was approaching in his car from the north end of the bridge when he saw the two in the water. Stopping his car he grabbed a towrope from the trunk of his car.

From the bridge the rope was lowered to the struggling pair. Mr. Wood tied the rope around the floundering boy and then remained in the water while Pearson was pulled to safety.

Then Mr. Woods was rescued by the combined efforts of Mr. Calvert and three unidentified men in a truck. He was in the lake about seven minutes in all.

Youngest on the list of awards was Richard Jackson, 12, East Famboro, Ontario, who rescued Joan Simpson from drowning in a well on October 29 in 1950.

Another Hanging

LINDSAY, June 15—Another ex-warden of Victoria county was hanged lately. As a matter of fact, all the ex-wardens have been treated this way. It's not as nasty a practice as it sounds. It's really a hanging in effigy—the ex-warden's picture is hung (hanged) in the council chambers. Latest victim is Dick Butler, warden in 1950, whose photograph now is at rest in the chambers.

Award Mortlock Grove School Contract

The W. H. Mortlock Construction Co. firm bid of $57,982 for the addition to Grove School has been accepted by the Peterborough Board of Education. It was $4,918 under the second lowest tender.

Here are the three bids, two of them by Peterborough contractors: Mortlock Construction, building school $55,628; fire screens $2,354, total $57,982.

Eastwood Construction, building school $60,400, fire screens $2,500, total $62,900.

A $65,000 debenture bylaw, covering cost of building the Grove addition, has already received two readings by city council and has received the tentative approval of the Municipal Board. It must still get the final approval of both the Department of Education and the Municipal Board.

The debentures must cover cost of the building, $57,982, an extra $1,000 for an additional acre of land, six percent for architect's fees, and an amount for furnishings.

The addition will be four rooms on the second storey..

At the June meeting of the Board, Thursday night, J. B. Parkin and associates were given the go-ahead signal to prepare plans for an eight-room school in Ashburnham to relieve congestion there.

G. Wilson Craw, chairman of accommodation, said that the crowded conditions in King George made it imperative to get along with the preliminary plans for construction. The Board expects tenders to be called early in 1952.

At present King George school, Hunter St., is the only public school in Ashburnham. The second school will be located on McFarlane Ave.

Mr. Craw also advised that tenders were being called on the new collegiate with the closing date July 12.

195 Pupils Shifted To New Schools To Ease Crowding

The Board of Education Thursday night approved the transfer of 195 pupils from the public schools they are now attending. Most of them will attend Prince of Wales school in the fall. Five families of Queen Mary pupils are protesting the shift. Sixty pupils now at Queen Mary, and living south of Charlotte St., will go to Prince of Wales. Seventy-one now at Confederation, living on Edison and Brioux Aves., will go to King Edward. And 64 now are going to King Edward, living in the area north of the CPR tracks, between Aylmer St. and Monaghan Rd., will go to Prince of Wales.

Opposed to the move are five residents whose children now attend Queen Mary: Benjamin H. Myers, Elias Ave.; C. H. Spearin, Elias Ave.; Charles H. Huffman, Charlotte St.; Harry Tudhope, Frederick Ave.; and Norman E. Elliott, Boswell Ave.

Transfers have been going on for a number of years, K. S. Wightman, superintendent of schools, explained to the Board, because of overcrowding in the schools.

Reluctant to Act

"This year the number of transfers needed is greater than ever," he said. "Such movements of children are always undertaken reluctantly and from necessity only. They are generally unpopular with the parents, though our experience has been that all but a few recognize the need for making such shifts and they co-operate well."

Overcrowding is worst at Confederation and Queen Mary, said Mr. Wightman.

Of the 195 being transferred in the fall, 124 will go to Prince of Wales. This is because the six rooms of the new annex will be available.

A rumor that large transfers were in the offing preceded the Board meeting and five letters of protest were received from parents whose children will go from Queen Mary to Prince of Wales.

Appeared Personally

Benjamin H. Myers, one of the five letter-writers, appeared at the meeting to personally protest the transfer of his two sons.

Mr. Myers said he could appreciate that children from certain districts had to be assigned to certain schools, but he said that he was assured when he and his family moved to Peterborough that his two boys would attend Queen Mary.

"I informed Mr. Steer (Queen Mary principal) that as our boys had attended Queen Mary since we moved to Peterborough, had made their friends there, that I felt that the physiological effect of being transferred to another school would not be good as far as they are concerned. He agreed with me and explained that there are 60 pupils who will be moved.

"Of this number 47 were transferred last year to Queen Mary from Prince of Wales and 13 had gone continuously to Queen Mary school."

Discourteous

Mr. Myers stated in his letter that he had phoned Mr. Wightman to explain the matter and received a "discourteous treatment."

District Shippers Honor Gord S. Matthews, Retirng

Thirty-three years of memories were recalled Thursday night at a dinner given by district shippers for Gordon S. Matthews, retiring manager of the Canada Packers plant here. More than 40 shippers attended the dinner at the Club Aragon, and most of them spoke a few words to recall the earlier days of Mr. Matthews' managership and to wish him a happy retirement.

Began In 1918

Mr. Matthews started at the Peterborough plant after World War One, in 1918. The shippers at the dinner spoke of his pioneer work in rail grading, the sow exchange policy and the loans and outright gifts of feed and hogs.

Chairman Clarence Graham of Tweed said that Mr. Matthews had done as much to improve the breeding of hogs in the district as any of the breeders themselves.

He said "the shippers of this district have pleasant memories of Mr. Matthews, and have had pleasant dealings with him."

Address Read

Mr. Graham read an address signed by the shippers at the dinner, and others who could not come. It said in part:

"We meet to express . . . our very high regard for Mr. Gordon Matthews, who is retiring after 33 years service as manager of the Peterborough plant of Canada Packers.

"We who have dealt with him and his plant for a good many years will greatly miss the friendly discussions and visits in his office."

At the conclusion of his address, William F. Scott of Campbellford presented Mr. Matthews with a wrist watch and pen and pencil set.

General Retiring

SAN FRANCISCO, June 15 (AP)—Lt.-Gen. Albert C. Wedemeyer's request for retirement has been granted by the department of the army, the Sixth Army said today. The wartime commander of American forces in China will leave the service July 31.

Six Employees Given Watches

At an informal ceremony at Outboard Marine and Manufacturing Co. of Canada, Ltd., on Thursday, presided over by Clarence B. Neal, president, and with the assistance of L. L. Tremblay, vice-president in charge of merchandising, Bruce L. Payne, secretary-treasurer, and Reg. R. Reid, personnel director, six employees who have completed 15 years continuous service with the company, were congratulated and presented with wrist watches.

These employees started with the company in 1936, and a rather unusual circumstance was mentioned in his remarks by Mr. Neal, to the effect that with the presentation of this group of six watches, it brings the list of 15-year employees, all of whom have been presented with similar watches, to 54, coupled with the fact that five more employees will qualify in the second half of the year, it brings the total number to 59. Mr. Neal pointed out that when these 59 employees started with the company in 1936 or earlier, the company had but 100 employees on its payroll.

Mr. Neal was very happy in his remarks, and his wishes included one that all these employees might continue to serve at Outboard Marine as diligently as they have in the past, for many years to come.

Those who received watches were Art Bryan, John Donoghue, John Faiers, Arthur Legon, Larry Maguire and Eric Millar. Mr. Tremblay, Mr. Reid and Mr. Payne added congratulatory remarks, and each of the recipients responded suitably.

NAMED PRESIDENT

A Lindsay man, W. Kunninsky, was elected president of Group 7 of the Mutual Fire Underwriters Association Thursday at the annual meeting held in Oshawa. Sixty delegates from six Ontario associations attended the meeting.

Rural Separate School Started In Otonabee

Mr. George Heffernan, contractor, broke ground this week for a rural Separate School on the south side of the Warsaw Road in Otonabee township. It is to be named St. Francis de Sales School for the accommodation of children of adjoining areas of Otonabee and Douro townships, east of the city.

Type of construction is to be brick and cement block, providing two rooms, and designed for two additional rooms whenever they may be required. The architect is J. C. Pennington, MRAIC, Windsor.

The new school area is known as RC SS No. 17, Otonabee. Trustees are: Clinton Young, chairman, and John Dalton and Raymond Young.

Council Carrying Out Wishes of Electors

Business Firms Want New Market Site

By HARRY THEOBALD

City council could lease or sell tomorrow the new market property on George St., if produce vendors decided that they did not want it.

Experience until the snow flies again will indicate disposition of those vendors, some of whom are not farmers, toward this opportunity which the city has provided in a location that is already a new business section of the main street.

These are some of the comments heard in market conversations around the city hall.

City council is providing this new site as a genuine offering of premises that can be exploited just as private businesses in that neighborhood are taking root in the vicinity.

Position of this year's council, and also of 1950, has been that they are carrying out the wishes of the electors. Proposed market sale, involving transfer and so on, received an affirmative majority at the municipal polls. The 1951 council is only the agent of the people.

Another comment: "If more producing farmers like Reeve James Gifford of Ennismore, Reeve Richard R. Stewart of Otonabee, Reeve Ross Harrison of Smith; Reeve Willard Waterman of North Monaghan, and so on, were interested in the market as a place of business, the old site would probably still be in use. They are farmers, as distinct from hucksters.

You never see those men on the market. They are in different and bigger business, and they are not depending on some minor outlet such as a couple of hours a week on the market square."

The interest of those farmers reaches out through their elective responsibility.

Where there are no election ties, there is no market sentimentality.

The Peterborough Federation of Agriculture is free and unbound except in its voluntary undertakings of services for the benefit of the rural community. For them there is no nomination day of reckoning and accounting.

What is the attitude of the Federation of Agriculture to the old institution of market day? . . .

The answer is found in this fact. When the Federation decided to accept the time offered by CHEX for a radio broadcast, they accepted the available period of Saturdays from 12.15 p.m. to 12.25 p.m.

As to farmers being in the city, and furthermore at market, the answer from executive sources, and with emphasis of fact, was that the majority of Peterborough farmers had cast off that custom, that the same big majority had nothing to sell on the market, and as for shopping and buying they Concern for the potato and apple men has been expressed in city hall discussions because they are recognized as producers, as are the greenhouse men. The latter have only a short season and are gone, and as for the others it is hoped that they will do something on their part to make the new market site a success.

County Farm Notes

By HARRY THEOBALD

Harry Kennedy of Cavan Recommends Herd Improvement Work....Cows in Two Highest Producing Herds Average 10,492 Lbs. Milk Last Year ....Norm McConkey Reports Dairy Festival in Watertown, N. Y.... Northumberland Holstein Breeders' Picnic June 23.

Harry Kennedy of Cavan township sold three of his Holstein cows this week on the basis of the information he obtained as a member of the local dairy herd improvement association.

Tests disclosed that they were low in quantity and quality of milk production. The tests were made by Don Chambers in the routine of his monthly rounds of the herds of the 26 farmers who joined the association more than a year ago.

The three cows that were liquidated belonged in the dubious classification of "boarders." So, they were sold to the beef trade.

"One of the facts I discovered was that I was keeping some 3 per cent milk for the dairies and feeding some 4 per cent to the calves. Just to find that out was worth a lot more than the ten dollars."

Mr. Kennedy joined the association last December. He has been getting milk records of his cows for only six or seven months.

"I joined partly through Frank Paterson's advice, and my membership has already paid off. My own experience has been proof of the need of this association work. Several others on this line took it up. Eldred Snider and Don Cathcart. The monthly tests of the milk provide you with a guide of what your cattle are doing individually, and when it comes to a question of selling, you know the ones to get rid of."

Mr. Kennedy was appointed a representative of the Peterborough district farmers who went into the Maple Cattle Breeders Association, and from various accounts they made a wise choice in that balloting.

He is not only of the enquiring type, seeking information, but he also has judgment and courage of his opinions, and does not hesitate to express them, accrding to reports that come from sessions of the Maple directors. That, however, is another story. He believes that the day is not far in the distance when artificial breeding units will cover the entire province, and that the time for Maple to take full advantage of the opportunity of expansion is right now while some farmers have not yet signed for this service. The herd improvement association is another group that has convinced him of its practical value.

Herd Testing Report

That is something of a preface to the summarized records compiled by Don Chambers and the Ontario Department of Agriculture showing net results of the herd improvement work in the Peterborough branch. The statement is for 1949-50, twelve months. Every farmer will understand the significance of these figures:

Average production of all herds in the Association (Peterborough) —7,847.2 pounds of milk; 266.2 pounds of butterfat.

Average for the two highest producing herds—10,492.9 pounds of milk; and 338.4 pounds of BF.

Average for two lowest producing herds—6,747.4 pounds of milk; and 221.1 pounds of BF.

It may be recalled that when the herd improvement group was proposed local response was tardy but it gathered support until the required 26 herd owners subscribed $12 each a year to become members. In the meantime nine of the originals dropped out, and their places were taken by new recruits.

Frank C. Paterson, agricultural representative, said he would like to see more herds averaging that 10,392 lbs. recorded for the two highest herds in the test. "It would be better to aim at 12,000 to 14,000 lbs. on the average," he said.

The average butterfat for all the herds was 3.3 per cent, just above the legal 3.25. Price differential by the dairies to patrons begins around 3.4 and 3.5.

"It is a service that is worth a great deal more then the cost to the producer," Mr. Paterson said. "The purpose is to help a lot of producers who are not keeping records or are not on ROP."

A RECORD DAY

Gordon Laplante reports more than 50 calls by himself and Gerald Blackwell in their rounds of work Monday. It was the biggest day in the local Maple record so far.

✦ ✦ ✦

"COME-AND-SEE DAY"

District events next week include the Come-and-See Day at the farm of Heber Down, Brooklin, and Durham Federation picnic Saturday, June 23, at Oronto. Both have been mentioned recently.

GUESTS OF INSTITUTE

Women's Institute of Selwyn are specially inviting their men folks to their meeting Wednesday night. F. C. Paterson says his speech will be brief, but he is taking along three or four selected films for the program.

SPRING YEAR 'ROUND

"This rich June grass is stepping up milk production. With improved pastures and grass silage, one can make spring last almost the year 'round . . . Twenty-six bulls in the Kemptville (Ont.) artificial breeding unit begot 25,000 calves last year. That is herd improvement in high gear."

GRADUATES AT KEMPTVILLE

Miss Jean Bolton, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Charles Bolton of Douro township, was graduated June 9 from Kemptville Agricultural School. She won the award to the home economics student making most satisfactory progress for two years. Miss Bolton has been one of Peterborough's Junior Farmers.

NEWCASTLE DISEASE

"Newcastle disease is fairly prevalent in Ontario," said J. S. Glover, associate professor in charge of poultry pathology at the Ontario Veterinary College, at Guelph this week. "We strongly suggest that poultry owners take every possible precaution to avoid the disease getting into their flocks."

Don't visit other flocks. Don't allow visitors among your own. If you suspect the disease in your flock get in touch with the O.V.C., or with the health of animals branch, Ottawa.

DAIRY INDUSTRY PUBLICITY

A dairy festival parade in Watertown, N.Y., took two hours to pass the downtown corner where Norman McConkey was a spectator Tuesday evening.

"I never saw anything like it," he said, "and I came on home with the conviction that we are far behind the United States when it comes to publicity for our agricultural industry. The Dairy Federation and the Chamber of Commerce joined hands in staging this event. They had 4-H Clubs from 50 miles radius from Watertown with most of the 28 bands in the parade.

"There were all kinds of decorative floats depicting the joint interest of manufacturing, retailing and agriculture. One of them represented the big mail order firm of Sears-Roebuck.

"All the dairy breeds had floats, each with four selected animals. But, that was only a detail of the long procession. It was a great lesson in how to put on publicity for the dairy business. It certainly ranks high down there. I stopped to get the car greased. I had noticed the large number of people gathering. The service station man told me it was a big dairy parade and I ought to stay and see it. It was an eye-opener to me. Two hours to pass one point suggest the extent of it.

"On a downtown square they had a huge cheese on display. It weighed 1400 pounds. Later in the evening, it was cut up and distributed among the people for advertising purposes. Watertown streets were packed with visitors, and the Junior Farmers of the 4-H Clubs contributed a great deal to the success of the show.

"The impression that remains with me is just what can be accomplished when the main elements of a community really appreciate the value of agriculture, and the Chamber of Commerce gets in behind farmers to boost it . . . If we could only have something like that!"

Mr. McConkey was accompanied by his wife, returning from a dairy cattle sale.

PICNIC AT COBOURG

Fletcher Thomas, M.P.P. for Elgin, is the speaker at the Northumberland Farm Forum and Federation picnic at Cobourg (Sat. June 16). He was for years agricultural representative in Elgin, and is chairman of the Select Committee of the Ontario Legislature on Conservation.

HOLSTEIN BREEDERS' PICNIC

Holstein breeders of Northumberland county are holding a picnic Saturday June 23 at the farm of Gordon Macklin, president. The guest speaker will be Brigadier J. E. Genet, an Army officer recently retired and now farming in Prince Edward county.

Ralph Banbury expects 100 of the 142 girls and boys in club work to be present with the adults. A program of judging begins at 10.30 a.m., followed by picnic lunch.

FARMERS CO-OPERATE

S. H. Symons, statistician for the Ontario Department of Agriculture, reports that the response of farmers in filling out and returning schedules for the June agricultural survey has been the best on record." Up to June 5, his office had received more replies than were compiled altogther in 1950.

Mr. Symons is highly gratified by the flood of mail containing these schedules. He believes that farmers are more interested than ever in the statistical data tabulated from these reports. The increased number of reports will assist his branch in improving further that statistics on Ontario agriculture.

CALFHOOD VACINATION

Farmers of both Hungerford and Huntingdon townships, Hastings county, have reorganized for separate calfhood vaccination canvasses. This renewal of effort has been undertaken in the hope that results will be more satisfactory than a year ago. Altogether 35 farmers have been appointed to make the canvass in the two municipalities.

Huntingdon has adopted the school section plan. At thheir veterinarian of Kemptville Agricultural School, was the main speaker. Others were Ronald Longwell, president of Hastings Federation of Agriculture, and Leslie Finkle, treasurer of Sidney township Federation, A. O. Dalrymple, agricultural representative in Hastings.

HERD DISPERSED

The dispersal of the herd of Shorthorn cattle, founded some six years ago by Clifford W. Lowes of North Monaghan, is a distinct loss to the beef cattle breeding industry of this county, Mr. E. H. Stoltz of Aurora, eastern fieldman of the Canadian Shorthorn Association told the Examiner at the Cadesky farm last Saturday.

"During his comparatively few years as a breeder," Mr. Stoltz said, 'Mr. Lowes established an enviable record as a producer of show cattle. Now that his farm has been sold, necessitating the sale of the cattle, it becomes apparent that the influence of this herd will live on.

The herd sire, the imported Folquhoun Rover, to A. J. Howden and Son of Columbus. Some of the good daughters of this bull were purchased to form a new herd in Renfrew county, where Fleming Brothers of Barryvale, have acquired a 1,000 acre holding, and are beginning a Shorthorn herd on a sound foundation."

SCOTTISH JUNIORS

The four Scottish junior farmers who are touring Ontario were Northumberland guests Wednesday. Accompanied by Ralph Banbury, agricultural representative, and Miss Jean Noble, home economist, they were luncheon guests at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Lloyd Dorland of Hilton. In the afternoon they visited the fruit and vegetable experimental station at Smithfield, looked in at some of the summer homes and areas along Lake Ontario, and the orchard of Harry Sirrett.

For evening dinner they were guests of Mrs. Neil Carruthers, Cobourg, mother of county director Donald Carruthers. Open house later at the Brighton agricultural office was arranged as an opportunity for the young Scots to meet Northumberland junior farmers.

$3,720 FOR 28 HOGS

Retired farmers may conclude that they were born too soon when they read of 28 hogs selling at Stratford for $3,720. It should immediately be explained that this was no run of the herd sale. It was a swine auction in conjunction with an annual horse show. Top price was $205 for a bred sow consigned by Andrew Hicks of Centralia. The swine show was organized by the Stratford District Advanced Registry Yorkshire Club.

PROFITABLE HARVESTING

Power take-off forage harvesters and pick-up hay-balers cut time and labor requirements. But, they are a good investment for farmers only if their operational life can be extended to 2,000 hours.

Those are the conclusions reported by D. A. Brown of the Experimental Farm at Brandon, Man., following tests on the two types of machine.

Cost of operating the power take-off forage harvester, initial cost of which was $1,250, was 98 cents a ton for green corn. Cost of operating the harvester, plus cost of tractor and operator was $1.32 a ton.

It cost $1.70 a ton to bale hay with the automatic pick-up hay baler, which had an initial cost of $1,980. Total per ton of baler, tractor and operator was $2.74.

To get profitable returns on the capital expended, the average operational span for the forage harvester should be from 100 to 120 hours a year and for the automatic hay baler from 140 to 170 hours a year, Mr. Brown says.

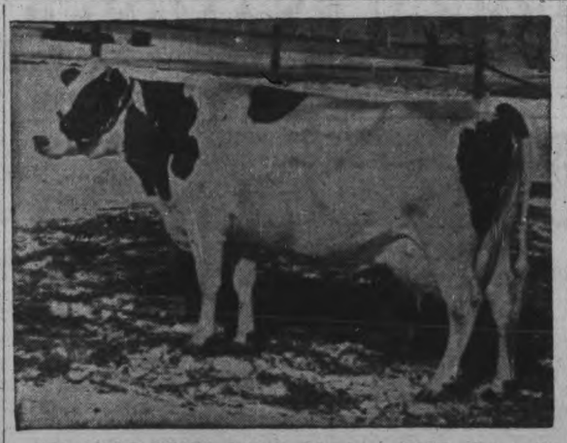
WMS DID THEIR PART



The women of Lakehurst Presbyterian Church had a hunch last Saturday that 250 was a low estimate of the crowd expected for the field day of the district Shorthorn breeders at the Cadesky farm.

Taking a look at the weather Friday and again early Saturday they first doubled the order and then tacked on some more to the estimate. If they hadn't been keener than some of the Shorthorn executive in foresight and anticipation, they would have had to do something like invoke the miracle of the loaves and the fishes. And furthermore they were delightfully good humored all through the press for dinner, when people were standing five and six feet deep outside the dining tent.

An Examiner trio stayed out of that rush until after two o'clock. A glance found nothing left but the irises and spirea which had decked the tables, and the odd cardboard pie plate still intact. However, the warmth of reception hadn't diminished, and from somewhere the WMS members managed to contrive adequate sandwiches and accessories.

It was a grand day of visiting in friendly atmosphere which Mr. Cadesky did his part to create.

FOR MANY YEARS dairymen have dreamed of an ideal cow—one that would meet these three requirements—first she would have to produce 1000 lbs. butterfat in 305 days on twice-a-day milking — second she would have to produce a calf every 400 days—and third she would have to be a good looker.

Such an animal has finally been developed. She is Roeland Cherry Re-Echo Rag Apple, a purebred Holstein, bred and owned by J. W. Greenwood, Maple, Ont. She has just completed an official Record of Performance test of 1011 lbs. fat from 20,157 lbs. milk (5.02%) in 305 days on twice-a-day milking which boosts the former world record held by a U.S. Jersey by 115 lbs. of butterfat. Cherry calved in exactly 400 days from the start of her record to fulfill the second requirement and she has been officially classified as "Excellent, the highest attainable rating for conformation to meet the third requirement.

Cherry's record was made in the herd of a small farmer under practical conditions. The owner and his son John run the farm and milk less than 20 head.

Ottawa Outing In July For C. Club Members

Boys and girls of the three local calf clubs have a bus trip in store for them, probably during the first week in July, as arranged in outline Wednesday night by directors of the Federation of Agriculture and a delegation from the Kiwanis Club.

The same sponsorship took them to Ontario Agricultural College last year. Next month they are going farther afield, with a visit to Central Experimental Farm as a feature. Wives of some of the members of the committee will go along to take the girls under their care.

The youngsters are being asked to save up two dollars each in the meantime for expenses of the longer distance.

There is another reason for this charge. The membership is increasing, and it was thought that, with increased costs, the supervising organizations might come to the stage where the amount might discourage continuance of the project. On the other hand, if the boys and girls make some contribution that prospect would not likely develop.

Members of the sponsoring committee are Peter Mather, Wilson Gemmell, and Fred Stenson of Kiwanis, and W. W. Dawson, John Kitney, and Lorne Reynolds of the Federation.

Frank C. Paterson thanked the two groups for their sustained interest in the Department's local club work. "We want the boys and girls to get as much benefit as possible out of their club experience, and this is an annual extra that appeals to them. Our Junior Farmers are sponsoring all our clubs. This is the only county where this is done exclusivly. The Swine Producers intend to provide an outing for the boys of the swine club."

Mr. Dawson said the club leaders deserved praise for their active interest in the boys and girls. "One thing about the calf clubs is that parents, seeing their children with two or three heifers coming along, appreciate the the value they have to show for their club work."

Details of the trip were left to the committee. Federation expressed a willingness to assist the girls of Miss Jean Noble's home economics classes "when we get a definite request we can consider."

Power Costs Up $33 Million Without Seaway

CORNWALL, June 15 (CP)—The people of Ontario will have to pay $33,000,000 more a year for electrical power if the St. Lawrence seaway and power project isn't ready by 1956, Robert Saunders, chairman of the Ontario Hydro-Electric Power Commission, said Thursday night.

Mr. Saunders was addressing the annual warden's banquet sponsored by United Counties Council.

"We at Hydro must prepare facilities to produce 6,300,000 kilowatt hours of electrical energy per year beyond 1956," he said.

"That is in addition to our present capacity plus that which will be brought in by our present development program. If this power does not come from the St. Lawrence it must come from steam. That will cost . . . 7 1-4 mills per kilowatt hour."

Even if Ontario should suffer a depression, the power from the St. Lawrence project could still be sold at a profit. Mr. Saunders said he had been approached by a United States corporation concerning the purchase of the whole or any part of the 6,300,000,000 kilowatt hours from the St. Lawrence.

Building Makes Own Lightning

SCHENECTADY, N.Y., June 15 (CP)—New York City's Empire State building not only makes its own lightning but sometimes steals lightning's thunder, a scientist said Thursday.

Dr. Karl B. McEachron of the General Electric Company said the 1,250-foot-high skyscraper often threw off its own built-up charges as lightning, countering thunder - making lightning in clouds overhead.

The action squelches the thunder, McEachron said in a paper read to the eastern summer meeting of the American Physical Society.

The 222-foot television antenna on top the building may increase slightly the number of lightning strikes, McEachron said.

Normally, he added, lightning builds up in clouds and shoots to earth where an opposite electrical charge has accumulated. Thunder always accompanies this lightning stroke.

Because of the height of the Empire State building, the earth's charges become concentrated in a single spot—the top of the building—and shoot off toward opposite charges in the clouds, beating lightning in the clouds to the punch.

North Cavan Schools Give Music Recital

CAVAN, June 15 — (ENS) — Schools of North Cavan area held a musical recital in Cavan community hall Monday evening under the direction of James Gay, music supervisor for Cavan. Six schools took part with an average of 25 pupils from each school.

Bruce Sargent acted as chairman for the program which consisted of massed choruses by the pupils of all the schools and individual chorus by school sections 9, 7 and 3. Donald Winslow of SS 4 (Beechwood) and Joyce Seymour of SS 3 (Fairmount) sang solos. Miss Beverley Patton, Millbrook, was the accompanist for the evening. The Hall was filled to capacity.

Veteran Suffers Broken Back For Eight Years

VANCOUVER, June 15 (CP)—A former RCAF medical officer told Thursday how he spent eight years in pain before medical authorities found he had suffered a broken back while parachuting from a plane before it crashed over Sweden during the Second World War.

Harry Albert Read said that during that time psychiatrists told him it was his mind and not his body that was twisted.

The case, which was mentioned in the House of Commons this week, started when Read parachuted into Sweden after abandoning his aircraft in 1943.

"A few months after I bailed out, my neck began twitching," he said.

Mental Obsession

The doctors told him it was a psychological disturbance — that he was subconsciously turning his head to the right to see another member who had been caught in the bomb-bay doors of the aircraft before it crashed.

Read said he came to Vancouver 18 months ago, finally got an x-ray at military hospital, and learned he had a broken back.

John Blackmore, Social Credit member of Parliament for Lethbridge, brought the case to the attention of the Minister of Veterans Affairs this week.

DVA officials here said the case now is "well in hand" and every "effort is being made to clear up the matter as speedily as possible."

Hastings Chamber Plans Community Sale

HASTINGS, June 15 (ENS)—The newly-formed Chamber of Commerce in Hastings is sponsoring a community auction June 23 in the Hastings community arena.

District residents are being asked to donate saleable articles; donors will be given 20 per cent. of the selling price.

Welfare Service Said Job Of Municipality

TORONTO, June 15 (CP)—Welfare Minister Goodfellow of Ontario said Thursday night that municipalities should continue to shoulder the responsibility for welfare services and perhaps increase it.

He told the Ontario Welfare Association convention that welfare services should not be centralized by federal or provincial governments but should be kept close to the people themselves in the municipality.

He said he considered the proposed new federal universal old-age pension at 70 years without a means test, effective next Jan. 1, a great step forward. But no solution had been offered for the problem of what is to be done about medical services, now provided for persons who receive pensions under a means test.

"I am afraid the Ontario Medical Association is not going to consider giving free medical services to two or three millionaires who, as a matter of right, are going to get the pension. On the other hand, we can't take medical services away from those who have qualified in the past."

Truck Drivers Stage Walkout

WATFORD, Ont., June 15 (CP)—Drivers of the McKinlay Transport Ltd., walked off the job early Thursday tieing up 20 large units loaded with freight for Western Ontario delivery in the yards here.

The transport company, one of the largest in Western Ontario, employs about 30 drivers and has branches in Toronto and Watford. The drivers at both centres brought in their loaded trucks and then called a strike.

Company officials here said orderly picket lines have been thrown around the office.

Cause of the strike was "probably caused by our delay in signing a contract" said Murray McKinlay, manager. The union made no demands, he said.

Negotiations have been in progress between the company and the drivers who belong to the General Truck Drivers Union, affiliated with the International Brotherhood of Teamsters, Chauffers, Warehousemen and Helpers of America.

THE EXPERTS SAY:

Strawberry Shortcake, Big Treat For Father's Dinner

By KAY REX
Canadian Press Staff Writer

With Father's Day coming on Sunday, let's talk about the things the head of the family likes to eat.

If given a choice probably he would leave the salads and custard puddings to the women-folk. Roast beef and apple pie for him.

Strawberry shortcake would probably also go well on a special Father's Day menu:

Ingredients: 1½ cups sifted (all-purpose) flour; 2½ teaspoons baking-powder; one-half teaspoon salt; two tablespoons granulated sugar; one-quarter cup shortening; one egg (beaten); five tablespoons milk; three cups sweetened crushed berries; one-half cup whipped cream.

Sift together the dry ingredients and cut in the shortening with a knife. Add egg and milk. Roll one-half inch thick. Cut dough into rounds and bake on greased baking-sheet 15 minutes in a hot oven.

Split the cakes and spread with butter or margarine. Add crushed berries just before serving. Top with the whipped cream.

Carrots Good Roasted

Any housewife knows that complete oven-dinners are economical. If a roast of beef is scheduled for this Sunday's dinner why not roast potatoes and whole carrots with the meat. Both vegetables are tastier this way and the gravy has a better flavor. Put in the potatoes and carrots when the meat is about half done.

Beefsteak Pie? Just the thing to tempt male appetites. Ingredients: plain pastry; 1½ pounds of beef (round of chuck steak) 4 tablespoons drippings; two teaspoons salt; one-quarter teaspoon pepper; two cups sliced onions; three cups hot water; four tablespoons bread flour; six tablespoons cold water; one tablespoon thick condiment sauce.

Prepare pastry, roll out top crust and chill. Cut beef into two-inch pieces. Brown in hot drippings in deep frying-pan. Add salt, pepper, sliced onions, and hot water. Cover and simmer for two hours. Remove meat to baking-dish. Thicken gravy with flour mixed with cold water. (There should be about two cups gravy.) Add condiment sauce or other seasonings to taste.

Pour gravy over meat in baking-dish and let mixture cool. When meat and gravy are thoroughly cooled cover with top crust. Place pie on lowest rack in oven preheated to 450 degrees fahrenheit. Bake for 10 minutes then reduce over temperature to 350 degrees fahrenheit. Bake 35 minutes longer. Yield six servings.

Eating Habits

Federal Health Department officials say eggs, whole-grain cereals, cheese and fish all are good substitutes for meat—and most of them are less expensive.

The health experts also say that well-prepared food is necessary for appetite appeal.

"Quick cooking with the minimum of water keeps leafy vegetables at their best," they say. "The water in which vegetables are boiled should be used to enrich gravies and soups."

DOROTHY DIX

Narrow-Minded Husband Refused Joint Bank Account

DEAR MISS DIX: My husband and I have chosen you to settle this argument for us: I do all the housework, cooking, washing, cleaning, sewing and baby-tending, but because I don't bring in a weekly pay envelope my husband does not think that I am contributing anything to our support. Hence that the bank account should be in his name alone, whereas I think that it should be in both of our names. He is unfair about it. I am saving and economical and anxious to help us get a start in the world. Can it be that he does not love me or trust me?

Dorothy Dix

MRS. L. C. M.

ANSWER: The fact that your husband wants to keep all of the money in his own name is no indication that he does not love you in his way. The affection of lots of men doesn't reach as far as their pockets and, anyway, men just naturally like to be the purse-bearers because it definitely settle their status as the head of the house.

His Theory Absurd

I fully agree with you that the family bank account should be in the name of both the husband and the wife, unless the wife has shown that she is extravagant and wasteful and unfit to handle money. Nothing is more absurd than the theory that the domestic woman does not contribute to the family support. She gives her labor and performs services so vast and so different that it would bankrupt her husband to pay for them if he had to hire them done.

Ask your husband to sit down and figure out what it would cost to employ a cook and scrubwoman and a laundress and a nurse and a housemaid and a social secretary and purchasing agent, and see how much it comes to in real money.

That should surely convince him that the laborer is worthy of her hire even if she does work inside of the home instead of outside of it. And this does not take into consideration the fact that the wife is the watchdog of the treasury, and that she practices a thousand economies and pinches every penny in a way that no servant would do, but that makes it possible to pile up the bank balance to which her husband is unwilling to give her access.

DEAR MISS DIX: My boy friend, who is overseas, tells me he loves me and wants to marry me when he comes home. I love him very much, but here is the problem. He promised to send me money to keep for our wedding and to send me gifts for holidays. He has never fulfilled his promise. He says he will make up for it when he returns. Do you think he will be a truthful husband if we should get married?

KATHRYN

ANSWER: Don't you read the papers, Kathryn? Don't you realize that our boys overseas have something else on their minds besides picking out presents for the girls at home? And just how much money do you think is left from a soldier's pay after he buys the things he needs? These boys aren't exactly out on a spree, you know.

Don't be so self-centred. You should be the one to do the sending. A box of cookies from home means a great deal more to him than some foreign gimcrack would to you, so get busy in the kitchen, Kate, and mix him up a batch of his favorite goodies and get 'em off pronto!

I don't think you mean to be as selfish as you sound, so I hope this little reminder will make you look at your boy friend's side of the story. I hope you haven't been nagging him about his apparent forgetfulness. Remember, cheerful letters from home and an occasional gift of homey things and useful articles, even those as prosaic as toothpaste and soap, are what our boys in service need.

DEAR DOROTHY DIX: I am confronted with the possibility of an unwanted and uninvited guest. I knew this girl four years ago and even then didn't care much for her. She has two ill-behaved children, doesn't keep them or herself clean, and has no respect for other people's property. How can I keep her from coming to my home?

ANN

ANSWER: Measures of the most drastic type are indicated here. Tell her there's no room for her, or that you're too busy to have guests. If these reasons don't work, simply put your foot down hard on the unwelcome mat and say "No!" Once you let this lassie get in the house, I'm afraid you'll have a hard time getting rid of her.

Girl 21 To Run Summer Hotel At Ojibway

OJIBWAY ISLAND, Ont., June 15 —(CP)— Sondra MacLennan, dark-haired and 21, took over Thursday as boss of the big Ojibway Hotel.

She wants to prove that she can run the sprawling summer resort on this Northern Ontario island as efficiently as any man.

Sondra, attractive and with personality, was born and grew up in the business.

In four years at Cornell University School of Hotel Administration she placed well up in all classes.

Her father, H. Alexander MacLennan, 54-year-old keeper of hostelries for 30 years, figures he made a wise move when he picked Sondra to look after the 56-room hotel and the 42 acres of surrounding land.

Former vice-president, director and general manager of Cardy Corporation, Limited, Mr. MacLennan is returning to hotel interests in Bermuda.

180 Guests

Mr. MacLennan and Douglas M. Young, 48, of Montreal are joint owners of the hotel and the 10 cottages on this island in Georgian Bay waters, 190 miles north of Toronto.

Sondra says 180 guests already have been registered. She predicts a booming season and plenty of work for her staff of 70. Fourteen of them are getting the place in shape for the summer season.

Said Mr. MacLennan, a native of Stratford:

"Mr. Young will be here to look after the accounting. Everything else will be Sondra's responsibility."

Sondra says she loves the hotel business.

"I'm sure women can manage summer resorts as well as men, but I wouldn't be certain the same thing is true for a 1,000-room commercial hotel.

FASHIONS FROM ISRAEL—Seen at the first showing in Montreal of fashions from Israel were many imaginative and distinctive creations. Airwomen's Commandant Has Long Career As Teacher

By CYNTHIA LOWRY

NEW YORK—America's new No. 1 fly-girl prefers boats, trains, automobiles—or walking.

"The smaller the plane the more I freeze," said Col. Mary Jo Shelly. "But unfortunately, my job is an administrator's. Of course I do fly when it's necessary."

A blue uniform is not strange to the new director of women in the air force. She was one of the dozen hand-picked WAVE officers created when that branch of the navy was launched in 1942 and served until half of the female gobs were demobilized after the war.

A good looking blonde of 49, friendly and informal, she looks on her new job as another step in a long career as an educationist.

She succeeds Col. Geraldine P. May. Col. Shelly approaches her new tasks with what would seem to be an ideal background—long experience in teaching young women and in administrative work.

"I don't think that a military career for women is much different from a business career in civilian life," she said. "It makes real demands upon the individual; it provides security, and it offers opportunities for advancement."

[illegible]mes head of the WAF as it enters a period of vast expansion. From a corps of some 6,000 enlisted women and officers it will match the air force's own expansion, multiplying its peacetme strength several times.

Born In Michigan

A native of Grand Rapids, Mich. Col. Shelly determined from childhood to get into education work.

After public school, she attended a private normal school, then majored in English literature at the University of Oregon.

She got her master's degree in education at Teacher's College, Columbia University, and started work on her doctor's degree—which she has never had time to complete.

Later she went on to the University of Chicago, as an assistant to the dean of students.

Two years later her progressive education interests led her to Vermont Bennington College Summer School. Before long she went to Bennington as President Robert Leigh's assistant, from which job she now is on leave of absence.

This was perfect experience for the WAVES and WAF. She entered the WAVES as a lieutenant and retired into the reserve five years later as a full commander. Return to the service as head WAF will give her a one-step promotion.

Need To Educate Housewives On Nutrition

NIAGARA FALLS Ont., June 15 (CP).—There is a greater need for diet education to help housewives balance nutrition value with rising food costs, the Canadian Dietetic Association said yesterday at the conclusion of its annual convention.

The dietitians said housewives should be taught that the relatively cheaper foods—milk, raw vegetables, whole grain cereals and fruits—actually have the most nutrition.

The best means for this type of education were demonstrations and discussions. Pamphlets and published recipes also had a telling effect.

However, housewives had been subjected to many dry scientific lectures on food and there were few really good films on nutrition.

Diet therapy is becoming widely accepted as an important factor in recovery, the dietitians said. But there was a need of more standardization of diets in hospitals since diet therapy was a constantly changing type of treatment due to the many advances made by medical science.

District WMS Meeting Held in Coldsprings Church

COLDSPRINGS, June 15 (ENS) —The annual meeting of the western section of the Cobourg Presbytery Women's Missionary Societies, was held in St. Paul's United Church, Coldsprings, on Wednesday, June 13. There was a large representation.

Highlights of the meeting were addresses at morning and afternoon sessions, by Mrs. A. Roger Self, immediate past president of the Dominion Board, Toronto. She spoke of the great need for clothing in Korea. Her theme was "What we have, share with others." She also told some interesting and amusing stories of her missionary work among girls and boys in the outlying districts of the western provinces.

Mrs. E. Morton

Mrs. E. Morton, Cobourg, president of the western section of Presbyterial, presided.

The responsive Psalm reading was given by Centreton Auxiliary. Mrs. Arthur Jamieson president of Coldsprings WMS gave the address of welcome. Mrs. Lewis of Welcome, replied. She stated that all branches had exceeded their allocation by $5,000.

Miss Little of Port Hope, was appointed press secretary, and courtesy committee were Mrs. Beatty, Port Hope; Mrs. Bate, Cobourg and Mrs. N. Chestnut, Port Hope.

Mrs. P. F. Gardiner of Canton, president of Cobourg Presbytery. introduced the speaker, Mrs. Self.

Mrs. Eldred Lean of Camborne, spoke on temperance and stewardship. She stated the importance of having Christian citizenship in connection with the WMS Auxiliaries

Mrs. Cruise and Mrs. W. Lord, Garden Hill, sang a vocal duet, "The Shepherd of Love."

Mrs. S. J. Gray of Garden Hill, was in charge of the quiet hour. Her theme was "Love is the energy of steadfast will, bent on fellowship." It was taken from Acts 27 based on "God's Musts."

Coldsprings WMS served the dinner. About 105 sat down to well-laden tables. The tables were decorated with spring flowers.

Afternoon Session

The afternoon session opened with a worship service, taken by Mrs. L. McDonald and Mrs. M. F. Ames of Gore's Landing.

Mrs. Paul Harris, Coldsprings, sang a vocal solo, "Just For Today," accompanied on the organ by Miss Edith Hoskin.

The roll call, "The most interesting feature of your work in 1950," was answered by sixteen auxiliaries. The most interest was shown in the packing of bales for overseas.

The offering was received by Mesdames H. McKinley, W. Buttars, H. Davidson and S. Watt of Coldsprings, with dedicatory prayer by Mrs. C. Leach of Fenella.

Miss Edith Hoskin and Mrs. Paul Harris played an organ and piano instrumental, "The Holy City."

An invitation from Welcome was accepted to hold the 1952 annual meeting there.

The closing worship service was taken by Mrs. T. Coyle, and Mrs. W. Smith, Roseneath.

Woman Collects 800 Shakers For Salt, Pepper

KINGSTON (CP).—Mrs. Frank Owen of this city always gets salt and pepper shakers for Christmas—but she loves it. With 800 pairs she is Canada's top collector.

"It all started nine years ago at an auction sale," says Mrs. Owen. She bought a box of junk for five cents and found it contained six shakers, one pair and four odd ones, so she started collecting them. All those in her collection are matched except for the original four.

The original matched pair was a cheap aluminum set in a matching stand. The value of the sets in her collection now ranges from 10 cents to $24 for a set fashioned like a tiny sugar bowl and cream jug in crystal with platinum tops.

Mrs. Owen, who believes she is the only Canadian member of the "Good Neighbor Salt and Pepper Club," has sets which look like tiny clowns, bears, skunks, penguins and sunfish. There is the goose and the golden egg, ice cream cones, cobs of corn, hot dogs and hamburgers.

What Mrs. Owen wants most now is a kangaroo (salt) with a baby kangaroo (pepper) in the pouch.

Audrey Hustwitt

Regular meeting of the Swimming Committee of the YWCA was held Wednesday afternoon in the Green Room with convener Mrs. Walter Perks presiding.

Tea served at the conclusion was in honor of Miss Audrey Hustwitt who has been swimming director for the past two years and is leaving that position June 30th. Mrs. Perks presented a gift on behalf of the committee and extended wishes for success in her work at PCVS next year.

Miss Hustwitt reported that final rehearsals are now being held for the water fantasy "Magic Pool" to be presented Monday and Tuesday evenings, June 25 and 26, in the YW pool. Mrs. B Epston is in charge of the costuming. Arrangements were made to have the committee members assist during the shows.

Pupils Give Norwood Recital

NORWOOD, June 15 (ENS)— The pupils of Mrs. J. H. Caskey, Mrs. J. Burtt and Mrs. Fred Tredree recently held a recital in the church. This was sponsored by the IODE and at the close of the program the members provided candy for the children. The pupils presented each of the three teachers with flowers.

The Rev. R. D. Duncanson was chairman for the evening. Mrs. John Knox sang two solos and Mrs. Russel Gardner and Mrs. Cecil Black sang a duet. They were accompanied by Ronald Robertson, organist; John Knox, violinist; Elfrieda Jenkins and Joan Stackhouse, pianists. Of special interest to the piano enthusiasts were the two piano quartettes, the piano duet and the piano and organ duet. One quartette was played by Esther Edmunds, Patricia Atkinson, Margaret Clark and Ann La Brash, while the second one was played by Barbara and Doris Brown. Joan Stackhouse and Gloria Gardner.

The piano duet was by Ronald Robertson and G. B. La Brash. Elfrieda Jenkins and Ronald Robertson pleased the audience with a piano and organ arrangement of MacDowell's Scotch Poem.

Jell-O Jewels

Thrifty enough for any day!

SPICED JELLIED PEACHES

Famous Jell-O economy makes this spicy salad easy on the budget, as well as a feast for the eyes.

¾ cup canned peach juice
¼ cup vinegar
½ cup sugar
12 cloves
1 stick cinnamon
12 canned peach halves
1 package Orange Jell-O (Its flavor is pure fruit from real oranges)
6 maraschino cherries, diced

Combine peach juice, vinegar, sugar, spices; bring to boil. Add peaches. Simmer 10 minutes. Remove peaches, strain syrup; add hot water to make two cups. Dissolve Jell-O in hot liquid. Chill until slightly thickened. Add cherries. Arrange peaches in individual moulds. Cover with Jell-O mixture. Chill. 6 servings.

CHEESE CUBE RELISH

[illegible] flavor from real [illegible] makes this Lime Jell-O relish so tangy—delicious out of all proportion to the time and money it takes! Prepare 1 package Lime Jell-O. Add ½ teaspoon salt, 4 teaspoons vinegar. Chill. When slightly thickened, fold in 1 cup cheese, (cut in small cubes), ½ cup finely chopped sweet pickles. Half-fill individual moulds, and chill. 12 servings.

GRAPE ZIP

With fresh-tasting Jell-O, this delightfully zestful dessert is so good, yet exceptionally economical. Dissolve Lemon Jell-O in 1 cup hot water. Add 1 cup grape juice. Chill. When slightly thickened, set in bowl of ice water; beat with rotary beater until thick. Chill in dessert glasses. So tangy, so tasty — because the flavor of Lemon Jell-O is pure fruit from real lemons. 6 servings.

FROSTED JELL-O

A dessert that can't be equalled for results, with such speed and ease! Make it with any one of Jell-O's seven delicious "locked-in" flavors. Dissolve 1 package Jell-O (any flavor) in 1¾ cups hot water. Chill. When slightly thickened, add 1 pint vanilla ice cream, cut in pieces. Beat with rotary beater until of whipped cream consistency. Chill. 6 servings. A delightfully different "surprise" dessert!

MARY MOORE SAYS:

Pie Crusts Contain Water Hence Shrink When Baking

Mrs. W. E. S. has brought Elsie's Fluffy Frosting into the limelight again. It seems that after four trials hers still will not thicken.

So—I move from the desk to stove to make up two batches of Elsie's Fluffy Frosting. (The measure of my devotion can be taken when you know that I used my last two eggs and the egg man does not call again until after breakfast tomorrow morning.) I did what I suspected was wrong with Mrs. W. S. E.'s and sure enough it flopped: the melted mixture of butter and chocolate (2 tablespoons of each) was not cold enough. It must not be chilled in refrigerator but it must be as cold as room temperature before rotary beating is begun—no artificial heat may be left in it melting the chocolate and butter.

I went through the whole process twice and let it cool the second time for 1½ hours when it was truly cool through. It was in the top part of my stainless steel double boiler standing on the white tile counter for 1½ hours. I took the temperature when it was 70 deg. Fahr. and since that is room temperature in most people's homes I added the 1⅛ cups unsifted icing sugar, on this I dropped the unbeaten egg, I poured ¼ cup cold whole milk around the edges, stirred it with a spoon to mix, then started beating with the rotary beater. (An electric beater will do too). It was fluffy and double its size in the bowl in 3 minutes. If this does not work for you reduce the milk to 3 tablespoons ice cold milk.

Further to Mrs. W. S. E.'s letter; pie crusts shrink because they contain water, which evaporates when heated as you know. Try baking your pie shells on bottom of pie plates, then when baked they will fit almost perfectly on the inside of the pie plate, ready to fill.

✧ ✧ ✧

QUESTION: I am expecting some company this summer, one of whom is diabetic. I did get some sucaryl tablets. I have been told that I could get some recipes on cake baking etc. with sucaryl tablets from your paper. Do you have pamphlets for sale, telling how to use them? I also would like to know if one dissolves them in milk to use on fresh fruits. If you do not have this information I would be pleased if you could tell me where I can obtain it. Thank you. Mrs. Charles N.

ANSWER: Sucaryl will dissolve in liquids of room temperature but does so more slowly than when added to hot liquids such as tea or coffee. When to be used in iced drinks add it to them before ice is added.

In making cakes no recipes have as yet been worked out. It can be used however, in such flour mixtures as bran muffins where the total sugar content is low anyway and the texture of the baked product is not effected. Use the following recipe for making

Muffins (using sweetener for diabetics—not sugar)

Two cups flour, 3½ teaspoons baking powder, ½ teaspoon salt, 5 sucaryl tablets dissolved in 1 cup milk at room temperature, 1 egg, 3 tablespoons butter. Mix and sift flour, baking powder and salt, beat egg and add milk with dissolved sucaryl to it. Make a depression in the flour mixture in the bowl and pour the milk and egg, then melted butter into it. Stir as little as possible to barely mix it. Turn into well-greased muffin tins. Bake at 480 deg. Fahr. 25 minutes.

If your diabetic guest cannot have such a high wheat flour content in his breadstuffs substitute ¾ cup bran for ½ cup of the flour. In some communities you can buy flour that is low in starch content for baking for diabetics.

6—In Memoriam

BUCHAN—In loving memory of Margaret Buchan, who passed away June 15, 1947:
On and oft our thoughts do wander,
To the grave not far away.
There we laid our dear mother
Just four years ago today.
—Ever remembered by her son and daughter-in-law and grandchildren.

CHASE—In loving memory of Ernie Chase, who passed away one year ago today.
What would I give to clasp his hand,
His happy face to see,
To hear his voice and see his smile
That meant so much to me.
—Always remembered by his sister Beatrice and brother-in-law Jack Edwards.

CHASE—In loving memory of our darling son, Ernest George Chase, who went to rest with our sorrow, June 15th, 1950.

195 Pupils

"I was told that he understood his business and that I did not need to tell him how to run it. Also that he was sick and tired of parents calling him up, and the whole conversation was most unfriendly."

Mr. Myers said both he and the business he represents pay substantial taxes to support the public schools.

"I feel that the least I should receive its courteous treatment from one of the Board of Education employees."

The other four letter-writers gave similar reasons for not wanting their children transferred from Queen Mary. Several of them pointed out in addition that there are 38 pupils attending Queen Mary from adjoining townships—28 from North Monaghan and 10 from Smith.

These parents felt that city children should have priority in the schools.

G. Wilson Craw said the board had nothing to do with the North Monaghan pupils coming in. An agreement was made between the city and North Monaghan when sections of that township were expropriated. Parents of these pupils pay a full levy.

Fairest Method

Mr. Wightman said the point was that the board could not afford to pick and choose pupils for certain schools, nor make exceptions to a rule. He thought the fairest thing to do was allocate a definite area for certain pupils and make no exceptions.

Stanley Adamson did not disagree but he recommended that the secretary of SS No. 1, Smith township, be asked to submit a complete roster of pupils for the Board's approval before the next school year begins. This recommendation passed as a resolution.

Mr. Craw said there might be twice as many Smith pupils wanting to attend this year.

"If SS No. 1 Smith can keep getting away with sending their children to city schools, they'll never build their own," he predicted.

W. B. Gordon spoke in favor of setting up a certain area for pupil attendance and then sticking to it.

Should Approve

"I can see the logic of setting a geographic limit," he said. "If you start discriminating it isn't right and it isn't fair. If this transfer is worked out on a mathematical basis with the approval of inspectors and principals, then the Board should approve it."

"We all regret this transfer," said Mr. Gordon, "and we can see the parents' point of view, but we can't see how the board can deviate."

No Crossing

One favorable [illegible] out: children transferred to Prince of Wales will no longer have to cross Charlotte St.

Dr. Russel Morgan agreed with Mr. Gordon but he said that care should be taken to explain the matter fully.

"Parents have every right to know why this move was necessary and every effort should be made to explain it," he said.

A full letter of explanation will go to all of the parents of the transferred children.

Mr. Wightman said that this year about 20 Grade IV children must be admitted to Queen Mary from Parkhill school. And Mr. Scrutton, handicraft teacher, will be given back his classroom. To do this the school needs to be relieved of about 60 pupils, approximately the number living south of Charlotte St.

Overcrowding Worse

Overcrowding will be worse than ever in Confederation school this September, he predicted. To carry on at all a number of pupils had to be sent to King Edward. So 71, living on Edison and Brioux Aves., will be shifted.

To help overcome the objection to the children having to cross Lansdowne St. the Board decided to apply to the police commission for a safety man at the Lansdowne Park St. corner. There are already traffic lights at the intersection but the Board felt that the addition of a safety man would reduce even further the possibility of an accident.

To accommodate pupils from Confederation, a number of pupils attending King Edward will have to be sent to Prince of Wales where there is extra room because of the opening of the annex. Many of the 64, slated for transfer, had previously attended Prince of Wales before the annex was built and had to be shifted when the school became overcrowded.

Rev. T. G. Husser Leaves Millbrook To Go To Aylmer

MILLBROOK, June 15 (ENS)—The Rev. T. Garnett Husser, pastor of St. Andrew's Church, Millbrook, and the United Churches of Cavan township will preach his last sermons in the district Sunday.

He has accepted a call to Aylmer, Ont., where he will be inducted June 28.

Mr. Husser graduated from Victoria College and Emmanuel College in 1935 with BA and BD degrees. Most of his earlier education was received at Sarnia schools.

First Charge

His first charge in the United church was Romney- Glenwood near the town of Wheatley in Kent county. After four years, he moved to the Calvary charge south of Sarnia, and from there to Putnam, near Ingersoll, where he served for five years. From there he was called to Blind River in Algoma where he spent four years before coming to Millbrook.

His experience has been a wide and varied one. In his four years with the lumbermen trappers, and guides of the north, he shared much of the tough dangerous life they led.

REV. T. G. HUSSER

Seven years of his ministry were spent on four point charges, preaching four and sometimes five times each Sunday. All of his ministry, with the exception of the last two years in Millbrook, has been spent in the London conference where his father, the Rev. James Husser, Ph. D. served 51 years.

Town of 4,000

In going to Aylmer, Mr. Husser will return to the London conference, within 15 miles of his former charge at Putnam. Aylmer is a town of 4,000 people where several industries are located. Mr. and Mrs. Husser have four daughters, Marie-Claire, Marlyn, Mariel-Mae and Pamela ranging in age from 15 to seven.

Mr. Husser has held the position of Dominion high chaplain of the Canadian Order of Foresters for a number of years, since 1942.

While in Millbrook, he has been active in boys' work. He was president of the hockey association and leader of the Trail Rangers boys group. He has been keenly interested in all phases of young people's work.

Ask Hospital Space For Accident Victims

LINDSAY, June 15—Lindsay's Ross Memorial hospital should provide space for accident victims, an ex-warden of Victoria county urged at a recent meeting of the county council.

Wilbert Worsley, now reeve of Fenelon township and a former warden of the county, made the suggestion while council was considering an agreement with a Lindsay private hospital for the treatment of indigent patients.

Mr. Worsley said he had been in Ross Memorial hospital several times and found accident victims waiting in the halls for the night and sometimes for as long as 24 hours. He suggested an arrangement which would allow the hospital to have the necessary space for any emergency patients.

Joseph Holtom of the private hospital pointed out that operating costs were lower at his hospital than at public hospitals. He indicated he was willing to enter into an agreement with council for the treatment of indigent patients.

Finally Makes Grade

SAN PEDRO, Calif., June 15—(AP)—It took a little while, but great grandpaw finally got through junior college. Actually, it didn't take Clarence A. Gasser any longer to get through. It just took him longer to get to it. He's 55. The cheers of five generations rang out as he received his diploma at Harbor J.C. Thursday. On hand were his proud mother, wife, daughter, granddaughter and great grandson, 18 months old.

LIBERAL NOMINEE—Norman Wright, 45-year-old high school teacher, is Liberal candidate in the June 25 by-election in Winnipeg South Centre. A veteran of the R.C.A.F., he enrolled and graduated from the University of Manitoba after his discharge. He is a native of Manitoba.

Illegal Seizure

HAVANA, Cuba, June 15 (AP)—A minor court held Thursday that the Cuban government had acted illegally in seizing and closing the Communist newspaper Hoy last August. It ordered the government to return the property and pay damages. Communists announced plans to demand immediate return of the newspaper building and properties, idle since the government's seizure.

Get Parking Meters

NEW YORK, June 15 (AP) — The city board of estimate Thursday authorized the purchase of 1,500 parking meters for installation in five test areas. Meter rates will be 10 cents an hour except in Queens. There a dime will permit two-hour parking.

New Jet Plane

FARMINGDALE, N.Y., June 15 (AP) — Republic Aviation Corporation announced the first jet fighter plane fully equipped for mid-air refuelling by tanker planes now is rolling off the production line. Republic said the plane—designated the F-84G—heralds the start of a new era of increased flexibility and nobility for U.S. Air Force fighter planes.

Polish Immigrant Cleared By Police

COCHRANE, June 15 —(CP)—Police said Thursday that a 32-year-old Polish immigrant is not the man they want in connection with the hatchet-slaying of a Toronto woman last week.

Officers said they are sure Alfred Zalewski had no part in the killing of Mrs. Gertrude Derkison, whose body was found in her mid-Toronto hardware store.

Zalewski, however, is being held on a vagrancy charge. Police said they will hold him until Toronto officers check details of his account of his movements while in Toronto.

Actor Mobbed

LONDON, June 15 (Reuters)—American movie star Burt Lancaster, 37, arrived here Thursday and was promptly mobbed by admiring bobby-soxers. A reporter asked Lancaster, en route to Italy to make a new picture, to describe his own sex appeal. Replied Lancaster candidly: "I'm tall. I have a very strong face and a good physique. I move gracefully—and I'm a man."

Costain A Builder Festival Of Britain

The page advertisement of Richard Costain Limited in the program book of the Festival of Britain, relates to the work of the family of Mr. oJhn Costain who came to Peterborough from London about the time of the First World War.

The "ad" says: "The South Bank reconstruction for the 1951 Festival of Britain was completed by COSTAIN on time!" They are building and Civil Engineering contractors of long experience and standing. Head office is in London with branches in Turkey, Middle East, Rhodesia, Uganda and Nigeria.

Mr. John Costain remained for some years, and for a time was employed with Henry oHpe Co., manufacturers of steel products, especially window frames. His son, Richard, has since then grown up to take his place in the company. He was only a small boy when his parents were in Peterborough, living in the south end of the city.

New York People Seek Out Kawarthas

The Peterborough Chamber of Commerce received a letter today from the Canadian Government Travel Bureau, New York City, asking for 100 chamber booklets entitled "Call of the Kawarthas."

This will be the third batch of booklets that have been forwarded to the office in New York.

Allan Field, New York office manager, stated that the bureau receives approximately 2,000 enquiries per week about Canadian tourist accommodation and a great number of these are for information about the Kawartha area.

Agreement Reached

HIBBING, Minn., June 15 (AP)—A six-day "fishing trip" by some 3,000 Cleveland Cliffs Iron Company miners in Minnesota and Michigan drew to a close with announcement Thursday night of an agreement signed by the company and the United Steel Workers Union (CIO). The miners left their jobs Saturday, saying they were "going fishing." Actually, they walked off in a dispute over evaluation of various jobs in the mines.

Bancroft Boy's Body Recovered

BANCROFT, June 15. — Gary Wayne Sararas was drowned Wednesday in the York River. His body was found at a bend in the river south of the village.

He was missed by his mother at 11.15 a.m., Wednesday, and she reported it to her husband. Mr. Sararas, assisted by Provincial Police and fellow workmen, began a search. An hour later the body was found.

Coroner Dr. O. W. Anderson decided an inquest was not necessary. Gary is survived by his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Morton Sararas, and three brothers and sisters, Freda, 13, Donald, 11, and Alvin, 9.

Meat Store To Expand Into New Supermarket

Buehler Brothers Ltd., 326 George St., will expand their retail business into a supermarket in the premises of the E. C. Braund store at 174 Charlotte St.

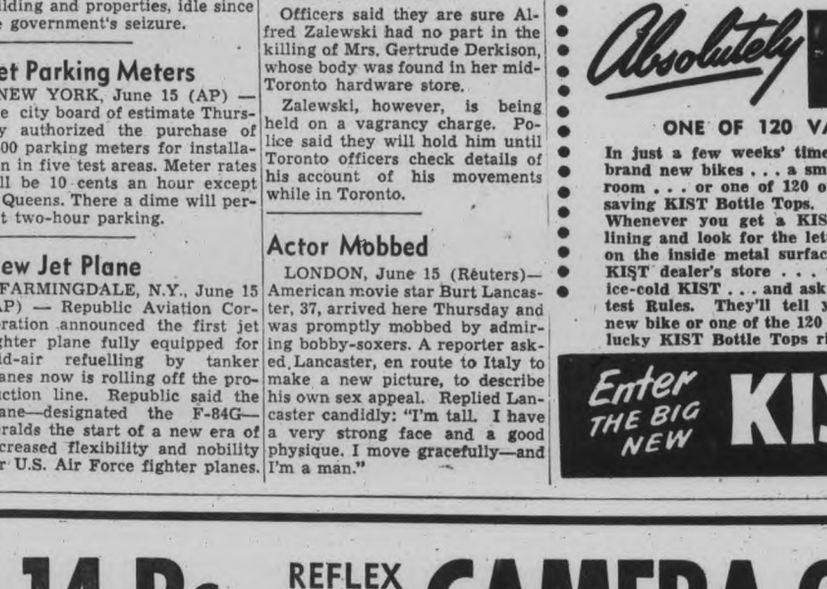
Mr. Charles Miller, manager, today confirmed the report that has been associating Buehlers with the new proprietorship of the Charlotte St. site.

Mr. Braund is announcing today that Saturday June 16 will terminate his retailing on Charlotte St. He is retaining his retail grocery business in the seven neighborhood stores of the Braund chain, including the down town store, 429 George St., for years known as the E. F. Mason store.

"It may be two or three weeks before Buehler Brothers move into the Charlotte St. building," Mr. Miler said. "We did not intend to mention it just now, but I suppose the news has been getting around."

Buehler Brothers have eleven retail stores in Ontario.

Won't Sponsor Team



CORNWALL, June 15 (CP)—Failure of a fund-raising campaign has forced a committee of local sportsmen to drop sponsorship of the Cornwall Canadians in the Border Baseball League. The Canadians, league leaders, have been playing to small crowds here and the original owner, T. P. Gorman of Ottawa, dropped the franchise three weeks ago.

Woman Found Stabbed In 2nd Brantford Murder

HOME FOR AGED BURNS—Thirty-two persons died and at least 13 are missing following the three-alarm fire which swept Hospice Ste. Cunegonde, a home for the aged and orphanage, on Atwater Avenue in Montreal Friday afternoon. Fire broke out shortly after noon in the five-storey stone and wood building. This photo shows firemen pouring water into the blazing structure from aerial towers.

Iranians Give Britain Extra 48 Hrs.

Promise Surprise To Officials, US Ambassador Helps

TEHRAN, Iran, June 16. — (AP) — Premier Mohammed Mossadegh today promised Britain an additional 48 hours in which to reply to Iranian demands that all British oil profits here be turned over to Iran. The promise came as somewhat of a surprise, since Iranian negotiators had been insisting on a definite yes or no answer by Sunday morning. American ambassador Henry F. Grady had described the situation as crucial, before Mossadegh acted.

The extension — until Tuesday — was granted upon Grady's personal intercession. He appealed to Mossadegh not to wreck the conference by holding to the Sunday ultimatum.

The premier sent back word that he appreciated Grady's neutral position in the critical dispute and would accept his recommendation. Up to then it had appeared the conferences on the future of the Anglo-Iranian Oil Company might collapse before they got started.

Kazem Hassibi, undersecretary of the finance ministry and a member of the oil negotiating committee, told reporters Friday night "we demand a definite answer, yes or no, on Sunday morning to our requirement that the AIOC (Anglo-Iranian Oil Company) negotiating team instruct the company to pay us its profits from its oil sale."

Hassibi said that unless Britain agrees to the conditions, there will be no further talks and the negotiators "might as well go home."

Enough Time

He added that the delay in the talks from last Thursday until Sunday is giving the Britons "enough time" and that the Iranian delegation cannot wait any longer.

Commenting on the Iranian ultimatum, Grady said "I don't see why there is need for this great hurry." He warned that a breakdown in negotiations at this point "could lead to chaos."

The American envoy has adopted the role of mediator in the dispute.

Iran demands—as a condition the AIOC turn over 75 per cent of its profits and deposit the other 25 per cent from which to meet

Father Drowns

DORCHESTER, Ont., June 16. (CP) — Roy Friedy of Dorchester, Ont., 31-year-old father of five children, drowned early today in the Dorchester mill pond, despite efforts to save him. Body of Fiedry was recovered three hours after he fell down a five-foot bank into the weed-choked pond, formerly used as a swimming spot.

Truck, Transport Collide, 2 Men Injured

Two Toronto men were injured, one seriously on Highway 2 early Friday night when their truck collided head-on with a transport driven by David Livingstone, 38, 339 Aylmer St.

Driver of the truck, which was completely wrecked, was Joseph Baker, 23, Glen Lake Ave., Toronto. He received a fractured kneecap and other minor injuries, and he is in Bowmanville hospital.

His passenger, William Beattie, Harvey Ave., Toronto, is in Western hospital with a severe brain injury, fractured jaw, dislocated fingers and other body injuries.

Near Newcastle

The accident occurred two miles east of Newcastle when the eastbound truck collided with the westbound Toronto-Peterborough Transport, driven by Livingstone. The truck was wrecked and the front end of the transport was damaged.

Livingstone was not injured.

OPP Corporal Keith Collins and Constable Al Hardy, Bowmanville, investigated.

Air Squadron Switches To Base At Dorval

OTTAWA, June 16 (CP) — Canada's 426 Thunderbird Squadron, which has flown 14,000,000 accident-free miles in 11 months of carrying troops and supplies for the United Nations, will have a longer haul on the Korean airlift from now on.

The squadron is switching its base from McChord Field near Tacoma, Wash., on the west coast to Dorval, Que., outside of Montreal.

The 12 aircraft and 400 men are scheduled to move to Dorval today.

An RCAF spokesman said Friday night the squadron is returning to its former home base because it is felt obligations to the United Nations can be carried out as easily from Dorval as McChord and a the same time the squadron will be available for other service.

Cuba Nationalizing Railway System

HAVANA, Cuba, June 16 (AP) —President Carlos Prio Socarras says he will ask Congress for legislation to nationalize Cuba's railway system — now largely British owned.

The announcement was made Friday night to hundreds of workers milling in front of the presidential palace as part of a country-wide demonstration asking for nationalization of the railways.

[illegible] red nationalization because those who have managed the system have destroyed it" to a point where the worker's lot was jeopardized.

Cuban railways have been in financial difficulties for several years. The government has been forced to subsidize the system during the last three years in order to avert wage cuts.

Body Left In Truck OutsideHome

Husband Away Fishing At Bobcaygeon; Owner of Truck Held

BRANTFORD, June 16. (CP) —A 27-year-old woman was stabbed to death early today in Brantford's second slaying in a week. The body of Mrs. Violet Thompson was found at 2:30 a.m. in a light delivery truck outside the home of her estranged husband, Charles Thompson.

Police held the owner of the truck, 27-year-old Donald Devereaux for questioning. They said he had been living with the woman.

A phone call from the truck owner's brother, Jack Devereaux of the nearby Cainsville district, brought police to the scene. They found that the woman had been stabbed in the lower ribs.

Provincial police probing the shooting of restaurant owner Edward Barbarian earlier in the week were called out in the case.

Inspector R. H. Wannell of the criminal investigation branch of the provincial force had just gone to bed when he got word. He was joined by local officers in a five-hour investigation.

Police said that Donald Devereaux, father of three children, was the only person found near the scene.

Jack Devereaux phoned police from his farm home three miles east of the Thompson home. Police said he declined to say whether his brother had called him first.

Donald Devereaux is an ice delivery man.

Mrs. Thompson worked at a snack bar in downtown Brantford. She had one son, living with relatives.

Thompson was at Bobcaygeon on a fishing trip.

Barbarian's body was found Wednesday night on a district side road with two small calibre bullet wounds in his head. Police so far are at a dead end in the search for his slayer.

Labor Disputes Tie Up Shipping

NEW YORK, June 16 (AP).—Labor disputes tied up shipping in every major sea port area in the United States today.

The seamen in the Atlantic and gulf coast ports did not talk about a "strike" but shippers wondered if any would sail without a contract.

In San Francisco, the American Radio Association (CIO) did not quibble about words. It called a west coast maritime strike as soon as negotiations broke down early today.

A few hours earlier, federal mediators announced their failure to bring the union and shippers together. Joseph Curran, president of the National Maritime Union (CIO) immediately said:

"I expect our men will not sail ships, because they have no contract. I know I wouldn't." The contract expired at midnight Friday night.

Fear Death Toll May Reach 50 In Montreal Fire

MONTREAL, June 16. (CP)—The death toll may reach 50 in the fire which swept through the Roman Catholic Ste. Cunegonde Hospice in west-central Montreal Friday. A morgue attendant said early today at least 32 persons were known to be dead. A fireman said at least 18 other persons were missing. Most of the dead were known to be aged women. Some 200 children and almost as many aged persons—both men and women — escaped. The Rev. Father P. M. Seguin, chaplain of the hospice, said a blow torch dropped accidentally in a time-dried elevator shaft apparently started the fire which in 2½ hours reduced the five-storey, 65-year-old stone and wood building to charred ruins.

Late Friday night, Herve Guimond, assistant police inspector, reported the death toll was at least 30. During the night, however, several more bodies were found, a fireman said.

Early today parts of the ruins remained to be searched.

This, plus the fact that those saved were scattered about in temporary shelters and private homes, made it difficult to establish an exact dead toll.

Normally, the home contained about 200 aged persons, men and women, and some 200 children, either orphaned or with only one parent.

Definite Count

Guimond, when he gave newspapermen the figure of 30 dead was counting bodies he said he knew to have been taken to the morgue and those located in the smouldering ruins of the charitable home in the working-class district of St. Henri.

The fire, which started just before noon Friday, destroyed all records of those who were in the home. It appeared a complete check of the ruins would be necessary before any definite toll could be established.

Overnight the identified dead numbered only six, including the Mother Superior, Sister Rita Gervais, 52, of whom a sister said, "I saw her last holding a fire extinguisher, walking away from me into the smoke and flame. . . then she disappeared."

All the known dead were women.

Two US Jet Fighters In Czechoslovakia

LONDON, June 16 — (CP) — The Czechoslovak government confirmed today that two missing United States airforce jet fighters landed in Czechoslovakia, dispatches from Prague said.

The government said the pilots —an American and a Norwegian —were "well and happy."

The planes, based in Germany, have been missing since June 8.

The Prague reports said Czech Foreign Minister Viliam Siroky gave the first official news of the missing planes to American ambassador Ellis Briggs Friday.

The pilots were listed as Lieut. Luther G. Rohland, an American, and Lieut Bjoren Johansen of Norway. Norwegian authorities said Johansen was training with the US airforce n Germany.

Plan To Make It Easier For Landlord

TORONTO, June 16 (CP). — The Ontario Legislature's Rent Committee favors making it easier for a landlord to regain possession of a dwelling for his own use.

But it is against letting an unscrupulous landlord evict a tenant for the sake of renting to someone else at an increased rate.

It made public Friday, a recommendation, still subject to Cabinet approval, that persons who owned dwellings on or before June 14 be permitted to take over the premises for their own use or that of their families But they must give six months' notice before doing so and they cannot rent the premises to anyone else for a year.

The landlord will no longer be required to prove that he needs the accommodation, a requirement under Federal rent regulations.

The committee, which has visited several Ontario cities to hear recommendotions from landlord and tenant groups, next Monday will return to its task of trying to find a formula for setting rent ceilings.

Attorney-General Porter, a member of the committee, suggested that landlords be given three choices. He proposed they be allowed to charge either:

1—The top rental allowed under the former Federal controls.

2—In Toronto, 1¼ per cent of the assessed value a month, with a higher percentage in municipalities are less than 100 per cent.

3—A rent set by government appraisers.

Election Drive Ends Quietly

PARIS, June 16 (AP). — France's three-cornered general election campaign, which has aroused great interest abroad, ended today without causing much stir at home.

Officials feared many of the 24,600,000 eligible men and women voters will avoid the polls which open Sunday morning. They said the French don't seem to care much who wins control of the 627-seat National Assembly — Communists, right-wing de Gaullists or a combination of the multudinous middle-of-the-road parties.

But Gen. Omar N. Bradley, chairman of the joint chiefs of staff said in Washington Friday that important decisions of western defence hinge on the outcome. A possible meeting of the Big Four foreign ministers also appears to depend on the election.

A small vote would benefit the Communists whose leaders plan to shepherd supporters to the poll, and—to a lesser extent—the de Gaullists who are also well organized.

But the 11 centre parties, who have ruled for five years through a series of shifting alliances, are confused.

Bevan Planning Leadership Bid In Labor Party

LONDON, June 16 (CP). — Aneurin Bevan, Labor's rebel minister who walked out of the government in protest against the budget, Friday launched a bid for control of the Labor Party.

Bevan and 24 other Labor members of parliament announced they will publish a new policy document as a direct challenge to Prime Minister Attlee's administration.

The document, to be published in October, will charge the government with failing to carry out a true Socialist program.

Bevan, then minister of labor walked out of the government April 22. He was joined by Harold Wilson, former president of the board of trade, and John Freeman former parliamentary secretary to the minister of supply.

The new policy statement—to be entitled One Way Only—will repeat Bevan's charge that the rearmament budget ruled out the possibility of creating a true Socialist state. It will suggest drastic methods of halting the soaring cost of living, and will protest that in foreign policy Britain has been dragged too closely at the heels of the United States.

Would Mean Election

If adopted by the Labor Party's annual congress in October, a general election would be almost inevitable, informed sources say.

Some support for Bevan has been expressed in Labor constituency parties and trade-union branches throughout the country. But political experts doubt that he and his followers will be strong enough to swing the party as a whole away from Attlee.

Reds Fight Desperately Keep Escape Routes Open

TOKYO, June 16. (AP) — Rearguard Communists and probing Allied patrols clashed head-on today in scattered battles across the jagged mountains of the east and central fronts in Korea. The Communists fought desperately to save their escape routes to the north as Allied armored forces thrust toward the new Red fortress city of Kumsong. Chinese and North Korean main forces continued to fall back along the front ahead of heavy Allied artillery fire.

The US Eighth Army commander warned that another Red offensive is expected.

In a front-line interview Lt.-Gen. James A. Van Fleet said "the Communists' declared intention is still to throw us into the sea."

"We do expect a third round of the Chinese spring offensive," he said. "The enemy has sufficient enemy reserve units that have not been in contact for some time."

Bloodiest Fighting

The bloodiest fighting Saturday was north of Inje on the eastern front, and in the wooded hills defending the road to Kumsong. Kumsong is 12 miles north of Kumhwa on the west central front.

AP correspondent George McArthur said the Reds northwest of Inje launched two counter-attacks during the day. Both were thrown back.

A pooled dispatch from the west-central front said UN infantrymen captured a strategic hill only two days ago. Saturday, however, they left only a small delaying force on the ridgeline.

In the "Iron triangle" area bounded by Chorwon, Kumhwa and Pyonggang, Allied patrols searched vainly for Red units.

On the sea, the UN suffered their second setback in three days. The destroyer-minesweeper USS Thompson was hit by Red shore batteries near Songjin on the northeast coast Thursday. Three

Chases Monkey Rescuer Rescued

NEW YORK, June 16 (AP).—From the top of a 75-foot pole, Frank Avazzano looked back down—and froze with fear.

He climbed the pole in pursuit of a monkey, Kathy, which had escaped from its cage at an amusement centre.

But once up at the top with the monkey, Avezzano 23, an employee of the centre, was paralyzed by the dizzying height. His repeated cries for help brought a three-man fire department crew.

The firemen climbed the pole. They lowered the monkey in a sack, then tied Avezzano into a rope seat.

The two firemen, perched at the top, slowly let out rope. The other led the way down, painstakingly guiding Avezzano's feet one at a time onto spike steps—about 24 inches apart on the pole.

It took two hours to make the descent.

Pickets Will Bar Customers At Dairy

OSHAWA, June 16 —(CP)— Striking employees of Oshawa's largest dairy said Friday night pickets will bar customers from the firm's retail store today. Forty employees of Oshawa Dairy Company went on strike Friday to enforce demands for a union shop and a five-day 40-hour week. The dairy serves 6,000 homes.

UK Paper Endorses Canada's Protest

LONDON, June 16 (Reuters)— A leading Conservative newspaper today endorses editorially the joint protest of Canada's defence minister and opposition leader against the British government plan to adopt a new .280-calibre army rifle.

The London Daily Telegraph says it hopes the protest will shake the British government's "obstinate determination" to put itself out of step with armament practices of the Commonwealth [illegible] United States and the free countries of Europe.

"The change will conflict with the principle. . . which Brooke Claxton, Canadian Minister of Defence, Friday called "fundamental to the North Atlantic Treaty Organization's standardization program," the newspaper says.

Takes Off On Own Cylinder Kills Man

ATLANTA, Ga., June 16 (AP) —A small metal cylinder in a junk heap suddenly became energized Friday streaking through the air with the speed of a rocket, it killed one man and narrowly missed a woman walking along the street.

Dead was Lennis Dallas, 34. Part of his head was torn away when the projectile struck him after narrowly missing Lela Dawson, 44, as they were walking past an alley near the junk yard.

Police expressed the theory that the oxygen-filled steel container was heated by the sun and jet-propelled itself from the junk heap when a screw type valve loosened.

Accident Ruins Life Girl Gets $45,930

VANCOUVER, June 16 CP).— Vina McHaffie 22-year-old telephone operator, Friday was awarded $45,930 for permanent injuries suffered when struck by an automobile 16 months ago.

"No amount of money can compensate her for the fact her life is ruined," said Mr. Justice W. S. Wood, who assessed damages.

The award was against William G. Macdonald, 27-year-old salesman and driver of the car.

Miss McHaffie, who was in hospital for six months, was unconscious for 61 days after the accident.

Agreement Reached On Spanish Company

MADRID, June 16 —(CP)— Spain, Canada and Britain Friday reached an agreement by which the Spanish government was absolved of charges that it forced into bankruptcy a large Canadian corporation.

Education Minister Jose Ibanez Martin told newspapermen his government signed an accord with British and Canadian representatives over the thorny affair of the Barcelona Traction Light and Power Company.

By this act, he said, was recognized the "absolute reason and justice of the Spanish government's position" when it opposed transfer of all assets, asked by companies grouped under Barcelona Traction.

The big power concern was forced into bankruptcy in February, 1948, by Juan March, who owned a majority of the company's obligations, Martin said.

He said the bankruotcy was enforced by "juridical channels free from any action of the Spanish government."

Possible Paper Combine Investigated By Ottawa

OTTAWA, June 16—(CP)— The Justice Department is investigating a possible combine in the paper industry.

The formal inquiry has been launched into the fine and coarse papers branches of the trade, but it does not include the big newsprint section of the industry.

Informants disclosed here Friday that official hearings in the case will start early next week.

They indicated the investigation has progressed beyond the preliminary stage. That stage is to establish justification for an inquiry—behind closed doors—into whether companies have been engaged in an illegal combine in restraint of trade.

Should a combine be found to be in existence, the justice department may launch prosecutions under the Combines Act or the Criminal Code. In some cases, prosecutions may be launched by provincial attorneys-general.

There has been no hint here as to what evidence has been turned up against the paper trade to justify the formal hearings. Nor would officials disclose what companies are involved.

It was made clear, however, that newsprint producers are not being investigated.

Investigations of the Combines Commissioner of the last few years have involved the match, glass, optical goods, dental supplies and the flour-milling trade in western Canada. The rubber-industry case now is under investigation.

The flour-milling case blew up into a political issue in late 1949 after the Cabinet had refused to act on a report from the then Combines Commissioner—Fred A. McGregor—finding that a combine existed in the flour-milling trade. Cabinet held up the publication of the report beyond the statutory period of 14 days of its receipt from the commissioner. It also refused to prosecute the millers. The upshot was that Mr. McGregor resigned.

Federal Intervention Delays Windsor Plant Shutdown

WINDSOR, June 16—(CP)— Federal intervention has brought about postponement of a two-week shutdown of the big Ford Motor Company of Canada plant here.

Nine thusand of the firm's 11,-000 production workers who had been notified that the shutdown would go into effect last midnight were asked to report for work as usual Monday.

However, Ford president Rhys M. Sale, announcing the postponement, said Friday night in a statement that he saw no likelihood of avoiding an eventual shutdown to enable the plant to adjust to conditions facing the automobile industry as a result of recent credit restrictions.

Mr. Sale said the company was up against many problems because of the credit curbs and had informed the government this week that a shutdown would have to be ordered. He said a quick reply from Ottawa asked the firm to continue normal operations until further discussions could be held with Federal officials.

The company's statement indicated that, even after adjustment to the new situation, there will probably be substantial layoffs and curtailed schedules.

Mr. Sale said his company is anxious to co-operate with the government.

"We realize the situation is extremely grave, not only from the standpoint of the entire nation. Nevertheless, conditions are such that we must make some swift changes to adapt our entire business to the new circumstances facing us."

Mr. Sale said the credit restrictions affect not only the customers' ability to buy but the dealers' ability to finance a stock of cars, as well.

He said the required 50-percent down payment with 12 months to pay the balance prevents thousands of potential buyers from getting the cars they need.

Six Inches Of Hail Crosses Up Forecaster

CALGARY, June 16—(CP)— The weather man did it again!

Last week he forecast warmer weather, and then dumped 16 inches of snow on Calgary, disrupting communications and flattening gardens.

Friday he forecast sunny weather, and what happened?

Hailstones, three-quarters of an inch in size pelted the city for a half hour Friday night. In some areas hail lay six inches deep.

Greenhouses were smashed and property damage is expected to amount to thousands of dollars.

Seize China Ships If Contraband Pearson Pledge

OTTAWA, June 15 (CP).—The government came under brisk Progressive Conservative fire in the Commons Friday for allowing five Chinese-owned ships to fly the Canadian flag on possibly illicit trading runs to Communist-held ports.

In a day-long battle, Progressive Conservative front-benchers demanded that the government withdraw the use of the Canadian ensign from the vessels, which operate between Hong Kong and Red China, and either seize or sink them.

Three cabinet ministers came under attack as the official opposition learned that the operators of the vessels, the Ming Sung Co., trades "throughout Communist China," and, in the words of opposition leader George Drew, "for all practical purposes is a company acceptable to the Communist government."

External Affairs Minister Pearson promised that the government would seize the ships, formerly under the Chinese Nationalist flag, if it found that they are breaking Canadian law by carrying strategic war materials to the Reds.

No War Materials

Incomplete reports from the Canadian trade commissioner in Hong Kong and from the owners, who have offices in Montreal, indicate the vessels are not carrying war materials, he said.

Mr. Pearson and Transport Minister Chevrier, who authorized the vessels' transfer to Canadian registry when Nationalist China fell, promised to give the chamber fuller information later.

Trade Minister stepped into the debate to read a letter from the Ming Sung company which described as misleading a charge by Hong Kong's China Coast Navigating and Engineer Officers Guild, that the ships, manned and officered by Chinese, were carrying contraband into the Red-held port of Canton.

MRS. E. J. SHEEDY of the Peterborough Golf Club is seen receiving the Marjorie DeGraw trophy with congratulations from Mrs. C. G. Graham, president of her club. Mrs. Sheedy won the trophy Friday when she had the lowest net score of a field of 53 entrants in the tournament.

Urge Hangings Done One Place

TORONTO, June 16 —(CP)— Suggestions on capital punishment, including a recommendation that all Ontario hangings be carried out in one place, were heard by the legislature committee on administration of criminal law Friday before it adjourned until June 24.

Provincial Police Commissioner W. H. Srtinger described as outdated the present system of holding executions at county seats, and suggested all hangings be at the Kingston Penitentiary.

W. J. Grummett, CCF member for Cochrane South, suggested a revision of laws to provide for second-degree murder charges that would not carry an automatic death penalty. Sympathetic juries, he said, were inclined at times to acquit persons charged with murder rather than send them to the gallows by a verdict of guilty.

The committee, whose chief interest has been in horse-race gambling, will hear testimony from J. J. Goldthorp, Canadian head of the Daily Racing Form, when it reconvenes.

PLAYED DOUBLE ROLL—When Montreal's Mayor Camillien Houde turned the first sod for the CBC television transmitter building atop Mount Royal recently he was playing a double role. Not only did he officially set the construction work into operation, he also played a leading role in the station's first program. Present plans call for the sod-turning ceremony to be part of the station's first telecast. Shown above beside Mayor Houde is Dr. Augustine Frigon, general manager of the CBC in the metropolis.

RCAF Band Draws Plaudits

The RCAF Training Command Band, Toronto, presented an enjoyable one-and-a-half-hour concert at the civic arena Friday night.

Composed of 36 members, this band was one of the first bands to be organized in the permanent force following the Second World War. The visit to Peterborough was part of a small tour which included a concert in Picton Thursday evening and the band will also play in Galt today.

The music performed at Friday evening's concert ranged from the classical overture of the Barber of Seville by Rossini to the Bobby-Sox Suite by H. L. Walters, under the direction of band Flying Officer C. O. Hunt.

Two solo performances were particularly appreciated by the audience. They were two trombone solos, Getting Sentimental arranged by Eric Ford and Blue Skies arranged by Dale Harpham and played by Musician Percy Peppiatt and two tenor vocal solos by Musician Thomas Magee, "Be My Love", arranged by Eric Ford, and "Stout-Hearted Men" by Romberg.

The remaining numbers on the program were the theme from the movie, "Captains of the Clouds," arranged by Eric Ford; "Slavonic Rhapsody" by Carl Friedmann; Syncopated Clock by Leroy Anderson; Holiday for Strings by David Rose; March From the First Suite for Military Band by Gustave Holst; When Day Is Done by Arthur Schwartz and RCAF March Past by Sir Walford Davies.

COMMUNICABLE DISEASES

During May a total of 215 communicable diseases were reported to the Department of Health as compared to 141 in April. Red measles took a drop from 110 cases in April to 61 cases in May, but the number of cases of German measles went up from 20 to 51, and chickenpox from five to 50. The remaining cases reported in May were mumps, 45; scarlet fever, 4; whooping cough, 3; and septic sore throat, 1.

Britain Forbids Price Fixing

LONDON, June 16 (Reuters)— Retail price-fixing by British manufacturers will be forbidden, Sir Hartley Shawcross announced amid cheers today.

Shawcross, president of the Board of Trade, told the House of Commons he hoped to convince people that it is not an offence to sell cheap. On the other hand, he said, his proposals will not lead to a dramatic price slash or a price war.

Differences between the United States and British economies were believed to be the basis for Shawcross' prophecy. Civilian market goods in Britain are relatively scarce in relation to purchasing power. Hence retailers can sell their inventories without dramatic price cuts.

"We must break the chains which hold back the exploitation of new ideas and techniques," Shawcross said.

Lieutenant-Governor Dies In Saskatchewan

REGINA, June 16—(CP)—Dr. John M. Uhrich, a country doctor who became Saskatchewan's ninth lieutenant-governor, died suddenly Friday.

He was stricken with a coronary thrombosis at his home and died in a Regina hospital. He was 74.

Dr. Uhrich was appointed lieutenant-governor in 1948, four years after retiring from a 23-year unbroken term in the legislature and 17 years as the province's health minister.

Arrangements for a state funeral have not yet been completed.

Dr. Uhrich, born in Formosa, Ont., began his adult life as an Ontario school teacher for five years, then took a medical course in Chicago and began a rural practice at Hague, 40 miles north of Saskatoon.

$45 DAMAGE DONE

About $45 damage was done Friday to a car owned by Howard Tiffin, Chemong Park, when it was in collision with an auto driven by a Toronto man, Verne Dennis. Tiffin was turning off Murray St. into the lane at the rear of the YMCA. Dennis, on the south side of Murray St., was backing up and said he could not hear Tiffin's horn for the roar of his own muffler.

Crippled Flier Gets New Test

OTTAWA, June 16 (CP).—Top flight doctors have been asked to make a thorough examination of Harry Albert Read, war veteran now lying in a Vancouver hospital with a broken back, Brig. J. L. Melville, chairman of the Canadian Pension Commission, said Friday.

If these doctors find that the 36-year-old RCAF veteran has suffered injuries arising out of war service and previously unknown, consideration will be given to increasing his pension, Brig. Melville said.

Read, who bailed out of a bomber over Sweden in 1943, is in receipt of a 15 per cent disability pension for a wry neck.

Fear Death Toll

Children Saved

The children all made their way to safety. The aged men of the home were also reported all rescued.

So badly burned were some of the bodies that identification of the dead, even to the point of determining sex, was often difficult.

The fire took hold with startling suddenness. First, the Grey Nuns led the children to safety. Then it was determined the men were safe. They lived on floors lower than the women and away from the path of the fire which swept up the elevator shaft.

Couldn't Be Halted

The fire was said to have started from a falling blow torch used in the erection of a new elevator in the old building. Once started, there was no stopping the blaze which brought collapse of the roof and sections of two upper floors where, it was feared, more dead might be found.

"It happened so fast it was like shooting a revolver," said 70-year-old inmate Fortunat Taillefer.

"I had just come out of the chapel on the third floor," he said. "I had been reciting the beads. I smelled smoke and all of a sudden I saw it coming from a tarpaulin near the elevator shaft."

His fear was that his 97-year-old mother, also an inmate of the hospice, had perished.

All Ambulances Answer

At one time, every emergency ambulance in Montreal was at the scene. And out of the occasion of death and confusion came stories of quiet heroism.

There was Mother Superior Gervais, for instance. Of her, youthful sister Marie Mailloux said: "I saw her reach for the fire extinguisher. Then she walked towards the smoke. That was the last I saw of her."

The people on the lower floors followed their fire - drill routine and got safely away. But for those on the top floors it was different.

Mrs. Yves Poirier, who lives close by, told of seeing aged people leaning out of top windows screaming for help.

"I saw an old woman leaning out of a window," she said. "For a minute I thought she had fallen to the ground. Then I realized that she must have dropped back into the burning, smoke - filled room."

Father P. M. Seguin, chaplain of the hospice, said there was barely time to save the children. He tried himself to save the Blessed Sacrament. The smoke and flames drove him back.

Father Seguin sounded the alarm which brought the first fire reels.

Keep Light Burning Minister Tells WA

ROSENEATH, June 16 (ENS) —"The Ten Virgins" was the subject of the address given by the Rev. R. C. White at the June meeting of the W.A. of Roseneath United church. In speaking of Virgins who kept lights burning, the speaker said, "will some future historian write of our age that the world was threatened by darkness of irreligion, and the Christians of the second half of the century rallied and kept the light burning?"

The meeting was held in the township hall with Mrs. Harold George as hostess and the president, Mrs. Ford Derry, presided.

Mrs. Fred Norris, treasurer, reported having paid $34.05 toward expenses of curtains for the township hall. Banquet receipts were $80, leaving a balance on hand of $341.55.

Included in the correspondence read by the secretary, Mrs. Earl Waldie, was an invitation from Roseneath Women's Institute to attend the cooking school in the township hall June 20. The invitation was accepted.

Further plans were made to assist in finishing the interior of the front porch on the parsonage

Lay Preacher Told Leave Town

LINDSAY, June 16— A beer-guzzling lay preacher from Creighton Mines has been warned that he must refrain from missionary activities in the Haliburton Highlands or he will do a six-month stretch in a reformatory.

The self-styled preacher is 28-year-old James MacDonald, who preaches the Gospel for the Shantymen's Gospel Association He told police that he delivers the message with no charge or collection being taken up.

His unorthodox behavior prompted Magistrate E. A. Gee of Lindsay to remark that it might be a racket. And he likened the preacher to "a wolf in sheep's clothing, fleecing the innocent."

Evidence sohwed that the preacher went into Haliburton, nicked a local minister for $2, and later got sleeping accommodation in a cabin from the same minister in lieu of a second donation. A boarding-house and the Salvation Army were also taken for $2.

Picked up later in a lumber camp he had only 70 cents. He told Crown Attorney Lorne W. Jordan he had been drinking beer in Haliburton and Minden.

Magistrate Gee warned him to stay out of Haliburton and placed him on suspended sentence for a year.

JUST 58 DAYS AND 12,000 MILES after starting off on a motoring tour of the United States, four Montreal veteran paraplegics arrived home recently with several definite ideas in their minds and a wish to do it all over again. (A paraplegic is a person with an injured spinal cord, causing paralysis of the lower part of the body). They had travelled right across Canada to Vancouver, via the Rockies. The journey took the veterans down the east coast of the United States as far south as Key West in Florida. They crossed Mississippi, Louisiana and Alabama into Texas, and after the peep at Mexico, made the return journey via California. In the photo above, spruced up after a 12,000-mile motoring trip in a hand-operated automobile are, left to right: Thomas (Sandy) Somerville, Don Hutchison (at wheel), Harold Kelly and Bob Hughes. And now they're talking about doing it all over again!

Villages Ask County To Issue Bonds

Lots of questions but very few answers.

That was the snarl county council members found themselves in today when they considered requests from the villages of Norwood and Lakefield for the county to issue debentures covering the cost of building two high schools.

Both villages are having high schools built that will accommodate not only their own students but also those from other municipalities in the two high school districts. Both schools are expected to cost approximately $400,000.

Whose Credit?

The central problem is this: should the county use its greater credit resources to issue debentures covering the cost of the two schools; or should the municipalities in the high school districts do their own financing?

William Grant, reeve of Lakefield, introduced the subject. He said that until recently the municipality in the high school district where the school was being built was placed at a financial disadvantage. It had to issue the debentures, on the strength of its own limited borrowing power, for the cost of building.

He agreed that the Department of Education would later return an 80 per cent subsidy, or thereabouts, and the other municipalities would later pay their fair share; but in the meanwhile Lakefield—or Norwood — would practically use up their borrowing power.

Because of this setup, Lakefield would be unable to borrow should it need roads, waterworks or other projects generally paid for by issuing debentures. This was "unfair."

Greater Credit

Recently, Reeve Grant explained, there was an amendment to the High Schools Act allowing the county, with its greater borrowing powers, to issue debentures if a high school district requested it.

He felt that the county could better afford to issue them as its credit was much greater. And taking advantage of this amendment both Lakefield and Norwood asked county assistance at the present session.

Reeve W. E. Griffith, Belmont-Methuen, raised one awkward question. Mr. Griffith maintained that his municipality had only entered a high school district because of the "rosy picture that was painted by a department representative."

How can the county issue debentures in the name of a high school district that includes municipalities that aren't even in the county? he asked. He pointed out that Hastings village and part of Percy township are in the Norwood high school district.

If They Default?

Could the county collect from them should they default?

F. D. Kerr, KC, county solicitor, shook his head and said he wouldn't want to give an opinion right off on those queries.

Reeve James Gifford, Ennismore, said his township wasn't in the high school districts and he was interested in the county aspect of the problem. He too said that there had been changes in departmental plans and grants since the high - school - district scheme was first proposed.

"We should dump it at the doorstep of the department and make them clarify it," he said.

Mr. Griffith said that originally there had been no ceiling mentioned on the amount the department would pay on the total cost of a school.

Used Trickery

"The whole thing was misrepresented," he charged. "We got into it by the trickery of a government representative."

Another question was whether the county would be liable if any municipality defaulted. Also what guarantee would Lakefield or Norwood have that some municipality would not want to get out of the agreement.

Mr. Grant said that once in it would take a bylaw by the county, approved by the department, to let them out. And as the county was financially involved such a decision was unlikely.

The upshot was that the education committee was directed to consult with the solicitor and find out a few of the legal answers before the county committed itself.

Children Of Seven Schools Put On Show At Millbrook

MILLBROOK, June 16 (ENS) Millbrook town hall was filled for the concert put on jointly by the seven schools of South Cavan on Wednesday evening. More than 100 children took part, under the direction of James Gay, music instructor.

The first numebr was a group of hymns by the massed choir from all the schools. They sang "Now let every tongue adore Thee" by Bach, "O worship the King" by Haydn, "Saviour, teach me day by day" by Handel, "Children of Jerusalem" and "Tell me the stories of Jesus". This was followed by five songs by the junior group.

The pupils of SS 18 where Mrs. Irene Ferguson is teacher sang "The Fairy Piper", followed by "My secret" sung by the juniors of SS 15, Mrs. Violet Hunter's school. George Hubbeard of SS 13, pupil of Mrs. Mary Patton, sang a solo "A cookie for Snip".

A group of songs by the pupils of Mrs. Helen Finlay's school, SS 12, followed. They were "The field daisy" and "Grandmother's minuet".

Girls' Duet

Two girls from Mrs. Hunter's school, Mary Eagleson and Margaret Thorn, sang a duet, "He's my friend" which had been set to music by James Gay.

A suite of bird songs by the whole group included: "Snow winds", "Bluebird's message", "White birds", "The bird's Song", "The robin", "The wise bird", "In the tree", "Robin in the rain" and "In early April."

Frances Elson, pupil of Mrs. Muriel Miller, SS 8, sang two solos "The merry robin" and "The country road"; and Kenneth Olan of SS 15, Mrs. V. Hunter's school, gave a reading "When the minister comes to tea"

This was followed by songs by the following: SS 10, Miss Nan Pitchford, teacher; SS 13, Mrs. M. Patton, teacher; SS 15, Mrs. V. Hunter, teacher; SS 8, Mrs. Muriel Miller, teacher.

Allen Wood, chairman of the public school area board expressed the thanks of the parents to Mr. Gay for the fine work he has done in the musical education of the children of South Cavan as demonstrated by the evening's entertainment. In his reply Mr. Gay thanked the teachers for their co-operation. He said that in educating children it was necessary to give them the things that made life worth living, and that he thought music belonged in that category.

The final group of songs was again by the children of all seven schools.

The Rev. T. G. Husser acted as chairman. The joint choir was accompanied by Beverley Patton. James Gay was accompanist for the choruses from the individual schools.

For Parents Only

Now Comes Father' Day

By NANCY CLEAVER

There was no doubt about just what was father's part in a household in our grandparents' day. He was the head of the house, his wishes were respected, his word was law. When he spoke, he spoke with authority, and he expected his wife and children to listen. From his sons and daughters he required prompt, unquestioning obedience.

In a pioneer society and in a simpler type of community organization from the city of today, children often saw their fathers at work. Many sons at an early age worked along side their dads. Boys and girls admire physical strength and they had the advantage in the early days of our country of seeing their fathers tackle and carry through hard tasks—felling trees, clearing land, ploughing, seeding, building—all the essential work required to make a home in the wilderness.

How different is a father's position in Canadian urban life at the present time! Visitors from other lands marvel at the dominant place of women in society life and in the home. In far too many families the father and mother are not partners sharing in the responsibility of household decisions and in rearing the children. Rather these duties have fallen almost completely to the mother of the family. It is true the father is still the main wage earner, although the family's income, especially during the war years when so many women were employed in munitions plants, is sometimes supplemented by the mother's pay check.

But the father to a greater or lesser degree is in the background and not in the foreground of the home pattern. In many city homes, the father sees his family at an early breakfast and at late supper. In the morning he feels rushed, in the evening he often comes home from work weary and a bit "fed up." His job is vague and unreal to small children who never see their dad at his work.

It is of great importance that the mother of the house sees to it that the father's part appears in the children's eyes as vital to the welfare of everyone. If she can, she should explain the kind of work Daddy does, and that he earns the money for the family's needs. She should encourage her husband to share in some of the tasks of caring for a small child—bathing, dressing and meal times. He may not do things just her way, but his own way is likely quite satisfactory.

Father should have opportunities to play with his son or daughter, to read to them and go for walks. It is a good plan too, when a son helps his Dad in some piece of carpentering or job around the house that needs to be seen to by a man. Small children form their ideas of what men are like from their early dealings with their fathers. How they love to boast about how strong, or how smart, or how well off their fathers are!

The days when children are small pass very swiftly and if a father does not take an interest in his children when they are small by the time they reach their teens he will seem like a stranger to them. It takes time and energy and patience and self-denial to be a good father, but there are few relationships which are so satisfying. The great majority of our juvenile delinquents come from homes where the father is dead or divorced or just "not on the job." Every boy needs a "dad" and so does every girl. Father and mother are partners in bringing up their children, and every home needs a Family Council with both parents at the helm.

Peterborough Business Sites For Business

City taxpayers may consider with some anxiety the suggestion that the old city hall building and site be sold to the Colonial Coach Lines. The bus company is a respected and sound organization, of course, but the reason for concern is this: The property is in the very centre of the business district. It is potentially a large producer of annual revenue by way of taxes. If the site were to be sold to a firm which maintained on it only a small office, and the rest of the land were not built on, would the tax revenue be as great as it should be? Could the business tax be as productive as if there were a sequence of stores and offices occupying the property?

* * *

When the old city hall is sold, the city officials must take into account not only the selling price they get, but the possibilities of annual revenue to the city coffers. They should attempt to ensure that the buyer will be contributing, in annual business and property taxes, what the taxpayers have a right to expect from a central block.

* * *

There is another consideration: the type of business which may be undertaken on the site itself influences the health of the whole business section. For instance, a government building, a parking lot, an art gallery or other uncommercial institutions set up in the midst of a business block creates a gap —a backwater—and reduces the business potential of neighbouring premises. The whole street can thus become less desirable as a commercial site and the rate of taxation on it must therefore drop. Would a bus company office, a waiting-room and a large vacant lot for buses increase or lower the value of the old city hall site? If the lot were sold to Little Lake Cemetery Company as an auxiliary burial ground, this would not be a spur to neighbouring business establishments.

* * *

Two very substantial gaps in business activities are being created down town now. The market square is to become a parking lot. The block at Charlotte and Louis streets is to be used (eventually) for the new post office and customs building. If down-town Peterborough gets too many of these dead spots the whole business section might flee elsewhere. This is not to say that the bus company, occupying the city hall site, would contribute to the decline of commercial activity and the value of properties. The contrary may be true. The bus company might give the corner the fillip it needs. What we are saying is that the sale of the property must be considered very carefully, from the businessmen's and all city taxpayers' points of view.

"Repellent, Unattractive, Monstrous!"

Sir Thomas Beecham, whose tongue as well as superb musicianship keep him constantly in the news, said last month that not in the past 350 years had anyone seen "a more repellent, a more unattractive, a more monstrous structure" than the new Royal Festival Hall on the South Bank of the Thames. Sir Thomas was not talking with his tongue in his cheek; his words come too sharp and loud for that lingual feat. But his acerbity loses some of its sting when one remembers that he spoke only of the outside of the building, for he has not set foot inside. Indeed, one wonders if personal ire had anything to do with his view of even the exterior of the Hall, for Sir Adrian Boult and Sir Malcolm Sargent were the conductors of the opening concert, not Sir Thomas by himself. As a matter of fact, Sir Thomas is not scheduled to conduct any concerts in the Royal Festival Hall.

The hall viewed from without is not attractive, but it is impressive—it made a considerable impression on Sir Thomas. It is a big building with a curiously-curved roof, panoplies of glass, and silhouettes at half a dozen elevations. It is an interesting building and its river front is handsome, with its symmetrical array of masonry and glass walls and windows, and its terrace. The Royal Festival Hall is the only permanent building on the south Bank Exhibition site. It is the first of three or four other major structures which the London County Council expects to erect on the reclaimed marsh. These other buildings will make much of the exterior of the Hall less conspicuous and shield its austerity and lack of ornament.

Whatever aspersions may be cast at the outer fabric, the interior is marvellous. Actually, the simplicity of the external design gives little hint of the care and skill which have gone into every detail of its construction. The Hall stands beside thundering railway lines; yet inside there is no noise and no vibration. This has been achieved by a double-skinned wall, so that actually the interior 'floats' within the outer walls.

The concert auditorium was itself tuned after the building work had been completed, so that from every part of the auditorium the blend of instruments and voices is as undistorted as possible; listeners facing the big horn section do not hear the blares overbalancing the bowing; those near walls get no echo or unwarranted resonance. Some musical purists have said that the sounds are too rarefied, that there are not enough overtones. This is hypercriticism. There is none of the muted thinness one often finds in broadcasting studios. Tones are full, as rich as composer and conductor intend. The orchestral platform has desk-space for 100 instruments, and tiers behind for a choir of 250 voices.

The auditorium is elegant, spacious (it holds an audience of 3,300, though one does not get the impression that such a crowd may be in it), and dramatic in lighting, design and the arrangement of seats, balconies and boxes. The boxes are like drawers in a chest; one feels that they could be pushed in or pulled out at will. Perhaps the boxes provide a new, concrete illustration of the English class-distinguishing phrase "top drawer".

It is an exciting adventure to enter the Hall for the first time. One mounts broad, colourful and modern staircases, through foyers and palatial corridors and lounges. Everywhere is the effect of space and ease. This and the vistas are obtained partly through the skilful use of glass windows and walls. For instance, the elegant restaurant (from whose windows one gets magnificent views of London) is partitioned at various levels by glass walls so that it becomes part of the decoration and liveliness of the halls. The foyer space for all price ranges of seats seems as ample as the auditorium itself. From the foyers one handily reaches bars, cloakrooms and outdoor terraces on upper levels.

This magnificent new musical centre of London is a work of art as well as science. (Incidentally, its architects were Robert Matthew and Dr. J. L. Martin, and its chief engineer Joseph Rawlinson.) Can it be questioned that it is the finest concert hall in Europe? The Royal Festival Hall gives to music-lovers, whether they pay fifty cents or four dollars a seat, a place to hear fine music in conditions of convenience, elegance and splendid comfort (There are provisions even for those who must arrive and listen in wheel chairs.) Royalty could have no better.

A Tax On Intellect?

Canadian publishers and book-importers have expressed dissatisfaction with the sales tax of ten per cent. which is, they say, "a tax on intellect." It is true that no Canadian government has ever given much consideration to the intellectual development of the country, until the appointment of the Massey Commission, and that Commission has suggested that some relief in taxation be granted to the publishers and importers of books. It is true, also, that every Canadian government has imposed taxes upon works of art which are not antiques, entering this country, and that these taxes have had some influence in retarding and depressing the national taste. But we feel that a removal of the sales tax on books would only be a beginning to solving the publishers' troubles; such a relief would not bring the price of books down sufficiently to increase sales by very much.

Our own suggestion for the improvement of book manufacturing and selling in this country would be an experiment in the European plan of publishing books bound only in paper. Binding books is an elaborate business, and it accounts for approximately one third of the total cost of manufacture. And yet the binding of a book is not a necessary part of it, and European publishing houses bring out very attractive books bound only in paper wrappers. People who wish to preserve their books in a more permanent casing have them bound privately, in bindings which suit their taste.

It is said that people on this continent do not like paper-bound books. But it is proven that people on this continent do not like books which cost anywhere from $3.00 upward. Recently we bought a book which was priced at $7.50 in the U.S.A., and which cost us $13.00 in Canada. Such taxation may fairly be called a tax on intellect, and if the book had been in a paper binding the price in both countries could have been decidedly lower and the book (a very fine one) could have been available to many more people.

Publishers must accommodate themselves to the times, and if bindings cost too much, we can do without them more readily than we can do without books.

NOTE AND COMMENT

Diary of a Fruit Fanatic

by SAMUEL MARCHBANKS

SUNDAY: There is an indescribable, pure delight about eating peanut butter sandwiches and drinking coffee in the open air. There is a stuffiness about both the flavour of coffee and that of peanut butter which makes them a somewhat heavy combination indoors; they are oily, strong, and faintly nauseating tastes; they are things you never long for w[illegible] your digestion is out of order. But to si[illegible]ss on a fine June day and champ mouthfuls of peanut butter sandwich, occasionally washing them down with coffee —well, I fancy there will be a good deal of that in Heaven. Fussy people object to the washing down part of this pleasure; they refer to it vulgarly as "swilling". My old school nurse, Miss Toxaemia Dogsbody, Reg.N., advised most strongly against it. But I recommend it to gourmets. And if, by any chance, you are able to add a banana to this picnic repast, you have a treat indeed. Dip the banana in your coffee for a moment; bite it; add a big mouthful of sandwich; float the whole thing in coffee—it was thus that the gods picnicked on the slopes of Olympus.

✧ ✧ ✧

MONDAY: To the movies tonight and as I sat through a double feature I was interested to observe that the audible kiss has come back into fashion. When the first talking pictures appeared, kisses were all of the silent variety; it was just about then that silent plumbing made its first appearance, and there may have been some connection. But now the shadow-folk of Hollywood kiss with a noise like a cow pulling its foot out of deep mud. In my younger days there were two types of kiss: the Romantic Kiss was for private use and was as silent as the grave; the Courtesy Kiss, bestowed upon aunts, cousins and the like was noisy and wet, generally removing two square inches of face powder. A visiting aunt, having been welcomed by two or three nephews, needed substantial repairs. The Romantic Kiss also involved closing the eyes, to indicate extreme depth of feeling, though it often occurred to me that if one cannot see what one is kissing, a pretty girl and a kid glove of good quality are completely indistinguishable.

✧ ✧ ✧

TUESDAY: I see by my paper that police officials warn citizens against shows of heroism when confronted with holdup men. It is possible that if you take a strong line with a holdup man, he will lose courage and run away; it is also possible that he will shoot you. I have never been held up, and I do not know what I would do in such a pickle; I like to think that I would cunningly call the attention of the robber to an interesting bird just behind him, and snatch his gun as he turned to look at it, but the probability is that I would hand over my money, or some of it, in a craven and tremulous fashion. But like many people, I carry such money as I have about me in two or three different places; I should be tempted to hand over the thirty-five cents from my right-hand trousers pocket, while saying nothing about the two dollar bill in my left-hand pistol pocket, and the silver dollar in my lower left waistcoat pocket. If the robber learned of my deception, would he shoot me out of spite? I am very rarely worth robbing, but when I am I am usually in a dangerous, ugly, avaricious temper, and I might be tempted to make a fight for my money. Robbers among my readers, take note.

✧ ✧ ✧

WEDNESDAY: Pondered deeply upon the approaching system of Old Age pensions, which will give us all $40 a month at the age of 70. I am now bonussing babies, and it is with a certain bleakness of spirit that I approach the task of bonussing the aged, as well. Not that I consider 70 old. I know men of 70—my Uncle Fortunatus, for instance—who can wear me to a nubbin with their desperate energy. It appears to me that there are aspects of this Old Age pension which the Government has overlooked. It will, for instance, completely destroy such vestiges of respect for age as still exist. When, in future, some white-bearded grandsire rises in public assembly to give advice founded upon years of wise living, there will be cries of "Siddown, bloodsucker!" from the assembled ratepayers. When a grandmother tries to give unneeded advice about diaper-rash to a young mother, she will be told: "Less lip from you, Granny, and don't you ever forget I'm supporting you!" And the newspapers will no longer interview centenarians to find out what they attribute their longevity to; those stories of hard work and abstinence will no longer carry conviction. Everybody will know that they have lived to great ages because social security breeds ease and calm of mind. It will be the tax-paying class, between thirty and seventy, who will show the strain.

✧ ✧ ✧

THURSDAY: Much has been written about the character and musicianship of the recently-deceased Serge Koussevitzky, but nobody appears to have taken careful note of the fact that he was a virtuoso performer on the bass viol. This in itself marks him as an extraordinary man, for the instrument demands physical strength and muscular control in the highest degree. So far as I know there has been only one other great player of the bass viol, and that was Dragonetti, whose instrument may be seen in the Royal Ontario Museum. He and Koussevitzky raised an essentially comic instrument to the level of the 'cello, the viola and the violin. Not an easy thing to do.

✧ ✧ ✧

FRIDAY: I was looking over an insurance policy which I carry on my few trifling personal possessions today, and noticed that the company does not accept responsibility for anything which happens to my stuff because of what it calls "inherent vice" in it. That makes the policy useless to me, for virtually everything I possess is riddled with inherent vice. I presume that inherent vice means the same thing as Original Sin. Even my inanimate possessions are rotten with it. It is Original Sin which makes my pen leak into my coat pocket, which makes the back seam of my trousers rip, which makes my watch stop mysteriously at a quarter to three at least once a week, which makes my reputedly drinkless pipe save up its goo for one glorious dejection into my mouth, which makes my keys hide in uncharted recesses of my pockets. I do not worry too much about these things: I accept them as part of the world in which I live. But if the insurance people are going to take refuge in theology when I try to get a little money out of them, I might as well put my premiums in the bank, where Original Sin is kept at a minimum.

✧ ✧ ✧

SATURDAY: As I gobbled half a grapefruit this morning I remembered that in my childhood this fruit was a rare delicacy, and seemed to have a better taste; this morning's specimen might have been a potato, for any tang it possessed. All this fruit-eating is a comparatively new thing, and very much a thing of this continent. When I was living in England my craving for fruit was put down to colonial whimsicality. Thousands of Englishmen never eat fruit. Offer them an apple, and they blush, and hint that it would work upon them like a bucket of castor oil. My grandmother never ate fruit for breakfast; she ate fried steak and doughnuts, and lived to be eighty, although the sickly one of the family. But I am not merely fond of fruit: I could not live without it. That is why I resent the extremely commercial attitude of fruit-growers today, who pick their product green, breed it for size and colour rather than for taste, and charge me a smart price for a mockery of God's handiwork. I think I shall grow fruit myself; I have a pretty hand with a currant bush. But no gooseberry bushes, for I am told that babies frequently grow under these, and a baby would disorganize my life completely.

NOTHING TO BACK IT UP

Man And Mob

(Christian Science Monitor)

WHAT lies behind the craving for sensation that can turn a crowd of ordinary Americans into a mob of callous brutes? What made a laughing, jeering crowd chant "Jump, jump, jump" to a distraught youth hovering at the edge of suicide on the high ledge of a Boston hotel last week?

Democracy is founded on a respect for the dignity of the individual human life. Ultimately it is rooted in the conviction that man is more than an arrrangement of atoms, a biological organism, a behaviour pattern—that he is in fact, the spiritual image of God. Behind all the disfigurements and distortions of the human scene this divine fact remains to give meaning and value to the individual—to even "the least of these my brethren."

Democracy today faces on the battlefield a foe which counts the individual human life of little worth. But within itself it faces a foe older than communism; it faces that basic materialism which would rob existence of meaning, would cheapen and degrade purpose to a mere pursuit of sensation.

The lie has a thousand faces. It ranges from the spurious heroics of the gangster film to the glossy advertisements ceaselessly suggesting that life would be intolerable without endless luxuries, endless stimulants, endless things. It is found in the tribalism that prompts racial hates and national prejudices, judging the individual not by his actions but by his label. It is found in all the tendencies that turn a crowd into a mob, sweeping the individual into a torrent of emotion foreign to his own forgotten manhood.

Can democracy afford to rejoice in pictures of the heaped-up Chinese dead in Korea—so many lumps of inert matter hiding the man of God's creating, the man who must be sought out and brought out in China as well as elsewhere? Can democracy call for the use of an atom bomb which would wipe out whole cities without first making every conceivable effort to reach the minds and hearts of those who dwell in the cities?

Always the foe is material-mindedness. When the world itself seems to teeter on the edge of a suicidal leap, brute ignorance may whisper "Jump, jump, jump." But that compassionate reaching out to the individual which finally won the Boston boy back to safety despite the hoots of the mob is an ever-present influence in thought to win man back to himself. It is the glimmering evidence of man's spiritual dominion over the mob's blindness and the atom's boast.

Letters To The Editor

SOB SISTERS AND CRIMINALS

Sir: Your editorial on Wednesday reminds me that some few years ago, a farmer busy with field work near Napanee was killed by a youth for no more reason than to shoot at a living target. A farm helper ran for life.

There followed a sentence of hanging for murder but it was commuted to a limited prison term.

One may wonder whether the petitioners for this, cared to weigh concern for the loss of a useful member of society (maybe one with a family) whose life was snuffed out for a criminal whim. Sob sisters are prone to take short views.

Yours truly,

QUESTIONER.

QUESTIONS ABOUT THE CITY HALL

Sir: As a ratepayer in the City of Peterborough, may I, through your column, express my opinion on the new City Hall?

First of all, why was the building not centred properly? I do not suppose the Public Library will ever be torn down, to build another wing, to the north of the entrance, so we have a lop-sided affair, which also appears to have been erected wrong side around. The Water Street entrance and approach, at the moment, looks more like the front of the building than the George Street front does.

Then there is this $3,425 terrazzo floor, complete with mosaic map of the county, which no doubt, would be unique and very lovely to look at, but no better from a practical standpoint, than the eight hundred to one thousand dollar floor. Rather amusing isn't it that a mere $2,425 is just so much "pin money" to us when we have the privilege of spending money not our own. Yet, if we were building a home of our own, after working and saving over a period of years, that amount would mean a great deal to us.

After all, this new City Hall belongs to Peterborough's citizens, and we wish to be justly proud of it, but, how can we go on to the future, looking upward and forward, with our heads high with confidence, if this building, and other models of architecture in the not too distant past, so greatly exceed the estimated costs, that the burden of taxation will pass on to future generations.

All we would ask of the mayor and the City Council is, to say to themselves, "If this project were mine and my finances must pay for it, would I spend so freely?"

Thanking you Sir, for this space,

A. R. BENNETT.

Bible Message

(From the Authorized Version)

Thus saith the Lord the King of Israel, and his redeemer the Lord of hosts; I am the first, and I am the last; and beside me there is no God....Fear ye not, neither be afraid: have not I told thee from that time, and have declared it? ye are even my witnesses. Is there a God beside me? yea, there is no God; I know not any. (Isa. 44: 6, 8.)

✧ ✧ ✧

For thus saith the Lord that created the heavens; God himself that formed the earth and made it; he hath established it, he created it not in vain, he formed it to be inhabited: I am the Lord; and there is none else. (Isa. 45: 18.)

✧ ✧ ✧

Make a joyful noise unto the Lord, all ye lands. Serve the Lord with gladness; come before his presence with singing. Know ye that the Lord he is God: it is he that hath made us, and not we ourselves; we are his people, and the sheep of his pasture.

Enter into his gates with thanksgiving, and into his courts with praise: be thankful unto him, and bless his name. For the Lord is good; his mercy is everlasting; and his truth endureth to all generations. (Ps. 100: 1-5.)

✧ ✧ ✧

For, lo, he that formeth the mountains, and createth the wind, and declareth unto man what is his thought, that maketh the morning darkness, and treadeth upon the high places of the earth. The Lord, The God of hosts, is his name. (Amos 4: 13.)

Life Of Nero

(The Manchester Guardian)

Melomel, drunk by Nero and Poppaea; pyment, used at the coronation of Harold, the last of the Saxon kings; hippocras, a favourite drink of the French in the time of Rabelais; and bochet, once the mead of the monks of Cluny, are now being made again in Cornwall. The justices of Penzance have confirmed the issue of a licence for the sale of Cornish meads, and on Monday a tavern will be opened at Gulval where those with a palate for the honeyed wines or an ambition to educate such a palate can drink many kinds of mead and metheglin, and only mead and metheglin. It is expected that it will attract Festival visitors.

Beside the bar, in the Hall of the Worshipful Company of Mead Makers, and beneath the arms of that company—two oak barrels and a beehive—under surroundings as medieval as reproduction can make them, those who wish to eat traditionally as well as drink may do so. Food is cooked to ancient recipes such as those in The Goodman of Paris (1393) and the only concession to modern stomachs is to avoid the sin of gluttony: today guilt is incurred more easily than formerly.

You can eat fried rabbit in the Catalonian manner, goose-livers in cyser, partridges with mushrooms and cyser sauce, or chicken cooked in mead and served with white mead sauce and braised parsnips. And to each of the courses there is served the appropriate mead or metheglin.

Mead is within the Anglo-Saxon tradition, metheglin within the Celtic. Both are made, or "meaded," from honey. Mead resembles hock is a light table wine; sack-mead is somewhat sweeter and stronger and can be compared in constituency and use with sherry.

Metheglin, like vermouth, is flavoured with herbs, but in addition to wormwood, thyme, fennel, lemon balm, lavender, rosemary, elder flowers, and so on contribute their flavours and their healing virtues. Sack-metheglin has another quality, perhaps avoided by the connoisseur, but not without its relevance to dollars: it can be mixed with gin.

CAN YOU BELIEVE IT?

Smith was relating his experiences in South America. "I was taking my usual morning dip when I spotted three gladiators making for me, so I had to swim for my life!"

"You mean navigators—something like a crocodile?" interposed James.

"Well, what are gladiators?"

'Gladiators? Why, they're a sort of flower grown from bulbs."

"This type of craft, sir, is very simple to handle—from the look of things it need be."

London Express Service

Young daughter reminded me the other night that her birthday was only a few days off. I couldn't forget it, Honeybunch. There were certain outstanding happenings on your natal day.

It was in Winnipeg. The superintendent of Canadian Airways called me into his office and waved a sheaf of letters at me. The gas cache at God's Lake, he said, was 5,000 gallons short. Would I also nip over to Norway House and glad-hand Bishop Lajeunesse of The Pas who was making his yearly missions call.

I explained to him the delicate situation at home—a baby was to be born. Soon. That he was a family man himself did not cause him to become lenient towards me. The weather was to hold good for three days, the super assured me, and I had BETTER get along with it.

Senimental Journey, Hic——

With Capt. "Scruff" Hollingsworth at the controls of faithful old CF-ATF we took off for God's Lake the following morning, 500 miles to the north. It was June, hot and very bumpy. Our payload consisted of two drunken miners who got sick all over me and the 1,000 pounds of freight. Three and one-half hours of flying under these unpleasant conditions finally brought us over God's Lake. We touched down and taxied to the mines dock. The drunks staggered off to a bunkhouse to sleep it off and I to a washroom to clean myself up.

Together with the agent, the great gas cache loss was finally solved while I checked frequently on radio weather reports.

I boarded a connecting plan for Norway House late in the afternoon and arrived at that historic site at sundown. Through the night a storm blew up from Lake Winnipeg and rain and high winds stirred peaceful Playgreen Lake into a seething sea.

It was cold and overcast in the morning. Engineer Ron Morrison and I hunched down by the old Fur Gate to wait for the bishop and his party to arrive from the mission down the lakeshore. They came ploughing through the waves in a freight canoe to the tethered plane at the same time an old Indian drove down to the wharf with a crate on his one-horse stoneboat.

We met His Excellency and mission Fathers and made small talk until the former suggested that he was ready to take off for Island Lake Mission if we were. And how about loading the crate?

A Bull Sprouts Wings

The crate contained 300 pounds of terrified bull calf. The variety and mixture of freight loads in the bush-flying game caused no concern but the matter of space was our constant problem. So, we skidded the crated animal into the plane's cabin, roped it down and hoisted the bishop and his interpreter aboard and made jump-seat room for them, also in the cabin. We took off, flew a while in a 600-foot ceiling, landed with some mail at God's Lake East and finally came down at the mines dock on God's proper just as a pea-souper settled down.

The bishop was only 80 miles from his destination, while I was 500 miles from mine, and there were no radio signals from the south, or anywhere. We sweated out the afternoon watching the seagulls walk the rocks. The fog lifted before supper and we took off again for the mission. By the time we came over it, there was a clear flaming sunset.

Arrival Recorded in Sound and Colour

There must have been 500 natives beside the Island Lake Mission dock awaiting the arrival of His Excellency. As the plane boomed onto the water several young bucks fired salvos from shotguns by way of welcome. And there was a wild hassle of unloading.

The reverent greetings to the bishop by the lonely Brothers. The chanting of Indians along the bow-strewn path to the chapel. Shotguns blazing away and the church bell ringing like mad. We slid the crate out of the cabin which splintered and broke and released the terrified bull which shot through the surprised natives into the bush. We added to the din with a low roaring take-off and headed south for Favourable Lake, 80 miles away, and reached it at dusk.

The agent was waiting at the dock with a radiogram for me that had just come through his station, "Mother and baby doing well." Young Daughter had arrived the night of the storm at Norway House.

I will always remember your birthday, Honeybunch.

For the second consecutive July 1st week-end, this year July 2nd, there is to be a mammoth regatta on Little Lake in the heart of the city. The Kiwanis boys are the sponsors. They have a very attractive card coming up. Power boat racing, three classes; Peterborough Ornamental Swimming gals; fancy diving demonstration by Toronto's Dolphinette Club; clown springboard capers; Norma Gordon and her water ski school troupe; Herb Cardwell's trick canoeing; tilting by the McIntosh brothers and 1,000 bucks worth of fireworks to wind everything up in grand style. Joint chairmen are ex-Mayor Bill Ovens and Outboard Mariner Johnny Madden. Keep this date in mind. Net proceeds are for welfare work.

John Ahr of Fernleigh Lodge, down in the Land o' Lakes, headed up the lagging North Frontenac and Addington Tourist and Protective Association in Northbrook last week. They hope to bring their resort area to the front once more by all working together. This is good news, for the folks down that way really have something to publicize in their vacation land,—grand fishing, good roads and breath-taking scenery. Ask anyone who has driven along Lake Mazinaw if this isn't so. Among the speakers were J. A. Pringle, M.P.P., Tweed Newsman Sam Curry, foresters A. W. Leman and Bob Sheppard and Carling's Ketch Ketchison.

A Dog-gone Poor Show

Caught a 50-pound whopper off my dock on Sunday evening on the second cast. Kept it, too. Our pet dog sneaked onto the wharf out of the long grass and got on the connecting end of a strong backhand cast. She ran half the length of the line with two gang hooks well set into her rear. Much yelping and tender handling followed. Combined efforts of the family held the pooch down while the plug was dismantled and hooks clipped off with the snippers, all but two. The vet carried on from there with chloroform and instruments. Little wonder the poor beast heads for the tall timbers now whenever I go near the fishing gear.

Wallis Sculpture Comes Home For Good

Katherine Wallis, Peterborough-born sculptress, has come home. That is to say, fine examples of her work of a lifetime as an artist, are now, and permanently, in Peterborough.

Miss Wallis, now in her eighties and living in retirement in southern California where she has long had her studio, has given the residual collection of her sculpture to her native city. The boxes containing the pieces arrived some weeks ago and have been entrusted to Librarian William Graff to put on display before they are permanently exhibited in some municipal building.

There are 18 pieces in the collection. None is large. They range from almost-life-sized rodents to the largest, bas-relief in clay illustrating the text "Suffer the Little Children To Come Unto Me", which is 4 1-2 feet by 2 feet. It is perhaps a disappointment to some that there are no large pieces in the collection; but their modest size puts at rest any fears city officials might have had lest they be unable to provide a suitable permanent home for them.

Charm and Grace

The total impression the collection gives is of charm, grace and quiet skill, by a gentle artist content neither to propagandize nor to astound by virtuosity or magniloquence.

Miss Wallis' sculpture in wood, as seen in the Public Library exhibition, is her finest work, notable among these, carved with consummate craftsmanship, affection and quiet dignity are two decorative girlish heads, a lovely angel and, in this viewer's opinion, the best work in the collection called "Sisters of the Orient". This group of two Oriental women with babes over their shoulders and a girl standing between them, done, it seems, out of one piece of wood, is in outline, detail and mass, exceptionally pleasing. It is a piece one would crave for one's own home. Another interesting sculpture in wood is "Les Parques", a triptych, three hinged panels in bas-relief in each of which a woman is plying a womanly task. Another bas-relief, a wall plaque, which illustrates the artist's mastery, is a scene from Bosnia of peasant women in a wheat field.

Two Lions

The two tussling lions on a central stand in the gallery, are lithe, sinuous; a notable sculpted work.

There is considerable variety in small compass in Miss Wallis' media: clay, wood, terra cotta, bronze, plaster. Her "Masque of Christ", interestingly mounted, is modelled. "The Triple Task," a plaque showing peasant women, is in bronze. There is a delightful Pan, a tiny, charming piece in terra cotta.

This last and other pieces in the collection indicate a gentle humour, sometimes gaiety, in the artist's work; her two amusing rats, for instance, and the soft wood panel "Here She Comes", gay and animated. In the collection is the well-known head of a child, with her doll. "Budding Motherhood" is the name the artist has given this work. It is jocund, charming, and the face is modelled with great sensitivity to childlike tenderness.

Self-Portrait

A complete catalogue of the 18 pieces will be available shortly. Peterborough can be grateful to Miss Wallis for the gift, and it is fitting that the collection should include a fine self-portrait bust in stone.

The sculpture is attractively displayed, which adds to the delight in it. Oscar Schlienger, the painter, now resident in the district, set the exhibits up, and has done some wash back-drops and covered tables and stands with orange-coloured cardboard forms. Charles Saunders assisted him with the design of the display.

Progress of Peterborough: LXXV

"Exclusive" Street Between Two Breweries

By HOWARD PAMMETT, M.A.

Ashburnham continued as a separate incorporated village, although its social and commercial life merged with Peterborough's, and support for amalgamation was growing. On March 29, 1873, the Ontario Legislature passed an Act authorizing annexation of Ashburnham as Wards Five and Six of Peterborough, with the town taking over Ashburnham's school and obligations; however, this was subject to Ashburnham ratepayers approving the by-law, and they roundly defeated it in December. Ashburnham was proud of its individuality; the proportion of Canadian-born was greater, and over half the people were Irish in origin, while across the river only 40 per cent were Irish; half the population was 16 years and under, while in Peterborough half the population was 21 years and under; in Ashburnham Anglicans and Presbyterians led the denominations, but in Peterborough Roman Catholics and Methodists were in the lead.

When Henry Calcutt gave up the reeveship, John Burnham was elected reeve in 1875 and served for 20 years. In 1871 Ashburnham paid 1-10 of the cost of the new steam fire-engine on condition that it help in putting out village fires; fortunately, the village had no serious fires in this decade, although there were numerous small ones. In 1877, Ashburnham agreed to pay $175 a year for the services of the Peterborough Fire Brigade, and St. Luke's Church bell was made the fire signal for the village. The same year, when the village school became overcrowded with over 200 pupils, a larger two-storey brick, school costing $4,500 and accommodating 300 was constructed at the corner of Mark and Robinson Streets, still in use as a Separate School. The village churches have already been noted.

Arthur Peck Brewery

About 1870 Arthur Peck started up a brewery again on the lakeshore just east of Lake (Burnham) Street, advertising "Star Brewery ale and porter, $1.75 per dozen quarts." About the same time Jonathan Stephenson, who with John Craigie ran a small shingle mill on Elizabeth Street, began making basswood canoes which won widespread approval for their lightness, buoyancy and safety; these were the original "Peterborough Canoes." Lewis Glover leased the Rogers store and flourmill until 1875, when he moved to Alandale.

In 1874 Richard Mowry took over the foundry just before his father's death, and the next year took Wm. Forsyth as partner; they advertised "The Little Giant Sawing Machine with Safety Guide" as their specialty. The other big industries by the raceway were the Calcutt Brewery and the James Rogers Sawmill.

FOR WIVES

Remember good old Sara,
though she be dead and rotten;
She left a lesson to all Wives which should not be forgotten.
She reverenced her Husband, and called him her Lord,
And feared lest she should offend, either in deed or word.

She did not, like some women,
her wedded mate despise;
But as old Abraham had her heart so did he please her eyes.
Neither would she cloth herself
beyond her husband's state,
As now some women vainly do,
and rue it all too late.

—Anthony Munday: A Banqvet of Daintie Conceits (1588)

In 1878 J. T. Craig, son of the village constable, started a blacksmith shop and carriage and wagonmaking business on Elizabeth St. just east of the Albion Hotel.

An 1878 map shows the village crowded between Concession St. and the river, with no houses north of Clifton St. or south of Maria St. The Dickson estate owned the Nicholls Park area and building lots southward. The riverbank north of Elizabeth St. was Rogers property.

Rev. Mark Burnham, who had a large house west of Lake south of Sophia St., owned most of the land between Lake St. and Little Lake and the river; he was selling a few lots from his other large property, the area between Mark, Maria, Concession and Elizabeth Sts. The large block west of Concession St. south of the Otonabee-Douro boundary line (opposite the present Nicholls Park) also belonged to Rev. Burnham. At his death, the patrimony was divided among his children: John (barrister), Zaccheus (farmer), George (doctor), Charles, and a daughter, Mrs. Revell.

Various Estate Properties

South of the Burnham land on the Dummer road, the McFarlane Estate had two large blocks east of Concession St., on the southern of which was the McFarlane house facing the street. The Caddy Estate had a block between, and just north of the Norwood road was John Ludgate's large block with his mansion. The Armour Hill property between the present Munroe Avenue and a line eastward about a block south of Elizabeth St. East was owned by J. D. Armour. Ownership of the two blocks south of this were not indicated on the map. The Beavermead property east of Little Lake was owned by the Dickson Estate. The site of the present St. Joseph Hospital and Church properties was owned by A. H. Campbell, who had a large house overlooking the village.

Aldus Mowry in 1876 was offering for sale a block of 1½ acres with house on the south side of Robinson east of Lake St. just west of the Calcutt residence and north of the Hilliard house. Among other large homes built at this time along "exclusive" Lake St. were the Rogers house east of Lake and north of James St., the Bradburn house, and the Lundy house. What made Lake St. "exclusive", according to the local wags, was the fact that it stretched from Peck's Brewery to Calcutt's Brewery.

What Happens To Left-Over Bits Of Soap In Trains? CNR President Reveals All

(Extracts from an address given by Donald Gordon, CMG, chairman and president of the Canadian National Railways at Charlottetown, PEI, on June 12):

Our rail lines (CNR) you probably know, serve all ten provinces in Canada and eleven states south of the border. In addition we either own or control three major steamship operations, a nation-wide telecommunications network, a chain of ten hotels and th[illegible]mmer resorts, and such varied facilities as car ferries, buses, trucks, electric trams, dockyards, stockyards and warehouses.

Of our many valuable assets none is more important to the Canadian National than the skills of our working force, consisting of 115,000 employees scattered from coast to coast. The range of occupational skills in the Canadian National family is a continuing source of amazement to me. We have doctors and deep-sea divers, lawyers and locksmiths, seamstresses and secretaries, sailors and statisticians — the variety seems endless. I must admit that I was rather startled when I first discovered that we have employees known as strippers, but I was relieved to learn that their duties are connected with the dismantling of freight car equipment, and not with the kind of activity that has brought a dubious fame to certain stage personalities.

In the course of a single year we carry something like 80 million tons of freight, 24 million shipments of express and 18 million passengers. We send 14 million telegrams and cables, and accommodate three-quarters of a million guests in our hotels. This great volume of service is performed under a considerable variety of geographic conditions —over mountains and plains, forest and tundra, and through country dotted with lakes and streams.

Switches Froze Solid

Not so long ago we found ourselves battling against fourteen feet of hard-packed snow in the Fraser Canyon of British Columbia, with the weather so cold that the switches froze solid and the turntable at our Boston Bar roundhouse had to be chopped free of thick ice in order to move locomotives. It took 25 bulldozers working a day and night operation to win that fight.

Last spring floods cut our rail lines in British Columbia and Gaspe, and threatened to inundate the whole of Greater Winnipeg; in each case the endurance and resourcefulness of our employees in all ranks was shown to good advantage and service was restored in a remarkably short time. Each year brings its share of snow blockades, washouts and other events incidental to the operation of some 24,000 miles of main track in climatic conditions where the temperature ranges from 45 degrees below to near the hundred mark.

* * *

Last year the gross revenues of the Canadian National exceeded half-a-billion dollars — or something more than $1,000 for each minute of the day and night. The money we distributed in wages and materials not only made the Canadian National the largest industrial employer in Canada but the largest purchaser of industrial materials.

Pencils to Locomotives

We enter the market for a great variety of articles ranging from lead pencils to locomotives, and our stores inventories carry some 50,000 different items, worth about $75 million. We are regarded as a good customer by about 10,000 different firms in all parts of the country. In the four Atlantic provinces alone last year the Canadian National paid out abuot $81 million for wages, materials and equipment.

Most of our revenues—about 80 per cent—come from the handling of freight. The Canadian Freight Classification contains about 8,000 different general listings of articles and is so broad in its coverage as to constitute a catalogue of the national output.

* * *

One of the things I discovered soon after my arriva[illegible]anadian National was just how expensive and how durable the railway's capital equipment can be. When taken together with very wide fluctuations in the demand for railway services, capital expenditure programs require different decisions—never have I felt the need of a crystal ball so much as when reviewing our annual capital budget.

Dining Car Costs $248,000

A modern air-conditioned day coach, for example, is being quoted at about $136,000, a dining car at around $248,000 and a roomette sleeping car at about $245,000. These units are capable of giving service for as long as 40 years. Similarly, with a diesel road locomotive of 3,000 horsepower, for which the capital cost is well in excess of a third of a million dollars.

Let me give you one illustration of the lengths to which we go in the search for economies. As you know, the railways are generous in supplying individual cakes of soap for the use of passengers in sleeping and parlour cars. You may not know, however, that all the pieces that are left over are collected at the end of a run and sent to our car shops where they are liquified by a steam jet, and in this form, used to wash down the interior of passenger equipment. Similarly, in our hotel department cakes of soap from guest rooms are gathered up and sent down for use in the hotel laundries. This kind of salvage operation is conducted in every department of the railway where it is feasible to do so. We have salvage depots located at strategic points across the System where discarded material is carefully processed so that useful parts can be reclaimed and placed in stores for re-issue; the remainder is classified for sale so as to command a good price in the various markets for scrap.

Cord Vine Trellis Useful

By HENRY PREE
Written for NEA Service

The early-bird gardener, always trying to beat his neighbours, is probably chuckling with glee as he observes the young shoots of beets, carrots, lettuce and radishes poking their heads through the soil.

The new growth on onion sets, too, should be an inch or two tall and if garden peas were sown at the prescribed time then a support of some sort should be set.

Peas should be given support before they are six inches tall lest the tender young shoots become broken or bent. Chicken wire, the height depending upon the variety of peas, can be used, stretching the wire the length of the row and running a string to keep the vines growing onto the wire.

Recently introduced to home gardeners for vine support is a weatherized trellis netting made of jute cord. It is hung on posts the same as one hangs chicken wire, and being flexible is much easier to handle. Treated with a preservative, it is weatherproof and can be used for many years.

Rolled or folded up, when the peas have been harvested, the netting is stored easily. It comes in various lengths, is five feet high. A section 15 feet long is priced at a dollar and a quarter, less costly, I believe, than chicken wire.

Several of the more tender vegetables may be sown now, such as sweet corn, string beans and New Zealand spinach. Sweet corn and do try a small block of one of the midget varieties, is a vigorous grower and requires a soil rich in humus and a fertilizer strong in nitrogen.

There are two methods of sowing corn, the hill or clump, and the row or drill. The old gardener leans toward the hill method where the rows are spaced three feet apart and the corn is spaced 18 inches apart in the rows, three to five seeds being sown in each hill.

The standard practice of row planting is to space the rows 2½ feet apart, sow seed sparingly and then thin out so the plants stand a foot apart in the rows. Seed is covered with an inch of soil.

If garden space is available, sweet corn should be planted successively for a continuous supply.

Seed treatment to prevent rot or diseases is fine if used as directed, especially so with the early sowings of corn. Where birds eat the seeds in the ground a commercial crow repellent gives results.

Gardening Questions

Q—What care should be given peonies at this season?

A—Peonies require an abundance of water while the buds are being formed in May. A spray of Bordeaux mixture, applied when the buds are small will prevent blight, and an early application of a complete plant food will supply nourishment.

Q—Are lawn clippings of any value? Our grass is growing vigorously and the clippings are too long and heavy to remain on the turf.

A—Grass clippings and any other green materials which have no ornamental value should be added to the compost pile. Valuable "Manure" can be made of these waste products in a few months if the materials are given a coating of fertilizer strong in nitrogen or by the use of a powder made especially to hasten the disintegration of the leaves and grass clippings. Keep the pile moist at all times and fork over thoroughly every three months.

NEW JUTE TRELLIS netting can be hung on posts like chicken wire, but is much easier to handle. It is weatherproofed and will last a long time.

Junior Petes Down Niagara To Open Lacrosse Schedule

Lou Vitarelli's Young Petes—sponsored by Filter Queen—opened their OLA junior schedule here last night with a 13-8 victory over Niagara Falls, the transplanted St. Kitts' squad which won the Minto Cup last year. More than 300 fans took in the junior opener, which was 20 minutes late in starting, a number of the visiting players not arriving till well out in the first quarter.

The locals got off to a quick start and led 5-0 in the first quarter. Play was quite even after that, each side counting three times in the second heat and three times each again in the third. The four goals scored in the fourth quarter were evenly divided, too. Referees Harry Wipper and Bun Hill handed out no less than 25 penalties, 14 to Peterborough, most of them minor calls for slashing as the boys checked closely at times.

Hustled Them

The Vitarelli pack hustled their opponents plenty to keep them off-balance, but there was little to choose between the two teams when at full strength after that first frame. Both goalies pulled some nice saves with Bill Nicholls of Peterborough edging Goalie Howe in the other cage on network. The Petes didn't dress Bev Groves or Bob Wyatt for this encounter.

Brian (Red) Robinson led the locals in scoring with five points, three of them goals. Three points each were garnered by Rock Batley, Doug Powell and Grant Burns, while two apiece went to Gary Robinson, Lou Nickel, Carl Brioux and Jerry O'Reilly. Frank Farley and Bill Nicholls earned an assist apiece. For Niagara Falls, Al Frick, Doug Baldwin and Perry Davies were in on two-apiece, as single points were counted by Pete Carruthers, Norm Corcoran, Ted Cox, Bill Allen and Don Moore. The teams:

Niagara Falls — Goal, Howe; defence, Carruthers and Howard; centre, Labatt; wings, Corcoran and Heffler; rover, Baldwin; alternates, Frick, Moore, Davies Allen, Daniels, Cox and Teal.

Petes Juniors— Goal, Nicholls; defence, Nickel and Fitzgerald; centre, B. Robinson; wings, Morrissey and G. Robinson; rover, O'Reilly; alternates, Powell, Brioux, Shearer, Burns, Heffernan Batley and Farley.

Referees—H. Wipper and B. Hill.

The summary:

First Quarter

Petes—G. Robinson ..... :30
Petes—Batley (Brioux) 3:25
Petes—Nickel (Burns) 4:25
Petes—B. Robinson (Brioux) ... 6:28
Petes—Powell (Farley) 11:45
Penalties — Brioux, Carruthers, Morrissey, Corcoran, Powell, Farley.

Second Quarter

Niagara Falls—Davies 1:05
Niagara Falls—Carruthers (Allen) 1:25
Petes—Batley (Powell) 6:10
Petes—B. Robinson (O'Reilly) .. 9:38
Petes—Batley (O'Reilly) 12:58
Niagara Falls—Cox 14:41
Penalties— Labatt, O'Reilly, Teal, Baldwin, Corcoran.

Third Quarter

Petes—Nickel (B Robinson) ... 1:42
Petes—B. Robinson (Nicholls) .. 4:48
Niagara Falls—Corcoran (Baldwin) 5:00
Niagara Falls—Baldwin (Moore) 10:44
Niagara Falls—Frick 12:18
Petes—Burns (B. Robinson) ... 14:18
Penalties — Moore, B. Robinson, Brioux, G. Robinson, Burns, O'Reilly.

Fourth Quarter

Niagara Falls—Davies 0:55
Petes—Nickel 2:47
Petes—Powell (Burns) 8:15
Niagara Falls—Frick 13:48
Penalties—O'Reilly, Daniels, Burns, Cox, Teal, Nickel, Howard, Powell.

Civic Softballers

Last night, Utilities edged Busmen 14-13, as Bell beat S. Army 12-5. Monday, S. Army plays Pet. Lumber Co., and Tuesday Grant & Loucks pick up a postponed game against Busmen at Quaker. Friday's doubleheader at the Bowl is: G & L vs Police, and Foresters vs Utilities.

McGinness Victors

NORWOOD, June 16 (ENS)—In one of the fastest games of the season, McGinness—which threatens to be the football team to beat this year—gained a 3-1 decision over Norwood. Spencer score dthe lone run for Norwood on Wilfred's hit.

Caccavella scored for the McGinness on a blow by Gardiner. The other two runs were secured by Caddigan and Caccavella again.

McGinness—Metcalfe c; Killingbeck 2 b; Ferguson 3b; Leether 1b; Caccavella ss; Caddigan cf; Hill lf; Gardiner rf; Sabourin p.

Norwood—Kelly c; Wilfred cf; Stinson rf; Martin 2b; Garden ss; Pakenham 1b; Spencer lf; Audis 3b; Evans p.

Umpire: Richardson.

Castleton Joins

MILLBROOK, June 16—(ENS)—A revision in part of the softball schedule is necessary since Castleton joined the league. The list now is:

June—

They'll Do It Every Time — By Jimmy Hatlo

SPORTS SHOW WINDOW

By CEC. PERDUE, Sports Editor

Toronto Staffords play the Petes a senior ball game at eight tonight in Riverside, weather being oke. A Viaduct Major League fixture and most likely a good one. Petes nestle atop the loop now while the Staffs (stronger than last year's crew) are about due to break out and overhaul the top few clubs. If this game is anything like the Thursday one here — a 5-3 win for Ed Whitehill's locals o'er the Kingsways — fans certainly can't complain. Petes are playing fine ball and rate real big crowds every home game. Can't say what pitcher will start on the Peterborough hilltop, Doug Plunkett, Lefty Dadson or Bill Edger. Perhaps the former.

* * * * * *

In passing, we'd like to mention the work of two reformed softballers. Freddy Garvey and Joe Stewart are both playing a hustle-up brand of baseball for the Petes and ready to step into any spot asked. Both are fine team players and getting better each season. Joe is hitting better than .300 and Freddy, though not as high in the averages, usually clouts in the clutches. Also, the two Oshawa boys, George Brabin and Bunny Maeson, have earned solid spots on the squad with good hitting and defensive work to date. There aren't more than one or two places in the whole lineup where some bolstering might still be done to make it a championship club. It's doing okay right now.

Comes Another Bulletin

Feverish Frank Feaver, the bulletinest secretary the OASA ever had, comes out with No. 14 — and summer doesn't start till June 21. It's mostly about fees and affiliations being in ere July 1, players' certificates being available for free, permission for exhibition tilts against unaffiliated teams, and umpires' registration. Local winners must be declared thusly: Senior "B" by Aug. 29; other series by Aug. 15. Provincial playdowns commence immediately after in two-of-three series. Ontario teams wishing to go into an elimination series for the world's championship at Detroit in September must apply now for the eliminations at the CNE on Aug. 24-25. Also a senior "B" tourney there from Aug. 24 to Sept. 8. You're welcome.

* * * * * *

Golfers are going strong these days and nights at the two local clubs. This weekend at Peterborough Club they're qualifying for the club championship, while some are off for play in the Midland League at Port Hope. Next Saturday, it's Kawartha vs. Peterborough in competition for the Glover-Dobbin Trophy. At Kawartha, chaps have till June 24 to complete first rounds for the Kawartha, President's and Riley Cups. Return of the Glover-Dobbin Trophy play will be at the westend links on Aug. 18, but there are lots of important matches ere that, not to mention the big Civic Holiday open week-end tourney which attracts 'em from all over the province.

Juniors Start Off Right

Several hundred fans dropped around to Miller Bowl last e'en and saw the local junior lacrossers (who were "B" champs last year) trim Niagara Falls 13-8. The Fall fellows are really St. Catharines "A" and Dominion champs of 1950, playing over in the Cataract City this semester. They were late getting here and started with no subs. Lou Vitarelli's pack struck hard and fast to gain a 5-0 first quarter margin. When the visitors arrived in force, play was quite even the rest of the route. A raft of penalties passed out to keep the boys from getting too chippy. Red Robinson led the young Petes in sniping, with Batley, Powell, Burns, Brioux, O'Reilly, Nickel and Garry Robinson also prominent. Goalie Bill Nicholls looked good in the twine tepee.

Let's see the softball setup at the Bowl for next week. The girls go in a twin bill there Monday, Woollens vs. Ashby's, and Marines vs. Westclox; Wednesday, it'll be Woollens vs. Marines, and Cobourg against Westclox. It will be Woollens' turn to trek to the lakeshore town on Friday. Men's melees resume in the East City saucer on Tuesday thusly: Lakefield 'gainst Orphans, and Revoy's meeting UEW under the arcs. Thursday, Revoy's tackle the Lakefield lads, as Orphans finish up playing UEW. Their schedule winds up one month from tomorrow, with playoffs following. Girls' campaign goes to July 20 ere they start playoffs.

Harry Cooper, former caddie at Hamilton, tied Tommy Armour for the United States open golf championship 24 years ago today. Armour won the 18-hole playoff by three strokes. Cooper in 1937 won the Canadian open, a title captured three times by Armour.

Lucky Shot

SOURIS, Man. (CP) — On his second try 72-year-old Albert Berry scorde a 97-yard hole-in-one in the local service club's contest, winning an electric refrigerator. He said "I'm not much of a golfer."

Locke Favored To Take Tourney

BIRMINGHAM, Mich., June 16 (AP).—The United States golf open entered its closing 36-hole round today with British open champion Bobby Locke favored to score the first foreign victory in 31 years.

At the same time this tourney was taking rank as a sensation for its resistance to efforts of the classy field to break par.

After two days of staggering into vicious traps and roughs, the game's best shot-makers had failed completely to crack Oakland Hills' harrassing par 70. Not the oldest golf student could remember when more than 300 rounds of the high-pressured open had been played without par getting lacerated.

Locke, one-stroke leader after 36 holes with four-over-par 144, headed a screened field of 55 into the final 36-hole grind. The rest of an original field of 162 fell by the wayside after Thursday and Friday's 18-hole rounds which developed a home-stretch qualifying limit of 152.

Locke, calculating, knicker-wearing star from Johannesburg, South Africa, was one stroke ahead of Dave Douglas, skinny ironshot ace from Newark, Del., who blew in from nowhere with a 145 yesterday.

Here And There In Sports . . .

By The Canadian Press

Baseball and A. B. (Happy) Chandler will part company within a matter of days.

Chandler made this clear Friday when he said he and the major league club owners had agreed on terms for his resignation.

The actual formalities may take place early next week at a meeting in Cincinnati between Warren Giles, owner of the Reds, and the commissioner.

The magnates met in New York Thursday, accepted Chandler's terms and named Giles to advise Chandler. After the two talked by telephone this morning, Chandler said:

"The terms are satisfactory to me."

One published report said Chandler would step down from his $65,000 a year job after the all-star game at Detroit July 10.

Nine three-year-old colts and a designing little filly named How are entered for the 83rd running of the famed Belmont Stakes today at Belmont Park, New York. It is the richest of all Belmonts and, if all 10 start will be the largest field since Granville's Belmont in 1936.

Count Turf, Kentucky Derby winner, is expected to be the favorite. But the race has the so-called experts almost as baffled as before the Derby and Preakness—other races in the triple crown.

At the testing mile and one half distance, it is the longest of the three races and the presence of Battlefield — 1950 two-year-old champion—has injected a big "if." The temperamental Battlefield missed the Derby and Preakness but has looked sharp since winning the Withers mile.

At Toronto, ten fellows who can hit a golf ball "a mile" and 10 others who can't see will compete in the Canadian blind golfers' championship here July 18.

Ten of Ontario's best golfers will team up with blind players for the two-day matches. They will break up into teams, an expert and a blind player on each.

The pros include Gord Brydson of Toronto, Bob Gray of Toronto and amateurs Phil Farley and Nick Weslock.

Directors of the United States Hockey League Friday opened their annual meeting amid indications some revamping may result.

There have been rumors that three teams—Denver, Milwaukee and St. Paul—might quit the loop, although league vice-president Harry Fowler of Omaha said on Thursday night "no one has approached me with the idea of dropping out."

Fowler said Wichita, Kas., was expected to apply for membership. Sioux City, Ia., has been mentioned as a possible addition.

Tulsa, Kansas City and Omaha are other league members.

Last-Day Trades Shift 21 Ball Players

NEW YORK, June 16 —(AP)— Brooklyn Dodgers, St. Louis Cardinals and New York Yankees appeared more formidable today following last hour trades that involved 21 players.

Only $10,000 changed hands in the bartering that included eight Dodgers and Cubs, seven Cards and Pirates, five Yanks and Senators and one St. Louis Brown.

Brooklyn, enjoying a six-game lead in the National League, considerably strengthened its forces in an eight man player deal with Chicago.

The Dodgers obtained Andy Pafko, hard-hitting outfielder, infielder Wayne Terwilliger, pitcher Johnny Schmitz and catcher Rube Walker. In return, the Dodgers gave up outfielder Gene Hermanski, pitcher Joe Hatten, catcher Bruce Edwards and utility infielder Ed Miksis.

St. Louis Cardinals obtained Wally Westlake, a recognized long ball hitter in a seven man swap with Pittsburgh Pirates. Cliff (no-hit) Chambers came along with Westlake to the Cards who shipped pitchers Howie Pollet, Ted Wilks, catcher Joe Garagiolo, outfielder Bill Howerton and rookie infielder Dick Cole.

Yanks Make Change

The Yanks, attempting to overhaul the front-running Chicago White Sox, procured left hander Bob Kuzava, a proven starter, from the Washington Senators. The Yanks sent pitchers Fred Sanford, Bob Ferrick and Bob Porterfield to the Nats. Porterfield played for the Yanks' Kansas City American Association team.

Pafko is the big man in the Dodger-Cub sway. A brilliant centre fielder, Andy also can play third base. The Dodgers probably will use Pafko in left field, a sore spot for years with the Brooklyn machine.

Andy finished second to Pittsburgh's Ralph Kiner in the home run derby last year with 36. He has hit 12 homers so far this season and his addition gives Brooklyn the most fearsome batting lineup in the National League.

The Yankees also sent southpaw pitcher Tommy Byrne and an estimated $10,000 to the St. Louis Browns for Stubby Overmire, also a lefthanded hurler, in a deal announced just before the midnight deadline.

Prime Acquisition

The Cubs' prime acquisition is Edwards. Edwards has been playing second fiddle to Campanella and observers agree that he would be the No. 1 backstop on any other club.

In Westlake the Cards' search for a righthanded long ball hitting player apparently has ended. Ever since the departure of Walker Cooper and Whitey Kurowski the Cards have been looking for a righthanded thumper to go along with lefthanded slugger Stan Musial. Westlake is second in home runs with 16.

Westlake has been playing third base for the Pirates but undoubtedly will return to the outfield with the Cards and bat behind Musial.

Errors Help Lindsay Down Port Hope

LINDSAY, June 16. — Taking advantage of five errors, Lindsay Merchants broke out with a nine-run scoring rash to wallop Port Hope Ontarios, 10-3, in a Lakeshore Intermediate Baseball League game here Friday night.

Lew MacTaggart fanned eight and scattered six hits to chalk up his third straight win of the season. The visitors threatened only in the seventh when Jim Phillips walked, Len Ashby got a life on a wild throw and Horace Baxter cashed in both with a triple to right centre.

Dean Tompkins led the Merchants with three hits, two off starter Harold Woods, who gave way to Mike Sullivan of Brockville in the fifth. The big blow came off the bat of Junior West, who doubled to the left field fence. Rookie Bud Downey, who drove in the Ports' first run in the second, was the victim of three of the five miscues in the fifth.

Penalty Gives Mimico Win Over Fergus

FERGUS, June 16 (CP).—Mimico Mounties took advantage of a five-minute penalty to Elmer Harris of Fergus Thistles to score four goals and win their Senior Ontario Lacrosse Association game 15-12 Friday night. The score was tied 8-8 when Harris was put off.

Don McPhail, Bill Chard and S. Hayes each tallied three goals for Mimico while C. Simpson had two and singletons were scored by Don Peterson, B. Stock, D. McKay and W. Harwood.

Harris and H. MacKenzie each scored three for Fergus, while Jay-Jay Hill had two and J. Lumley, H. Kazarian, D. McWhirter and Don Smith scored one each.

Hooligans Spoil Fun

Royals Edge Buffalo 6-3

By The Associated Press.

Buffalo Bisons brought their nine-game winning streak into Montreal Friday night but it didn't phase the league leading Royals.

As the result of their 6-3 victory, the Royals are pacing the International League pack by a comfortable seven games over the second-place Bisons.

It took 10 innings for the Royals to score their triumph. Only two of the runs off Moe Savransky were earned as the Bisons made five errors.

Bill Voiselle was the winner, but he retired in the 10th with the bases loaded and none out. Jim Hughes put out the fire without harm.

Syracuse climbed back into third place at the expense of the last-place Springfield Cubs. The Chiefs, behind the hurling of Jack Griffore and Bob Keegan, took a twin-bill 1-0 and 8-2.

Blix Donnelly held Rochester Red Wings to four hits, and Baltimore Orioles went on to score a 9-2 triumph.

Toronto Maple Leafs whipped Ottawa Giants 4-2 behind the seven-hit hurling of John Hetki. The winners tapped the offerings of Red Hardy, George Haller and Andy Tomasic for 12 hits.

Philadelphia Athletics Upset Chicago White Sox As New York Yanks Crush Tigers 2-0

By RALPH RODEN,
Associated Press Sports Writer.

Vic Raschi is on the beam again and as a result the pennant outlook for New York Yankees is brighter today.

The 32-year-old righthander, winner of 21 games in each of the last few seasons, apparently is headed for his best season in the majors.

Raschi ran up an 8-1 report card and then suffered two sound beatings but the hard-working ace has come back with two neat performances.

He beat the Chicago White Sox last Thursday and Friday night turned back the Detroit Tigers 2-0 on three hits to become the first major league pitcher to win 10 games this season.

Raschi's glittering victory over the Tigers enabled the Yanks to cut the White Sox' pace-setting margin to three games. The Sox were upset by the last place Philadelphia Athletics 4-3 and 12-5 in twi-night doubleheader.

Raschi fanned eight and had a no-hitter until the sixth inning when relief pitcher Fred Hutchinson singled to break the spell. The Yanks collected only five hits off Hal Newhouser and Hutchinson.

End Winning Streak

Philadelphia's stunning victories over the White Sox ended Chicago's 15-game consecutive road win streak. The A's won the opener in 11 innings on an error that wound up in a free for all.

Elmer Valo walked with two out and scored the winning run. He raced around on Gus Zernial's double that Jim Busby fumbled in left centrefield.

Bob Hooper was the winner.

Zernial started the A's off in the nightcap with a grand slam homer in the first inning and little Bobby Shantz stayed ahead the rest of the way to gain his fifth victory.

Don Johnson, recent waiver acquisition from St. Louis Browns, turned in his second straight victory for Washington as he pitched the Senators to a 4-2 decision over Early Wynn and the Cleveland Indians.

Brooklyn Dodgers continued their relentless pennant drive in the National League, edging Chicago Cubs 2-1. Don Newcombe, returning to action after a week's layoff, drove home the winning run with a sixth inning single. Newcombe scattered eight hits and fanned seven in posting his seventh victory.

Down Pirates

The second place New York Giants remained six games off the pace, outlasting the Pittsburgh Pirates 11-6. Wes Westrum sparked the Giants, driving in six runs on his ninth and 10th homers. He homered with the bases loaded in the fifth and one on in the ninth.

Jim Hearn went all the way for the Giants scattering 11 hits.

St. Louis Cardinals snowed under Philadelphia Phillies, 10-2. Billy Johnson, Stan Musial and Peanuts Lowrey featured the Cards' 13-hit drive with three safeties each.

Willie (The Knick) Ramsdell pitched Cincinnati Reds to a 6-1 decision over Max Surkont and Boston Braves.

Rain washed out the game between the St. Louis Browns and the Red Sox in Boston.

SundaySchool Group Meets Elgin School

NORWOOD, June 16 (ENS)— The annual Sunday school convention of the Asphodel Sunday School Association was held Wednesday evening at the Elgin school.

Supper was served on the lawn to about 100 people, after which 68 Sunday school workers entered the schoolhouse for the meeting. Following a welcome from the local superintendent, E. Roy Scott, the president of the association, Bruce Warr of Westwood, conducted the worship service. The Rev. N. Cole of Hastings United church pronounced the benediction.

A male sextette from Norwood sang two selections, accompanied by Mrs. Stanley Fife at the piano.

The report of the nominating committee was read and approved. The new slate of officers is: honorary president, Mrs. A. E. Metcalfe, Hastings; president, Bruce Warr, Westwood; 1st vice-president (leadership of training). Mrs. Horace Brown, Elgin; 2nd vice - president, William Sedgwick, Norwood; girls' work, Mrs J. J. Stewart, Norwood; boys' work, the Rev. R. D. Duncanson, Norwood; children's work, Mrs. Wm. Golloher, Norwood; temperance, John Starke, Norwood; secretary - treasurer, Mrs. Roy Scott Elgin.

Miss Betty Baker and Mrs. H. J. Caskey played a piano duet after which the Rev. E. E. Pugsley introduced the guest speaker of the evening the Rev. Leland Gregory secretary of the Baptist board of religious education for Ontario and Quebec who led a discussion on the convention theme "The Church Schools reach out."

Following a hymn Gregory gave his address touching briefly on the suggested topic "Education by Accident" and dealing mainly with the theme of the World convention of Sunday Schools held in Toronto during the summer of 1950. He stressed the need of self examination to see if Jesus is really our Redeemer and Lord.

Mr. Warr moved a vote of thanks to the members of Elgin Sunday School and Mr. Pugsley brought the convention to a close RESCUED FROM FIRE—Still visibly shaken, one of the inmates of Hospice Ste. Cunegonde home for the aged and orphanage on Atwater Street in Montreal, is seen being carried on a stretcher to an ambulance as fire swept the structure Friday afternoon. At least 32 persons died and 13 were missing.

TABER, Alta. (CP)— Twenty-year-old Leon Byron Hill of Taber will answer a call of the Latter Day Saints Church to fill a long-term mission in East Germany.

Medical Cure

VANCOUVER —(CP)— High cost of living has obliged Vancouver General Hospital to expand its free medical care. Formerly a man earning $110 monthly for himself, wife and one child, and $20 for each additional child, was eligible. Now a family of three earning $150 and $25 for each addition up to a maximum of $250 is eligible for free care.

Early Christians In Action

By WILLIAM E. GILROY, DD.

Said St. Paul to the Christians in Rome, long before he was to visit the imperial city as a prisoner: "I am ready to preach the gospel to you also that are in Rome, for I am not ashamed of the gospel; for it is the power of God unto salvation to every one that believeth; to the Jew first, and also to the Greek."

This is a remarkable expression of the inspiration and the motive power that made St. Paul and the first Christian missionaries so effective in spreading the news of the gospel, and in establishing the Chrstian Church in the many regions where it grew and prospered; it soon effectually challenged paganism, and the imperial power of Rome itself.

Surely it is the greatest miracle of history, and the truest evidence of spiritual power, that in an age of limited communication and transportation, a lowly Nazarene from a hill village in Palestine, should none the less have so inspired a little group of similarly lowly men.

It was His vision of the conquest of the world, with His message of love and grace, that encouraged them to go forth and literally fulfill His command, "Go ye into all the world and preach the gospel to the whole creation" (Mark 16 15); "Go ye, therefore, and make disciples of all the nations" (Matthew 28:19).

That little, then unknown, group of disciples might well have seemed but a drop in the ocean of that vast Roman-conquered world; and the vision and the command the impractical dream of one who surely was not of this world.

Yet the issue and the achievement justified His faith and His vision. The Galilean fishermen, and their fellow disciples, became men of power and organizing genius, spiritual leaders so obsessed with the vastness of the Christian enterprise that they took no account of the smallness of the beginnings, or the seeming inadequacy of their numbers to achieve the task to which they were called.

The original group was, of course, soon strengthened by the emergence of St. Paul, whom I see as the greatest example in all history of a man completely and overwhelmingly dominated by the sense of a mission and purpose. "This one thing I do," he said, "I press toward the mark." And what a mark. (Philippians 3:13-14). No fear, danger, difficulty, handicap, or opposition could turn him from that purpose.

When I think of what these early Christians accomplished in their world, I cannot help but picture what might still be accomplished in this modern-day world of war and violence, distrusts and hatreds, and degradations and sins, if all who profess to be Christian believers were indeed followers of Jesus, similarly inspired by His vision and His command, missionaries living and proclaiming the reality and the power of the Gospel.

The power of God is still as available, if the professed followers of Christ would use it.

Guard Yule Trees

STRATFORD — (CP) — Two Perth county farmers have been appointed guardians of Keith Park to prevent persons stealing evergreen trees at Christmas time. The park which has a fine stand of Christmas trees is on the township boundary between Blanshard and Downie.

WOUNDED VETS—Pte. Marcel Metras of Montreal (in wheelchair) and L/Cpl. Anthony Edmond of Glace Bay, N.S., wounded in action in Korea, arrived in Montreal recently on board a transcontinental train from the west. They will stay at Queen Mary Veterans Hospital.

Wait And See Mayor's View New Homes

Mayors Association To Consult Premier On Details of Plan

The executive of the Ontario Mayors Association is arranging to discuss with Premier L. M. Frost details of the housing plan he announced early this week at the convention of Canadian Mayors and Municipalities in London.

"I don't think there is much we can do about it until then," Mayor M. J. Swanston said today.

"The Ontario Mayors are concerned about the proposed 7½ per cent cost to municipalities sharing in the housing project," Mayor Swanston said. "After all it is a large item, and Peterborough has already contributed a large sum toward servicing the houses that have been built here under government financing".

If 70 Homes

If Peterborough were allotted 70 houses costing $9,000 each, the total would be $630,000, and the 7½ per cent to be contributed by the municipality would be $47,-200.

Mayor Swanston said his attitude at the convention was to give the proposed housing plan consideration because it had just been freshly announced, and he desired to understand what was involved and also what might be amended. For that reason he was fully agreeable to the course of the Ontario executive consulting the Premier.

Cost to the city of agreements for the Central Mortgage and Housing Corporation system was up in the six figures Mayor Swanston said, and so far municipalities of the province had generally paid quite a share in providing the services required, such as new streets and sidewalks, sewers and so on.

20 Lindsay Houses

LINDSAY, June 16—(ENS)—Under the Ontario government's low rental building program, Lindsay is eligible for 20 new homes. The ratio according to population is one to 500. The houses will rent from $45 to $60 a month. Premier Leslie Frost, while opening a new theatre in the town Thursday night, said that Lindsay will receive its share of the government program.

Mrs. E. J. Sheedy Winner Of Golf Trophy

Mrs. E. J. Sheedy is the winner of the second Marjorie DeGraw tournament trophy, held Friday at the Peterborough Golf Club. She is a member of this club as was the first winner last year, Mrs. Hugh Waddell.

There were 53 entrants from eight clubs competing for the trophy given by O. A. DeGraw, Peterborough, in memory of his wife. Mrs. F. Hollowell was in charge of the tournament and a competitor in it.

The trophy was awarded for the lowest net score of the whole field. Ladies played in three flights with five prizes offered in each and there were four special prizes. All presentations were made by the club president, Mrs. C. G. Graham.

Scores for the day were considered only fair though weather favored the golfers. A buffet lunch was enjoyed at the noon hour and a social time followed the tournament.

The prizes were won as follows:

First low net of whole field—Mrs. E. J. Sheedy awarded the De Graw Trophy.

First Flight:

First low gross—Mrs W. J. Carlson, Rosedale.
Second low gross—Mrs. E. Johnson, Islington.
First low net—Mrs. S. Williamson, Peterborough.
Second low net—Mrs. F. Hollowell, Peterborough.
Third low net—Mrs. V. Selkirk Peterborough.

Second Flight:

First low gross—Mrs. G. Marvin, Scarboro.
Second low gross—Mrs. A. Rutter, Peterborough.
First low net—Mrs. A. E. Ingram, Port Hope.
Second low net—Mrs. J. Hardill, Peterborough.
Third low net—Mrs. K. Read, Lindsay.

Third Flight:

First low gross—Mrs. D. R. Scott, Scarboro.
Second low gross—Miss I. Bullock, Peterborough.
Second low net—Mrs. D. Ouimet, Kawartha.
Third low net — Mrs. S. Defoe, Scarboro.

Special Prizes:

Birdies—Mrs. V. Selkirk, Peterborough: Mrs. Johnson, Islington.
Hidden holes—Mrs. A. B. Smith, Peterborough; Mrs. C. Murdock, Belleville.

Scores recorded were:

Mrs. W. J. Carlson Rosedale—87-1—90.

GOLDEN WEDDING ANNIVERSARY was celebrated in Millbrook on Friday by Mr. and Mrs. John Guthrie. Many friends and relatives gave a party in honor of the occasion. Mrs. Guthrie, who lost her sight 42 years ago, enjoyed every moment of it, especially the gathering of four generations on the female side of the family.—(Examiner Staff Photo)

County Passes Junk Yard Bylaw

Peterborough county has passed a bylaw regulating automobile wrecking yards throughout the county.

The move was initiated by Reeve William Grant, Lakefield, who found that townships adjoining the city could pass a junkyard bylaw but villages and townships not adjoining the city could not.

Municipalities in the county that already have their own bylaw will not be affected by the county one.

The bylaw requires anybody keeping a "salvage shop or salvage yard" to obtain a licence. It is a fee of $20; the fee for transfer is $3.

The yard must be enclosed on all four sides by a close board fence at least eight feet high. And it must not be located closer than 200 feet to any highway or street.

Business cannot be done on Sunday or statutory or other holiday.

The county clerk has the right to refuse a licence if she finds the salvage shop or yard is not suitable; if it affects the enjoyment of other residents in the neighborhood; or if it is so close to the highway that it creates an unsightly appearance.

Reeve W. E. Griffith, Belmont-Methuen, said that the licence fee was too high and some of the regulations were too strict. He saw no reason for an eight-foot fence to enclose the business in a rural municipality.

Reeve Grant said that if the operators were sensible they would not start up a wrecking business where it would be offensive to other residents.

1,450-Pound Bull Crashes Out At Market

A 1,450-pound bull broke through the gate at the scales behind the police station and raged around northwest corner of the Market Square Friday afternoon.

Spectators breathed sighs of relief when it was securely tied between a Hydro pole and guide wire in the back of the alleyway coming out on Simcoe St.

The bull, sold to C. Steinburg, Montreal, by Standford Walsch, Indian River, was being weighed on the city scales before being shipped to Montreal on the afternoon train for slaughter. Without warning the animal broke away and charged the scale's gate breaking the chain and burst into the open square. Ropes dangling from its metal halter were wound around the pole until finally the bull, subdued after his spree, stood quietly.

The final act of the episode was tying the bull to a truck and leading him back into the scales' enclosure and then onto the ramp into another truck.

On the hoof, the bull was worth approximately $500. After slaughter, when he becomes steaks, roasts and hamburger, his value —? Beef may have gone even higher by that time.

CHANGES OCCUPATION

Sir Godfrey Kneller, famous British painter who died in 1723, studied for the army before becoming a famous artist.

Blind 42 Years, Woman Cheerful Wife Half Century

For the past 42 years, Mrs. John Guthrie of Millbrook hasn't seen her husband. She has seen only three of her seven children, and none of her 30 grandchildren or nine great - grandchildren. Forty-two years ago, Mrs. Guthrie lost her sight. On Friday, she and her husband celebrated their golden wedding anniversary.

Actually, they were married 50 years on Thursday, but they decided to hold the official celebration Friday when all their family could be with them.

Married In 1901

Mrs. Guthrie said she and her husband were married on June 14, 1901, in "a Peterborough United Church". She couldn't remember which one, but the minister was a Rev. Wilson. Her sister, now Mrs. James Beatty of Peterborough, was bridesmaid. Mr. Guthrie's best man was William Forsythe, who lived in Manvers.

Her blindness hasn't handicapped Mrs. Guthrie to a great extent. In past years she has done her own housework, and she still does it. When the Examiner reporter and photographer came to her home, she opened the door to welcome them.

Outside of her blindness, Mrs. Guthrie is proud of her health. She says she has never been in a hospital nor has she had to call a doctor, except for her eyes.

Mr. Guthrie is no invalid himself. Only twice in the past 60 years has he been ill. The most recent illness was rheumatism of the feet which laid him up for eight weeks during last winter.

Many Occupations

Mrs. Guthrie had only eight years of married life in which she could see; but she is still a happy person. Her husband, a short, solid, white-haired man, has done everything he says, but "preach and doctor".

In his 79 years (Mrs. Guthrie is 68), he has worked on the railroad, been successively a baker, grocer, farmer and carpenter. He was born and raised in Millbrook, a son of Robert and Mary Ann Guthrie.

Mrs. Guthrie, a daughter of John and Melinda Sandy, was born in Manvers. She has lived in Millbrook since her marriage.

Their children are: Mrs. Stanford Sloan (Edna), Mrs. William Kinsman (Melinda), Mrs. Leonard Blair (Rena), Bob, Oscar, Charlie and Orville. Charlie is the only one unmarried and Oscar is the only one who lives outside of Millbrook. He lives in Peterborough.

German Wants To Work Here

A 37-year-old German has asked the county council to help find some suitable location for his skilled wood planing business.

He is Walter Sturm, Neustadt-Aisch, who is already established in a housebuilding - carpenter business in his home town but wants to come to Canada this summer. He says he has enough money to ship his own machinery.

His chief work is window sashes, doors, fittings and repairs. An inventory of his machinery and tools includes: two planing machines, two milling machines, a sawing machine, circular saw, drill machine for unusually long holes, as well as smaller equipment. He also has six planing benches.

Mr. Sturm hopes to settle somewhere in this county with his 30-year-old wife and four-and-a-half-year-old daughter.

The county council was a bit perplexed on what action to take, but finally, on recommendation of the planning and development committee, a copy of his communication was forwarded to each of the 15 municipalities.

His letter was written in good English but carried a European touch. It was addressed to the "burgomaster" of Peterborough county instead of the "warden".

City Sends Greetings

Two messages of greetings were sent from Peterborough, Canada, to Peterborough, England, for the re-opening ceremony of the Peterborough, England, Salvation Army Citadel at 7 p.m. today.

These greetings were sent by His Worship, Mayor M. J. Swanston and Major C. G. Everitt, CO of the local corps.

The re-opening ceremony will climax two years renovations and redecorations of the English city's citadel which have cost approximately £4,000.

His Worship the Mayor of Peterborough will turn the key and the Lord Bishop of Peterborough, the chief church dignitray of the diocese, will conduct the rededication of the building.

TOP C.I.O. AND C.C.L. OFFICERS are in Peterborough this weekend for the union institute sponsored by the CCL and the Peterborough and District Labor Council (CIO-CCL). Highlight of the union school will be a dinner Sunday night in the Legion Hall. Main speakers will be James Carey (left), secretary-treasurer of the CIO and international president of the IUE, and Pat Conroy (Right), secretary treasurer of the CCL. They will also speak Monday night at a mass rally in the Brock Street Summer Gardens.

Farmer Stalls At Market Third Less

Sales Down 33% Expect Better Soon Few Grumblings

The change in the market site from Water and Charlotte Sts. to George St. by Little Lake resulted today in a one-third cut in farmers selling merchandise and sales decreasing by one-third also.

Herbert Doig's comment was fairly general for the feeling across the market. He believed that the new site will "work out alright with a few little conveniences." These improvements, he added, were asphalt walks and rest room facilities.

"Business is good so far, only about one-third down, but we are looking for better phone orders," he said.

Elwood "Bill" Cullen of Hagersville, formerly of Peterborough, who was selling flowers, agreed with Mr. Doig saying that "it's going to be alright." He added that the new site offers more parking space for the customers and also the farmers can park early at the stalls, not being made to wait to have cars moved.

Disapprovals

Mrs. Kenneth Savigny, Stewart Hall, disapproved of the change. "I don't like it at all. It's most inconvenient for us."

She explained that the farmers come to the city to shop as well as sell. Before they can sell the shopping must be done because it is too late for good shopping in the late afternoon.

I don't think the city council was thinking of our business at all." she said.

Most of the farmers and others who sell at the market had the attitude "what's the use of complaining" but were aroused by the many little inconveniences. No rest room facilities was the most complained about.

Mrs. Fred Winslow of Millbrook who had 23 years at one stall at the old market place, said "no industry that is split can succeed."

Her main complaint was the lack of covering. She reasoned "if there was any large rainfall, we'd be flooded out. We should have some protection, after all, farmers are human."

Sales she added were not as good a son Water St., explaining that it would take several weeks before a business could be established.

Mrs. Victor Sweeting made the first purchase on the new market, two pots of English ivy, from George Benton. He first began to attend Peterborough markets nearly 70 years ago with his parents. His comment was "never can tell."

Strawberries appeared on the market for the first time in quantity and sold quickly for 35c a quart or 20c a pint.

Run Over By Truck Has Bruised Stomach

Five-year-old John Lustic, 313 Louis St., had a truck wheel pass over his stomach Friday afternoon. Today he is at home with only a bruised stomach and ankle.

The accident happened at the CPR station when John Hodson, 628 Park St., an Express truck driver, was backing his truck to the station platform.

Witnesses said the lad ran into rear of the truck, which was backing slowly. One said he saw one of the truck wheels run over the boy. Hodson said he felt a bump, stopped and found the lad between the wheels on the right side of the truck.

GRADUATED FRIDAY from the University of Toronto was Willoughby Belch, son of Mr. and Mrs. Nathaniel Belch, of Millbrook. Mr. Belch, who graduated in medicine, will intern in Toronto East General hospital. His two brothers, Tom and Lindsay, are medical students at Toronto.

Busy Summer Due In Parks, 39 Scheduled

Parks' department officials report that 39 picnics have been scheduled to take place in city parks this summer. Six have already been held.

Sewage Plant Completed During July

Heater Equipment Holding Up Finishing Work

Sometime in July Peterboough's sewage disposal plant, one of the most up-to-date in Canada, is expected to be completed.

By that time materials which have been held up, are expected to arrive for the heating equipment and the testing of the digestion tanks completed. In the digestion tanks sewage from city homes is treated with chemicals and heat to turn the sewage into fertilizer and pure water.

Walter Pollard, plant superintendent, said that the shortage of parts for the heater, which will supply heat for all the buildings and the digestors is holding up the work.

Meanwhile, the general contractor, George Hardy Company, Toronto, is testing the large digestor tanks which comprise the major parts of the fertilizer production portion of the plant. Water from the river will be used to test the tanks for leaks and when they have passed inspection, the disposal plant will be ready for business at capacity.

Closed 5 Months

A year ago the disposal plant closed for five months. Since then it has been working only partially but serving the city even though the Ashburnham section was added.

Mr. Pollard said that the plant workers completed their part of the renovating work some time ago. This included removing and renovating the pumps and blowers, enlarging the pipe lines and installing, cleaning and aeration tanks, cleaning and re-condtioning the clarifiers.

Once the digestors are tested the general contract will be completed with only rough grading to be finished on the grounds.

After the heater is ready, the workmen will feed it with oil to burn until enough sewer gas has been produced; this will take about three months. After that period, the heater will use the gas as fuel.

The work completed so far under the general contract includes: rack house; primary tanks; raw sludge buildings; return sludge building; addition to main pump house; partition tanks in the aeriation tanks; control building and digestion tanks.

Plumbing Sets Standard In Design Of Modern Home

One of the most important factors in our standard of living and yet one most frequenty taken for granted is the plumbing in the home. From the log cabin in the bush to the most opulent residence of state, the one element that marks the many shades of difference is the plumbing.

In the old days many homes were considered adequate as regards their plumbing if they boasted one toilet, one bath, one wash basin, one kitchen sink and perhaps one set of laundry tubs. And such homes actually were a long way ahead of the standards enjoyed by the parents of their owners. But there is hardly a family living in those houses which, if they were to build again, would not insist on at least two toilets, a shower and at least one extra wash basin, probably in a powder room for the convenience of guests.

Bring High Prices

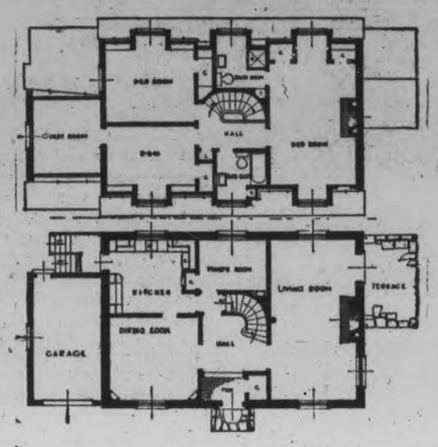
Homes with ample plumbing facilities invariably bring more when sold than do homes less fortunately equipped. Nor is the extra plumbing merely a matter of convenience or luxury. For along with the trend to better plumbing in the home come a corresponding trend in the improvement in health and in longevity —and much of this can be attributed directly to the plumbing.

Thus, some authorities say, while the interior decorator may add to the richness and the taste of the home, it is the plumber who sets the standard of the health of its occupants and who contributes most to its real value.

Probably no room in the house offers a greater opportunity for the exercise of ingenuity in planning than the bathroom. Here is a room that, first of all, should be practical, but at the same time the chance to make it colorful and charming must not be overlooked.

In planning a bathroom the most convenient arrangement of fixtures in the available space must be taken into consideration. But the location of these fixtures in relation to the piping and necessary vents is also an important part of the plan.

Window Sash Cords



When a sash cord is broken, the counterbalance weight fails to hold the sash in any position. A stretched cord will fail to carry the sash to the top of the window opening. A new sash cord is the only reliable remedy. If the lower sash is the one in trouble, its removal from the window frame is the first step toward setting it right. If the upper sash is involved it will be necessary to remove both. The best procedure is to take out the inside vertical stop bead just inside the lower sash on the side were the defective cord is. It should be fastened with screws and its removal in that case will be easy. If it is nailed in it should be pried out by using a chisel as a lever. Start prying at the bottom and preferably from the outside by reaching through the window opening. When the stop is out the lower sash can be removed. The upper sash can be taken out by lowering it to the sill and pulling out the parting strip which usually is not fastened. Under the inside stop bead there is a small cover concealing a pocket in the sash. When it is opened the cords and weights are seen suspended in a long, narrow slot. There are four weights in the double-hung window frame, two on each side. The pair nearest the inside of the house are attached to the lower sash (the outer two to the upper sash. One end of the cord is knotted or anchored in one side of the sash near its top. The cord passes from that point over the pulley near the top of the window frame, and the weight is attached to its other end.

Use Sinker

To work the new cord over the pulley and down through the slot to the bottom, attach a small fishline sinker to a string, pass it over the pulley, and let it go down until it can be reached through the pocket. Then attach the other end of the string to the cord, and pull the cord down within reach of the hand. Fasten the cord to the weight before cutting it to length.

Pull the cord back over the pulley until the top of the weight is up against the pulley. Cut the cord about three inches below the knot-retaining hole in the sash. The extra length is left to form the retaining knot. Tie the knot, pull the sash out far enough to insert the knot in the retaining mortise, and then replace the sash. If the cord has been cut too long the weight will rest on the bottom of the weight box when the sash is raised. If it is too short it will strike against the pulley at the top when the sash is pulled down. A few additional inches should be allowed in cutting the cord. If the sash does not go to the top the length necessary may be cut off.

Van Heflin Making First Film Comedy

By BOB THOMAS

HOLLYWOOD, June 16 (AP)—Van Heflin, who was brought to Hollywood after scoring hits in several Broadway comedies, is doing his first film comedy in 10 years.

That in itself is testimony to the strange workings of Hollywood. But I was also interested in Heflin's reasons for doing the new comedy, "Weekend With Father." He was amazingly frank:

"Look—I'm doing a comedy for the same reason I did my first western recently: for a change of pace. You see, I am not a personality star, like Tyrone Power or Clark Gable or Robert Taylor. And so I get the roles when producers find out they can't get people like Power or Gable or Taylor."

"Also, it gives me a wider audience. Kids who may never have seen me in a dramatic picture will see me in a western or a comedy. It pays to get the kids on your side. They're your movie audience of the future" . . .

That TV Look

Faye Emerson, on her brief visit here, was kidded about the TV queens being guilty of unfair competition against movie stars. The reason: The TV gals can plunge their necklines further.

"Wait a minute," Faye replied. "I saw Anne Baxter in 'All About Eve.' recently and she wore a gown that plunged as far as anybody on TV. It was well past the point of cleavage.

"And speaking of unfair competition, what about the comic strips and the magazines? The gals in those mediums get away with murder" . . .

Here we go on an operatic cycle. It is reported that other studios are looking for opera subjects, now that the Caruso biog is such a big success. Remember the last singing cycle, touched off by the success of Grace Moore in "One Night of Love"? . . .

Find South Sea Island Life Not Idyllic, Miss Ships

By J. C. GRAHAM

AUCKLAND, N.Z. (CP)—Remember those South Sea Islands of fiction where a kindly nature provides everything that is needed for human life and the inhabitants lie under trees while the food falls into their mouths?

Another blow to the fiction of an earthly paradise has been dealt by the New Zealand waterfront strike which has shown that the South Sea Islands of the present day, at any rate, are as dependent on overseas trade as the rest of the world.

Travellers returning by the first vessel to visit many of the islands for months report desperate food shortages brought about by the interruption of shipping services, and islanders eagerly rushing the ship to unload their previous allocation of fresh food supplies.

Meat was the main shortage and even in the prosperous city of Suva, capital of the Fiji group, meat was being sold only twice a week. In the smaller islands it had disappeared entirely from the menu except where traders had rationed their stocks of bully beef carefully.

In Short Supply

Flour, potatoes, eggs, onions and bread were also in exceedingly short supply. Sugar is grown in vast quantities in Fiji, but nowadays the islanders in many groups depend on supplies refined in New Zealand and shipped from there and some had seen no sugar for months.

The small trading ship Alexander which called at many islands in the Fiji, Samoa and Cook groups on the first tour of the islands since the strike began early this year, was greeted by wildly excited islanders who unloaded their allocations of supplies in record time and then rushed the island stores to replenish empty larders.

Penrhyn, a tiny island not far south of the equator, is typical of the changing habits of the islands.

Before the war the natives lived largely in traditional fashion on land crabs, coconuts, fish and fruit, but American occupation during the war changed all that. The islanders have become accustomed to European food, and they rushed for Alexander's supplies of flour, cheese, sugar and meat when the vessel arrived.

Rationing Continues

The islands will be rationing food for some time to come as supplies from New Zealand are still highly problematical owing to the continued strike by seamen in support of the New Zealand longshoremen.

Some relief has been given by the steamer Matua, which has taken a full cargo of supplies on an emergency mission to the islands. For this trip the Matua was manned entirely by officers, with a former master of the vessel acting as a deck hand, the rest of the crew consisting of first, second and third officers, and the cooks comprising an office clerk and a purser.

Seafarers' Union Bargaining Agent

MONTREAL, June 16 (CP). — The Seafarers' International Union (TLC) has been named bargaining agent for unlicenced personnel of the Quebec and Ontario Transportation Company fleet of freighters, it was announced Friday night.

The announcement was made by Hal C. Banks, international vice-president of the union, who said the vote—a majority of 98-2—was conducted aboard the ships in several ports under the supervision of the National Labor Relations Board.

Fire Damages Hanover Store

HANOVER, June 16 (CP). — Fire Friday night damaged premises of Hanover store and refrigeration fixtures but was extinguished by the volunteer fire brigade of this Grey county town about 35 miles southwest of Owen Sound.

It was estimated that damage might run to several thousand dollars, mostly caused by water.

The blaze broke out early in the evening in a staircase leading from the ground floor to the second storey of the plant, best known here as "The Old Meads Factory."

Pilots To Arrive

MONTREAL, June 16—(CP)—A fourth group of British pilots, who will receive air training in Canada under the North Atlantic Treaty Organization Plan, is scheduled to arrive by air today. The trainees will go to London, Ont., for one-week indoctrination course. Their 12-week pilot training course will be at Gimli, Man.

Announce Winners Of Radio Awards

TORONTO, June 16—(CP)—Winners of the 1950 radio awards from the Canadian Association for Adult Education for outstanding Canadian radar production, announcing and direction were announced Friday night.

The Maurice Rosenfield Memorial Award, a gold key, was won by Jack Kane, a musical arranger for the CBC network program "Startime." The award, instituted this year, will be given annually to the "most promising newcomer in radio."

Wayne and Schuster won the open variety and CKCR, Kitchener, the community variety award.

Dismiss Application

TORONTO, June 16—(CP)—The Ontario Labor Relations Board Friday dismissed an application for certification of the Textile Workers Union of America (CIO) at the Eaton Knitting Co. Ltd., in Hamilton after finding that two employees had not paid an initiation fee as claimed by the Union. Of the 911 employees, the union claimed 474 as members.

Want Cities Share Financing

NIAGARA FALLS, Ont., June 16 (CP).—A. E. K. Bunnell, official of the Ontario government's planning and development department, said Friday it was "necessary and desirable" for municipalities to share with federal and provincial governments in financing of the recently proposed plan to build 5,000 low-rental homes.

"We feel the plan will be better managed and the homes produced at lower cost at municipal level," he told representatives of Niagara district municipalities gathered to hear details of the scheme.

(A small group of Ontario mayors earlier this week protested the Premier's suggestion for a 7½ per cent contribution by municipalities, and for municipal control of allocation of the houses.)

Mr. Bunnell said housing plan proposals would be mailed soon to municipalities for consideration by councils.

A Narrow Escape

BRANTFORD, June 16—(CP)—Allen Daniel, 19, of Drumbo, suffered only minor injuries Friday when a 1951 automobile he was driving plunged over a 25-foot embankment and landed on its roof. Daniel said he swerved to avoid another car that had just crossed a narrow bridge.

Girl 12, Killed In Traffic Crash

PALMERSTON, June 16—(CP)—Jean Cracknell, 12 of Arthur, was killed Friday night in a traffic crash at Bosworth Corners, 10 miles east of here. Police said details were lacking Friday night on the two-car mishap which sent eight others to hospital at Kitchener.

Sister, Betty, 9, severely injured was described by hospital authorities as in "critical" condition. She suffered shock and head injures.

Also injured were the parents, Mr. and Mrs. Walter Cracknell and three sons, William, 7, Kenneth, 4 and Timothy, one year old; Rodney Helwig, Neustadt and Emerson Ivel, Harriston.

Coroner Dr. Gomph of Arthur said there would be no inquest.

'TAIN'T FUNNY—The little girl above has lost her way and definitely did not share the amusement of bystanders when this photo was taken in downtown Montreal recently. Refusing to tell her name or budge an inch, she waited for a police patrol car which gave her a free ride home.

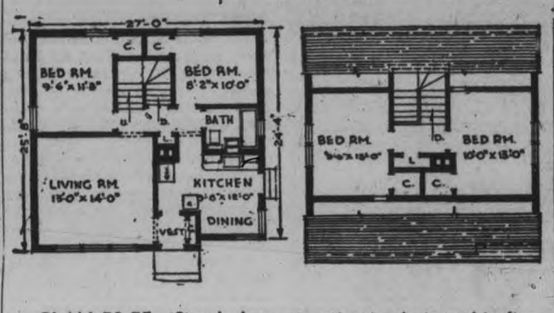
Location for New Home Should Be Carefully Chosen



Many factors make or mar the happiness and security of a home. The selection of the neighborhood in which the house is built is one of them. Too often, in the enthusiasm of home-planning, people overlook the fact that they may also be selecting their surroundings and evironment for many years to come. Think long and well before you invest your future in a community.

The location of your house determines the accessibility of work and play, and fixes the conditions of light, air and sunshine. It also provides neighborhood associates and activities. A walk around a residential district is a good way to judge its general appearance and character, and in this way you will be able to tell whether it fits in with your living habits. You will be able to see how far the schools, shopping centres, churches, recreation and amusement centres are located from the property you buy.

A talk with your future neighbors will often reveal hidden nuisances not readily seen at first glance. If there are children in the family you will not want to locate on a street used as a traffic thoroughfare or as a motorists' short-cut. You should also remember to check on such items as tax rates, the availability of police and fire protection, and whether there will be sewer and water connections for your house.

A neighborhood with a high percentage of homes occupied by owners generally means better care of buildings and grounds, and greater stability of property values.

PLAN 50-55—Simple but attractive in design, this five-room house is suitable for construction anywhere in Canada. The long kitchen follows the modern trend by providing adequate dining space within a convenient working area, while the large clothes closets are the features of the upstairs bedrooms. The overall dimensions are 24'4" x 24'8", giving a total area of 842 square feet for estimating purposes. Cubic contents are 13,848 cubic feet. (Working drawings may be obtained from Central Mortgage and Housing Corporation at minimum cost.)

$6,400 worth of drafting and technical equipment and technical and medical books for University of Sindh, Karachi, Pakistan;

$1,820 worth of equipment for University of Jamia Millia, Delli, India, including a commercial refrigerating unit for a new hostel to be used chiefy by refugee students, a mimeographing machine, and complete equipment for an infirmary;

And, for University of Delhi, a mimeographing machine, medical supplies and drugs with total value of $1,200.

Largest Freighter To Be Commissioned

PORT COLBORNE, June 16—(CP) — Canada's largest Great Lakes freighter, the Scott Misener, will be officially launched and commissioned at Port Weller drydock some time next week, Capt. R. Scott Misener, president of Colonial Steamships Limited, said Friday.

The 654-foot bulk freighter was actually launched some time ago, but her oficial launching will be delayed until after trial runs.

The ship's first payload will be a cargo of coal for Sault Ste. Marie, and she will stop at Sarnia on her way up for public inspection and ceremonies arranged by the Sarnia Chamber of Commerce.

Ask Change In Law

KINGSTON, June 16 —(CP)—The Board of Education has decided to ask for changes in laws governing sentences given sex criminals and the medical treatment of such persons. It will make its request in a resolution to be sent to the Ontario Urban and Rural School Trustees' Association.

Special Meeting

WINDSOR, June 16 —(CP)—Mayor Arthur J. Reaume Friday announced there would be a special joint meeting of the Board of oCntrol and the two boards of education Monday to determine whether the city would accept the province's offer to build 300 houses in Windsor with the cost shared 75 per cent to the federal government, 17½ per cent to the city.

Need Cutters

PORT ARTHUR, June 16 (CP) —A labor shortage of 2,000 cutters is "seriously hindering" timber operations in this district, M. R. Ross, public relations officer of the National Employment Service, said Friday. He saw no prospect of improvement. About 100 men a week have been brought in by concerted cross-country campaigns but an equal number leave the industry weekly.

May Top Record

TORONTO, June 16 —(CP)—If favorable weather continues for the rest of the growing season, gross value of production from Ontario farms this year may exceed last year's record $1,000,000,000-plus. Seldom have crops looked as promising at this time of year as they now do, the Ontario agriculture department said Friday.

Predicts Curbs Eased On Sale Of Cars

ST. ANDREWS, N.B., June 16—(CP)—Howard Moore, Toronto, managing director of the Federation of Automobile Dealers' Associations of Canada, said Friday that some relaxation in Federal credit restrictions on sales of new and used cars was possible in the near future.

To obtain relief, however, figures would have to be presented to the Department of Finance giving proof of serious losses in car sales, he told the fifth annual joint convention of the Automobile Dealers' Associations of New Brunswick, Nova Scotia and Prince Edward Island.

Mr. Moore said the Federation already had submitted figures showing a 28 per cent. drop in sales during May. The Finance Department had requested further figures at the end of June.

Emergency Scheme

HAMILTON, June 16—(CP)—A 20-vehicle convoy under police escort with sirens screaming Friday night raced five miles from downtown Hamilton to Ancaster in seven minutes as the disaster division of the Red Cross staged a full-scale emergency scheme. The first of its kind in Hamilton and district, the scheme included more than 125 workers from the Red Cross, Boy Scouts and amateur radio enthusiasts.

Stock Markets Mark Time During Week

By BILL DANIEL
Canadian Press Staff Writer

Stock markets marked time for the second straight week this week. New York was again a trifle higher while Canadian markets were again a bit lower.

Trading was quiet for the 17th consecutive week and investors continued their cautious and selective traits as they have since the current market slump began in mid-February.

Investors were also in a no gambling mood and when a profit appeared, however small, they were quick to cash in. • Proof of this was seen in the profit-taking in oil stocks in New York on Tuesday after they had climbed Monday and in golds on the Toronto Stock Exchange yesterday after they had made a good advance Thursday.

• The week's trading was somewhat like a boomerang in that prices began the week with an advance, turned downward in mid-week and then came back again on Thursday and Friday.

On Monday, New York had a moderate advance stimulated by strong demand in oils. Canadian markets met selling pressure, however, and the Toronto Exchange showed only a slight majority of gains. Montreal weakened as papers led industrials a little lower. Trading on all markets was quiet.

Slip Back

On Tuesday, prices slipped back in dull dealings. Oils paced New York lower as they suffered their profit - taking but they were followed closely by steels, rails, motors, chemicals and air lines. In Toronto, losses were small and trading was the slowest it has been since May 29. Montreal was fairly mixed.

Prices continued to drift downward on Wednesday. In New York the downturn picked up speed towards the close but trading there was at one of its quietest paces this year. On Canaian markets prices opened mixed and then weakened throughout the day with changes generally in small fractions.

By Thursday the selling had dried up. Oils proved to be still foremost in the minds of New York trades as they led that market upward. Canadian markets had little overall trend. Golds chalked up their best advance since Feb. 15 in Toronto but the rest of the board was almost at a standstill. Papers were a little lower in Montreal.

Friday prices on all markets climbed gradually throughout the session and picked up speed as the gains were marked up. Oils continued strong in New York but steels, rails, rubbers and other leading groups joined in the upswing. New York volume of 1,370,000 shares was still fairly quiet but it was about the best it has been in two weeks. Demand for papers headed Canadian markets higher.

From Friday to Friday the Toronto Stock Exchange indices showed industrials down .19 at 327.23, golds up 3.34 at 79.06, base metals down .85 at 173.07 and western oils up .08 at 104.07.

In the Montreal averages banks were off 0.12 at 29.72, utilities up 0.2 at 85.2, industrials off 1.9 at 219.3, combined off 1.2 at 174.6, papers up 9.81 at 808.93 and golds off 0.71 at 59.84.

National Parks Prove Big Attraction

CALGARY — (CP) — Canada has an area of national park land much greater than necessary for her relatively small population, says J. A. Hutchison, superintendent of Banff National Park.

Speaking to the Junior Chamber of Commerce tourist school here, Mr. Hutchison said that the provision of extra park land showed commendable foresight, and as the Dominion's poulation grows, Canadians will be grateful for the preservation of natural beauty.

Canada has pioneered in the setting up of national parks and the honoring of historical sites, and other countries are following suit today, said the park superintendent.

Decribing the particular features of various Western Canadian parks, Mr. Hutchison said they served as a great tourist attraction, and referred to the Calgary Stampede and Banff National Park as an unbeatable combination."

Last year more than 480,000 people passed through the eastern gate of Banff park. Of this number, 52,000 were American visitors.

To Adjudicate Contest

OTTAWA, June 16—(CP)—The Ottawa Drama League Workshop Friday announced that Stephen Porter of McGill University's English Department will adjudicate its 13th annual country-wide playwriting contest. The contest closed today. Winners will be announced July 21.

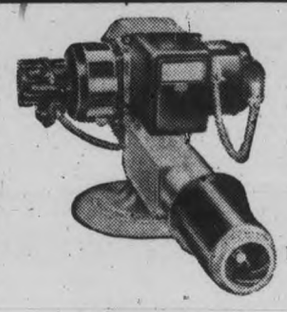
$25 Travel Expenses

TORONTO, June 16 —(CP)—Mayor Hiram McCallum is to receive $25 a day plus travelling expenses for each day the Ontario Milk Control Board sits. He is consumer representative on the board, which so far has held about a dozen sittings.

Body Recovered



OWEN SOUND, June 16 (CP)—The body of William Harris, 71, was recovered Friday night from the harbor a few hours after he was seen talking to another man on the waterfront. Police launched an investigation.

You can't tell the difference from Brick!

but BRICKCOTE costs much less!

Here is the answer to low cost new building or renovation — a masonry brick coating that duplicates the appearance, permanence and durability of actual brick. This amazing building material requires no foundation or expensive alterations and is applied in plastic form by experienced crews over any surface such as metal, brick, cinder block, etc.

Brickcote is available in all the regular brick colours of red, white, rust and buff, and can be applied in any type of brick pattern you require.

Brickcote is erected many times faster than regular brick without the need of hard-to-get material or expensive skilled labour. In many cases a complete house can be finished in a single day. Inquire today about Brickcote. Here are all the advantages of brick — beauty, insulation, permanence — at a fraction of the cost.

A local representative will be glad to show you photographs of finished Brickcote jobs in Canada. Nationwide distribution through licensed dealers.

Largest Garden Party Held At Dr. and Mrs. W. Gordon's By Ladies Of St. Paul's

The largest garden party held in Peterborough in recent years provided entertainment for about 700 children and 800 adults Friday afternoon. It was the St. Paul's Church garden party held at the home of Dr. and Mrs. W. J. Gordon, 566 Gilmour St. Responsible for the entire event was Mrs. R. B. McWilliams, who first conceived the idea.

Naturally lovely and spacious grounds became the background for a circus atmosphere where children swarmed to see puppet shows and ride ponies and each one had a balloon at one time during the afternoon. There was also a fish pond in which a mysteriously garbed creature fastened parcels to dangling lines.

What delighted mothers the most was a tea table for children only on the front lawn and they sat on benches by the table to enjoy ice cream, cookies and milk. This part of the tea was in charge of Mrs. H. Toole and her helpers were Mrs. Laura Howson, Mrs. W. H. Mitchell, Mrs. J. R. Twigg, Mrs. M. McKee, Mrs. P. Sexsmith, Mrs. Roy Taylor, Miss Barbara Eastwood, Miss Christine Monk and Mrs. Tucker.

Children's Features

Four puppet shows were presented by the Topsy Turvy Club of Bewdley which has a professional looking and colorful tent to house the stage and operators.

Mrs. W. Perks was in charge of this feature with Mrs. H. Eastwood, Mrs. C. H. Hagerman and Mrs. N. Rishor assisting.

The three ponies were good sized animals wearing saddles that would hold two children, and each made as many trips around the block as was possible, with a double load each time. A few of the riders were frightened into speechlessness at the start but clamored for another ride when it was time to dismount. Yet a few of the little ones insisted on being spectators only.

Tickets to ride the ponies were purchased from Mrs. J. M. King and Mrs. G. W. Bailey. The ponies were in charge of men in cowboy outfits.

Recordings of the ballet music from "Red Shoes" were played for the children by Mr. Christopher Gledhill.

Elves in the fish pond were Tommy Cardwell, Rory McWilliams and Robert Shimer, and those in charge were Mrs. R. W. Buchanan, Mrs. H. McDonald and Miss Avis Buchanan.

The balloons were sold by Miss Mildred Rowan.

Receiving Line

Mrs. Gordon, the hostess, was receiving with Mrs. John Hornal who is acting president of the Ladies' Aid of the church, and Mrs. W. W. Caldwell who is convener of the flower committee in charge of the flowers at the church each Sunday. Mrs. Caldwell however, found there was need of extra help at the home baking table and was not in the line much of the time.

More than 900 tickets for the tea had been sold in advance and these were taken by Mrs. W. C. Mann and Mrs. Wesley Brown, assisted later by Mrs. V. A. Read, Miss Margaret Reid and Miss Margaret Parker. Many guests paid cash admissions at the treasurer's table which was just inside a white pillared arch with the name banner, and the children were charged a very small fee, collected by Mrs. Dorothy Turner.

A candy booth was very generously supplied and Mrs. D. W. Clark, Mrs. G. Hill, Mrs. T. McMillan and Mrs. Ralph dispensed small boxes with pennant decorations.

Small girls with trays distributing the candy boxes in the crowd were Jane Coleman, Wendy Bailey, Marianne Gledhill and Hester Gledhill.

Canopy Over Table

The adult tea room was the rear garden entered under an arch of shrubbery, to which Mrs. Stewart Finnie and Mrs. Herbert Mason extended welcome. Mrs. W. A. Burrell was responsible for the delicious refreshments served, provided by members of the Ladies' Aid.

A canopy of pale blue and white was over the tea table which was laid with a pastel blue damask cloth and centred with flowers in contrasting color. Pouring tea in turn until seven o'clock were Mrs. C. G. Boyd, Mrs. D. W. Clark, Mrs. F. Rowan, Mrs. L. R. Mitchell, Mrs. D. Miller and Mrs. J. Steinkraus.

Servers were Mrs. R. Cochrane, Mrs. S. Lockington, Mrs. J. W. Smiley, Mrs. K. Hanbidge, Mrs. N. J. McCuaig, Mrs. R. Magee, Mrs. W. A. Hinds Mrs. H. Stewart, Mrs. H. Shimer, Mrs. G. W. Craw, Miss Aleitha Davidson, Mrs. John Turner, Mrs. H. Hamilton, Mrs. Cameron Craig, Miss M. Nesbitt, Mrs. Leighton Ross, Miss Verna Johnston, Mrs. H. Shields, Mrs. H. Perry, Mrs. D. Wilson, Mrs. W. Gemmell, Mrs W. J. Constable, Mrs. N. Mahood, Mrs. G. Dawson, Mrs. A. Mortlock and Mrs. A. McCullough.

Added Features

The home baking table sold out early, was re-supplied by latecomers and sold out again in short order. It was in charge of Mrs. L. R. Mitchell with Mrs. G. Coleman Jr. and Mrs. W. W. Caldwell assisting.

Tea cup reading was another feature that interested most of the ladies, and the reader took care of her customers in a colorful gypsy-like booth. Mrs. V. Read was in charge.

Character sketches by Doug. Landry was a new and different attraction and seemed to take well. Mrs. Christopher Gledhill who was in charge of the publicity, arranged for this.

The garden party is considered to have achieved its purpose, to interest newcomers in the work of St. Paul's Church, as well as being a financial success. It was sponsored by the flower committee of the Ladies' Aid and assistance was given by all members of the organization.

Harris-Parsons Nuptials Held At All Saints'

A quiet wedding was solemnized in All Saints Anglican church Friday when Emily Irene, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. George Parsons, was united in marriage to Frederick Joseph, son of Mrs. Levi Harris and the late Mr. Harris.

The Rev. Maurice P. Poole officiated. The church was decorated with orange blossoms and peonies, by the Evening branch of the WA of which Miss Parsons is a meber. Wedding music was played by Miss Margaret Flowers.

The bride, given in marriage by her father, wore a gown of ivory brocaded satin, with a sweetheart neckline, the long sleeves coming to points at the wrist. Her fingertip veil of white tulle caught with orange blossoms was worn by her mother at her wedding. She carried an arm bouquet of red Bettertime roses.

The matron of honor was her sister, Mrs. Albert Harrison, wearing a long dress of blue sheer made on similar lines. She carried an arm bouquet of yellow carnations.

The groom was attended by Mr. Albert Harrison and the ushers were Hilton Rhodes, brother-in-law of the bride and James Weaver, brother-in-law of the groom.

The reception was held in the ladies' parlor in the parish hall where the guests were received by Mrs. Parsons wearing a grey suit and corsage of pink sweet peas, and Mrs. Harris, wearing black and white with a corsage of pink sweet peas.

For travelling the bride chose a two-tone brown suit with pink accessories and wore the groom's gift of a brown squirrel neckpiece.

After a motor trip the couple will live on the groom's farm in Smith township.

Miss Alice Curtis New Head Of Local Soroptimists

Miss Alice Curtis assumed the reins of leadership in the Soroptimist Club of Peterborough after being duly installed at the annual meeting Friday evening. She succeeds Miss Florence Scott who has been president for the past year.

Miss Curtis was promised the full support and cooperation of all members as well as of her executive which includes a first and second vice president Miss Gene Clark and Mrs. Eva Brackenridge.

Miss Mary Huston was elected treasurer for the coming year and Miss Flora Metcalfe the recording secretary with Miss Elva Jackson to take care of correspondence.

Four directors guide the club in its work. They will be Miss Verna Johnson and Mrs. Isabel Hughson, Mrs. Alma Belleghem and Miss Elsie Bennett during the coming year.

Meeting dates are changed for the 51-52 season, to be on the second and fourth Thursday of each month, at the Empress Hotel.

A donation of $25 to the Mayor's Fire Fund was reported. It was decided to donate $10 to the regional contribution toward a Soroptimist Fellowship at Women's College Hospital, Philadelphia. Fund for the fellowship is now building up and the first award will be made next year if a woman qualifies. It will be given for geryiatrics (the study of older people.)

The Golden Mile Club, sponsored by Peterborough Soroptimists, has grown to a membership of 40, placing a heavy burden in the matter of transportation. A survey is to be made in an endeavour to solve the problem for next year. Miss Scott spoke of the work carried on by other clubs as noted at a recent convention at Timmins.

Miss Scott vacated the chair at conclusion of business and Mrs. Enith Scott, a past president, took charge of installing the slate of officers and conducting a candle-lighting and pledge ceremony.

Miss Curtis received the president's pin from Miss Scott and Miss Scott was then presented with a past president's pin by Mrs. May Thompson.

A gift from the club in appreciation of the president's work the past year was presented by Miss Gene Clark.

The meeting took place following a dinner at DeAyncourt Manor, Lakefield. Place favors were small corsages of yellow baby 'mums and blue cornflowers, carrying out the club colors.

MISS ALICE CURTIS, who was installed president of the Soroptimist Club of Peterborough at the annual meeting Friday evening. Miss Curtis stepped up to this position to fill a vacancy. Presidents may hold office for one year only. She is proprietor of a children's wear shop which has recently opened at a new location on George St.

Readers' Saturday Column Conducted By Mary Moore

QUESTION: Would you please forward me information on how to can or preserve cherries so I can use them later in the year to make fruit salad or fruit cocktail. Last year I bought maraschino cherries but wondered if it wouldn't be possible to use our own kinds. Also which kind would be the best for that purpose. Thank you for your time and information. Mrs. Norma E.

ANSWER: (As I have said before the commercial method of making the perfect red maraschino cherries involves bleaching the cherries and the subsequent treatment is too complicated and risky with only home equipment.)

✧ ✧ ✧

Maraschino Cherries

(Please clip this now if you are making them in 1951.)

Three pounds Royal Anne cherries weighed after pitting. (If you cannot buy Royal Anne buy another firm variety of sweet cherry—red will do. The Royal Anne are so-called white cherries and take on the artificial red coloring more effectively.) 3 lbs. granulated sugar, 1 oz. liquid red coloring, 1 oz. almond flavoring, 1 cup water.

Soak the cherries in cold water for 2 hours, then pit them, keeping them as whole as possible. Weigh. Put sugar and water in kettle and boil until sugar is dissolved (being very careful not to let it scorch). Add the coloring, then the cherries and cook slowly until cherries are red and the syrup is fairly thick. They should be cooked as slowly as it is possible for you to adjust your burner—if gas is used put asbestos mat under kettle. Remove from heat, cool somewhat, add flavoring, let stand until cool, then pour into sterile jars and seal to make airtight. Keep in cool place.

QUESTION: Received your recipe for Elsie's Fluffy icing during the week of Feb. 8th-15th. I have followed the recipe exactly and still it will not thicken for me. I have tried it 4 times and have been very careful. I think there must be some mistake in the amount of one ingredient: 2 tablespoons butter, 2 squares chocolate melted (I chilled these after they were melted), ¼ cup whole milk, 1 cup unsifted icing sugar, plus 2 tablespoons, and I slightly beaten egg. I would also like a recipe for sweet green tomato pickle and preserved maraschino cherries. I also would like to know why my pie shells (unfilled) shrink so much. Also no matter what recipes I use for baking powder biscuits and I have tried your biscuit recipe I can get them nice and flaky but they will not raise any more than when I put them in the oven. I would appreciate hearing about these problems of mine. As I have wonderful success with all other cooking, and I use a lot of your recipes. I would like a calorie chart and some low calorie meals at your convenience. Mrs. W. S. E.

✧ ✧ ✧

ANSWER: Let us take the easy things first. The marachino cherry recipe is directly above your letter. My supply of charts came and I mailed out hundreds of them and am now waiting for a new batch. Don't despair. Change your brand of baking powder when you make biscuits. Read the label and find out if it contains phosphate, bicarbonate of soda and starch. This is the baking powder I use. Have your oven temperature at least 475 when you bake biscuits.

✧ ✧ ✧

Sweet Green Tomato Pickle

One peck green tomatoes, 3 lbs. Bermuda onions, 1 cup salt, 2 quarts water, 3 quarts vinegar, 2 lbs. sugar, 2 tablespoons each whole cloves, ginger, whole allspice, mustard seed, broken cinnamon stick, 1 teaspoon ground white pepper. Slice tomatoes and onions, sprinkle with salt, let stand overnight, then drain. Add water, 1 quart of the vinegar, and boil 15 minutes and drain, and discard liquid. Add the sugar, 2 quarts vinegar and the spices tied in thin bag. Boil very slowly 1 hour or until syrup is a little thickened. Seal in sterile jars.

I have sent you copy of my findings on Elsie's Fluffy Frosting, printed earlier this week. I will print some low-calorie meals next week.

DOROTHY DIX

Happiness First Attitude Selfish And Unrealistic

DEAR MISS DIX: I, a married woman, am in love with a married man, the father of two children. We have planned to divorce our mates, and marry each other, but he feels that he should not leave his children. He and his wife do not love each other, but still he is willing to give up his chance for happiness because of these children. Do you think we should give up our lives and happiness because of them? Are we supposed to listen to our hearts or our minds? Isn't happiness what counts in married life and in a home? What shall we do, suffer for two children or listen to our hearts and start anew?

LUCY

✧ ✧ ✧

ANSWER: Certainly nothing will be lost if you get a divorce! Your husband will be well rid of a selfish, conscienceless woman.

Your Plans Is Shocking

Should you listen to your hearts or your minds? I doubt if you have either a heart or a mind. The spaces they should occupy in the human soul are completely occupied, within you, by a huge, contemptible ego. I am glad to see that, at least, you haven't yet succeeded in foisting your lack of principle upon your paramour. He doesn't seem to have much backbone, but some glimmer of duty manages to penetrate his love-sick brain.

More sins are committed in the guise of this "happiness first" hokum than will ever be condoned in heaven, but the worst is the abandonment of innocent children by a parent who blithely tosses responsibilities aside and makes straight for the arms of another love.

It certainly isn't "happiness" they're seeking; their only desire is self-indulgence. Happiness is a gift that has to be earned; it is never attained by shirking responsibility, breaking up a home and depriving youngsters of a father or mother. Once a new soul has been brought into the world, parents are bound in conscience to make its upbringing their first consideration even at the cost of personal, selfish whims. Sometimes a marriage has to be broken to insure security for the child. When one mate is obviously an unfit parent and cannot create a decent home, a child is better off half-orphaned. But for a capable, competent parent to be willing to give up his share in the bringing up of his children for the love light in a siren's eyes is not a pleasant thing to contemplate.

If you have a spark of decency left, you'll leave your married friend alone with his wife and children, and look elsewhere for diversion.

DEAR MISS DIX: I recently married a widow with children. I have to work in another town but get home to see my family once a week. I have made the down payment on a house where I work, and am doing all I can to get the family moved as soon as possible. I am sending more money home than they had before we were married, but my wife wants me to give up everything here and go home, where I know I can't get a job. I have already quit one job for her. She thinks if I don't work she can get government relief for the children, then I can work a little and we'll have more money that way.

I have always worked and cared for myself and those dependent on me and I don't like the idea of being taken care of by the government. Am I just being old-fashioned in wanting a steady job and a home? I put all my savings into the home, and if I give up that deal and quit my job we'll have nothing. The children, incidentally, agree with me, but my wife doesn't seem to be satisfied with anything I do or suggest?

O. G.

✧ ✧ ✧

ANSWER: Thank heaven there are people like you who don't expect the government to hand them a living. Your wife is very lucky to have found a husband so willing to take care of her and her children. She should at least have settle the family as you wish, and she could even go a little further the patience to wait until you can and lend some co-operation. Stick to your plans, and to your way of life as you see it. When she realizes that you just won't quit another job for her, she'll wait. Good husbands don't grow on trees, and when your wife sees the futility of trying to change you, she'll be glad to take what you offer.

✧ ✧ ✧

DEAR MISS DIX: I am a girl 16, married to a boy who has just been called into service. He wants me to stay with his mother, but I don't think we'd get along too well. What shall I do?

EMMA

✧ ✧ ✧

ANSWER: At 16 you're too young to be married, much less to be living alone while your husband is overseas. If you have a family of your own, your place is with them, but if you have no relatives you'd better follow your husband's wishes and stay with his mother. Remember, to her you are just a child, and will be treated accordingly, but there's no reason why you can't get along until your husband is able to provide a home for you.

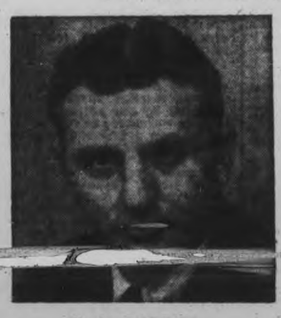
Tom Gard's Note Book

Bits of driftwood picked up along the shores of northern lakes make excellent decorative pieces, and can often be formed into useful items. One very good friend worked several specimens into various interesting Christmas decorations that were both attractive and original. One hollow "log" held small tube candles; odd shapes painted white spelled out the family initials on the door against a background of green; several pieces had been fashioned to hold small floral arrangements. Be on the alert for useful and ornamental pieces of driftwood during your holidays this summer.

What a happy association — holders made with your own hands for flowers from your own garden. Follow the instructions given for a simple flower holder and suggestions for floral arrangement.

Rustic Pergola

As well as remembering to use flowers indoors, don't forget to add beauty to your garden — especially with roses. Climbers require some means of support and a pergola is just the thing. We have a small plan that is a blaze of color right now.



Censored

The Gards have become accustomed to holidaying during the first two weeks in July. Each year at this time I usually tackle some small improvement in the cottage to take my mind off fishing and this season will be no exception. There is one corner that is waste space at the present time and I have agreed to install a general utility cupboard. Plans are well in hand now but there will likely be a few wrinkles to iron out once the job is started. I'm using plywood but it could be made equally well from cheaper material.

My son has just brought his yearly contribution for the cottage home from school — a triple decker hanger made out of coat hangers. He evidently dreamed up the idea and made it "on the sly" during shop-work periods. Looks sturdy and serviceable, too.

6—In Memoriam

CASEY—In loving memory of a dear husband and father, Allan M. Casey, who passed suddenly away one year ago, June 17, 1950.
One year has gone, no one can tell
The loss of one we loved so well,
Short and sudden was the call
Of one so dearly loved by all.
The blow was great, the shock severe
We little thought his death so near,
And only those who have loved can tell
The pain of parting without farewell.
—Ever remembered by his wife, Florence and family.

RONCO—In loving memory of a dear mother, Mary Ronco, who passed away June 16, 1945.
A wonderful mother, woman and aid;
One who was better God never made.
A wonderful worker, so loyal and true
One in a million, that, mother, was you.
Just in your judgment always right,
Honest and liberal, ever upright;
Loved by your friends and all you knew.
A wonderful mother, that, mother, was you.
—Sadly missed by daughter Lucy and son-in-law George.

RONCO—In loving memory of Mrs. Joseph Ronco, who passed away on June 16, 1945.
When the Lord said, "You have finished, come higher mother dear,
You have won a crown in heaven,
By your love and kindness here.
We remember well our sorrow
As we stood beside your bed,
Our deep and heartfelt anguish
When we saw that you were dead.
We miss your kind and willing hand,
Your fond and earnest care.
Our home is dark without you mother,
We miss you everywhere.
—Sadly missed by her youngest daughter, Rose Marie Ronco.

RONCO—In loving memory of Dad, who passed away June 7th, 1931, and of sister, Philomene, who passed away June 3, 1938, and of Mother, who passed away June 16th, 1945.
Nothing can ever take away
The love our hearts hold dear,
Fond memories linger every day,
Remembrance keeps them near.
—Always remembered by son Joseph and family.

OBITUARIES

MRS. WILLIAM BUSH

Mrs. William Bush of 611 Erskine Ave., died Friday at her residence following an illness of three years. She was born in Kingston, Betty Elizabeth, daughter of the former Charlotte Armstrong and the late Charles Finnegan, and lived in Hamilton before coming to this city.

Besides her mother she leaves her husband one son "Buddie" Charles and a sister Mrs. Alex Alldred (Irene) of Bobcaygeon. There are three brothers, Patrick, Douglas and Jackie Finnegan, all of Peterborough. Mrs. Bush was a member of Free Methodist Church, Aylmer St.

Funeral service will be held on Monday at Nisbett Funeral Home at 2 p.m. The Rev. R. E. Dargan will officiate and burial will be at Little Lake Cemetery.

MRS. ALBERT TINNEY

Mrs. Albert Tinney of Cavan village died to-day in hospital following a lingering illness. She was in her 64th year.

Mrs. Tinney ws born at Mount Pleasant, Ethel Louise, daughter of the late Rev. John Ewing and Sarah McIvor, and has lived all her life in the district.

She leaves her husband and two daughters, Mrs. C. H. Way (Doris) of Toronto and Mrs. George Clarke (Viola) and a son Donald, both of Cavan. Mrs. Tinney was a member of Cavan United Church and of it's Women's Auxiliary.

Funeral service will be held from the family residence Monday at 2 p.m. The Rev. A. A. Chote of St. Thomas Anglican Church will officiate and burial will be at St. John's Cemetery, Ida.

ERNEST SCOTT

Ernest Scott, a retired city blacksmith, of 239 McGill St., died on Friday in Ingersoll at the home of his daughter, Mrs. J. M. Ward. He was 76 years of age. Mr. Scott was born at Young's Point, son of the late Frank Scott and Alveretta Ferguson, and before going to Ingersoll about four months ago, lived a lifetime in Peterborough. His wife, the former Emma Adeline Graham, predeceased him a year ago.

He leaves two daughters, Mrs. Gordon Welch (Velma) of this city and Mrs. (Rev.) J. M. Ward (Aleetha) of Ingersoll. Mr. Scott was a member of Murray Street Baptist Church.

Funeral service will be held on Monday at the Comstock Funeral Home at 2:30 p.m. The Rev. Ivan C. Morgan will officiate and burial will be at Little Lake cemetery.

C. H. Graham Funeral

Funeral service for the late Charles Henry Graham, 62, of 439 Edison Ave., was held on Friday at the Comstock Funeral Home. Mr. Graham was drowned on Monday in the Otonabee River at a spot ten miles south of the city. His body was recovered near his overturned boat on Wednesday evening.

The Rev. Dr. D. Bruce Gordon of Trinity United Church officiated at the service and pall-bearers were Douglas, Elwood, Bert and Gordon Graham, Gerald Bullied and William Leahy. Burial was at Little Lake Cemetery.

Dorcas Group Meets

WARKWORTH, June 16 (ENS) —The Dorcas Group of the Women's Association of St. Paul's United church held their meeting Tuesday evening at the home of Mrs. Alton Hutchinson with 15 members present. Mrs. James Smoker was in charge of the meeting.

The meeting opened with a devotional service conducted by Mrs. Grant Allen and Mrs. Harold Reddon.

The minutes of the previous meeting were read and the treasurer's report was given. Mrs. C. Ellis thanked the group for remembering her in her recent illness.

"There must be sulphur round here somewhere, Frobshaw, I can smell it!"

Campbellford High Hires Principal

CAMPBELLFORD, June 16 — (ENS) — Campbellford High School Board chose a new principal for the high school recently. Ellis Darling will replace William S. Armstrong, who is leaving the post of principal because of poor health.

Earlier, the board had asked for Mr. Armstrong's resignation, but at this meeting decided to offer him the position of assistant principal at a salary of $4,300. Mr. Darling's salary will be the same.

Present at the meeting, held at Campbellford High School, were: Chairman N. N. Haggerty, vice-chairman A. R. Loucks, Doug. McMaster, Wesley Down, A. E. Hennessy, Andrew Kemp, W. O. Graham, Gordon McCubbin, Vincent Farrell, D. H Meyers, George Nicholls and W. R. Loucks.

30 Tourists Seek Directions At Booth

The Junior Chamber of Commerce tourist booth, Charlotte St., has serviced 30 tourists since it opened Monday.

Bill Duignan, who has just returned from St. Francis Xavier University, Antigonish, Nova Scotia, is in charge of the Jaycee booth again this year.

He reported that all enquiries so far have been for directions—mostly fishing locations. As yet there have been no inquiries at booth for tourist reservations.

Last year the booth serviced a total of 6,440 people. A breakdown showed 2,418 for accommodation, 631 fishing enquiries — locations and regulations, 39 for camping and trailer sites, 4,109 for city directions, 160 dining inquiries, 60 shopping inquiries and 61 garage inquiries.

The booth also supplied 2,864 brochures, booklets and maps to tourists.

Cyclist Bruises Knee In Collision With Car

Leonard Fox, 624 St. Catharine St., suffered a bruised knee Friday afternoon when the bicycle he was riding was in collision with a car at Hunter and Stewart Sts.

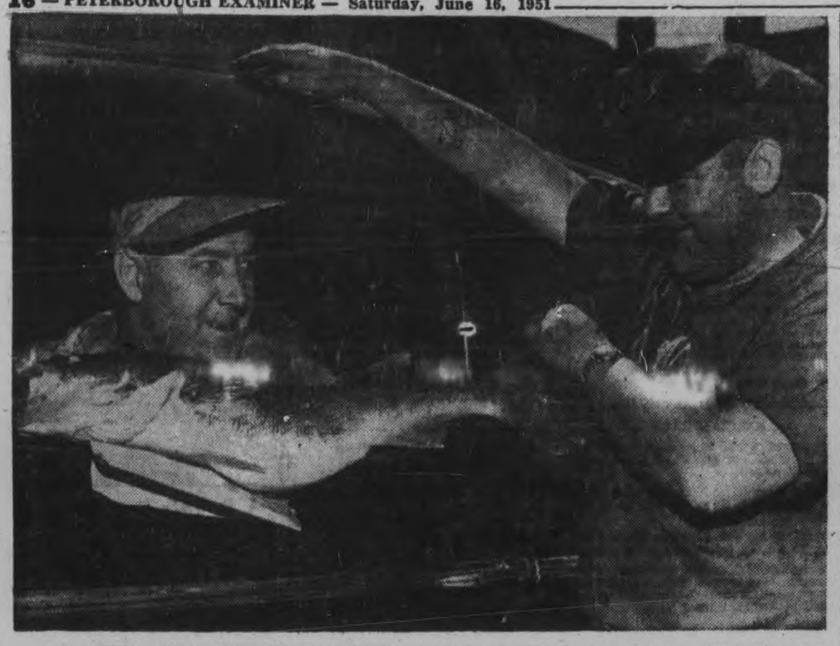
Driver of the car, Mrs. Irene Neal, Akron, O., was driving west on Hunter, and starting to turn south on Aylmer St. Fox said he saw the car turning, braked, but couldn't stop. Mrs. Neal applied her brakes, and just as the car stopped, the bicycle hit it.

Fox was thrown over the hood of the car. About $5 damage was done to his bicycle, and only slight damage to the car.

Roseneath Twp. Hall Redecoration Finished

ROSENEATH, June 16 (ENS)— The interior of Roseneath township hall today has a new look.

In the spring the ladies' organizations felt the hall should be redecorated. The Women's Institute appointed a committee to interview the Alnwick township council about redecorating the hall. This committee attended a council meeting, presided over by Reeve Fred Broadworth and explained their mission. They were promised something would be done.



A painter was given the contract and the ladies of the Women's Institute and United Church WA refinished the chairs, made new drapes for the windows and purchased new blinds. They were given financial assistance by St. James' Anglican WA; Centenary WA and Miss Hilda Arthur, music teacher.

Centreton Home Burns

COBOURG, June 16 —(ENS)— Fire yesterday destroyed the home of John Clowson at Centreton. The frame dwelling was a total loss and only some of the contents were saved. Firemen were successful in saving the nearby house of John Walton. Mrs. Clowson was burned slightly on one hand and was brought in to Cobourg for treatment. Cobourg fire department were called but due to the distance involved, did not respond.

WOODVILLE SAFE FOUND

The safe which was stolen from the CNR station at Woodville earlier in the week was fished from the Don River, Toronto on Thursday. Its door and a small amount of cash were missing. Railway police are continuing their investigation of the theft.

A TEN AND THREE-QUARTER-POUND PICKEREL, the 67th fish caught this season by Cyril "Skip" Hutchison of 567 Bolivar St., was taken on Thursday evening with a live minnow bait "on the Otonabee River near Peterborough." Skip, in car, shows it to his fishing pal, service station man Bob Hayes, George St.—(Examiner Staff Photo)

Louis Shows Some Of Old Form Knocks Out Savold In 6th Round

By MURRAY ROSE

NEW YORK, June 16 (AP)—A jubilant Joe Louis, looking more like the magnetic, dynamic Brown Bomber of 10 years ago hollered for Ezzard Charles today and there wasn't a soul who would dare hush him down.

A couple of days ago if you even hinted that 37-year-old Joe would have a chance against the heavyweight champion, you would have been sent to a booby hatch in a hurry.

Today, with the exciting memory of the Bomber's explosixe six round knockout of Lee Savold fresh in mind, hardened boxing men and Savold himself, will bet you even money that Louis will take back the prized crown he held so long.

And he'll probably get his chance in Detroit this September. Charles has a July 18 date with Jersey Joe Walcott in Pittsburgh and Louis said "I want a couple of more fights before then. Maybe one in Germany and one more."

"I'll go along with Louis over Charles," said the battered 35-year-old Savold as he nursed a battered nose, purplish bruises under each eye and a scarred lip.

"He was sharp, real sharp," said the blond loser. "I just couldn't get off."

Gets A Surprise

Savold wasn't looking for the kind of Louis he met Friday night in jam-packed Madison Square Garden. Neither did anybody else including the sell-out crowd of 18,179 fans who paid $94,684.

"I felt better than since the first Billy Conn fight," said the Bomber.

Joe called his shot against Savold. He predicted "I'll knock him out inside of six rounds."

He did it at exactly 2.49 of the sixth with a smashing left hook to the jaw that dropped his bleeding, wobbling rival for the first time in the fight and for keeps.

It was strictly a one-sided battle all the way as Louis snapped Lee's head back with jarring left jabs and belted him to the head and body with short rights and uppercuts. From the second round on, Savold gushed blood from his aching nose and from the third on his face was a crimson smear.

Only Damage

Only in the fifth, when he shook the Bomber with two overhand rights to the head, did the Englewood, NJ, veteran inflict any damage.

Louis said the rights didn't bother him.

"I knew what I was doing all the time," said Joe. He showed it in the sixth when he ripped away at Lee with both hands and did something he couldn't accomplish in his five previous wins. He put away Savold with a right to the body and as beautiful a left hook to the jaw as you'll ever see.

Louis, who outweighted his rival, 211¼ to 190, said "This is the one I went out for. In the other fights I was just trying to work myself into shape. This time I knew I was ready."

Union Officials Say Meeting Denied Them

TORONTO, June 16 (CP). — The United Rubber Workers (CIO) Friday accused the strike-gound Goodyear Tire and Rubber Company of making public offers to negotiate a wage dispute but of refusing to meet with the union officials.

However, R. K. Berkinshaw, Goodyear general manager, reaffirmed that the company is ready to negotiate as soon as the men return to work.

The firm's 2,800 workers in New Toronto and in Bowmanville walked off the job June 6 after rejecting a company offer of a pay boost of 8.7 cents an hour. The union demanded a 25 cents an hour increase.

Jumps Out Window Prisoner Injured

WINDSOR, June 16 (CP). — Glen Thomas, 27, is in "serious condition" at hospital with injuries received Friday when he leaped from the second floor of the police building and fell 21 feet to the ground.

Hospital authorities said Thomas has a fractured pelvis, internal injuries and head injuries which might include a fracture.

Thomas made his leap just after Magistrate J. A. Hanrahan had ordered him committed to the Ontario Hospital at St. Thomas for a 60-day observation period. He had been charged with a common assault of his wife, Elsie.

Have Good Water

AYLMER, June 16 (CP)—Aylmer's drinking water is good for the teeth. A report received Friday from provincial authorities said the water has been found to contain fluorine in the exact amount recommended to help prevent tooth decay.

Levy Heavy Duty

BUENOS AIRES, June 16 (AP) —The Argentine government Friday gave the independent newspaper La Prensa until Tuesday to pay a claim of 32,000,000 pesos ($2,270,000) levied by the government at customs duty for newsprint received between 1939 and 1948. The government already has authority to take over the newspaper, closed after strikes by pro-government unions.

Summer Theatre Given New Terms

Terms of an agreement between the Board of Education and Michael Sadlier on the operation of the summer theatre have now been drawn up.

Mr. Sadlier is expected to arrive in the city in a few days to sign it.

The first and last performances (June 25-30 and September 3-8) will be in the collegiate auditorium. The other 12 weeks will be in Queen Mary auditorium.

Rental for both auditoriums will be $150 a week. Mr. Sadlier agrees to pay any damages done to the Board of Education property. An appraiser will look over the property at the end of the season to give an expert opinion.

A surety bond of $1,000 to indemnify the Board for any damage must be posted by Mr. Sadlier.

Last year the rent was $125 a week, but the extra cost of janitor service, insurance, and other incidentals, caused the Board to boost it by $25.

Performances must end at about 10.30 p.m. so the doors of the Queen Mary auditorium can be locked at 11 p.m. This early closing, combined with the parking restrictions in the vicinity of Queen Mary, will eliminate any "nuisance", the Board hopes.

Send Extra Troops

ANTIGUA, British West Indies, June 16 (AP)—A detachment of 50 Royal Welsh Fusiliers arrived Friday by air from Jamaica as labor unrest in Antigua became more acute. A number of acts of violence and sabotage by labor-union sympathizers have been reported.

Just Tourists

PERPIGNAN, France, June 16 (AP)—Two British tourists who were mistaken in Barcelona for a pair of missing British diplomats crossed into France here Friday and proved they were just tourists. An informant in Barcelona earlier said men identified as the two diplomats left Spain for France Thursday after spending two days in Spain.

Killed By Truck

BRANTFORD, June 16 (CP)—Bobbie Molson, 19 months, was killed Friday night when run over by a truck being backed up by his 15-year-old brother Keith. He was the youngest of five children of Mr. and Mrs. William Molson of nearby Cainsville.

DOG ROBBER?—Princess, a police dog, is "in the dog house" at a Los Angeles animal shelter after being booked as a suspected accomplice of her master, Robert C. Wakeland, in a robbery attempt. Officers said Wakeland tried to rob a man while the dog held another man at bay.

19 Plead Innocent In Bank Overdrafts

ALBANY, N. Y., June 16 (AP) —Two former bank employees and 17 depositors pleaded innocent here Friday to indictments connected with alleged overdrafts of more than $2,400,000 on a Syracuse Bank.

Federal District Judge James T. Foley set June 29 for hearing motions in Albany, and continued bail for all.

The 19 were indicted June 1 by a federal district grand jury at Syracuse after a five weeks investigation.

Applauds Move

WINNIPEG, June 16 (CP)—M. M. Wocks, secretary of the Manitoba Automobile Transportation Association, said Friday the recent decision of the Ontario Municipal Board to allow Western Canada truckers to operate on Ontario highways was "one of the finest things that ever happened." Previously Western Canada Truckers had only one-way privilege on Ontario highways. That is, vehicles could truck commodities out of Ontario, but not in.

June Baking Sale, Tea Planned by YWA

NORWOOD, June 16 (ENS)—St. Andrew's Young Women's Auxiliay held the monthly meeting at the home of Mrs. Robert Duncanson. Mrs. John Rogers was in charge of the program.

The scripture lesson was read by Mrs. Joe Burtt. Mrs. Rogers led in prayer. Mrs. Stanley McMillan gave a reading from the Glad Tidings, "An Unforgettable Experience." Mrs. Duncan Sinclair gave the topic, "The Johansie Field in India."

There were 15 members present. Plans were made for a tea and home-made baking sale to be held on June 27 at the home of Mrs. Neil Rogers.

The meeting closed with the singing of "God Be With You", and the Mizpah benediction.

Mrs. Duncanson and her joint hostesses, Mrs. Clifford Davey, Mrs. Arthur Davey, Mrs. Cecil Cuthbertson and Mrs. Sophia Cassidy served lunch. Mrs. Rogers moved a note of thanks to these ladies and to Mrs. Duncanson for opening her home for the meeting.

PETERBOROUGH WAGE RATES ARE DETERMINED BY THIS CONTRACT . . .

Wage rates and working conditions in the Peterborough area are largely determined by the contract covering the 3,600 production workers at Canadian General Electric Co., the largest employer in this area.

The present bargaining agent for these workers is UE. In a recent agreement with the company UE settled for three cents next year establishing the wage rates until 1953. This agreement also provided wage increases of from 9 to 15 cents, plus a 5-cent cost-of-living bonus. This was the first increase in take-home pay these workers received since June, 1948.

BEFORE AND AFTER

During the time that the local union was part of the established CIO-CCL labour movement wage gains totalling 40 cents were obtained in three years. The men who represented the union in these negotiations are now almost all members of IUE-CIO. This is their record: 1946—17 cents; 1947—10 cents; 1948—13 cents.

Since UE was expelled from the labour movement the gains for a four-year period total to date only 14 to 20 cents, and this contract is binding until 1953. This is their record of failure: 1949—no increase; 1950—reduced hours with no increase in take-home pay; 1951—9 to 15 cents plus cost-of-living bonus; 1952—3 cents.

In the face of these facts it is not surprising that a majority of CGE workers have swung to IUE-CIO and established before the Ontario Labour Relations Board their right to a vote giving them the opportunity to change their union and return to the labour movement.

The election of IUE-CIO will mean that CGE workers have another opportunity to improve their contract. During those negotiations the old contract will be maintained by law.

Violent attacks by UE against reputable officials of the recognized labour movement of Canada and the United States are no answer to UE's failure in the CGE contract.

Speaker States Pros, Cons Of Today's Market Systems

BETHANY (ENS)—At the Women's Institute meeting, Mrs. Thomas Jennings, convenor of agriculture and Canadian industries, spoke on marketing, discussing the pros and cons of the open market, organized marketing and marketing by government monopoly.

"In the old days, you went to town and sold your products to townspeople who bought directly from you; or you sold them to the butcher or the storekeeper, who, in turn, sold them to the consumer. Those were the days of a free and open market," she said.

Today, however, marketing is not so simple and people disagree as to the best method. The open market refers to individual producers selling their products without interference from the government or from a producers' organization. Organized marketing is any system of marketing that the producers control through their own organization; for example through a co-operative or through a producers' marketing board.

Government monopoly occurs when a government or a board set up by the government handles the marketing of any product. For example, the Canadian Wheat Board, set up by the Canadian government, markets all western wheat.

"Arguments in favor of the open market state it permits free flow of goods from producer to consumer without interference. Demand regulates supply, and the price depends on the demand and the supply. It permits 'free enterprise'.

"The individual producer is free to sell where he can make the best bargain and the buyer is likewise free to buy where he can make the best bargain. It permits the producer to get the highest possible price instead of a controlled price. Those opposed to the open market claim a free market no longer exists because the individual producer is no longer matched by the individual buyer.

"So many of the buyers and processors of farm products have become consolidated into large firms that the individual producer can no longer bargain effectively for a fair price. The law of supply and demand no longer operates freely. Tariffs have been laid down to discourage imports; subsidies offered to encourage the production of certain goods.

"The so-called free competition has often resulted in a cut-throat competition that forced farm prices down. In the competitive market the farmer and the consumer have both been the victims of the squeeze from powerful firms. Also, farmers themselves have too often worked against each other in the competitive market. With particular reference to grain, it is claimed that open trading on the Grain Exchange is a form of gambling in food.

"Organized marketing developed through dissatisfaction, individual producers feeling that they were at a disadvantage in dealing with large firms such as packing plants and grain companies, or in dealing with the middlemen who acted as buyers for these firms. At the same time farmers had to buy at prices over which they had no control. The earliest form of organized marketing was the co-operative — groups of producers here and there: the fishermen of the east and west coasts, cream producers, wheat producers, wool growers and fruit growers forming co-operatives for the purpose of marketing their produce in an organized way rather than individually.

"Some of the earliest organized were the Grain Growers Grain Company in 1906; The United Fruit Companies of Nova Scotia, 1912; The Okanagan United Growers of British Columbia, 1913; the United Farmers Cooperative Co. of Ontario, 1914; the Canadian Cooperative Wool Growers, 1918. In later years the Wheat Pools, Livestock and Poultry Pools became powerful.

"The recent success the Ontario Cheese Producers' Association have had in negotiating a much better contract with the British speaks well for organized marketing. They have shown that a well-organized farmer marketing group, intelligently managed, can give the farmer not only great independence from monopolistic business interest, but independence from government itself.

"When the Ontario Cheese Producers' Association concluded its negotiations with the British Food Ministry by signing a 32-cent-a-pound contract for 20,000,000 pounds of Ontario cheddar they were making history. For the first time, a farmers' organization had undertaken to do what previously had only been done by government. The Cheese Producers have shown us that farmers can manage their business affairs for themselves, without any government support or interference, if they will take the trouble to organize soundly and build efficient management.

"Not only did they negotiate a much better contract with the British than the government had the previous year, but a few days later they sat down with the Canadian domestic buyers and worked out a contract which will give the Ontario cheese producer a 36-cent domestic price, seven cents higher than the last year average.

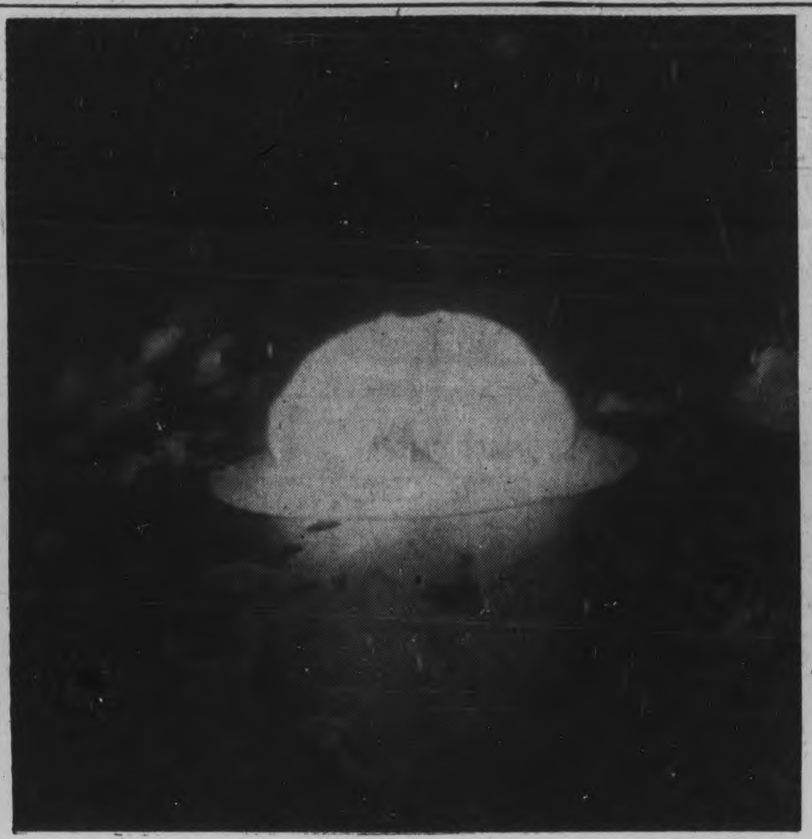
"As a result of the two contracts the take home pay for farmers selling cheese milk will this year be close to $3.00 per hundredweight, which is a 50 per cent wage increase. The co-operative can take over some of the middlemen's services and reduce overlapping in distribution.

"Arguments against this type of marketing are that it kills free enterprise because members are expected to deal through their co-operative and thus lose their freedom to deal where and how they wish.

"Government monopoly came into being during the war with several countries handling their export or import trade in food products through government boards. Great Britain followed this practice in order that food supplies might be purchased and distributed as efficiently as possible. The Canadian government set up several commodity boards to handle food exports to Great Britain and other countries. Some of these are still functioning.

"The Meat Board handles our exports of dressed meats; the Dairy Products Board handles exports of cheese and milk powder; and the Special Products Board handles the export of eggs. Besides these boards that deal only in exports, we have the Canadian Wheat Board that handles all marketing of Western wheat, both domestic and foreign.

"The main reason our exports in certain food products continue to be handled by government boards is that we have export contracts for these commodities. The contracts themselves have been drawn up by the governments of the countries concerned, not by private exporters and importers.



"The marketing of wheat is a subject of great controversy. Most of the time since 1887 the facilities of the Winnipeg Grain Exchange have been used for the buying and selling of wheat and other grains. But during both World Wars the government stepped in to stop trading in wheat futures on the Grain Exchange. During these periods the marketing of wheat was turned over to a government board. The marketing of other grains is carried on through the Winnipeg Grain Exchange.

"Arguing against the Wheat Board are those who favor the open market and claim the wheat producers have lost their freedom of action in marketing and in bargaining; that the farmer should be free to sell his grain to whom he chooses, when he chooses and at the best price he can get.

"The farmers claim they have lost vast sums of money by selling wheat at the price fixed by contract instead of on a competitive market; that the extension of government monopoly and government trading is a dangerous trend in the direction of bureaucracy and state control.

"In trying to decide which method of marketing serves the producers best, perhaps there is no clear-cut answer. It may be that different methods suit different products, and the best method of marketing any commodity is the one that suits that particular commodity best."

The meeting was held at Mrs. Jennings' home with Mrs. H. L. Challice presiding. Group singing was enjoyed. Mrs. T. S. Gault read a poem and a puppet dance provided amusement. The hostess assisted by members of group one, served refreshments.

THIS GENERAL VIEW of the 1951 atom bomb test at Eniwetok shows an early phase of the nuclear explosion. The conclusion of the mid-Pacific tests was announced last month but photographs were only released for publication a few days ago by the Atomic Energy Commission in Washington. The "fire ball' 'of the explosion resembles a soldier's tin helmet as the force of the blast spreads upward.

Trench Silos Urged For Farmers

GUELPH, June 16 (CP).—Ontario farmers were told Friday to give more thought to trench silos as a means of preventing waste and cutting down production costs of both beef and dairy products.

Prof. R. G. Knox, head of the animal husbandry department of the Ontario Agricultural College, mentioned the particularly lush pastures and hay crops in the province this year and said much of this growth was likely to be wasted. Trench silos, simple and economical, could save this grass in silage form for use during the dry summer months when pastures fall off.

Prof. Knox spoke at the annual farm and home week at the college.

Organize For Defence

TORONTO, June 16 (CP)—The St. John Ambulance Association, assigned the civil defence task of providing first aid, has started to organize for the job. V. A. M. Kemp of Toronto, provincial commissioner, Friday told the annual meeting of the association's Ontario council: "Close co-operation exists between us and local authorities. We are proceeding with an organizational project which can be implemented when more clarified directions are issued to us."

War Ended Soon

OTTAWA, June 16 (CP)—The technical state of war with West Germany will be ended within a matter of days, External Affairs Minister Pearson told the Commons Friday. Mr. Pearson said Canada will be free to take that action once the West German government promulgates legislation stripping German statutes of references to Canada and her other wartime allies as enemy states.

Two Butchers Charged

TORONTO, June 16 (CP)—Two Toronto butchers were charged Friday with selling horsemeat as beef contrary to the Foods and Drugs Act. Police said the men, Percy Boyd and R. F. Newton, sold "boneless beef" containing horsemeat and beef that was adulterated. "The charges are in the nature of a test case, as it is known that other butchers are, or have been, selling horsemeat as beef," one officer said.

UN Planes Win Jet Battle Down 6, Damage 8 Aircraft

DeGaullists, Reds Lead Voting, Won't Run Gov't.

PARIS, June 18. (AP) — The middle-of-the-road parties emerged today with a majority in France's new national assembly but it was a majority facing a squeeze from both the left and the right. If anything, the political road in France seems to have bent to the right. Virtually-complete returns from Sunday's general elections showed followers of Gen. Charles De Gaulle the largest single party in the assembly while the Communists won the largest single bloc of the popular vote.

But the Communists were down from the 1946 national elections. They collected 22.4 per cent of the total number of valid ballots cast Sunday, compared with 28.6 per cent then.

The new election law, which encouraged alliances among the centre parties, cut Communist representation in the assembly from 183 to around 110.

The De Gaullists got 18.9 per cent of the poplar vote and 115 parliamentary seats or more.

Unsteady Government

The outcome threatened the country with another era of unsteady coalition government at a time when the Western Allies were hoping for a stable regime to act swiftly on measures for defending western Europe against Communism.

Complete returns from all of the 90 departments (counties) of metropolitan France, with one exception, and three departments in French North Africa gave the following division of 565 of the 627 assembly seats:

Communists	96
De Gaullists	107
Centre Parties	358
Others	4

The 358 seats shared by the centre parties included: Socialists 96, Left Republicans 85, Mouvement Republicaine Populaire 77, Independent Republicans and Peasants Party 100. The Left Republicans include two branches of the Radical-Socialist party and the Democratic Union headed by former premier Rene Pleven. Pleven's party got five seats and the two Radical-Socialist branches split 80 between them.

53 Seats Undecided

Another 53 seats remained undecided for the various regions of Africa and French colonies in other sections of the globe. But representatives from these areas usually align themselves in more-or-less equal numbers with the large political blocs of the mainland, or split off into tiny movements with little or no connection with the main parties.

80 Ships Idle As Result Of US Strike

NEW YORK, June 18 (AP). — The National Maritime Union (CIO) claimed today that about 40 ships that should be on the high seas were "sitting still" in port as a result of labor disputes that tied up every major waterfront in the United States.

An NMU spokesman said the 80 included ships at Galveston, Houston, New Orleans, Port Arthur (Tex.) and other gulf and east coast ports.

Sailing of the American Export liner Elmira Victory for Trieste was canceled today, the first ship in the port of New York to be affected.

The three-coast work stoppages, which started early Saturday, exerted their full impact at the start of the work week.

Only Korean war and other vital cargoes were moving.

An official of the National Maritime Union (CIO) said Sunday that no more American passenger ships carrying tourist trade will sail until the contract dispute is settled.

To Renew Efforts

Federal mediators here planned to renew efforts to bring the NMU and two smaller CIO unions together with representatives of 40 Atlantic and gulf coast shipping companies.

In San Francisco, federal conciliator Omar Hoskins has scheduled a meeting between the striking American Radio Association (CIO) and the Pacific Maritime Association of Owners.

The ARA walkout was holding up all American shipping there, although other Pacific Martime unions have settled with the shippers. The union has only 700 members on Pacific ships, but Maritime law forbids vessels to sail without a radio operator.

On the east and gulf coasts the 60,000-member NMU holds the key in the conflict. The ARA and the Maritime Engineers Beneficial Association also are involved.

Indian Battle Bogging Down

OTTAWA, June 18 (CP). — A three-year legal battle by Six Nations Indians, seeking $1,289,467 from the government as a result of an ill-fated, pre-Confederation business venture, bogged down before the Exchequer Court of Canada today on the question of admissibility of evidence.

Located at Brantford Reservation, the Six Nations tribe sought the money on the allegation that the Upper Canada government, back in 1823 or thereabouts, allowed the use of Indian money for the construction of a canal by the Grand River Navigation Company. The company subsequently went bankrupt. The canal was never completed.

Auguste Lemieux of Ottawa, apearing for the Indians, said the original sum was about $160,000, but the Indians are asking almost 10 times that amount on the basis of five-per-cent interest over a period of 110 years.

Simonds In Paris For Defence Parley

PARIS, June 18 (Reuters). — Gen. Guy Simonds, Canadian Army Chief of Staff, arrived today for a first-hand study of the progress and problems of western defence.

Simonds dines tonight with Field-Marshal Viscount Montgomery, flies to Germany Tuesday, and returns later in the week for talks with Gen. Dwight D. Eisenhower, chief of Atlantic Pact Forces.

In Germany, Simonds told reporters, he will examine the facilities available for the Canadian Brigade group of about 6,000 men coming to Europe under the North Atlantic Treaty arrangements.

He could not give an approximate date of their arrival.

"Recruiting has gone well and when I left the numbers for the brigade were complete," he said.

Pedestrian Hit By Car Badly Hurt

Hurled 20 Feet By Impact, Former City Man

Struck by a car early Saturday night when he was less than 100 yards from his mother-in-law's home, Lorne Russel, 21, of Bloor St., Oshawa, is lying critically injured in Civic Hospital.

His injuries include a fractured skull, a broken leg and a broken arm. Early today he had still not regained consciousness.

Russel, who until a few months ago was a Peterborough resident, was walking north on Highway 28 when he was struck from behind by a car passing another car. He was hurled 20 feet through the air and landed in the driveway of the McNaughton & Sugden garage, just north of the city limits.

Melville Wood, 21, 548 Harvey St., was taken into custody by provincial police and today in police court he was charged with dangerous driving. He chose a summary trial and was remanded without plea to June 26.

Bail was set at $2,000.

Wood, who was held in custody over the week-end, was not represented by legal counsel.

Hit Pole

The Wood car, after striking Russel, went out of control and snapped off a hydro pole at the base on the east side of the highway. It stopped some 50 feet further north, off the highway.

Wood was shaken up but uninjured.

Russel had hitchhiked from Oshawa to spend the weekend—together with his wife Lillian and infant son Larry—at the home of Mrs. Lillian Collins, his mother-in-law.

Mrs. Russel and the baby had reached her mother's home two hours earlier by bus, and they were waiting for Russel who was hitchhiking to arrive. He was carrying a small case and a package, mainly consisting of baby clothing.

New Division In Action In July

LONDON, June 18 (Reuters). —The newly-created Commonwealth Division will go into action in Korea as a unit during the second half of July, it was stated authoritatively today.

Until now Commonwealth troops have fought in Korea as brigades with the United Nations forces.

The division will consist of a Canadian brigade, two British brigades which include an Australian battalion, a field artillery unit from New Zealand, and an ambulance unit from India.

Likely Charge Electrician With Murder

CRYSTAL BEACH, June 18 (CP)—Police said they expect to file a murder charge today against a 49-year-old electrician who is in hospital at nearby Welland with gunshot wounds following the fatal shooting of his common-law wife Saturday night.

The wounds that sent Edward Anthony Bassett to hospital were described by police as self-inflicted shortly after a gunshot blast felled Mrs. Leone Bailey Peterson, 43, outside the cottage in which the couple had been living.

A "triangle" was blamed by police for the shooting of Mrs. Peterson, who was divorced from her husband in Buffalo a number of years ago and who has lived with Bassett here for the last 11 years. Neighbors said she had taken the name of Mrs. Bassett.

Police said Bassett, separated from his wife in Williamsburg, N.Y., for 18 years, had quarrelled with Mrs. Peterson after he returned home unexpectedly and found her in the cottage with another man.

Bassett and the woman quarrelled for the next 10 hours over the incident. About 7 p.m. Mrs. Peterson broke off the dispute and went to talk to neighbors. When she returned a short time later, from the verandah she hurled a vase through the plate glass of the front door. Almost immediately, a shot fired through the broken glass tore away part of her head.

A small boy saw her stagger down the steps and collapse, dying on the lawn. Neighbors, who had mistaken the shot for a firecracker, called police at the station a block away when they found she was dead.

Top RCAF Pilot Killed In Plane Crash At Air Show

OTTAWA, June 18. (CP)—A thrilling air show came to a tragic end Saturday when one of the RCAF's top pilots was killed in the blazing wreckage of a Harvard trainer. Flt.-Lt. George Vrooman, the 34-year-old airman, had completed several loops and came roaring down over the Uplands Airport field at a height of about 50 feet, apparently attempting a slow roll, when the single-engined plane nosed into the ground and burst into flame.

The wreckage was strewn over a wide area, several hundred yards from where a crowd of several hundreds of persons had gathered to watch the show, staged by the Ottawa Flying Club to wind up Flying Clubs Week. The crash occurred about 4 p.m., EDT. The show was halted immediately.

An emergency fire crew, extinguishing the flames, had to cut through the wreckage to reach the pilot's body. Death was believed to have occurred instantly.

Glider Enthusiast

A glider enthusiast, Flt.-Lt. Vrooman had towed one of the motorless craft from Rockcliffe on the west suburban outskirts of Ottawa, to the west suburban airport for the aerial display. He had cut the glider loose and had been in the air about 10 minutes executing loops, when the crash occurred.

With him in the air at the time was an RCAF Mustang fighter. Air force officials could give no reason for the crash. It may have been mechanical, they said, or it may have been that the pilot had not sufficient altitude when he attempted the slow roll. An official investigation was launched. It may take several days to complete.

Stationed at nearby Rockcliffe Airport, Flt.-Lt. Vrooman was considered one of the air force's best pilots. A veteran of nine years' service, he had piloted External Affairs Minister Pearson in his round-the-world flight about 18 months ago.

Lately he had been in charge of the RCAF's modified four-engine North Star, piloting the government's top officials.

US Ambassador Tries Mediation

TEHRAN, June 18 (AP)—American Ambassador Henry F. Grady planned to meet ailing Iranian Premier Mohammed Mossadegh today in a move aimed at lowering the temperature of the [illegible] Iranian oil crisis.

Mossadegh has just received a personal message from Foreign Secretary Herbert Morrison of Britain, expressing hope that British-Iranian negotiations on the future of the Anglo-Iranian Oil Company — whose holdings Iran has nationalized—would be conducted in a friendly atmosphere.

Grady has been urging both sides to keep cool. His intercession with the premier has brought an extension until Tuesday for the British officials to reply to an Iranian demand for immediate payment of 75 per cent of the companys' profits. Finance Minister Mohammed Ali Varasteh had threatened to break off negotiations unless the funds were handed over Sunday.

Iranian sources said British negotiations said it would be technically impossible to do this.

These informants said the Britons, while balking at the immediate payment of profits, suggested that "if Iran is hard pressed for money, the AIOC probably could make some advance cash turnover pending continued discussions."

Until Iran nationalized her oil in April, Anglo-Iranian had been making advances to the government on royalities not due until next year.

13th Drowning In Algoma Area

SAULT STE. MARIE, June 18 (CP)—Artificial respiration and oxygen treatment Sunday failed to revive nine-year-old Herold Vallee, son of Mr. and Mrs. L. E. Vallee, who was drowned at Niawatha Park here while swimming.

It was Algoma district's 13th water tragedy this year. Police said the youngster was swimming under supervision with a Cub Pack in the Niawatha pool and slipped in a hole approximately seven feet deep.

Several boys dove for him when he failed to come up. He was located at the bottom of the pool by Tom Mason.

Meanwhile, provincial police reported that the body of Tony Lovelace, a 45-year-old Michigan fisherman, was recovered by a dragging party on Fly Lake, about 80 miles north of here. Lovelace was drowned Friday when a canoe from which he was fishing with a companion upset.

E. Cimby said today there would be no inquest.

New Red Ground Offensive Seen By Allies As 118 Planes Tangle

Enemy Replacements Now Filtering Back Slow UN Advance In Fierce Fighting; Allied Patrols Gain Three Miles In West

TOKYO, June 18. (AP)—Outnumbered American Sabre jets destroyed six Russian-type jets and damaged eight others in two big air battles over Korea Sunday and today. A total of 118 planes were involved in the sudden revival of jet warfare. Sixteen Red jets made a third stab at four Sabre jets Monday afternoon—but kept at a safe distance. They fired twice on the F-86s, then streaked back across the Yalu river into safety of Manchuria.

All American planes returned safely, Far East air forces said.

Reappearance of the Red jets in force coincided with indications the Chinese may be preparing a new ground offensive.

Red troops suddenly appeared in territory they had previously deserted. Replacements steadily filtered down from the north.

Check Advances

Fierce Red defences checked Allied moves in the centre of the line. But Allied patrols Monday drove more than three miles into Red territory in the west and gained slightly over a mile in the east.

Fighter - bombers raked every strong point as the Fifth Air Force mounted 490 sorties in daylight Monday, including the Jet flights along the northwestern Korean border.

F-86 pilots reported the Red Jets showed more fight than ever before in the two air battles. Their fight was gone in the later, long-distance passes. The two Jet battles flared suddenly after a long lull.

Monday's was the bigger and took the heaviest toll of the Reds—five destroyed and two damaged. Thirty-three Sabre jets battled with 40 MIGS from 28,000 feet down to tree-top level.

Sunday's air fight was between 20 American jets and 25 Reds. One MIG was reported shot down and six damaged.

Both battles were fought near the Manchurian border.

Strong Resistance

The ground war stirred up strong Red resistance in unexpected spots. In the centre, five Allied patrols were turned back by strong Red fire.

4 More Witnesses To Be Heard In Korea Inquiry

WASHINGTON, June 18 (AP) —The Senate's MacArthur inquiry committee voted unanimously today to hear only four more witnesses and to close the investigation "at the earliest possible date."

Chairman Richard Russell (Dem., Ga.) told a press conference the inquiry may end this week or by the middle of next week at the latest.

The committee decided to call these additional witnesses:

Patrick J. Hurley, former ambassador to China.

Maj.-Gen. Emmet O'Donnell, former commander of the US strategic bombing force in the Far East.

Maj.-Gen. David C. Barr, former commander of the US 7th Division in Korea and one-time chief of a US military mission to China.

Vice - Admiral Oscar Badger, former US naval commander in the Far East.

It is possible Gen. Douglas MacArthur may testify again, as well, since the committee has invited him to do so if he cares to reply to any of the testimony the committee has heard since the inquiry started May 3.

It appeared that there would be majority and minority views from the combined Senate Armed Services and Foreign Relations committees.

Some Republicans have been sharply critical of the influence the State Department has had on how the Korean war is being fought. Senator Harry Cain (Rep., Wash.) said the State Department — instead of military leaders—seems to be "managing" the war.

The combined committees called off a hearing session today in order to grapple at a closed-door meeting with the question of the inquiry's future.

In advance of this session, Cain told a reporter the nine who have testified thus far have convinced him State Secretary "Dean Acheson has more to say about vital Korean decisions than the military leaders."

Patient Dies After Injection

TORONTO, June 18 (CP)—The death of Sydney Cohen, 38, after a penicillin injection Saturday was due to the patient's sensitivity to the drug, an autopsy showed today.

Authorities said it could happen once in 1,000,000 cases.

Dr. Chester McLean, who performed the autopsy, gave the cause of death as "extreme edema (swelling) of the larynx" following the injection. Mrs. Cohen said a recognized method of testing whether a person is allergic to an antibiotic had been favorable.

Goes Berserk Minister Shot

MURFREESBORO, Tenn., June 18 (AP).—The Rev. Malcolm J. North, 36, was in serious condition at a hospital today with a raging gun battle with police.

Police said the Nazarene minister went berserk at his home yesterday. Mrs. North summoned neighbors to help calm her husband but he brandished a .45-calibre pistol and ran them off, police added.

When police arrived at the parsonage, North ran outside and opened fire. Four patrolmen blazed back at him. One officer suffered a minor flesh wound.

US Explosive Power Tops Pre-Hiroshima Blasts

WASHINGTON, June 18 (AP). —United States military planners say they now have available explosive power greater than all the explosions from the invention of gunpowder to the atomic attack on Hiroshima.

These officials, who may not be named, told a reporter today that if the Russians choose war, the US can hurl down destruction frightful beyond comprehension.

Only a relatively few men—none of them Russian — understand the power the US has shaped into its atomic weapons, air force and sea service.

American officials have been speaking publicly for five years of the "deterrent" effect of the atomic bomb on Russian aggression plans.

The phrase's meaning has worn thin.

But now officials who make the statement aren't bluffing the Russians. They are telling them.

Military men say the strategic air command now has available explosive power greater than all the man-made blasts before Hiroshima in 1945.

This means that packed into the weapons now in production is the total force of all the bombs and shells fired in the Second World War. They estimate that force can be delivered in a matter of hours or days.

Responsible airmen do not say this would produce the instant capitulation of Russia. But they do believe obliteration of key Russian government and industrial targets would make her helpless to stop advancing allied armies and navies.

The behind-doors talk about the vastly-enhanced destructive power has come recently.

These men are aware of Russia's own success in producing at least one atomic explosion, and of the probability that she now is manufacturing bombs. Military leaders have warned that the US should expect that some Soviet bombers would get through the defences and drop some bombs on American cities. But it is apparent they believe the measure that would be paid back would be so full that more Russian bombers would not follow.

One high-ranking Eniwetok scientist has been quoted as saying:

"In 1934 nobody had ever heard of the atom bomb and today it is obsolete."

Allied Veto Threat Stirs Up Name-Calling

BERLIN, June 18 (AP)—An implied allied threat to veto shipments of key industrial goods from West Berlin to the Soviet zone today stirred up an angry barrage of name-calling from the east.

The Communist news agency ADN charged the west with "war provocation." the East Berlin press assailed what it called western "blockade spirit."

The allies notified the West Berlin city government Saturday night they were taking back the authority to act on trade permits for export of machines, parts and other items vital to the Soviet-zone economy.

Informed quarters viewed the action as clear notice to the Russians that shipments to the east are at stake in the current row over export.

These officials said shipments will continue normally if the Russians cancel their recent rule.

REPORT PAY INCREASES

TORONTO, June 18 (CP) — A Toronto paper says today in a newspage story that Premier Frost will announce pay increases and bonuses amounting to more than $33 a month for 15,000 provincial civil servants.

Buried Alive Six Years Nazi Soldier Escapes Tomb

WARSAW, Poland, June 18—(AP)—The weird story of a German soldier buried alive for six years unfolded today.

Reliable sources said the soldier, identified only as a 32-year-old Berliner, is in a hospital being treated for blindness which resulted from entombment since 1945 in a sealed-off underground food warehouse.

Authorities concerned with the case were reluctant to talk but trustworthy informants gave the following account:

The buried man emerged from his trap near the seaport of Gydnia recently with a knee-length beard and hair hanging down to his ankles. Frightened Poles ran when they saw him. Another German, who had also been buried, fell dead of a heart attack when he came into daylight.

The two, with four comrades, had been trapped in the food bunker when retreating Germans dynamited the entrance to prevent advancnig Russians from entering. The six soldiers had sneaked in to pilfer supplies.

There were plentiful supplies of food, wine, tobacco and other stores. A hoard of candles lasted until two years ago. Since then the survivors had lived in total darkness.

Water for drinking seeped through cracks in the reinforced concrete. The men washed in liquor.

Shortly after entombment, one of the soldiers commited suicide, another took his own life a few weeks later and two others died of illness. Their bodies were buried in flour which mummified them.

How the two survivors finally escaped was not explained. There were no tools in the bunker.

Find Young Trainman With Legs Severed

TRENTON, June 18 (CP). — Eugene Gordon, 30-year-old CPR trainman of Smiths Falls, was found Sunday beside the tracks in the railway yard here, his two legs severed at the knees.

An emergency operation was performed in Trenton Hospital to save his life. Railway officials said they could not account for the accident.

US Admiral Named S. Europe Commander

LONDON, June 18 (Reuters)— Admiral Robert B. Carney, commander of the United States Sixth Fleet, has been appointed Commander-in-Chief of Allied Forces, Southern Europe, it was announced today.

Gen. Maurizio de Castaglioni of the Italian Army has been appointed Commander of Allied Forces, Southern Europe, under Carney.

King Goes To Windsor Reported Improving

WINDSOR, England, June 18—(Reuters) — The health of the King, convalescing from a catarrhal inflamation of the lung at the royal lodge here, is improving.

He drove to Windsor from Buckingham Palace Saturday and during the weekend took short walks in the gardens.

The King, whose last public engagement was May 24, is taking a prolonged convalescence after his illness. He is not expected to have any public engagements this summer.

Death Toll Now 38 In Fire, Mass Funeral

MONTREAL, June 18—(CP)—Twenty-nine persons who died Friday when the Hospice Ste. Cunegonde was transformed by fire from a friendly refuge to a flaming pyre have definitely been identified, the Mother House of the Grey Nuns announced today.

Nine other persons still are listed as missing to bring the probable death toll to 38.

The nuns, who operated the home for orphans and the aged, said they had only slight hopes that any of the nine listed as missing will be found alive.

The sisters gave the probable death toll of 38 after having earlier listed 35 known dead and five missing. This was first changed when 81-year-old Mrs. Joseph Brodeur called the Mother House to say:

"I was rather dismayed to hear I am dead. I am alive and with relatives."

Taken Off List

Her name then came off the list of dead.

Then the nuns deleted from the list of missing Miss Lamothe and Miss Lapointe while adding to the list of identified dead the name of an employee at the Hospice, Mrs. Eva Arsenault.

First of the funeral services in the city's worst fire in 24 years was held this morning.

At the Grey Nuns' Mother House on Guy Street, religious and laymen gathered to pay their last tributes to Sister Rita Gervais, Hospice Superior, and Sister Antoinette Chauvin. Two masses were held for these two who died in the flames while trying to help others.

Following these services, bodies of the two nuns were taken to Notre Dame Church where a civic funeral will be held for all victims of the fire tomorrow.

Msgr. Paul-Emile Leger, Roman Catholic Archbishop of Montreal, will conduct mass.

Mass Funeral For 30

Some bodies of the fire victims have been claimed by families for private burial. But it is believed about 30 of those who lost their lives in the fire will be buried from Notre Dame Church.

Two hundred automobiles and 30 hearses will be used for the mass funeral. Most of the dead will be buried at either Cote des Neiges cemetery or Montreal East cemetery.

Montreal cast back to 1927 to find a fire tragedy to rank with the Ste. Cunegonde Hospice conflagration in horror and death toll. Twenty-four years ago, 77 children died when the Laurier Palace theatre burned.

The procession of bodies from inside the charred hospice kept up all weekend, as firemen and civic employees searched the rubble for those only known to be missing.

Inside the door on Atwater, the main circular staircase wound black and sagging to the open room floor five storeys above. The once-neat entrance hall was piled high with charred beams and piles of ashes.

Previous Total 37

Workmen in sooty overalls stood on one landing, tossing down bits of blackened wood—chair legs, table ends, jagged bits of glass.

Prior to issuance of today's list, the coroner, Dr. A. B. Clement, placed the toll at 37 and said he was basing this on the number of bodies received at the morgue and reports from the Grey Nuns.

Firemen, digging through the ruins, Sunday came upon three bodies lying in a heap and barely visible under a pile of second-floor rubble. Always firemen faced the hazard that overhanging beams and twisted girders might collapse.

The fire commissioners court and the coroner are to make an official inquiry into the blaze.

Dr. Clement opened an inquest Saturday at the crowded St. Vincent St. morgue but it was for partial identification only.

"The inquest was postponed indefinitely and will not be resumed until I receive an official report from the fire commissioners court," Dr. Clement said.

THREE WOLVES, $75.

Eric Whitmore of Apsley is an expert when it comes to snaring wolves. Saturday he brought in three pelts to the county office. All three were snared in the Crown game preserve, Bureigh township. He gets $75 for his catch—a $45 bounty from the county and $30 from the province.

Raid Uncovers Stolen Goods

TORONTO, June 18 (CP) — Police Sunday night raided a room on east-central Mutual Street and seized more than $5,000 worth of goods which they said were stolen.

They arrested Harry Talbot on a charge of theft and a woman who gave her name as Rita Talbot, 24, on a charge of receiving stolen goods.

With the seizure and arrests, police said they believe they have broken up a gang of thieves who had been robbing parked automobiles in the downtown area for more than six months.

The loot included 10 suitcases, two expensive motion picture cameras, two sets of golf clubs and bags, 30 suits and 20 overcoats.

Only gains reported Sunday were in the east where front-line dispatches said the Allies captured key heights on a push toward a "strategic assembly area." Tightened censorship forbade more-specific location.

The UN shoved a powerful task force across the Imjin River in the west, probing a reported Communist build-up area.

It fought through Red screening troops, but failed to make contact with the main body. The push carried the Allies across the 38th parallel in the Korangpo area, due north of Seoul, on the lagging west flank of the Allied advance.

The Chinese showed increasing resistance—and appeared in larger numbers—all along this flank reaching north to Chorwon at the southwest corner of the iron triangle.

Red resistance, coupled with heavy recent highway traffic and unconfirmed reports of Red build-ups across the Imjin, underscored a warning last week of Lt.-Gen. James A. Van Fleet that the Chinese might soon launch the third phase of their spring offensive.

ISSUE OWN DEBENTURES

A strong opponent of the county issuing debentures to finance the Lakefield high school is Councillor Ken Morris. Mr. Morris wrote a letter to the county council to this effect. He thought Lakefield should issue its own debentures for the cost of constructing the high school district school. His letter said in part: "The argument put forward by our reeve and one or two councillors that it would prejudice our chances of receiving further consent from the Municipal Board applies similarly to the county . . . If the county council . . accept the issuing, there is a very good possibility they may be asked to do likewise by several other municipalities as the education program is carried out." Mr. Morris stated that at a recent meeting of the Ratepayers Assoc. Lakefield should issue the high school debentures.

Anarchy Trouble Blamed On Union

DETROIT, June 18 — (AP)—Mayor Albert E. Cobo said Saturday that two AFL union heads had brought the city close to anarchy in the 57-day-old transit strike.

"The (streetcar and bus) system is not running because a couple of union heads don't want it to run," Cobo said at a public hearing in packed council chambers.

Walter Stanley, business agent of the striking union and one referred to by the mayor, claimed it was the mayor's "stubborn attitude" that was responsible for extension of the strike.

Patrick McIntyre, president of division 26, Streetcar and Bus Operators Union (AFL) was the second man referred to by Cobo.

4 Young Scots Tour District

The four Scottish Junior Farmers who are nearing the end of an extensive tour of Ontario arrived in Peterborough this morning. Coming from Hastings county they were met at Havelock by Robert E. Bell, assistant agricultural representative.

The two young women, Anne Christie and Rosemary Stewart, are guests this evening and tonight at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Elmer Milburn, and the young men, Arthur Young and David Hamilton, at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Alex I. Edmison, in Smith township.

Local program for the visitors is somewhat optional and may include calls at several industries. DeLaval Company plant is on the top of the list for the reason that the young folk from Scotland are interested in dairying. They may also look in today on some of the Ayrshire herds of the county. If the visitors prefer to rest, the decision is with them. Luncheon today was at the Empress Coffee Shop.

Peterborough Junior Farmers have arranged a program for Tuesday evening at Nicholls Oval, followed by a weiner roast on the river betwen the city and Lakefield.

Trading Irregular On Toronto Exchange

TORONTO, June 18. (CP) — Trading was irregular and dull as the session progressed on the stock market today.

After advancing Friday, prices opened with little trend and remained that way. Trading continued its slow pace of the last 17 weeks and volume for the first three hours of 630,000 shares was about 53,000 more than the same period last Friday.

Industrials were firm as a handful of issues moved ahead under selective dealings. Papers, steels, and retail stores showed a majority of gains in the groupings. Liquors, constructions and foods weakened and the rest of the board was mixed. B.A. Oil and Dominion Foundries were strong, both on news of proposed stock splits and increased capital.

Base metals were fairly mixed but the tendency was to decline. East Sullivan, Golden Manitou, Labrador, United Keno Hill, Steep Rock, Quemont and Quebec Manitou eased fractions while Noranda, Waite Amulet and Consolidated Smelters advanced.

Western oils were a little higher. Central-Leduc, Federated Petroleum, Jupiter, Trans Empire and Pacific showed gains ranging up to 15 cents. Atlantic Oil, Calvan Consolidated and Kroy Oil went against the trend and dipped pennies.

Golds were almost at a standstill. Senior producers held firm while a few secondary golds slipped lower.

France Facing Another Weak Coalition Gov't

By PRESTON GROVER.

PARIS, June 18 (AP). — The French middle parties have beaten the Communists and the de Gaullists and now have only to beat themselves into line. They have not been able to do it successfully in the last four years.

The middle parties are in the middle in name only. On the extreme left are Socialists who want to nationalize all industry and run France as a welfare state. On the right are capitalists who own cloth mills, coal mines and steel mills.

The interesting big factor in the new Assembly is Gen. Charles de Gaulle and his party. De Gaulle is not in the Assembly but those elected on his party will vote his sentiments—at least for awhile. They range from middle of the road to Rightists.

De Gaulle tried to get enough votes in the Assembly to make it impossible for the centre parties to continue in power. Out of a legislative stalemate he expected to get control of the government.

He did manage to get enough votes to make it necessary for the middle government to get the support of all parties which supported it before.

Must Be Included

The new government, meeting first July 5, must include church-and-property-hating Socialists, the church-going Mouvment Republicain Populaire, store-owning and land-owning Radical Socialists, and a flock of big land owners, industrialists, and influential local personages running under the vague title of Independents.

Most prominently mentioned as the man to try first to mold this group into a government is tired Henri Queuille who has been in and out of cabinets a dozen times.

The Communists, with more than 100 votes, and the De Gaullists, with more than 100, will be against him.

Do the four other parties promise to co-operate? On the eve of the election, Guy Mollet, leading left-wing Socialist, said that the alliance by which the four parties had won the election would end with the election. Socialists would come into the government only if major Socialists demands were met.

OBITUARIES

WRIGHT STEPHENSON

Wright Stephenson, 73, 631 Orpington Rd., died Sunday in St. Josephs' hospital after a short illness.

Mr. Stephenson was born in Manchester, England, and came to Peterborough 41 years ago. He worked as a machinist 19 years for the Canadian General Electric Co., and 14 years for the Outboard Marine and Manufacturing Co. He retired two years ago. He was a member of St. Alban's Anglican mission.

MORE ABOUT—
DeGaullists

Latest tallies on the total votes for each of the major parties after more than 19,000,000 votes had been tabulated showed the following:

Communists	4,221,150
Gaullists	3,558,621
Popular Republicans	2,131,390
Socialists	2,584,916
Left Republicans	1,781,992

The rest went to various other parties, with the bulk listed for the Peasants' Party, the Independent Republicans and allied groups, which together won 100 seats.

This was from an estimated total of almost 20,000,000 votes cast in Metropolitan France and the three Algerian departments.

The Left Republicans include two branches of the Radical-Socialist party and the Democratic Union headed by former premier Rene Pleven. Pleven's party had five seats and the two Radical-Socialist wings 80 between them.

Unsteady Coalition

On the basis of these returns, it appeared France faces another era of unsteady coalition government. The middle-of-the-road parties now in the cabinet stood off the determined campaign by the Gaullists and cut down the Communist strength in the National Assembly.

But a shift of strength within the centre parties toward the right presaged new difficulties for the man who gets the task of building a new cabinet.

Take 358 Seats

Of the 565 seats thus far decided, the middle-of-the-road parties took 358. This total includes right-wing elements which may have difficulty in framing a common program with the Socialists, although all were united in opposition to the Gaullists and Communists.

Most observers were surprised by the showing of the MRP. Many had predicted that this group would be wiped out by the Gaullists.

The coalition parties chalked up a victory for their pro-American pro-Atlantic pact policies. These had been assailed by the Communists as part of a preparation for attack on Russia. De Gaulle criticized the coalition's policies as subservient to the United States.

Almost As Heavy

The Communist popular vote, however, was almost as heavy as in 1946—about 25 per cent of the whole electorate. Five years ago it was 28.6 per cent.

The Mouvement Republicain Populaire (MRP) a left-of-centre some departments (counties) the losses of their MRP associates in the centre coalition.

The complex election system made returns on the division of seats slow in reaching the capital.

Weighty Factor

The so-called "Fourth Force," based largely on the pre-war right-of-centre Radical Socialist party, seemed on the way to becoming a weighty factor in post-election dickering. This "Force" is made up of right-of-centre Frenchmen among the Peasant, Radical Socialist and Independent parties, who are pledged to return to free enterprise. They account for about 80 of the 280 places decided at the half-way mark.

A dramatic upset was the defeat of Gen. Pierre Koenig, one of the top De Gaulle candidates.

Koenig's defeat was protested by his followers, who demanded an examination of 10,000 ballots which officials had thrown out.

An electoral commission went to Strasbourg to examine the disputed ballots.

Foreign Minister Robert Schuman squeezed through in his mining district, where there had been resentment against his Schuman plan for pooling German and French coal and steel.

Wartime Premier Edouard Daladier and the former Socialist premier, Paul Reynaud, were [illegible] elected.

Nearly-complete returns were expected by late afternoon. The final tally will not be available until Sept. 3, because of delayed polling in some districts.

1 Alberta Fire Under Control

EDMONTON, June 18 (CP)—One of three uncontrolled forest fires in northwestern Alberta has been checked, it was reported Sunday night by J. L. Janssen, the province's chief timber inspector.

The blaze in the Woking area half-way between Grande Prairie and Spirit River is under control but is burning in the ground.

Mr. Janssen said he has received no reports on the Canyon Creek and Spirit River fires.

Another northwestern Alberta outbreak, in the Wanham area, is under control. But "we won't be able to hold it," Mr. Janssen said, if a big wind fans the brush blaze.

A new fire burning over 75 to 100 acres of grass and brush was reported from the Breton area about 50 miles southwest of Edmonton. It was under control.

"We heard three crashes," Mrs. Collins related later. "Lillian and I started down the highway to see what happened. "At first we didn't know it was Lorne; he was covered with blood. And then we saw the baby clothes. They were strewn along the side of the road for 50 feet."

Rode In Ambulance

Mrs. Russel accompanied her husband to the hospital, riding with him in the ambulance as it sped through the city streets with motorcycle escort.

It was the family's second stroke of misfortune in as many days. On Friday Russel's pockets were picked and the thief got away with $60. Because of this financial loss Mrs. Russel and the baby were sent on to Peterborough by bus and he hitchhiked.

He got out of the city bus at city limits and started to walk down the highway, facing the southbound traffic. At the service station Wood turned out to pass another northbound car and struck the Oshawa man.

An ironic twist is that Wood had only a couple of hundred feet to travel before he too reached his destination. He was driving his brother-in-law, Clayton Eason, home when the accident occurred. Mr. Eason lives on the west side of the highway, immediately north of the McNaughton and Sugden garage.

TAIPEH, Formosa, June 18 — (AP)—Chinese Nationalist sources today reported Chinese Reds were moving arsenals from Manchuria in fear of bombing attacks by United Nations' planes.

Dollar Unchanged

MONTREAL, June 18 — (CP)—The American dollar today opened at 6 31/32 per cent premium to the Canadian dollar unchanged from Friday's close. That is, it took $1.06 31/32 Canadian to buy $1 American.

Nearly-complete returns were also unchanged.

Release Petain Will Be Moved To Hospital

PARIS, June 18 (AP).—President Vincent Auriol Sunday commuted former Marshal Henri Philippe Petain's life prison sentence to permanent confinement in a hospital.

He directed that the ailing, 95-year-old soldier be transferred from his prison cell on the Isle D'Yeu to a hospital on the mainland as soon as he is fit enough to be moved.

His decision to do this was reached June 8, but was announced only Sunday, five minutes after the polls closed in the French national election. The delay in announcing it was decided upon to forestall any pre-election repercussions. Frenchmen are split in their attitude toward Petain. Somee regard him as a traitor, some as a national hero.

Mrs. Petain who has been living in a hotel on the Isle D'Yeu to be near her husband, refused to accompany a government official when he went to inform the marshal of Auriol's act.

She said she could only stand on Petin's statement made at his trial: "A marshal of France asks pardon of no one."

Gravely Ill

The aged marshal, hero of Verdun in the First World War and sentenced to life imprisonment for treason after the Second World War, has been gravely ill for months in the grim island prison in the Atlantic. Many times doctors have despaired of his life.

The decision to transfer him was reached after weeks of medical examinations. He has been in the prison since Nov. 15, 1945. He was convicted for acts as chief of the Vichy French state during the German occupation and was sentenced to die but the sentence later was commuted to life by Gen. Charles de Gaulle, then chief of state, who once was one of Petain's bitter foes.

There was no announcement as to where Petain would be taken on the mainland. One report said it would be Nantes.

Relatives Honor Roseneath Pair Married 30 Years

ROSENEATH, June 18 (ENS). —Mr. and Mrs. Clarence Thackeray were feted on their 30th wedding anniversary, Friday evening, when 50 of their near relatives gathered at their home, two miles west of Roseneath, to congratulate them on their anniversary and to spend another social evening in their hospitable home.

Mrs. Thackeray (nee Hazel Curtis) and her husband were married at the home of the bride's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Willis Curtis, Fenella, on June 15, 1921.

Their entire married life has been spent in Alnwick Township. They have six children, three sons and three daughters: Ivan of Roseneath, Allan and Blair of Oshawa, Golda (Mrs. Ray La Fontaine) of Toronto, Valetta (Mrs. Jack McVety of Oshawa, Mavis (Mrs. Elmer Bull) of Cobourg. All the members of their family, with their husbands, wives and children, were present on this happy occasion.

Cards were played during the evening and a social time enjoyed.

Presentations Made

Mr. Ivan Thackeray, on behalf of their family, voiced their appreciation to their parents. Blair Thackeray, on behalf of the family, presented their parents with a Cogswald chair.

Mr. Wilbert Davey, a brother-in-law, on behalf of the near relatives, spoke of the hospitality that had always been extended to every person coming into their home, and Mrs. Frank Adams, a sister of the groom, made the presentation of a large plate glass mirror. Appropriate replies were made by Mr. and Mrs. Thackeray.

A tiered wedding cake, made by the members of the family, was brought in and lunch was served.

Included among those from a distance attending were: Mr. and Mrs. Ray La Fontaine, sons Curtis, Raymond and David, Toronto; Mr. and Mrs. Allan Thackeray, daughter Linda, Oshawa; Mr. and Mrs. Jack McVety and son Paul, Oshawa; Mr. and Mrs. Elmer Bull, Cobourg; Mr. Blair Thackeray, Oshawa; Mr. and Mrs. Cephis Brisbin, Mr. and Mrs. Robert McCullough, Cobourg; Mrs. William Curtis, Coldsprings; Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Graham, Port Hope; Mr. and Mrs. Wilbert Davey, Mr. and Mrs. Oscar Davey, Mr. Donald Davey, Precious Corners; Mr. and Mrs. Ray Eagleson, Mr. Murray Eagleson, Bailieboro; Miss Norma Curtis, R.N., Toronto; Mr. and Mrs. Jas. Curtis, Fenella; Mr. and Mrs. Everett Adams and son Earl, Norham; Miss Barbara Adams, Cobourg; Mr. and Mrs. Ivan Thackeray and son Lynn, Mr. and Mrs. Frank Adams, Miss Myrna Adams, Mr. and Mrs. Lorne Thackeray and daughter Gayle, Mr. and Mrs. Eric Darling and son John, Roseneath.

Respected Seymour Resident's Funeral

CAMPBELLFORD, June 18 — (ENS)—Funeral services were conducted from Bennett's funeral parlours on Saturday afternoon for a well-known and highly respected resident of Seymour East, Eliza Reeves, wife of George Stephen Potts. Mrs. Potts died at the Ontario Hospital, Kingston, following an illness of about a year. She was in her 73rd year.

Mrs. Potts was born in Belleville, the daughter of Joseph Reeves and Agnes Simmons. She lived for about 27 years in Hamilton, Ontario, and was married to George Potts in Belleville three and a half years ago.

She leaves to mourn her death, her husband, George S. Potts, a nephew, Bryce Reeves, of Oshawa, and a sister-in-law May Reeves of Oshawa. She attended the Methodist church, and was a member of the Rebekah Lodge.

Services were conducted from Bennett's funeral parlors in Campbellford by Rev. Gordon Whitehorne, of the Methodist circuit parish, after which the remains were taken to Oshawa for burial.

Pallbearers were Roy McGee, Charles Holmes, Alec Stephens, Bruce Grills, John Rogers and Bryce Reeves.

Rev. F. R. Vanderburgh, Havelock Preaches Farewell Service

HAVELOCK, June 18 (ENS). — Preaching his farewell sermon Sunday morning, the Rev. F. R. Vanderburgh brought to a close four years of ministry in Havelock United Church.

A large congregation including visitors from other denominations in the village were present.

Mr. Vanderburgh went back to the first church for the theme of his message, taking as his text "They were all with one accord in one place." In his opening remarks he said that his four years of ministry here had slipped away rapidly and during a pastorate there were many things that stood out in one's memory. Here he had found the friendliness of the people was one of the things he would remember. He spoke of the joy he felt in his service here in the fellowship with the other denominations and the pleasure there had been in coming together as churches of a community to worship one Lord. He expressed the hope that his successor would be given the same co-operation.

Mr. Vanderburgh drew attention to the characteristics of the early church, how they faced persecution, how they sacrificed and how they gave to the world a new sense of fellowship and common faith in God. The world needs today, he said, to take fresh enthusiam and courage from their example of undying loyalty.

"We would miss something tremendous", Mr. Vanderburgh said, "if the church was to go out of this community. It has had its high and low moments. None of us are perfect. We have our high and low moments and the church is only perfect as its members are perfect. One law governs our fellowships that is the law of Jesus Christ. The church must therefore be out to save men for Him; it must be out for a fellowship of free persons under His law, which goes beyond national bounds or races."

In closing, Mr. Vanderburgh counselled that patience and endurance in the Christian life are necessary attributes and said "Chart your course by the eternal love of Christ. Let us all be with one accord in one place and let us find our life with Christ in His church."

Rev. L. Murray of Kensington, Prince Edward Island, assisted Mr. Vanderburgh in the service and also in the service of Holy Communion and brought greetings from the Maritimes. Miss Jean Would rendered a vocal solo. Mr. and Mrs. A. R. Parnell were received into the membership of the church on certificate from George St. United Church, Peterborough.

Mr. Murray and Mr. Vanderburgh are two of three United Church ministers from the Dominion of Canada who will represent the Board of Missions at the Rural Life Conference in Evanston, Illinois. Mr. Murray arrived in Havelock on Saturday and he and Mr. Vanderburgh left Sunday afternoon for the U.S.A. The conference will be in session until [illegible]. Mr. Vanderburgh will visit Havelock on July 23 when he will give a report of the conference on that date. He will then proceed to his new charge, Deep River and Chalk River, in the Renfrew Presbytery. His successor, the Rev. R. G. Newman of Braeside in the same presbytery will take over his duties here on July 8.

Next Sunday morning service will be in charge of Fred Rogers, local layman, with J. W. Davies the student minister of the Belmont Area Mission in charge of the evening service. For the months of July and August there will be joint services with Knox Presbyterian Church with one service each Sunday. For July they will be held in the United Church at 11 a.m. with the Rev. R. D. Duncanson in charge the first Sunday and the Rev. R. G. Newman for the balance of the month. The services for August will be announced later.

The evening service on Sunday was conducted by the Rev. G. Young of Marmora.

Further Remands In Cobourg Cases

COBOURG, June 18 —(ENS)— Orville Hannon was remanded further for a week when he appeared in police court Saturday on a charge of theft of a stationary engineer's certificate. He has been six weeks in jail since his arrest on a charge of theft of aluminum cable from the rural HEPC at Cobourg. Crown Attorney Harry Deyman, in reply to the complaint of defence counsel J. C. M. German, explained that the delay was not the fault of the local Crown authorities. There had been a delay in getting the result of RCMP examination of some of the exhibits in the cable theft case but that they would be ready to proceed next Friday. However Mr. German was busy on that date and the matter was left over to June 29.

Rolls Car Three Times Youth's Back Injured

CAMPBELLFORD, June 18. —(ENS)—Losing control of his car on a curve on a gravel road, James Snarr, 17, Hoard's Station, was injured when his car rolled over three times Saturday about 9 p.m.

A brother and a sister in the car with him were uninjured. The accident occurred on the English line about four miles east of Campbellford.

Snarr suffered back injuries and slight concussion. He was taken to the office of Dr. W. W. Baker and then to the Campbellford hospital for X-rays where [illegible] Provincial Constable Donald Erskine investigated. The car was almost a complete wreck.

League Leaders Beaten 7-6

CAMPBELLFORD, March 18 — (ENS).—Campbellford TVL defeated Wooler 7-6 on Friday evening on the local High School diamond.

The Wooler team leads the league and the local team needed this morale-booster after suffering a series of recent defeats.

"Barney" MacColl and Karl Austin, Wooler, stood out for their team, the latter coming through with a triple and a homer, and the former slamming two triples, stretching one into a circuit blow on an error. He also socked one of the longest hits ever seen in the local park and won himself an easy round trip in the Wooler half of the fourth.

Wooler took a 4-0 lead in the game but a rally by Campbellford in the sixth inning wiped it out. Resenplott wass ent in to relieve MacColl on the mound when affairs went badly for Wooler. Later Crowley, hurling his first game here this season was replaced by Bruce McComb. The teams raced to the wire in the closest kind of finish with Campbellford maintaining a one-run advantage. Rosenplott fanned five of the last six Campbellford batters. However McComb in his first effort of the season, shared a winning effort with Crowley, holding the big hitters on the Wooler squad scoreless in the final inning.

Dickie West, who has been used for mound duties in every previous game, was given a well-earned rest. Don Holmes' triple was the best hit for the winners.

The teams:

Wooler: Austin 1b, Leavitt 3b, Stacy c, MacColl p, cf, Richards and Haggerty ss, Anderson cf, Putnam rf, Resenplott p, Fox lf, McMasters 2b.

Campbellford: Don Holmes 1b, G. Bibby 3b, J. Crowley p, 3b, Fralick, Hoard, catchers; D. Robertson cf, C. Macoun ss, W. Blake lf, P. Doherty rf, E. Darke 2b, B. McComb p.

Score by innings:

Memorial Organ Dedicated Marmora Church

MARMORA, June 18 — (ENS) —The new electric organ at St. Paul's Anglican Church, a memorial to the fallen of the district in the two World Wars, a total of 36, was dedicated on Sunday morning by Lt.-Col. Rev. Walter Gilling, O. B. E., of St. Luke's Peterborough.

Members of the Canadian Legion attended and Marmora and Madoc branches furnished color parties. Music was provided by the Kiltie Band of Havelock. Dedicated at the same time were the hymn board and its accessories, the gift of Mr. and Mrs. J. A. Rice, in memory of their sons, James and George.

Flowers on the altar were also of special significance since they were the gift of Mrs. Charles Nobes, in memory of her husband, an ex-service man who died a year ago. Beautiful summer wreathes added to the brightness of the occasion and was a factor in the assembling of a large congregation in which former members intermingled and for which extra seating accommodation had to be utilised.

Following the dedications, a silence was observed after which the bagpipers were heard in the "Flowers of the Forest." The service, that of choral matins was taken by the rector, Canon J. M. Brownlie, L. Th., S. Th. Following the chanted 47th Pslam, the lesson from Ecclesiasticus 44 was read by the Legion chaplain, W. J. Cotterell. The choir rendered as anthem, "We give Immortal Praise" by W. E. Fletcher, the duet part being taken by Canon J. M. Brownlie and Mrs. L. R. Rundle.

Lt. Col. Gilling who for three of the seven years of his chaplaincy in the 2nd World War, was in padre of the Hastings and Prince Edward Regiment, prefaced his sermon by stating the honor and privilege he felt it to be to perform the dedication of the gifts and his pleasure at meeting once more comrades of his unit.

He selected words of Joshua as his text "Choose ye this day whom ye will serve." This leader of God's people, he said, impressed upon them the fact that there could be no divided loyalty. Men and women of today are confronted with making the same choice as Joshua's followers.

"The rightful choice for us is to dedicate our lives to the service of the Father, the Son and Holy Ghost and to the service of all mankind," he said.

The preacher also declared that it has not been the fashion for many years for human lives to have conviction but the time for lack of conviction has come to an end. Through the Christian way of life, democracy and religion so far has been found inseparable. It has not been established that democracy could flourish otherwise.

The world faces the choice still "Christ or chaos."

Sergt. Robert Gray who served throughout the Second World War with the Hastings and Prince Edward Regiment was in charge of the parade. President Clayton Bedore and Comrade Albert Bartlett formed the Marmora color party. The brass plate on the organ has this simple inscription: This organ is placed in this church to the Glory of God and in memory of those who gave their lives in two World Wars. "Their name liveth for evermore."

Glittering Red Promises Lure Students To China

SINGAPORE, June 18 (AP). — Glittering promises and come-back-to-China groups are luring hundreds of wide-eyed Chinese students from Singapore to Communist China.

The prospect of becoming leaders of the masses and building a greater China is held out to the youngsters. Police have located [illegible] specializing in this work.

A police spokesman said the exodus began when the Communists took over the Government of China 18 months ago.

The situation was dramatized by the pick-up in Hong Kong recently of six Chinese schoolgirls from prominent families. They left Singapore on The Netherlands ship Tjiwangi without telling their parents.

The come-back-to-China ring make all the arrangements. They supply passage money at pick-up points and route the students north. [illegible] work in schools and social organizations that glorify Red China, police said. At the same time, alluring letters from students already in China are bait for new converts.

Canadian Ships Trading With Red China

Some of our more alert parliamentarians discovered on Thursday that Canadian-made ships of Canadian registry are still engaged in a busy trade with Red China, out of Hong Kong. The Opposition, with Major-General Pearkes of Nanaimo, B.C., as their spokesman, have asked some embarrassing questions in Parliament about this. May we respectfully suggest that they should read The Examiner more thoroughly? Last February—Tuesday, February 27th to be exact—we called editorial attention to the apparent fact that new ships built in Quebec for a Shanghai and Chinese firm had been delivered, and were engaged in Chinese trade; this at a time when Canadian soldiers were in Korea and fighting the Chinese.

* * *

We make no claim to having all the world at our finger-tips or to having had early and unique sources of information, thus to have made the disclosure months before any other newspaper or anybody in Parliament bothered about these Canadian ships in the Chinese trade. However, it is rather odd that we from the inland sat up and took notice long before Major-General Pearkes, M.P., did, although the Orient trade is right at his back door. We happened to know about the fleet of ships because we had dipped into a year-old Government publication, Canada 1950, a useful handbook, widely distributed and available annually to anybody for 25 cents. This has a picture of the ship Kuei Men, taken late in 1949, as it was being outfitted at Quebec Harbour. The handbook recalls that the ship was one of nine ordered by a Chinese industrial firm. It now seems that only five were delivered.

* * *

Here is an important fact which recent accounts about these Canadian ships have not heretofore mentioned: Each one contains over 2,000,000 pounds of aluminum. "Practically everything above the deck is made of the metal, including the bulkheads, king posts and davits," the government booklet proudly stated.

* * *

Is the Opposition concerned that this fleet of Canadian-built ships in Chinese hands may be carrying war material to Communist China? Then let them consider what fine junk they would make. Every time the ships put into a Red China port, each one, in itself, makes available to Red China, 2,000,000 pounds of aluminum. Aluminum is an important metal for military purposes. Red China has a good haul in its harbours.

* * *

We are glad that the Opposition has at last aired this matter of Canadian ships (manned by Chinese) trading with Red China. Whatever other disclosures are made and whatever Government action is taken, this at least should be done: the vessels must have the Canadian ensign removed from them.

Mistaken Identity, Perhaps?

Let it be understood at the outset that this newspaper does not like increases in the price of newsprint. Every ten dollar increase in the price of newsprint by the ton takes quite a lot of money out of our pocket. But much as we dislike a higher price for newsprint we dislike big-stick methods of controlling that price even more. It was recently announced that newsprint would rise ten dollars a ton in price; soon afterward reputable news agencies reported that threats had been made from the U.S.A. that unless this increase was revoked, Washington would cut its armaments purchases from Canada substantially. We can only explain this by assuming it to be a case of mistaken identity: the U.S.A., or some of its people, must think that Canada is a state of the Union, or perhaps a colony.

Our Minister of Production, Mr. C. D. Howe, has flatly refused to insist that the price of newsprint be reduced; he is convinced that the increase is justified, and he will not be bullied. He is entirely right in his attitude, and the Canadian press supports him.

It should be explained that the Canadian press is small potatoes to our Canadian newsprint industry. Eighty-nine per cent. of their production goes to the U.S.A.; only seven per cent. is consumed in Canada. The other four per cent. is sold elsewhere. Consequently the Canadian newspapers have nothing to say about the price of newsprint which is made in our own country, from forests which belong to Canadians newspaper men as much as they belong to anybody.

If the newspaper publishers of the U.S.A. do not like the price of Canadian newsprint, they can cut their newsprint bills very easily by printing smaller papers. Most Canadians are familiar with the huge—the Brobdingnagian—Sunday papers produced in that country; they weigh several pounds apiece and they are filled with matter which, it may be said, could be dispensed with if economy were strictly necessary. These papers are not filled with news which Canadians do not get in their smaller papers; they are filled with material which might be expected in magazines of a rather undistinguished kind.

One nation should not threaten to club another into submission if it does not get what it wants. That is what United Nations is supposed to preach. It is unfortunate that this piece of international blackmail should be attempted by the U.S. toward Canada, for whenever it suits either side, we boast of our splendid relations and our lack of rancour in international dealings. Let us not hear any more about reprisals over the newsprint increase. Particularly not at a time when American buying of our beef is pricing it out of the range of the home market.

Will '52 Be Hotter Than '40?

According to word from the recent U.S. Republican Party meeting at Tulsa, Oklahoma, the 1952 Presidential convention of the party promises to be the most hotly contested since the fight of 1940, when the late Wendell Willkie won an overwhelming victory against the party's machine. That prediction may be correct; from all information available, the party appears to be divided and subdivided in such a manner that almost anything might happen.

The main division is between the conservative and liberal wings of the party. The former has a potential candidate, Senator Taft, but the conservatives are divided in appraising his vote-getting ability. A strong minority holds the opinion that his overwhelming victory in Ohio last Autumn was won on a State basis, and doubt that it indicates what the nation would do. Yet Senator Taft appears to be the only person with any hope of securing majority support of the conservative group.

The liberal group is in somewhat worse case. It would unanimously support General Eisenhower, but does not know whether the General can be drafted. It has lesser candidates who could conceivably be accorded unanimous support, and who might attract support from delegates doubtful about Senator Taft. However, the liberal group still hopes for General Eisenhower; that hope is made more fervent by fear that, if the isolationist Senator Taft should win the nomination, the general would make himself available to the Democrats, and be received with Mr. Truman's blessing.

The liberal group is comprised mainly of only three States, yet these States can deliver a formidable block of votes. New York with ninety-odd, Philadelphia and California with seventy-odd each, can hold up a convention; with some outside help, they can swing it. And it is said that Governor Warren of California can deliver ten other states into the Eisenhower column if he wishes.

The liberal group thus has an obvious problem. It will be interesting to see how it is resolved, and with what effect.

Like To Correspond With Buffalo Bill?

On May 19 a successful International Peterborough broadcast was held, in which this city was in radio communication with places of the same name in the U.S.A. and in England. As a consequence of this a number of people in Peterborough, England, want to find pen-friends in our own city. To assist in this act of transatlantic friendliness we are happy to publish this list of names, with brief descriptions and the ages of the persons, who would be glad to have letters from people here. It should not be too difficult for them (and particularly for the young lady of sixteen, known to her friends as "Buffalo Bill," who wants to make friends with a boy of sixteen or eighteen) to find pen-friends here. This is the list:

Mrs. Gillatt, 204, Dogsthorpe Rd., Peterborough (middle-aged housewife).
Miss Yvette D. Clare, 17, Portland Avenue, Peterborough (between 16 and 18).
Miss Joyce Bowering, Chesterton, nr Peterborough (21).
Miss Christine Green, 23, Fulbridge Rd., Peterborough (16) (known as "Buffalo Bill" to her friends, wants boy 16-18).
Miss Raymona Faulkner, 36, Alma Rd., Peterborough (15½), wants boy 17 and/or girl 16.
Miss Syvilla Rimes, 9, St. James Avenue, Peterborough (15½), wants boy 17 and/or girl 16.
Mrs. Jean Dunn, 29, Midland Rd., Peterborough (young housewife).
Miss Thelma Moore, c/o Miss Wilson, 254 Oundle Rd., Peterborough (11).

We approve of the pen-friend idea. It has been the beginning of many lasting friendships, of some romances, and of a great number of shorter but friendly and interesting correspondences. We hope that not one of those listed above who seek a correspondent here will be disappointed.

NOTE AND COMMENT

The Massey Report suggests that Ottawa send more press agents abroad. And where are there more expendable press agents than in Ottawa? Let's send thirty or forty head of them to the Cannibal Islands, at once.

Musical Notes

by
PETER PIPER

A GOOD technique is an indispensible part of musicianship in performers. I make this rather obvious statement because there is in some quarters a tendency to belittle technique as though it were a matter of minor importance. This is usually based on a misconception. Technique divorced from taste and musicianship is a monstrosity, but technique in the service of a fine musical taste is a sine qua non. What is the use of having something to say if one does not know how to say it? Technique is not merely a matter of singing or playing a large number of notes within a certain time; it embraces the whole of the mechanical side of music. The ability to bring out a melody on the piano while keeping the accompaniment soft is a technical problem, which, when solved, immensely increases the expressiveness of the performer when used in the right place. Thus there is no antithesis between technique and artistry; the former is the indispensible requirement of the latter. The paradox of art is that in order to achieve a feeling of spontaneity it is necessary to master the details with unremitting toil.

* * *

CONFINING my attention this week to piano technique I would make bold to say that perhaps the most important principle to be borne in mind is economy of effort. This principle underlies 99 per cent. of piano technique. The effort must always be commensurate with the effect to be obtained—no more, no less. In ordinary life this is accomplished by trial and error from babyhood onwards. Nobody would think of employing a sledge-hammer to crush a gnat, or a salt-spoon for digging a trench. The adjustment of effort to effect is almost automatic. The greater the effort the more muscles are brought into play.

* * *

IT is unnecessary to learn the names of all the muscles, but it is important to have some idea of what they do. Now, the muscles that are used in playing the piano are arranged in pairs, like antagonists in a tug-of-war. When one muscle is used movement takes place at one of the joints—the shoulder, the elbow, the wrist of the knuckle. When both muscles are brought into play the result is tension or stiffness: to hark back to the simile of the tug-of-war, when both antagonists are pulling in opposite directions the result is inertia, assuming that they are both pulling with equal force. When neither of the pair is working we get relaxation.

* * *

A GOOD deal of nonsense has been talked of relaxation, as though it were a magic cure-all for every type of pianistic failing. Extravagant claims have been made. Relaxation by itself, being an absence of muscular activity, never accomplished anything. This talk of letting the "weight of the arm" do the work while the muscles are in a relaxed state is impracticable. The performer may fondly imagine that he is completely relaxed when he is using so-called "weight touch", but this is far from being the truth, and his delusion may well have an adverse effect on his playing. Nevertheless proper relaxation is of utmost importance. A muscle used uninterruptedly over a long period soon gets tired and needs rest to rebuild the tissues. Here is an example that the reader may test for himself. Extend the arm in front of you so that it is parallel to the ground and hold it there for about two seconds; then let it drop to your side. If sufficient interval of time is allowed to elapse this movement can be repeated almost indefinitely without fatigue. Now try holding the arm in position for thirty seconds—one minute—one and a half minutes—two minutes, and so on. After a short time the strain will be almost unbearable. It is, therefore, important to make full use of opportunities to relax when they occur. In most cases complete relaxation is only possible at the end of a piece, but a partial relaxation is often of great use.

* * *

ANOTHER most important principle of technique is to isolate difficulties. Individual methods of practising vary considerably. This is as it should be. The quick learner can eliminate a number of preliminary steps that would be essential for a slower learner. Nevertheless every player finds certain difficulties from time to time. It is usually a waste of time to go back to the beginning of the piece and play right through; this is rather like a fly constantly flying into a window pane in its endeavours to get outside. The passage itself should be taken by itself, and if necessary, split up into smaller fragments, played slowly at first, with separate hands, then faster. Particular attention should be paid to the fingering, and if any different fingering is used from that printed the student should be able to give a good reason for changing it. Preliminary exercises on special difficulties based on actual passages in pieces are very useful, and teachers could very well make more use of this. If the difficulty is one of rhythm it is a good idea to get the pupil to tap the rhythm on one note or on a piece of wood. This is helpful as an introductory exercise to the little A flat study of Chopin (No. 2 of Trois Nouvelles Etudes), where the two against three rhythm can cause trouble.

* * *

THIS short article is not in any way intended to be an exhaustive treatise on piano playing; rather it is designed to stimulate further thought on the subject. Those who wish to go more deeply in the technical angle would be well advised to read James Ching's writings, notably his "Piano Playing", published by Bosworth, which in spite of rather an irritating style and some unnecessary polemics really gets to the heart of the matter. I would, however, like to mention one more important principle: the performer should always listen to his own playing. Here again I am laying myself open to the charge of uttering a platitude, yet it will always be necessary to utter this warning. There are always at least two planes to an artist's personality: when he is interpreting a work of music one part of him is fully absorbed in what he is doing, carried away into the seventh heaven, while the other part of him has stepped out of himself, coolly appraising the effect produced. His blood should be compounded of equal parts of fire and ice. Modern inventiveness has made it possible to have one's own playing recorded: this is quite a revelation. It is a pity that these machines are so expensive, but even so an increasing numbe of teachers is using them.

FIRMLY PLANTED

Opening Left-Handed Door

OTTAWA JOURNAL

USING the left-hand door as means for a driver to get in and out of his automobile has become almost a universal habit. Practically everybody does it. Car doors today are wide, up to four feet, yet as usual when a bad habit becomes a commonly accepted practice many drivers fail to take precautions. Often when parking in heavy traffic they suddenly swing this four-foot obstruction into the path of other vehicles.

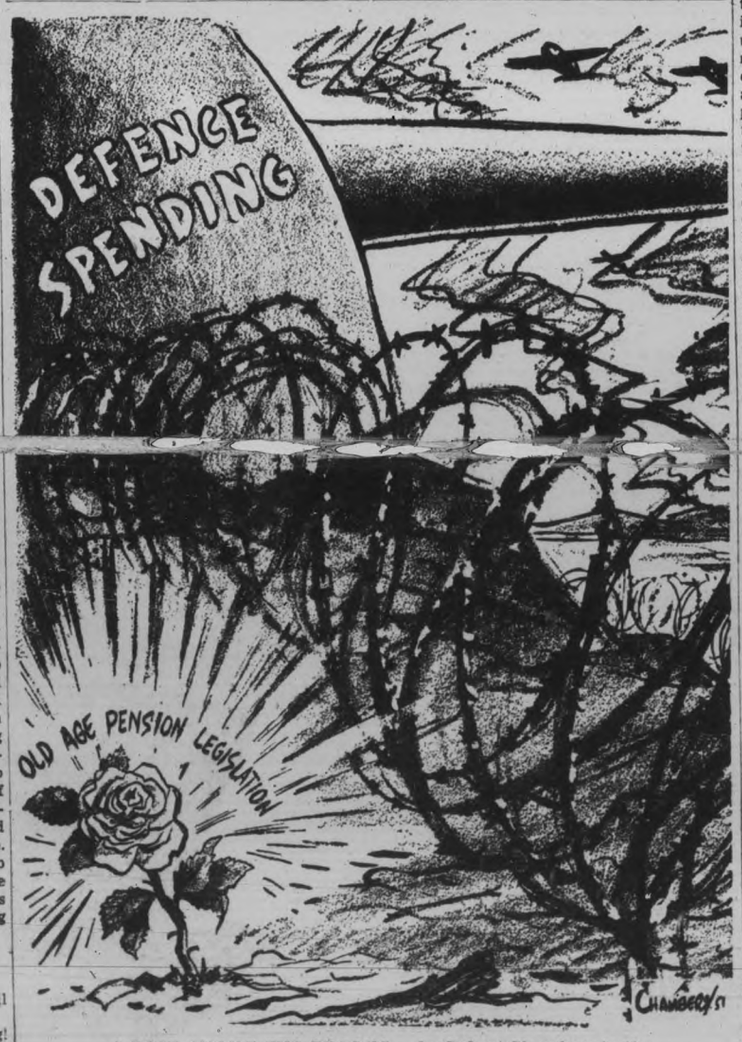
As might be expected this practice has caused accidents, some fatal. The Ontario Court of Appeals has given a ruling in such a case, one of the greatest interest to everybody who drives a motor vehicle. It is going to cost a Toronto motorist, or his insurance company, $34,000 because he threw open the left door of his parked car and contributed to the death of a bicyclist. That makes a bad habit a very costly one.

In this case the appeal court upset a jury verdict given some two years ago. The bicyclist, apparently, had swerved to avoid hitting the car door, had fallen beneath the wheels of a bus and was killed. The jury has assessed 90 per cent. damages against the bus company, and awarded the widow and three children $34,000 damages. The appeal court now rules that the motorist who opened the left-hand door of his parked car must pay the full amount and not just the 10 per cent. assessed by the jury.

Their Lordships of the appeal court have given reasons for their decision. Saying there was no evidence to find any casual connection between the death of the man and any act or omission on the part of the bus driver, they argued that if the driver of the parked car "had not opened the door there would have been no accident" and ruled that he was "the sole and direct cause of the accident."

Here is a court decision that is bound to have a profound effect on future cases and all drivers would be well advised to take heed.

Freedom Of Attention



(KINGSTON WHIG-STANDARD)

A GROUP of passengers customarily using the buses of Washington, D.C., won a legal victory last week which must have been deeply gratifying to them and which will be regarded with satisfaction by free people everywhere. The transit company had decided to have radio receivers operating in its buses, and the group of passengers protested against being made a "captive audience". The District of Columbia Court of Appeals decided they had been deprived of "liberty without due process of law", and added the following forthright opinion:

Short of imprisonment, the only way to compel a man's attention for many minutes is to bombard him with sound that he cannot ignore in a place where he must be. * * * Freedom of attention, which forced listening destroys, is a part of liberty essential to individuals and to society.

This issue of the "captive audience" has arisen many times before on this continent. It arises every time a truck with a loud speaker is allowed to circulate city streets. It arises whenever any group is allowed to hold meetings, with or without use of loudspeakers, the proceedings of which are thrust into the ears of persons living nearby. It will continue to arise, under similar circumstances, for some time to come, for there appears to be a rather baffling readiness on the part of sponsors to continue paying for messages piped to the ears of audiences, even when such audiences have decided themselves unwilling.

It is as well, therefore, to have decisions upon which precedents may be based in dealing with this problem. Legal regulations and practice have taken care of it fairly well in this community, but there are still occasions when numbers of Kingstonians are members of a captive audience. These should be reduced; ideally, they should be eliminated altogether. We should like to see more protest, and even legal action, taken toward realization of this ideal.

Bible Message

(From the Authorized Version)

The voice of him that crieth in the wilderness, Prepare ye the way of the Lord, make straight in the desert a highway for our God. Every valley shall be exalted, and every mountain and hill shall be made low: and the crooked shall be made straight, and the rough places plain: and the glory of the Lord shall be revealed, and all flesh shall see it together: for the mouth of the Lord hath spoken it.

The voice said, Cry. And he said, What shall I cry? All flesh is grass, and all the goodliness thereof is as the flower of the field. (Isa. 40:3-6.)

* * *

As for man, his days are as grass: as a flower of the field, so he flourisheth. For the wind passeth over it, and it is gone; and the place thereof shall know it no more.

But the mercy of the Lord is from everlasting to everlasting upon them that fear him, and his righteousness unto children's children; to such as keep his covenant, and to those that remember his commandments to do them.

The Lord hath prepared his throne in the heavens; and his kingdom ruleth over all. (Ps. 103:15-19.)

* * *

Rejoice in the Lord, ye righteous: and give thanks at the remembrance of his holiness. (Ps. 97:12.)

Letter To The Editor

STRONGLY APPROVES FLOOR MAP

Sir: Substantial publicity has been given by your valuable publication to the proposed Map in Terrazzo, to grace the floor of the entrance lobby to the new City Hall. Your indulgence is asked to give expression to a few thoughts, held by many of the citizens of Peterborough, relative to this desirable and historic embellishment. I am sure that the majority of the citizens of Peterborough are in favour of the inclusion of this work of art; a few dissent, predicating their objection on accumulating taxes. These few do not seem to realize, or are aware of the fact, that the new City Hall is a gift to them through the generosity of the late Mr. George Morrow, and that his generosity should not now be marred by impregnating the question of taxes into the discussion of whether the map should not, or should be included in this magnificent building. To me it would seem like sacrilege to leave it out of such an otherwise planned unit, and, I am sure, would be deeply regretted.

To me, this map is a sign of life and hope, a historic pointer to the past sacrifices of our founder fathers, and to the future prosperity of our fair City of Peterborough and its surrounding municipalities, which it serves. To our citizens as a whole it will be a prideful feature of art to an otherwise plain, though beautiful building, the good fortune to possess which few of us dwell upon. To our children and future generations it will provide educational placement to the important geographical situation of our city. To the tourist in our midst, and friends who visit us it will be a symbol of art and commerce, unique and exclusive, and worth in dollars many times its paltry cost, continuing and increasing in value and growing in lustre, as a great work of art as the years and centuries pass, a landmark and an arrow directing attention to the greater possibilities of the future.

The new City Hall already intrudes into our vision as a gem among our rich heritage of architectural delights within our city. Constructed of gleamingly solid Canadian limestone, based on a simple design of beautiful iron railings to accentuate its eye appealing lines, lifting one's vision to the tower and graceful spire topped with a symbolic emblem engendering satisfying flights of mind and spirit into our territorial paradise, of which we are so proud, the whole wrapped in a picture of modern Georgian architecture, within a site surrounded by parks and many beautiful public buildings.

We can only admire, but never fathom, the patriotic impulses that our late fellow citizen felt that impelled him to make such a generous gift to his native city. Let us not now strangle the full beauty and future of this building by being niggardly in the interior treatment, which should, if possible, even exceed the beauty of the exterior. Let us think on the future generations to follow us in the years and centuries to come, our son's sons and daughters, who will be carried back to us of the present day on our good taste and forethought.

To our Mayor and Council, who so wisely guide our present destiny: our citizens will support your wisdom in this important decision to have this map of permanence and colour go into the floor of our entrance lobby to the new City Hall, as a pleasant and instructive introduction to a fine building to be enjoyed by all for ever.

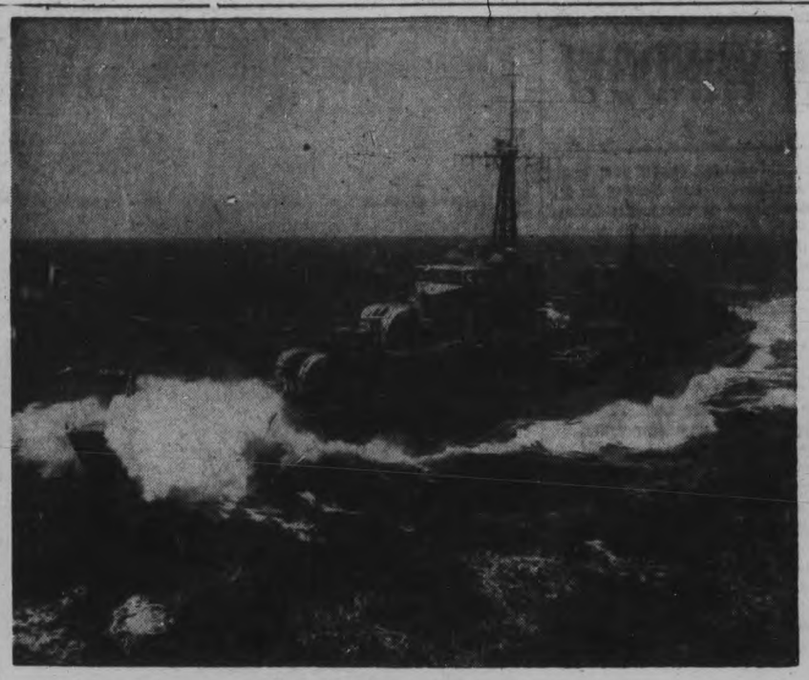
Hire Professors For Study Of Industry

NEW YORK — (CP) — A big United States corporation which considers "a bridge between the campus and industry" is needed, plans to put to work this year a group of college professors who may have no connection at all with the company's interests.

The plan was announced by Standard Oil Company of New Jersey which hopes to advance its research and special study work in certain fields and help colleges keep teaching staffs intact during the present period of dwindling enrolments.

Frank W. Abrams, chairman of the board, said that 10 or more educationists will be put to work in various standard oil subsidiaries for at least a year and will be paid their regular salaries by their respective institutions. Standard Oil will then reimburse the institutions.

A company official expects to find use for experts in some of the most obscure fields of study.



Note Special Interests

"If a man is interested in sales techniques, we're apt to send him to Boston," one official said. "If he's a research man in physics or chemistry, we might put him in the Esso laboratory in Linden, N.J. a geophysicist might end up in Oklahoma.

And a historian or economist might find himself sitting in on our board meeting at the head office. Of course, we might have some difficulty with a professor of ancient languages, but even that might be worked out."

In short, he said, the company will try to choose men "for whom we can do the most good and who can do the most good for us."

"We feel that there has long been a need for a bridge between the campus and industry. What we are doing, we hope, is a modest start toward building it."

New Zealand Imports US-Type Cars

By J. C. GRAHAM

AUCKLAND, N. Z., — (CP) — New Zealand this year is importing its first substantial shipment of cars from north America since the dollar shortage began. Cars to the value of more than $4,000,000 will be brought in in 1951.

Details have not been announced, but it is said the bulk of the cars will be imported for assembly in the Dominion, while two makes of cheaper cars will come in ready for sale.

No licenes have been granted to import other than the cheaper types, as it is desired that the maximum number of vehicles be obtained for the allocation of dollar funds available.

Large numbers of applications were made to the government by private firms and indiviluals to import cars under the allocation, but these have been declined in favor of importing through firms normally handling the makes of cars concerned.

Since the war almost all cars imported into New Zealand have been from Britain, but many users require vehicles of a heavier type than the normal English car. Taxi-drivers, travellers and farmers are among those most urgently in need of American-type cars.

To enable equitable distribution the New Zealand Board of Trade is working out a basis of allocation. A condition of granting import licences has been that no arrangements should be made for distribution until advice has been given on conditions governing the persons to whom they should be made available.

Licences have been issued for the full dollar sum available except for a small reserve.

Japan Beginning To Act Like Independent Nation

By SYDNEY BROOKES

TOKYO, June 18 —(Reuters)—Japan is already beginning to act like an independent nation.

Anticipating a peace treaty this year, the Japanese are busy drafting laws to replace occupation ordinances. Industry reports rapid increases in production as Japan's traders look forward to removal of barriers to free trade.

Already, westerners in Tokyo see signs of a recession of the influence of the occupation, predominantly American.

The occupation is completing the withdrawal of teams which since the war have watched the operation of government. Control over the Japanese police is going. The Japanese are taking over their own economic controls.

Committees of the diet (parliament) are reviewing the purge which the occupation imposed on pre-war and wartime political leaders. The occupation has announced that its controls will be dropped progressively in anticipation of the treaty. It has recommended that the United States should pay the costs of occupation.

Must Pay Servants

All occupation personnel will have to pay their own servants—hitherto a charge against the Japanese government.

The occupation will cease to provide homes at nominal rent, with free furnishings, light, fuel and water. Requisitioned houses, buldings, and hotels will return to the Japanese.

Busy Japanese factories are overlooking few market opportunities. Barbed wire goes to Australia, printing type to Russia and needles to India and Java. In such miscellaneous items alone, Japan expects this year easily to reach an export target of $144,000,000.

Japanese industrialists have been told they must work out their own economic salvation, compete for contracts, stop inflation, and remember that they will not be bailed out if they fail.

The award was established 14 years ago by Maj. M. C. Migel, former president of the foundation and now chairman of the board.

Eastern Star Chapter Marks 32nd Birthday

HAVELOCK, June 18 (ENS)—Prosperity Chapter No. 63, Order of Eastern Star, Havelock, celebrated its 32nd birthday Thursday, when the large attendance of local members was augmented by visitors from Colborne, Wellington, Peterborough, Belleville, and Los Angeles, California.

Among them were Mrs. R. Hendry of Peterborough, grand representative for the OES for the state of Mississippi, USA, the DDGM Mrs. Morrow of Brighton and Mr. and Mrs. Carl Nobes of Los Angeles.

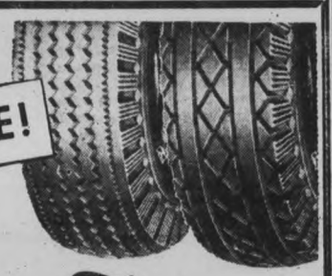
A large decorated birthday cake topped with 32 candles, later served during the refreshment period, was placed on display in the centre of the lodge room by the Associate Matron Mrs. Harry Anderson. During the regular chapter meeting which preceded the festivities, the worthy matron Mrs. Harold Smith extended congratulations to Mrs. Joseph Hoffman, who is a charter member of the organization.

A candle lighting ceremony was performed by the five star points, Mesdames Cecil Toms, William McAdam, Burness Johnson, [illegible] Steenburgh Jr. (of Peterborough) assisted by the worthy matron, Mrs. H. Smith. The cake was cut by Mrs. James Wilde who was also the recipient of many congratulations as it was also her 24th wedding anniversary.

An interesting feature of the evening was the showing of moving pictures by Carl Nobes, a brother of Walter Nobes, Sr., of town, showing places of interest in several states of the USA, Mrs. Nobes sang a solo, playing her own piano accompaniment.

Hamilton Man, 26 Stabbed On Street

HAMILTON, June 18 (CP) — Thomas Campisi, 26, was taken to hospital Sunday with three stab wounds in the abdomen. His condition was described Sunday night as "only fair." Campisi told police he had been stabbed by an unknown man on the street.



Police quoted Anthony Pugliese, a friend of Campisi's, as saying Campisi had visited him Saturday night. He left early Sunday and two hours later returned covered with blood and asked to be taken to hospital.

SPORTS SHOW WINDOW

By CEC. PERDUE, Sports Editor

Apart from maybe a world series, you couldn't expect ever to see as many sportswriters together as was the occasion Sunday in Niagara Falls. 'Twas the annual get-together of the newly-formed Ontario Sportswriters and Sportscasters Association, and a number of radio guys were there, too. In other years, small groups of these scribes have held sessions around and about, and some of the larger cities have press clubs. Also the sportswriters of Western Ontario—the Intercounty League—have an association. But this is on a province-wide basis. They golfed in the aft and held a dinner meeting at night in the General Brock Hotel. A most instructive and enjoyable affair.

Officers of the organization this this year are: President, Ivan Miller of the Hamilton Spectator; vice-prexies, Bobby Hewitson of the Toronto Telegram, Britt Jessup of North Bay Nugget, and Rex Stimers of CKTB at St. Catharines; secretary-treasurer, Fraser MacDougall, Ontario chief of the Canadian Press, Toronto; executive committee, Laurie Brain, Galt Reporter; Harry Eisen, London Free Press; Wes McKnight, CFRB, Toronto; Joe Perlove, Toronto Star; and Jim Vipond, Toronto Globe & Mail. Absent was Ted Reeve, who is off for a visit to England. Much info is swapped at these sessions, and the battle-scarred (that's "battle", Mr. Printer) sports scribes have a good time.

Get Paid For Players

Clare Hoose, chief Canadian ball scout for Cleveland Indians, was talking recently to Jack Park of London Free Press, and he suggested the Intercounty Loop affiliate as a Class "C" circuit. He argued that then the league would be a part of pro ball and any players they had would be their own property. No one could touch them without paying for same. If players were drafted to higher ranks, the club losing these chaps would be compensated for any losses. Also, they'd get better players than the present crop of touring USA college ballsters, few of whom hope to make the big time in baseball. Nor would you have to pay as much for them.

* * * * * *

Hoose said that most "C" clubs could arrange major league affiliation and would get up-and-coming players with a definite future and at a reasonable figure. Often, the major league club pays part of the salary of a prospect sent to a lower class for seasoning. As it stand now, there could be a classy young player with the Petes and if a scout spotted him and figured he'd go a piece in pro ranks that boy would be signed up, provided he was willing. He'd get any money that was going, while the Petes would get no money at all and would lose a good player. We really think local officials might check into at least a working agreement with a pro ball club, a big league one, if possible. It wouldn't hurt to inquire, anyway. NHL clubs are even interested now in junior "B" amateur teams.

One Of Those Things

The late Tex Rickard once remarked in amazement when he saw a million-dollar crowd at a Dempsey fight: "I never seed anything like it." We were tempted to say likewise Saturday night in the sixth inning at Riverside Park. The Petes sent no less than 16 runners scampering across the plate in that weird stanza. Won the game by a mere 27-3 score over Toronto Staffords! Sure, it's a record and one that should certainly stand this season. No club could be as bad as that again, surely. Four shell-shocked hurlers saw action for Staffs, or should we say four throwers? They were just tossing 'em in and ducking as the Petes teed off to pound the pill to all corners of the lot. It was really something to behold.

* * * * * *

Doug Plunkett kept eight hits pretty well scattered and was never in trouble after the first frame. He didn't need to worry with the score mounting like government expenditure. And he had good support, especially on catches by Joe Lowrey and Bill Huntley, and an infield twin killing. Huntley swung a mean club to hammer out two doubles and three singles in six tries, driving home five runs. Other potent clubbers were Garvey, Golden, Stewart and Brabin, but they dug in and took their cuts. This was the club that was supposed to stop the Petes, eh? Not the way they played ball here Saturday. Errors, passed balls, wild pitchers, walks, no hustle—they had nothing at all after the second inning. Petes are off tomorrow for a tussle in Toronto 'gainst Kingsways.

Petes Rack Up a Record In Beating Staffs, 27-3

The Petes piled up a record Viaduct Baseball League score for this season when they walloped Toronto Staffords, 27-3, here Saturday night before a fair - sized crowd. They belted four slingers hard and scored 16 runs in a wild and woolly sixth stanza. The losers booted half a dozen, had three wild pitches, three passed balls and gave up nine bases on balls. The Petes played snappy ball afield behind steady, eight-hit hurling by Doug Plunkett.

Jack Rossen started for Staffords but was shelled out in the fifth, allowing eight runs up to that point. Walt Severnuk relieved him but was blasted off the mound in the terrific sixth. Reg Spragge came in then and was promptly knocked out, too, with Coach Dar Ralley finally putting out the fire and finishing in fairly steady style. None of them could mute the mighty maces swung by all the Petes in this one-sided tilt.

The Way It Went

Bill Huntley led the local batters with five for six, two of them doubles, as he drove in five runs. Dick Golden was right behind him with a double and three singles in five. Freddy Garvey clouted four in six times up, Joe Stewart getting a triple and two singles in five, George Brabin a triple and two in seven, and Al Menzies and Doug Plunkett two for five each, one of the latter's being a long three-bagger. Every regular got at least one safe blow. Don Couch led the losers with a double and two singles in four, and Bill Weir had a double and single in four, Reg Spragge getting two for four.

Smart running catches were pulled by Bill Huntley and Joe Lowrey, and the latter and Garvey each pilfered three bases, George Brabin stealing two. The Petes also came up with a neat one-hand catch back of second early in the fray for Staffords. Butts Johnstone of Timmins made his debut at third for the homesters. The box score:

St. Kitts Edge Yorks 11-10

By The Canadian Press.

A last-minute goal by Emil Uhrynuk gave St. Catharines Athletics an 11-10 win over cellar-dwelling Toronto East Yorks in St. Catharines Saturday night and moved the A's into first place in the Ontario Lacrosse Association senior circuit.

In the other game, Hamilton Tigers, aided by a four-goal performance by Blain McDonald, took a 12-11 decision over Brampton Excelsiors.

Uhrynuk won the game for St. Catharines with an end-to-end rush to score his second goal. Ted Howe, Jim McMahon and Bill Bradshaw were also two-goal men for the Athletics, while Woolley, Bird and D. Smith got one each. Jim McNulty with four goals and Steve Kapaski with two, led the Toronto attack, and Ashbee, Teatro, Harris and Webster added singles.

In Brampton, the Tigers were never behind. In addition to McDonald's four, the Hamiltonians gained their margin on goals by Jack Dorney and Bob Grainer, with two apiece and singles by Al Doyle, Bob Grainer, Bob Guthro and Tommy Love.

Nick Ferri and Al Garbutt scored three apiece for Brampton, Don Beatty, Bob Blakely, Gord Steele, Bob Hilson and Ralph Gowland got the others.

Bobby Robertson Dies In Winnipeg

WINNIPEG, June 18 (CP). — Bobby Robertson, well-known in local sport circles and the grain trade, died here Sunday. He was 54.

Robertson's interest in sports lay in hockey. He was manager of the Winnipegs when they won the Olympic hockey title at Lake Placid, N. Y., in 1932.

In 1925-26 he managed Winnipeg Maroons in the old American Association loop and in the 20s he organeized the Big Four Senior League here.

Olympic Association Approves 4 Skaters

MONTREAL, June 18 (CP). — The executive of the Canadian Olympic Association Saturday approved recommendation of the Canadian Amateur Skating Association for four speedskaters at the winter Olympic games.

The games will be held in Oslo, Norway, Feb. 14-25.

Those named are Ralph Olin, of Calgary, Gordon Audley of St. Boniface, Man., Craig Mackay of Saskatoon and Frank Stack of Winnipeg.

No decision was reached on the ski team submitted by the Canadian Amateuer Ski Association but it was agreed that the team will be made of four downhill and slalom men, four downhill and slalom women, two cross-country men and two men jumpers, plus a manager, a coach for the downhill and slalom men and a coach for thee downhill and slalom women.

Piper At Games Struck By Hammer

TORONTO, June 18 (CP). — Alan Wilson, 27-year-old piper at the Toronto highland games, suffered a fractured skull Saturday when struck by the handle of a 16-pound hammer thrown some 123 feet away.

Wilson was hit while Toronto policeman Jim Henderson was warming up for the hammer-throwing contest. Henderson tossed the hammer, a 16-pound lead ball with a steel handle, and the handle struck Wilson a glancing blow as it landed.

East City Victors

East City bantams, sponsored by Welch's, took a 13-5 PMBA win Saturday morning over the Imperial Optical southend squad. The losers were held to five hits and had two miscues, while the victors got eight safeties and booted one. They scored seven runs in the second inning, one in the third and five in the fourth. Southenders counted one in the first and two each in the fifth and seventh of a fair fray. Teams:

Southend — Parnell, Mahoney, Orr, Rowe, Coit, Floyd, Heffernan, Cairns, Masterson, Brown, Chesher.

East City—Towns, Dorrington, Ayotte, Baptie, Garvey, Guerin, Byrnes, Rogers, McIlmoyle.

LAWN BOWLING

By HERB MARTIN

Tonight we begin play in the men's annual Tip Top Tailors competition. There will be two-10 end games — the first one at 7 o'clock sharp and the second one immediately after. The games continue Tuesday evening.

On Friday night, we have the men's novice singles competition and also on Friday night the second and final games in the ladies Tip Top Tailors competition.

This coming Saturday night we expect to have as our guests many members from the Hillcrest Lawn Bowling Club, Toronto. This is a big night and our committee hopes that our local bowlers will turn out in great numbers. This is an annual affair and it is a popular one. Our bowlers, who wish to play, are requested to hand their names to chairman Joe Adams not later than Wednesday night. This will give his committee plenty of time to arrange the draw for Saturday night.

Our bowlers can take their pick for mid-week tournaments. The notice board is pretty well crowded with invitations.

The winning skips Saturday night were H. Northrop, A. Jackson, H. R. Martin and A. Mander.

Oshawa Blanks Kingsway 9-0

OSHAWA, June 18 —Oshawa Merchants tightened their grip on second place in the Viaduct Major Baseball League race here on Saturday when they blanked Kingsway Lumber 9-0.

Manager Mike Mellis on the mound for Oshawa, was nicked for nine hits, but was seldom in trouble.

In the third inning, Merchants pounded out four hits which coupled with three walks and two errors, gave them six runs. Sherry Rowland's second triple, this time with the bases loaded, was the big blow of that inning and sent Mel Robinson to the showers. Tommy Milady came in to finish the game.

Rowland with four hits in five trips two of them triples, drove in five to his teams runs while Vic Napolitano had two safeties and drove in two runs.

Here and There In Sport

By The Canadian Press

A record $37,000 gate was paid by more than 22,000 perspiring soccer fans Saturday at Toronto when Glasgow Celtic and Fulham, touring Scottish and English League teams drew 1-1.

It was the highest gate and crowd ever recorded for the game in Canada.

The teams meet again Wednesday night in Montreal.

Saturday's game, played at Varsity Stadium with the temperature in the 80's, topped the previous record of two years ago when Newcastle and a Swedish touring team met here.

Fulham's Bobby Thomas put his side ahead near the end of the first half with a six-foot drive into the top left corner of the net. Celtics tied it at the 28-minute mark on a penalty shot by inside right Bobby Collins.

Seven Maritime hockey teams, members of two leagues who have been bitter rivals since the sport was revived in the Maritimes after the Second World War, joined forces Sunday to form the Maritime Hockey League.

Delegates, however, decided not to elect officers until the reasonable "waiting period" had passed. They will meet again in Charlottetown July 7.

The British Boxing Board of Control said Saturday it will reconsider its recognition of Lee Savold as world heavyweight champion.

Savold was knocked out in six rounds by Joe Louis in New York Friday night.

Savold has been recognized in Britain and Spain as world champion since last June when he knocked out Britain's Bruce Woodcock.

At New York, Sonny Whitney's Counterpoint, another flying son of the great Count Fleet, came hustling down the stretch Saturday to capture the $100,000 Belmont Stakes.

The strapping chestnut colt took charge of the things midway on the final turn of the 1½ mile classic, and bounced home four lengths to the good of George D. Widener's favored Battlefield.

Leading all the way, defending champion Don McEwen of Michigan won the two-mile event at the National Collegiate Athletic Association championships at Seattle Saturday in 9:03.2—two seconds slower than his own record last year.

The Ottawa-born distance ace took charge at the break and never looked back.

Sugar Ray Robinson, world middleweight champion, scored another easy victory Saturday night, beating Jean Walzack of France on a technical knockout in the sixth round of a scheduled 10-round bout at Liege, Belgium.

At Washington, Little Dynamite, the fighter who only a week ago was given no more than an even chance to live, has so improved that his doctor agrees that he may box again.

Little Dynamite, whose real name is Elijah Williams, was knocked unconscious in a fight at Washington June 7. He was unconscious for more than 80 hours.

At Graeat Neck, N. Y., Patty Berg won the $5,000 grand prize in the women's Weathervane cross-country golf tournament Sunday by one stroke from Mrs. Babe Didrikson Zaharias in a 36-hole playoff.

The pair had tied at 601 for the regulation 144 holes.

Two Children Leave For Channel Swim

MIAMI, Fla., June 18 (AP). — The two Tongay children, Bubba, 5 and Kathy, 4, leave Wednesday for England and their attempt to swim the English Channel.

Russell Tongay, father of the two distance swimmers, said "personal business" caused postponement of the departure,e originally set for Sunday.

The attempt to swim the channel is scheduled for about mid-August.

The children have been swimming since they were barely a year old. Bubba swam 22 miles down the Mississippi river last year and Kathy swam five miles.

Chicago Takes Twin Bill Breaks Losing Streak

By JOE REICHLER,
Associated Press Sports Writer.

Manager Paul Richards and his Chicago White Sox are grateful to Havana, Cuba, and Caracas, Venezuela, for their contributions to American baseball—and the Sox.

Luis Aloma, Orestes Minoso and Chico Carasquel were the big guns Sunday as the American League-leading White Sox swept a doubleheader from Philadelphia 4-1 and 9-0, to snap a three-game losing streak to the A's.

Chicago's double victory increased its first-place margin over New York to 3½ games despite the Yankees' 5-0 victory over Detroit. Boston's third-place Red Sox took two from St. Louis 5-4 and 3-0, to remain five games off the pace. Washington swept a three-game series from Cleveland with a 5-1 triumph.

Brooklyn widened its National League lead over New York Giants to six games with a 3-2 triumph over Chicago, as Pittsburgh defeated the Giants 11-5 in the first game of a twin bill. The second game was called in the eighth inning because of the Sunday curfew law with the score tied 6-6. The game will be resumed July 24.

St. Louis Cards won their third straight from Philadelphia Phils 5-4. Cincinnati and Boston divided a doubleheader. The Reds won the opener 2-1. The Braves took the second 5-0.

Team Star

Carrasquel, shortstop from Caracas, was the offensive and defensive star of Chicago's first-game victory. The Venezuelan rapped out two hits, drove in a run and handled five chances flawlessly.

Aloma, on the disabled list the first seven weeks of the season because of a bursitis condition in his pitching arm, hurled a five-hit shutout over the A's in the second game. It was the Cuban righthander's first start.

Minoso collected two singles, a double, a triple, drew a walk and was hit by a pitched ball in six times at bat. He stole a base, his 13th in 14 attempts. He also batted in two runs and scored three.

Minoso leads the league in batting (.379), runs scored (52) and triples (9).

Allie Reynolds hurled his second shutout and sixth win of the year, limiting the Tigers to four hits. Johnny Mize rapped his first homer of the season for the Yanks.

Ted Williams batted in two runs in each game as the Red Sox kept pace with the league leaders. Ray Scarborough won his fourth win in the opener and Mel Parnell twirled an eight-hit shutout for his seventh win.

Wins Three-hitter

Freddy Sanford, pitching his first game since his acquisition from the Yankees, won a three-hitter for Washington over Cleveland. He needed help from Mickey Harris in the eighth, however.

A home run by Roy Campanella with one out and Gil Hodges on base in the top of the ninth gave the Dodgers their 3-2 win in Chicago.

Howie Pollet made his first start for the Pirates and was credited with Pittsburgh's victory over the Giants. The former St. Louis southpaw needed help from Will Werle in the eighth when the Giants clubbed him for four runs.

Stan Musial homered in St. Louis' half of the 10th to beat the Phils for the third straight time. It was Stan's second homer of the game and 14th of the season.

Rookie Chet Nichols shut out the Reds with eight hits to best Ewell Blackwell after Harry Perkowski of Cincinnati had outdueled Johnny Sain of Boston in the opener of the twin bill. Earl Torgeson hammered a three-run homer off Blackwell in the second.

Remember When—

By The Canadian Press

Joe Louis knocked out Billy Conn in the 13th round for his 18th straight defence of the world heavyweight title at New York 10 years ago tonight. Conn was leading on points at the time and it was the closest Louis came to defeat until the famous split decision against Jersey Joe Walcott in 1947. Louis retired in 1949 but is again trying a comeback this year.

They'll Do It Every Time — By Jimmy Hatlo

COPR. 1951, KING FEATURES SYNDICATE, Inc., WORLD RIGHTS RESERVED.

Ottawa Clips Toronto Leafs In Twin Bill

By The Associated Press.

George Bamberger not only is a proud papa today but the author of the International League's first nine-inning no-hit, no-run game in five seasons.

Bamberger, 25-year-old right-hander of Ottawa Giants, became a father Saturday night and celebrated by pitching the Giants to a 1-0 no-hit no-run victory over Toronto Maple Leafs in the first game of a doubleheader Sunday.

The feat was the first nine-inning masterpiece since Earl Harris performed the trick twice for Syracuse Chiefs in 1946. Harris turned the trick against Buffalo April 30 and against Toronto July 29.

Bamberger faced 33 men. Four walked and three got aboard on errors. He also got credit for driving in the lone run. He walked with the bases loaded in the second inning to force in Bill Gardner. The walk was the only one handed out by Russ Bauers and Ray Shore.

"Gosh . . . what luck," Bamber said after the game. 'My curves were working nicely and my arm felt good right to the end of the game."

Take Nightcap

The Giants also won the seven-inning nightcap 2-0 behind the two-hit pitching of Elmer Corwin. Les Fleming collected both Toronto hits.

The league-leading Montreal Royals dumped Buffalo Bisons 7-2 and 11-4. The defeats dropped the Bisons from second to third place in favor of the Syracuse Chiefs.

Jim Gilliam, rookie Negro star, reached base safely 11 straight times for the Royals on eight hits and three walks. He collected four hits in each game, one a grand-slam homer in the final inning of the nightcap.

The Chiefs won a doubleheader from Springfield Cubs 7-1 and 4-3. Art Hartley got credit for both victories. He went all the way in the opener and picked up his ninth triumph in a relief role in the nightcap.

Baltimore swept a twin bill from the Rochester Red Wings, 5-2 and 6-5. Jack Brittin scattered eight hits to win the first game. Home runs by John Mayo, Marv Rickert, Russ Kearns and Damon Phillips decided the second game.

Hogan Winner Of US Open Golf Tourney

By WILL GRIMSLEY.

BIRMINGHAM, Mich., June 18 (AP).—If he had chosen a career of gloves instead of golf, Ben Hogan undoubtedly would have been welterweight champion of the world.

If he had picked baseball instead of bunkers, it stands that he would have been another Ty Cobb.

Here is one of the great all-time competitors in sports.

He is a bulldog. He has nothing but contempt for odds.

For that reason the 38-year-old former caddy from Fort Worth, Tex., is more firmly entrenched today as king of golf.

Saturday he won the United States open championship for the third time in four years. Actually it's the same as three in a row since he missed 1949 because of an automobile accident which was expected to sideline him for keeps.

Hands Out Shellacking

At the same time—"and what he said gave him the greatest satisfaction—he handed old trap-infested Oakland Hills, the course nobody could beat, a shellacking it will remember forever.

"Somebody said I'll probably lose my incentive now that I've won the open three times," he told sports writers after his latest triumph. "That's tommyrot. Every time I step out on the course I'm going to do my darndest to win."

Ben also had some remarks about the course that had baffled him and 161 other crack golfers for most of three days.

"I sure wanted to bring her to her knees," he said. "I was disappointed when I didn't do it in the morning—(he got a 71.) I went out in the afternoon determined to do it."

And he did—with a blistering three-under-par 67.

3 Planes Back At Home Base

MONTREAL, June 18 (CP) — Three planes of the 426 Thunderbird Squadron arrived back at their home base here late Saturday night after flying in the Korean air lift from McChord Field, near Tacoma, Wash., for the last 11 months.

The three planes were the first part of the 12-plane squadron to finish the long flight from the west coast. Another three are expected today and the final group Friday.

RCAF officials said 426 Squadron will fly the Korean airlift from Dorval, Que., airport and may also fly supplies across the Atlantic to 421 Fighter Squadron, now taking advanced training at Odiham, Hants, about 50 miles from London.

Says Papers Getting 12 Million Subsidy

SASKATOON, June 18 (CP)— M. J. Coldwell, CCF national leader, said Saturday that the daily newspapers of Canada have been getting a $12,000,000 annual subsidy from the federal postal department through low postal rates.

(Increased rates were announced in parliament last week.)

Mr. Coldwell, speaking at a CCF picnic, said daily newspapers attacked the Dominion government for the $65,000,000 extra payment on wheat and had contended that farmers "had raided the federal treasury."

When the Post Office Act was before parliament for revision, he continued, "it had been shown that the big daily newspapers had been getting a $12,000,000 yearly bonus for mailing their editions—and what an outcry had come from this monopoly."

Break Hunger Strike

NEW WESTMINSTER, June 18 —(CP). — The 33-day hunger strike by 53 Sons of Freedom Doukhobors was forcibly broken Saturday. Acting Warden F. C. Cummins said the prison doctor at the Federal Penitentiary here was administering nourishment to the 53 holdouts of the original 70 that began the fast. The Sons are serving two-year sentences for arson and nude parading the Kootenays last year.

Reorganize Society

TORONTO, June 18 — (CP).— Reorganization of the Canadian Poliomyelitis Foundation into an association of autonomous provincial societies, was announced Sunday after a weekend meeting of the national board of directors. The reorganization, following criticism of the foundation and the handling of the march of dimes campaign in Canada, will allow money raised in the provinces to be administered by the provincial societies.

600 Search Woods

RIMOUSKI, Que., June 18 — (CP). — More than 60 men Sunday searched the woods at St. Guy, 65 miles south-east of here, for five-year-old Alain Boucher, missing since early Friday. Police said so far the search has uncovered only the boy's shoes and socks two miles from where he was last seen.

Gas Well Explosion

JARROW, Alta., June 18 (CP) —A gas well fire and explosion killed George Loper, 55, and injured five other Saturday in the Viking gas field, 75 miles southeast of Edmonton. The fire, touched off by an explosion of gas, was put out after 6½ hours.

Heads Travellers

PRINCE ALBERT, Sask., June 18 — (CP). — Cyril Stack of Toronto was elected president of the Dominion Council of the Associated Canadian Travellers at the Dominion biennial convention. Named Ontario vice-president was Hugo Shaw, North Bay.

Factory Jobs Attract PCVS Pupils

Higher Pay Given In Industry Than In Offices

High-paying factory jobs are drawing the collegiate students away from the "white-collar" jobs according to statistics at PCVS today.

Howard Moebus, vocational guidance director, said that the boys are not asking about the positions available in offices but are entering factories where they can earn up to $40 a week to start.

Today at the school he had lists on a bulletin board which announced permanent positions for boys which included radio operators, laboratory assistants, lath workers, salesmen, accountants, insurance salesmen and drug apprentices. There were few inquiries into these positions.

Mr. Moebus added that these jobs offer only $25 and $30 a week and the boys didn't seem interested.

Office positions for girls are plentiful and were also posted on the board for the students to see. These included a good variety of office positions. The supply of girls for these jobs is inadequate.

Few Summer Jobs

On the other hand he added, summer jobs for the boys are scarce. A large number of boys are hunting for employment for the next two and a half months.

Mr. Moebus said that the closing of local factories for two and three weeks in the summer months has affected the summer employment. Before the new policy was adopted by the plants the boys were hired to fill vacancies.

The factories' five-day week has had an indirect effect on the summer employment. Mr. Moebus explained that factory men had taken part-time jobs in the stores which were formally taken by school students. These jobs used to develop into full-time work during the summer months.

Work In Lodges

A few jobs are available in tourist lodges throughout the Kawartha lake district but, said Mr. Moebus, "most of the boys want employment in the city."

To date more than 100 collegiate girls have been placed in lodges for the summer as waitresses, dish washers and other domestic positions. The placement work has been handled by the National Employment office with the help of the PCVS vocational guidance department.

BUSINESS CUT A THIRD—About two-thirds the sales regularly made at the old market on Water and Charlotte Sts., were made Saturday at the first market on the new site on George St. opposite the wharf. The number of farmers attending decreased also about one-third. (Above) Farmers and local gardeners lay out their wares for a few buyers early in the morning. By mid afternoon, only one or two loads of slabwood and one or two farmers with produce were on the square still looking for customers.—(Examiner Staff Photo)

CGE Employees Again Add To Mayor's Fund

Two cheques from employees of the CGE Co. were listed in the Saturday subscriptions to the Mayor's Fire Fund. These were subsequent to the main giving by the employees, just as there were several other sizable items reported prior to the major contribution from the collective plant staff. Port Hope fire department also sent $25.

Trade Union Movement Needs Educated People

The need for educated people in the trade union movement was emphasized Sunday night by Pat Conroy, secretary treasurer of the CCL, addressing a Peterborough audience of 225 trade unionists and their guests. It was the finale to a two-day institute sponsored jointly by the CCL and the Peterborough and District Labor Council (CIO-CCL).

Purpose of the institute was to school trade union representatives in union affairs, and one of the courses was a consideration of a union's role in community affairs. Those attending the courses are to pass along the knowledge they gained to the rank and filers in their various locals.

A hundred and twenty members of CCL locals in Peterborough attended the institute and then heard addresses Sunday night by Mr. Conroy and Al Hartnet, secretary-reasurer of the IUE-CIO.

James Carey, international president of the IUE, was unable to attend and Mr. Hartnett spoke in his place. Both Mr. Carey and Mr. Conroy will be here for the mass rally being held in the Brock Street Summer Gardens at 8 p.m. tonight.

Inverted Snobbery

Mr. Conroy struck out at what he called "inverted proletarian snobbery" which holds that an educated person has no place in the trade union movement. Well educated people need trade unions and trade unions need them, he said.

The ultimate benefit was not only to both parties but also to society at large, said Mr. Conroy.

Mr. Conroy rapped the philosophy of the Communist party and the Financial Post. He said neither philosophy had the interests of the average man and woman in mind.

The trade union movement was synonomous with freedom in this country, he said, and its objectives included the lifting the status of the nations of society to a higher level.

Throughout his address he stressed the role that trade unions could play in making Canada a better nation. Both political freedom and economic security are needed, he said.

"We want nothing for ourselves that we don't want for others."

Stick Together

Mr. Harnett said that the institute in Peterborough was an example of what can be done when unions work together. Workers can only move forward by sticking together, he claimed.

The IUE-CIO secretary-treasurer stated that the IUE is looking forward to playing an increasing part in the fight of Canadian workers for better wages, working conditions, pensions and security.

Alfred Barber, president of the Peterborough and District Labor Council was chairman.

Mayor Max Swanston congratulated the council for undertaking this educational program. He also congratulated Peterborough workers and industry for the support they had given the Mayor's Fire Fund which he predicted would reach $55,000.

UE Bid Made For De Laval Bargaining Right

The UE has applied to the Ontario Labor Relations Board for certification as the bargaining agent for 329 production workers a the DeLaval Co. plant.

Notices to this effect were posted in the plant today on instructions from the OLRB.

Recently the UE filed another application on behalf of the 28 production workers at Tilco Ltd., Park Hill Rd., a plastics manufacturing plant. At present there is a disagreement between the company and the union on whom to include in the bargaining unit.

May Control County Lumber

Restrictions on the indiscriminate cutting of timber are being considered by the Peterborough county council.

The Department of Lands and Forests is being contacted to learn of similar bylaws in other counties. And the council would also like some advice from the department.

At present there are no restrictions on the cutting of trees in this county.

Reeve Rork Ferguson, Norwood, introduced the resolution.

"The time has come for the county to take some action on this," he said. "Lumbermen and others are coming in and cutting everything there's a two-by-four in. Maple trees are disappearing."

Mr. Ferguson said he wasn't prepared to say what restrictions should be imposed, but the matter should be given some thought.

Welcome Bylaw

"The better type of people in this county should welcome such a bylaw," he said.

Warden Peter Pearson, Galway-Cavendish, agreed. "Men come in from the outside, buy a bush or woodlot, and destroy it for all time."

Reeve William Grant, Lakefield, said that an educational campaign should be launched at the same time. Laws, if they are to be obeyed, must have the understanding and approval of the people, he said.

"This seems like good business and good sense."

He said Peterborough would be a richer county today if previous generations had given a thought to conservation.

Wrong Guess Made Two Trucks Collide

About $80 damage was done Saturday night to two trucks when they collided on George St. Drivers were: Scott McNaughton, 122 Park St. and Russell Carr, 115 Maude St.

McNaughton thought Carr's truck, a beverage truck, was making a delivery at a store. Actually Carr was turning wide to put the truck in the garage. When McNaughton tried to pass on the right, the trucks collided.

About $65 damage was done to McNaughton's truck and $15 to the beverage truck.

Girl, 7, Hit By Car Suffers Head Cuts

Seven-year-old Donna Byers, who lives on Highway 28, suffered scraped knees and head cuts Sunday noon when she was struck by a car on Park St. near the Civic Arena.

Driver of the car, Thomas Mardwick, 420 Edison Ave., was driving north on Park St., when the girl ran out onto the street from between parked cars. Mardwick swerved, and the girl ran into the right front door.

ON 4-DAY SPEAKING TOUR

Harold L. Garner, general manager of the Peterborough Examiner and president of the Air Cadet League of Canada, left Saturday on a four-day speaking tour of Air Cadet League gatherings at Port Arthur, Winnipeg, Regina and Calgary. The purpose of the tour is to set the groundwork for an accelerated expansion drive in the coming months.

Committee Of Fire Fund Ends Work

Cheque Given To Trust Fund; To Reach $57,000

To the Mayor's Fire Fund committee, W. R. Wallace, assistant treasurer, reported this morning total subscriptions of $56,396.22, with the prospect of continuing to $57,000.

Mr. Wallace mentioned two substantial items which had been anticipated in recent intimations. One was $1,564.50 from the employees of the Quaker Oats Company, and the other $1,053.80 from the Boy Scouts' collection and sale of paper.

The Football League sent a cheque for $160.48 proceeds from their Fire Fund game a week ago.

Disbands

Fire Fund committee virtually disbanded at today's meeting with the end of their responsibility. Those present were Mayor M. J. Swanston, chairman; Mrs. F. H. Turner, Mrs. W. E. Fanning, Mr. Wallace, Mr. C. S. Cummer, treasurer; Reg. Reid, James Fraser, Alf. Barber, Donald McGillis, C. W. Bennett, Isadore Black, Gerald Grady and T. J. Carley, KC.

Four members of the Fire Fund Trust were included in that company, Mr. Carley, Mr. Bennett, Mrs. Hooper and Mayor Swanston.

The fifth trustee is His Honor Judge Smoke.

Paper Drive

The Boy Scouts' paper money amounting to $1,053.80 was received from Levis' Waste Paper Ltd., Toronto, in a letter to Mr. Wallace, as follows:

"As per instructions from Frank Buckland of the Canadian General Electric Co. of your city we take pleasure in enclosing our cheque for the Mayor's Fire Fund representing the value of the collection of waste paper from your city by the Peterborough Boy Scouts. You will notice that we also enclosed another cheque made up as follows:

$30.78 being shortage in freight by weight in cars; $25.00 extra donated from this company, amounting to $55.78 donated to the Mayor's Fire Fund. Hoping that your Fund will reach its objective and aso that we may be in a position to assist further, we remain ....." Signed by Mark E. Rose, general manager.

Receipts Sent

Mr. Wallace reported that receipts to subscribers have been nearly all written and mailed. "The women have done a fine job" he said.

Isadore Black paid a compliment to Mayor Swanston on his energetic leadership since the Fund was opened. "The response to the Fund during the last four weeks made one feel proud to live in Peterborough."

Mr. Black seconded a motion by J. M. Fraser expressing the appreciation and thanks of the committee, as representing the citizens, to all the subscribers to the fund, here and in many other places throughout the country.

"I don't know of any way we could convey thanks to the subscribers individually," Mr. Fraser said. "I have never been associated with a campaign that has been so gratifying in the spirit of co-operation of the public."

So Many Gave

Mr. C. W. Bennett, president of the local Fire Fighters' Association, said that "so many people have contributed to the fund that we hardly know how to thank them."

"We have our little differences now and then," Mayor Swanston remarked, "but when something like the tragedy of the fire of May 19 occurs, everybody gets in behind it. That is the way it has been from the time the fire was discovered. I think the committee did a good job, and the citizens made a splendid response. They feel, I know, very grateful to all those from outside the city who have supported the fund."

Need Authority

Mr. Carley agreed with Mayor Swanston that the next step would be the investing of the trust with authority to administer the fund. That would be done by by-law of the City Council. An early meeting of the trustees will be caleld.

Mr. Wallace informed the Examiner today of receipt of $50 from the biscuit division of Christie, Brown & Company Ltd., Toronto, and $10 from the president, Mr. S. H. Young.

Mr. Young wrote, in part: "We sincerely hope that the commmittee in charge will secure the $50,000 or more, as the fire was a very serious blow to your city, and in particular to the families of those fine men who lost their lives."

Details of trust authority and policy were briefly mentioned, but it was felt that these matters should be left to the Council and trust Reports will be made to the public from time to time.

DERUTTING JOB

Board of works men began this morning an improvement job on Monaghan Road south of the CNR. Some wonder has been expressed that the bus lines did not cancel the service to the Cameron S. area. Grading, rolling and surfacing appeared to be the program of repair.

A CPR PASSENGER TRAIN hit the wagon of little Tommy O'Brien of 116 Maria St., who was playing with his wagon on the right-of-way behind his home on Saturday afternoon. He was not seriously hurt. He was loath to sit in his wagon today for a picture but finally consented after much coaxing. Tommy is the 2½-year-old son of Mr. and Mrs. Fred O'Brien.—(Examiner Staff Photo)

WILLIAM J. DEYELL, son of Mr. and Mrs. J. T. Deyell of Millbrook, graduated recently from the University of Toronto with the degree of Bachelor of Applied Science. He took first class honors. During World War Two, he enlisted at 17 as a private, and by the time he was 21, had risen to the rank of captain.

Volunteer Brigade Sends $25 Cheque

Chief George Smith of the fire department has received from the men of the Burlington volunteer department a cheque for $25 to be delivered to Mrs. Earl Spencley.

They express through their secretary, W. R. Mills, their sympathy in the death a month ago of the three firemen and volunteer helper.

"The members of our department, who are all volunteers, feel especially for the widow and family of the volunteer helper, Mr. Spencley, who lost his life. A member of our department lost his life answering a fire 12 months ago, leaving a widow and two children.

Your loss, therefore, strikes very close to us. It was necessary for us to set up a fund to help the widow and children in our case, and we received help from various departments. To help compensate for what was done for us the members of our department would like to help a little widow of your volunteer helper, and they asked me to forward to you this cheque for $25, which we would ask you to endorse and give to her."

Stole Sister's Skirt Sentence Suspended

Madeleine Butcher, 16, of 183 Murray St., was today put on one year's suspended sentence when she pleaded guilty to theft of a skirt and a pair of shoes from her sister, Mildred.

"Don't you think it's a pretty mean thing for one of your daughters to charge the other with theft?" Magistrate W. R. Philp asked the girl's father.

Youngster Hit By Train, Unhurt

Tommy O'Brien, 2½, was in his wagon hit by a train Saturday afternoon at the Mark St. crossing of the CPR tracks. He suffered two bumps on his forehead.

William Lawson, 217 Mark St., said he saw the lad sitting on the south rail of the tracks, and at the same time heard the train whistle blow. Lawson started to run, but the train hit the lad and knocked him ahead between the tracks.

The train stopped about two feet from the boy. The steel wagon in which the boy was sitting was only slightly damaged. Tommy is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Fred O'Brien, 116 Maria St.

Airman Fined $35 On Driving Charges

Aircraftsman Brian Joanisse, of Camp Borden, was today fined a total of $35 and costs when he pleaded guilty to charges of driving without a licence and failure to remain at the scene of an accident.

The charges arose out of an accident Saturday on Highway 7. On the first charge, Joanisse was fined $10 and $2.50 and on the second, $25 and $2.50.

Union Vote At CGE On June 26

Labor Board Man Sets Date After Joint Meeting

The long-standing dispute between the UE and the IUE as to who represents a majority of the 3,600 production workers at CGE will be settled June 26. Today the three interested parties—both unions and the company—met with A. M. Brunskill, OLRB examiner, and set that date for a vote by the workers.

Vote Ordered

Two weeks ago the OLRB ordered a vote at the plant.

At present Local 524, UE, is the bargaining agent but the IUE challenges their status. On March 22 the IUE applied to the OLRB for certification. It was their second attempt in 16 months to wrest the plant from their left-wing rivals.

The 400 office workers at the plant are represented by IUE.

Seven Booths

Balloting on June 26 will be from 6 a.m. to 6.30 p.m.

Seven polling booths will be set up: four in the main plant, one in the box factory, one at Perry St., and one at the porcelain plant.

The parties will meet again Wednesday to check the list of eligible workers as supplied by the company.

Brake Fluid Leaks Out Auto Runs Wild

When the brakes on his car failed early Sunday morning, William P. Russelle, 1035 Water St., lost control.

He told police the car jumped the curb at Inverlea St., then swerved south and west into Barnardo St., hit a stop sign, and caromed off the south side of a Water St. house.

The front of the car was badly damaged. Police testing the car found the brake fluid had leaked out.

USE OLD MARKET SITE

A resolution passed Friday by county council requests the city to permit use of the old market site until the new site is properly equipped and has the necessary conveniences. The resolution requests that a market be allowed on the old site just as soon as the parking meters are installed. It would be for one day a week and continue until work on the new market is finished. Saturday the first market was held on the new site.

O'Leary has tried hundreds of suggested cures but none has worked.

30 People Die Violently Across Eastern Canada

By The Canadian Press

One woman was shot and another stabbed to death with a butcher knife as 30 persons died violently during the weekend in Eastern Canada.

A Canadian Press survey today showed 13 deaths in traffic accidents, eight in drownings, and seven from miscellaneous causes in addition to the two slayings.

Ontario led with 20 deaths, Quebec was second with six and New Brunswick accounted for the other four.

Heading the Ontario death list were the two slayings. In Brantford a 23-year-old iceman, Donald N. Devereux, has been remanded to June 20 on a murder charge in the fatal stabbing Saturday of Violet Thompson, 27, of Brantford. At Crystal Beach, police said Edward Basset, 49, from Buffalo, NY, would be charged with murder in connection with the gunshot slaying of his common-law wife.

In other Ontario fatalities, George Stewart, 45, of Point Edward was killed when struck by a truck near Sarnia; Arnold Ardens, 47, of Toronto was struck down while inspecting a car motor, Private Mervin L. Rogers, 24, of London was crushed under a truck at Glencoe, Ont., and Bedrios Kurkegan, of Brantford, died of injuries suffered in an accident at Echo Place, Ont.

More Car Casualties

William Bryceon Won of Toronto, was hit and killed while pushing a car; Mrs. Margaret Rolfe, 60, of Brampton, walked in front of a car in that town and was killed, and Robert Calaback, 18, of Toronto, died of injuries received last May 19 in an automobile accident.

Mrs. Richard Cramer, 77, died of injuries when the car in which she was riding plunged 22 feet down an embankment into the St. Lawrence River near Cornwall. Three-year-old Bruce Edward Groves of Waterloo ran in front of a car and was kiled and Mrs. Rachael Colem, 88, was killed in a truck-car collision near her husband's grave at Barrie.

Ontario drownings took the lives of Alan Pantry, 15, of Terrace Bay near Schreiber; Sherwood L. Tupple of Lotties Brook, NS, near Sudbury and Roy Frieday, 31, of London in Dorchester mill pond.

Flt. Lt. George Vrooman, 34, of Ottawa, crashed while stunt flying at Ottawa's Uplands airport; Murray Mitchell, 28, of Windsor, was burned to death in his home; Sydney Cohen, 38, of Toronto died after receiving penicilin treatment for a skin disease; Karl Anderson, 45, of Port Arthur, died of a heart atack after rescuing a three-year-old boy from drowning and Anson Neeley was burned to death in his farm home near Carp, Ont.

Quebec Deaths

In Quebec, Raoul Genereux, 24, and Joseph Guilbault, 39, both of Drummondville, were killed in separate automobile accidents. Fernand Theriault, 20, of Riviere de Loup, was drowned in the Richelieu River, Arthur Girard of St. Hyacinthe was drowned in the Yamaska River and Jean-Guy Croteau, 16, was drowned in the St. Maurice River.

Twenty-four-year-old Yvon Migneault of Ottawa died of a fractured skull suffered in Aylmer, Que., while diving.

In New Brunswick, Mrs. George Niles died from injuries received when she fell from a railway bridge. W. B. Edmudson, 36, and Yvon Martin, both of Madawaska, Me., were drowed and Betty Morehouse died of injuries received when she was struck by a car at Zealand Station near Fredericton.

Union Rejects Plant Offer

KINGSTON, June 18 (CP) — A collective bargaining agreement proposed by Aluminum Company of Canada for its Kingston works was rejected Sunday by the United Steelworkers of America (CIO).

A press release from Local 343 said the weekly increase in take-home pay offered by the firm was about eight cents an hour with a reduction of 2 2/3 hours in the work week.

The present agreement expires June 22. The local committee was instructed to continue to negotiate.

Ford Plants Remain Open

WINDSOR, June 18 (CP) — Plants of the Ford Motor Company of Canada will continue normal operations today pending a study of company problems with govenment officials from Ottawa.

Company officials believe that every employee has been notified that a lay-off notice posted Friday was countermanded later after Ottawa had requested a delay in su[illegible]ding operations.

In the [illegible]nal notice, the company ha[illegible]d production would cease as of midnight Friday and would not resume until July 3. The lay-off would affect 9,000 of the 11,000 workers.

Conservation Marmora Topic

MARMORA, June 18 (ENS)—The values of conservation were brought to the attention of members of Marmora District Chamber of Commerce at the monthly dinner meeting held in the Royal Hotel on Thursday evening by Lt.-Col. Roscoe Vanderwater of Foxboro, former chairman and now secretary-treasurer of the Moira River Conservation Authority.

Introduced by Reeve C. H. Buskard of Deloro the speaker first drew attention to the fact that conservation is tied in with national, provincial and municipal enterprise. Thirteen water authorities are set up in the province of Ontario including that of the Moira River watershed.

While Deloro was in the Moira River territory at Marmora was the divide between the Trent and Moira Rivers. His hearers might be interested to know that the length of the Moira River from its source in Tudor township to where it emptied into the Bay of Quinte was 91.6 miles. There were 854 feet of falls upon the river and its tributaries. The river affected 1,054 square miles of land. The Water Authority in connection with the Moira is concerned with its level, its continuity and its flow. Col. Vanderwater next drew attention to the fact that throughout the county of Hastings farmers are becoming interested in the establishment of farm ponds.

Referring to the phase of forestry which comes into conservation the speaker described the over cutting of trees and the harm done to wood lots where livestock was permitted to run through and trample down the young seedlings. He commended Hastings county council for putting on a competition in connection with the care of wood lots.

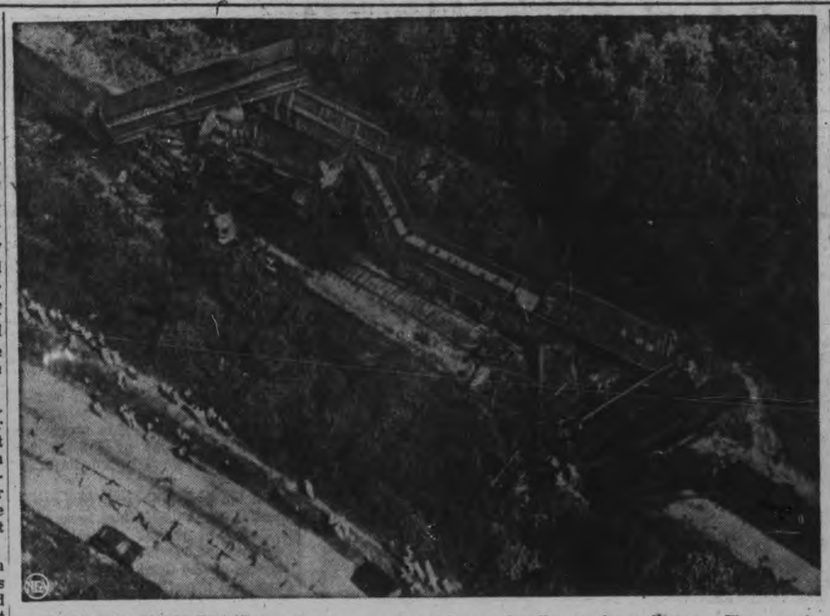
Referring to the Water Authority he stated, "We are trying to keep June conditions in the river the year round."

H. A. McNally thanked the speaker. In his opening remarks, the president, A. F. Fraser, thanked all members for making the May meeting the success it was.

A member then lodged the complain of motor boats with mufflers off disturbing the otherwise Sunday morning serenity of the lake by endulging in racing. "What lake authority have we?" enquired another member.

"Marine laws," answered a third. A fourth member suggested the formation of a Crowe Lake Association which might be empowered to pass by-laws. The trend of opinion was that the Chamber had no jurisdiction to right the matter which was then dropped.

The president drew attention to an amateur show which is to be given on Sept. 20 and 21 under professional training with proceeds going to the Community Centre.



Canadian Destroyers Pound Korean Coasts

TOKYO, June 18 (CP)—The Canadian destroyer Sioux and the American destroyer Blue poured 236 rounds of high explosives ashore Sunday in support of allied ground forces on the Korean east-coast battleline, a naval headquarters communique said Sunday.

On the west coast, the Canadian destroyer Nootka fired 38 rounds of four-inch ammunition at a building in which enemy troops were housed. No casualties could be estimated but the building was reported severely damaged.

HEAD-ON HORROR—Two Chicago and Northwestern Railroad trains lie twisted along the tracks near Mankato, Minn., after a head-on crash. Eight crewmen were injured, one fatally, in the collision. The wreck was blamed on the failure of an employee to deliver an order to the engineer of the passenger-mail train, which plowed into a diesel freight.

Ask Court Consider Validity Of Law

CHARLOTTETOWN, June 18 (CP)—The validity of both provincial and dominion legislation passed under the Federal Marketing Act is to be referred by the provincial government to the Supreme Court of Prince Edward Island, it was learned Sunday.

The marketing act, passed by the federal government in 1949, enables marketing boards to prohibit dealings outside the province in which they have been constituted. This is believed to be the first occasion in which the validity of the act will have been subject to a judicial inquiry.

Goodyear Workers Turn Down Offer

TORONTO, June 18 (CP) — Striking employees of the Goodyear Tire and Rubber Co.'s plant in suburban New Toronto Saturday rejected an 8.7-cent hourly wage boost offered by the company 10 days ago.

The workers, members of Local 232 of the United Rubber Workers of America (CIO), turned down the offer after union officials told them the company refused to negotiate.

The men went on strike June 7 to back demands for a 25-cent hourly increase.

Wage Increase For More Work

CORNER BROOK, Nfld., June 18 (CP)—Bowaters Pulp and Paper Mills and four major mill unions Saturday signed an agreement providing wage increases in return for more mork. Terms include:

1. A general 14-per-cent wage increase with each worker getting a minimum boost of 16 cents an hour.

2. Sunday shifts and an employee pledge to drive newsprint production up by 15,000 tons and sulphite up 2,400 tons during the next 12 months.

Liberal Leader To Explain Pay

CLARKSON, June 18 (CP) — Walter Thomson, Ontario Liberal leader, said Saturday he will choose his own time and place to explain circumstances of federal government payments to him totalling $232,135 since early 1947.

A report tabled in the Commons last week showed that the amount included legal fees and payments for office maintenance and travelling expenses in connection with work Mr. Thomson did for the Veterans Affairs Department.

Addressing the South Peel Liberal Women's Auxiliary, Mr. Thomson said he made only half as much money during that period as he would have in normal law practice.

Going To School Regularly Rivals Theatre In Kids' Eyes

VANCOUVER — (CP) — The truant officer is looking for a new job.

The modern-day classroom is as popular as the neighborhood theatre on a Saturday afternoon, and it's largely due to the rapid development here of visual education techniques.

T. W. Woodward, principal of the Vancouver Model School, said: "Today's elementary school pupil won't miss a day of school if he can help it, because the classroom offers opportunities and activities he won't find elsewhere."

"In modern education we're competing with movies, radio, television and a score of other out-of-school interests," added Gordon Kilpatrick, director of Vancouver School Board visual education department.

"We have to, and we are, using modern devices and they work wonders," he said.

"Glad To Be Back"

D. E. Lytle, assistant-director of the provincial government education department, said:

"Nowadays youngsters come to school at the end of the summer glad to be back and eager to start the first classroom project.'

Today the student's appetite for social studies is whetted by sound films on native tribes of Malayan jungles, or cotton plantations in Georgia.

It's all part of the theory of visual education that was the aim of J. R. Pollock and the pioneers who introduced the new method in Vancouver schools 13 years ago.

The renovators had little equipment and were regarded with suspicion and sometimes even hostility by rod-and-rule schoolmarms who saw no reason to turn their classrooms into movie theatres.

Today, the barefoot boy isn't down at the creek but indoors, at school, where it's more fun.

GRATEFUL RELIEF— NO MORE PILLS!

"I suffered from constipation for years until I started to eat ALL-BRAN regularly. I have since stopped taking drugs and pills—feel like my old self again, thanks to ALL-BRAN!" J. THIS YOUNG WOMAN, embarking upon a planned vacation this summer, has worked out small tricks that will help her go places easily and efficiently. Into her luggage go travel aids. Plastic travel pack contains unbreakable jars and bottles for such vacation requisities as creams, lotions and baking soda. Kit cover doubles as shower cap (left). To prevent suitcase crowding and scrambling, she packs shoes in tennis sox (centre). Camera carried in handbag makes possible complete leave-taking-to-home-coming record of trip (right).

Pack All You Need, But Try To Travel Light

By ALICIA HART
NEA Staff Writer

Time was, when a woman went journeying, she made an expedition of it. A safari of friends and relatives was required to convey assembled bags and boxes to her send-off spot. She took along everything she owned—just in case. But in those days, there was a red-cap for every traveler, and a guest-room in every home.

Today, the woman who sets out on a trip laden with luggage is more likely to be considered inefficient than foresighted. The modern miss picks and packs with purpose, realizing she travels farthest who travels lightest. And after all, summer is a time for going places.

This year, try a planned vacation, deciding in advance not only the sort of fun you're seeking, but also the clothes and beauty aids you'll need. Work out a few suitcase short-cuts, too, to make your trip a happier one.

Choose your inanimate traveling companions as carefully as you do your human ones. These might include non-crushable linen suits; rollable hats that can be jammed into a suitcase, then emerge unwrinkled and ready to go; a toothbrush with a handle that becomes its cover while its traveling; a folding umbrella to see you through those inevitable rainy days; and nylon lingerie of the quick-drying, no-ironing variety.

Also a friend in need is a new plastic pack which features a ribbon-tied cover designed for double-duty use as a shower cap. Inside are plastic envelopes, one of which serves as a case for fold-flat plastic slipper-scuffs. The others are empty, to hold your tissues, soap, bobby pins or whatever.

Also included in the kit are plastic jars and bottles which are handy for liquids, creams and powders that can cause travelers so much anxiety when they're transported in breakable glass containers.

A good bet for one of the bottles is multi-purpose baking soda, which, added to your bath, is a deodorizing aid after such strenuous work-outs as golf, tennis or horseback riding. You'll find it an excellent emulsifier, too, for cutting grease and grime at shampoo time.

When filling your large traveling case, you may find these packing tips helpful. Fill your shoes with such small items as rolled belts, to take advantage of their inside space. Another shoe tip is to slip your footwear inside your tennis sox. Heavy sox packed in this way will require less suitcase area, and they'll also protect your clothes from shoe soil.

In case tennis sox are not a part of your non-athletic wardrobe use a pair of old hose or your husband's sox.

There's no need this year to shove your clothes around to make room for your old box camera. New midget-sized cameras, small enough to slip into your purse, will save you valuable packing space. With this bantam in your handbag, you'll find it easier to make a picture-record of your trip than you ever imagined in the old days when an urge to click the shutter necessitated first a mad scramble among your personal effects.

To preserve your jaunt for future enjoyment, try a portal-to-portal series of photographs, which can be pasted picture-story fashion into your album. Begin with a snap-shot of your departure, then record each highlight of your trip, finishing with a homecoming scene at your journey's end.

NEW, MIRACLE ELECTRONIC EAR HIDES DEAFNESS

CHICAGO, (Special)—An amazing new electronic ear which hides deafness and transmits even whispers with startling clarity, has been revealed by a noted Chicago electronic scientist.

He disclosed that this miraculous new discovery has rendered old-style hearing aids obsolete almost overnight, and brings new hope to the 20 million persons in the United States who are hard of hearing.

He reported that this electronic ear enables the deaf to hear without any button showing in the ear and without dangling battery wires.

To acquaint the hard of hearing readers of this paper with this new miracle electronic ear which hides deafness, full details are described in a fascinating booklet, "New Discoveries to Help the Deaf Hear." It will be sent free in a plain wrapper to anyone who requests it. Address: Electronic Research Director, 1450 West 19th Street, 98CC Beltone Building, Chicago 8, Ill. A penny postcard will do.—Adv.

"Genie nothing—I've come to negotiate on behalf of the British Government."

Dorothy Pelyea Is Bride Of Kenneth Reid

The marriage was solemnized Saturday in St. Paul's Presbyterian Church of Dorothy Edith, daughter of Mrs. Harriet Pelyea, RR 10, Peterborough, to Mr. Kenneth Harold Reid, son of Mr. and Mrs. Everson Reid of Peterborough. The Rev. C. G. Boyd performed the ceremony.

The church was decorated for the occasion with peonies and ferns. Organist Mr. Christopher Gledhill played the wedding music and during the signing of the register he played "Because."

Given in marriage by her brother, Mr. Roy Pelyea, the bride was gowned in white bridal satin and net, fashioned in boufant style with the skirt extending in a full train. Her circular veil was caught with a tiara of seed pearls and she carried a bouquet of red roses and white sweet peas.

Attendants were Miss Beverley Watkiss, maid of honor, and Miss Jean Smith, bridesmaid, both in bouffant frocks of pastel green and lilac taffeta and wearing seed pearl tiaras. They carired bouquets of roses and sweet peas.

Groomsman was Mr. Albert Reid, brother of the groom, and ushers were Gordon Halliday and Robert Oliver.

The reception was held in the Empress Kawartha Room with the bride's mother receiving in a lace-trimmed navy dress and wearing a pink hat and accessories and corsage of pink roses. The groom's mother, who also received, was dressed in navy sheer and wore white accessories and a corsage of red roses.

The bridal couple left later for a honeymoon at Niagara Falls. For travelling the bride chose a navy suit and white accessories and she had a beige shortie coat. Her corsage when going away was of white roses.

Mr. and Mrs. Reid will live at RR 10, Peterborough.

A pot luck picnic lunch was served on the lawn by the members.

Lee Anna Doubt Takes Vows In Lovely Garden Setting

LAKEFIELD, June 18 (ENS)—The picturesque grounds of Reydon Manor were the setting Saturday afternoon for a lovely garden wedding when more than 150 guests gathered to witness Lee Anna, eldest daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Reg. Doubt, and Cameron Warren Payne, son of Mr. and Mrs. Warren Payne, exchange marriage vows.

The Rev. Walton Tonge performed the double ring ceremony in which the bride's great grandmothers' wedding ring was used.

Given in marriage by her father the bride was lovely in a gown of white slipper satin, cut on princess lines. The fitted basque featured a net and lace top with Peter Pan collar and the full skirt formed a chapel length train. The headdress was of tulle with a band of orange blossoms. She carried a basket of white roses, white mums, mauve sweet peas and yellow daisies.

Miss Denise Doubt, sister of the bride, was maid of honor in a powder blue nylon marquisette gown, with tiered hoop skirt, shoulder cape, headdress and mittens. She carried a nosegay of blue cornflower, sweetheart roses and sweet peas.

Miss Nancy Doubt was her sister's bridesmaid, frocked in yellow nylon marquisette with tight fitting bodice, frilled neckline and full skirt. The bride's youngest sister Judith Doubt was junior bridesmaid, wearing pink organdy, fashioned similarly to the bridesmaid's dress. Both wore headdresses and mittens to match their frocks and carried nosegays the same as the maid of honor.

Douglas Usher, Toronto was the groomsman and ushers were Terry Doubt, brother of the bride, Morley Brown and Ross Calberry.

The bride's mother received in a turquoise dress, with natural colored hat and accessories, and corsage of yellow roses.

The groom's mother also received, and chose a navy sheer, navy picture hat, matching accessories and corsage of red roses.

Mrs. R. K. Tedford of Peterborough was soloist and Mrs. Robert Heron, grandmother of the bride, pianist.

At the reception tea was poured by Mrs. N. Doubt, of Port Perry, grandmother of the bride and Mrs. Morley MacDonald, the groom's aunt, from Cavan.

Those who served were Misses Carolyn Ann and Frances Erskine, Doris-May Heron, Faye Proctor, Anne Richardson, Jeannette Staples, Elsie Waldar, Betty Jane Roth and Joan Northey.

Following the reception the bride and groom left for Toronto to fly to the States. For travelling the bride chose a yellow linen suit, mauve hat and accessories, and corsage of yellow roses.

On their return they will live on Regent St., Lakefield.

Shirley Storey Is Married At St. Lukes' To L. Baswick

The altar of St. Luke's Anglican church was banked with baskets of white peonies and ferns as setting for the wedding Saturday of Shirley Jean, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. F. H. Storey, to Mr. Leslie Joseph Baswick, son of Mrs. A. Baswick of Winnipeg and the late Mrs. Baswick. Their vows were pledged before the Rev. W. J. Gilling, rector.

The bride was wearing a gown of white Chantilly lace made with very full bouffant skirt that extended into a long Cathedral train. The bodice had a sheer nylon yoke appliqued with seed pearls, and long sleeves with lily points to the wrist and was fastened at the back to the waistline with satin covered buttons. She wore a veil of French illusion net in triangular shape caught to a Dutch cap of the lace and carried a bouquet of red roses. She was given in marriage by her father.

Before the bride entered Miss Nicolette Humphries sang "God be in my head" and during the signing of the register she sang "O Perfect Love." Organist Mr. Morley Coombs played the wedding march and accompanied the soloist.

Maid of honor for her sister was Miss Margaret Storey, Miss Berdene Atchison was bridesmaid and Gail Kelly, niece of the groom, was flower girl. They were in similarly styled frocks with off-the-shoulder effect of orchid, pale green and yellow taffeta and marquisette. The attendants wore Dutch caps and the flower girl a bonnet of the same material as their dresses and they carried bouquets of roses and spring flowers.

Mr. Fred Vyse attended the groom and the ushers were Gerald Pagett and Myles Huddlestone.

The reception was held in the Parish Hall with the bride's mother receiving her guests in a gown of mauve crepe and wearing a white straw hat with mauve trim and a corsage of pink roses. Also receiving was the groom's sister, Mrs. Edward Kelly of Peterborough, who was wearing a blue crepe dress with hat of blue straw and a corsage of pink roses.

The bride and groom left later on a wedding trip to Toronto, Niagara Fals and Buffalo. Travelling the bride wore a red suit with white and black accessories.

Mr. and Mrs. Baswick will live at 663 Rogers St., on their return.

United Church Presbyterial Gives Miss C. Wagar Purse

Miss Constance Wagar who is leaving Peterborough in August for Trinidad as a missionary was honored at a special service in George St. United Church Sunday evening by the Peterborough WMS Presbyterial.

Those taking part in the reguchurch service were Mrs. A. E. Metcalfe, president of the Peterborough WMS Presbyterial, Mrs. E. H. Brown, president of George St. WMS, Mrs. F. W. K. Harris, past president of the Conference Branch and Miss Gladys Langton of St. James Mission Circle.

Miss Wagar spoke to the congregation briefly concerning her work, her life decision, and also stated that she will be placed on the staff of St. Augustine High School and will live at Archibald Institute where there is a dormitory and practise house.

Rev. Arnold Mathews delivered the address. The choir rendered a lovely anthem and Miss Anne Nickle rendered a beautiful solo "The Lord Is My Light".

Following the regular service a social hour followed in the Sunday School room when Mrs. A. E. Metcalfe presided. Mr. Chas. E. Allen presided at the piano for a song service.

Mrs. S. W. Spafford of Belleville, president of the conference branch, spoke very fittingly of the wonderful work Miss Wagar had been doing during her six years as candidate advisor for the Peterborough WMS Presbyterial making special mention of her work and influence at the annual school for leaders at Whitby.

Mrs. Metcalfe presented Miss Wagar with a lovely leather purse and a substantial sum of money as a remembrance from the Peterborough Presbyterial. Miss Wagar replied in her usual capable manner thanking all those who had been responsible for arranging such a lovely evening.

Lunch was served by ladies of the Presbyterial executive.

W.A. Discusses Mission Work

CAVAN, June 18—(ENS)—The WA of Ebenezer United church met at the home of Mrs. Arthur Stewart on Thursday afeernoon with six members present. The subject "The Missionaries in Ethiopia" was taken by the president, Mrs. Rae Stewart. A niece of Percy Stewart, Miss Fledda Veals, Bethany, left two weeks ago for Addis Aba, Ethiopia, where she will work as a missionary. As she is well known to most of the Ebenezer WA members, much interest has been aroused in this particular section, which has only been opened up to white people since 1928.

It was planned to hold a tea at the home of Mrs. John White on Tuesday evening, June 19.

St. James' Holds Flower Sunday

Members of St. James' Sunday School joined the congregation in an impressive morning worship service Sunday for their annual Flower Sunday.

Under the direction of the Young Men's Class, a lovely scene was created at the front of the church, showing woodland stream and waterfall. The 1951 motto for St. James' Sunday School, "Others for Christ", was carried out in floral display, in front of which was appropriately placed a cross.

Bouquets presented by the Junior Sunday School pupils were placed on this cross at the beginning of the service. Several canaries mingled their voices with the organ music.

R. Heard, Sunday school superintendent assisted in the opening service of worship.

The Rev. F. W. Craik expressed the Flower Sunday theme in his message, "God's Garden", in which he reminded the boys and girls to give flowers of love, sympathy and kindness to others, especially the sick or aged, while they can still enjoy them, "Say it with flowers", is not an empty thought but rather an open and generous expression of kindliness," said Mr. Craik.

DOROTHY DIX

Teacher Assumes Hero Role In Lives Of Many Girls

DEAR MISS DIX: I'm a senior in high school and am deeply devoted to my biology teacher. He is twelve years older than I am. I know he loves me as much as I love him. We have met at several school functions and he has escorted me home and confessed his feelings. My parents disapprove, but I feel as though I'm old enough to know my own mind. After I graduate we wish to get married, but the marriage will have to remain a secret until I'm of age. Would such a marriage insure our happiness in the future? SALLY

✧ ✧ ✧

ANSWER: Such a marriage will assuredly insure your misery in the future, Sally. Heed your parents' advice! Wait! And if in two or three years you and your teacher still think you love each other, you'll be able to begin married life proudly and joyfully, which is a far better start than a furtive ceremony.

Most schoolgirls at one time or another have a crush on an attractive male teacher, and while most teachers have the maturity and the sense to handle these lovelorn youngsters diplomatically, some do not. Occasionally you'll find a good-loking teacher who fancies himself as Don Juan and laps up all the adulation his pupils hand out. These men don't last very long in the profession; parents and school boards soon decide they bode no good for the pupils in their care.

Parents Should Investigate

Your parents, Sally, should go one step further than merely disapproving of your crush. They should make a thorough investigation of your teacher's character and make sure he is fit for his job.

Hero-worshipping a teacher goes hand-in-hand with the adoration of crooners, movie stars and — the current trend — opera singers. It is all a part of growing up, the phase passes and becomes nothing but a memory to chuckle over.

Better get some younger boy friends and confine your social activities to a group your own age.

Discard the idea of a secret marriage, whatever you do. Such a step can bring nothing but unhappiness.

DEAR MISS DIX: After eight years of marriage, I was divorced, with my wife receiving the custody of our two small children. Visitation privileges have been very liberal and are working out to the complete satisfaction of everyone.

Now I have met someone for whom I have come to feel a deep affection, and she returns the feeling. We have much in common, as she has been divorced herself but has no children. My problem is this: We are very happy together but she has the fear that the past relationships with the children might rob us both of real marital happiness. She is not asking me to give up my children entirely, but is concerned that my feelings might be divided between her and my children. I feel there is a decided difference between parental love and love between husband and wife. Do you feel there would be a division of feeling sufficient to affect the success of our marriage? BILL

ANSWER: Your fiancee does not ask you to give up your children entirely, you say. How gracious of her! Believe me, Bill, you won't be back from the altar long before that will be her exact demand. You have to make a definite decision here, and don't fool yourself that it will be any other way. Either you give up your children entirely, or break your engagement. A woman who has so little consideration, and who can be so jealous of two small children now, will give you little peace in wedlock.

The mere fact that you have both been divorced is most assuredly not an important asset to have in common. A woman who really loved you, and had your interests at heart, would have sense enough to realize that your love for your children would not detract from your duties as a husband. She would be happy to have you see your youngsters.

✧ ✧ ✧

DEAR DOROTHY DIX: I am a boy 18 who is in love with a woman 27. She is beautiful and appeals to me very much. She is divorced and has two children, aged 2 and 4. I have become attached to them, but my family is against my marrying her. Do you think I would do right to go ahead with the marriage? LUTHER

✧ ✧ ✧

ANSWER: You're talking absolute nonsense! At your age you are in no position to take on a ready-made family. The woman is much too old for you and I think you'd better listen to your family and end this attachment at once.

Montreal Woman Active At 100

MONTREAL — (CP) — Mrs. Sara Feldman, a resident of Montreal for the last 60 years, proudly celebrated her 99th birthday, but her son, Dr. S. H. Feldman, a dentist here says it's her 100th.

Mrs. Feldman says she doesn't remember the exact date of birth in her native land of Russia, but she does know that she has had a long and happy life.

She lives with her daughter, who is partially paralyzed, in the Montreal Hebrew Old People's and Sheltering Home, which is run by the Federation of Jewish Philanthropies.

Mrs. Feldman not only looks after her 79-year-old daughter, Mrs. Clara Weinstein, but also helps clean the room.

MARY MOORE SAYS:

Salad Diet For Summer Means Saving For Family

The house is full of vacuums. My pesky angel Pete left for Oregon yesterday, for two and one-half months.

He has a lift on a transport and my feelings are slightly mixed. Since he is not yet seventeen I wonder at his nerve. But maybe that is why he has the nerve. Since nearly a whole day has passed and I have had no word from him I am not too easy in mind, but my major feeling is one of gratitude,—thankfulness that he has this opportunity while he is so young. Some of you may recall my friend Mrs. Bigger in Portland. He is headed for her home.

But what will we do for our official tester and a stower-away-of-food? Strange as it may seem, his is usually the last word that passes on, or turns thumbs down, on recipes that I feature in this column. One thing I know. I'll be able to save enough grocery money to take a trip to Halifax this fall.

Marianne and I were alone for supper last night so we had a very lady-like one that I have been trying to work into this column for nearly two weeks.

Some of you who have travelled in California may be familiar with an Apricot and Cheese Salad. It may be had in almost any restaurant in the Los Angeles area.

California Apricot and Cottage Cheese Salad

(Men like this too—but not for a main course.)

Have your well cupped, inner head lettuce leaves on tea-size or breakfast-size plates. In centre put at least one-quarter pound cottage cheese for each person. Surround this with about eight canned apricot halves, cut side up. In alternate halves put one-half of a maraschino cherry. If desired a little mayonnaise may be passed. Reducers would eat something like vita-wheat or rye wafers with this. Those who do not have to watch their weight might like Melba toast, re-toasted with a little butter melted in it.

Another version of a cottage cheese or cream cheese salad with fruit is jellied. This is a perfect dish for bridge parties or a ladies' luncheon when you want everything prepared well ahead of their arrival.

Cheese Mould With Fruit

One and one-half tablespoons gelatin soaked in 1-3 cup cold water 5 minutes. Stand over boiling water and stir until gelatin is dissolved. Cool to room temeperature. Mix together 2 3-oz. packages cream cheese or 1 cup rather dry cottage, 3 tablespoons mayonnaise, ¼ teaspoon salt, ⅛ teaspoon paprika, 1 cup drained crushed pineaple (canned for sure — as fresh pineapple will not jell.) Mix this into the dissolved gelatin. When quite cold fold into these one-half cup heavy cream, whipped. You may chill this in a ring mould which has been oiled, or nearly freeze it in tray of freezing compartment. If ring mould is used, turn it out on large round plate. Fill centre with strawberries or mixed strawberries sliced, halved apricots and cubed ripe bananas. Surround with an attractive border of any of these fruits, garnishing the border with a red fruit like halved large strawberries or maraschino cherries. Later on use raspberries.

See Thursday's column for Fruit Cream Dressing.

Plans Thesis On Guiana Tribes

GEORGETOWN, British Guiana —(CP)— Miss Audrey Butt, an Oxford graduate, is getting her doctor of philosophy degree the hard way.

She has chosen to make a survery of various social aspects of the American Indian tribes in British Guiana.

Flying into the Mazaruni jungle, she plans to remain nine months among the Arecuna and Akowoio tribes and later fly to Chicago to consult with experts at University of Chicago.

Miss Butt, who already has written a thesis on the organization of Eskimos, then will return to British Guiana for a two-year survey.

Finally, she will submit a report on her findings to the government here and write her thesis for a doctor of philosophy degree.

Fashion Vignettes

By Evelyn Kelly Croucher

ARTICLE 2

Lohengrin's age old strains enjoy top rating on the hit parade right about now, favorite time for spring and summer weddings. Every girl deserves to look her prettiest when she starts down the aisle in her bridal frock, and if she has checked on a few all-important details she can walk with assurance knowing all eyes are on her, approving.

First vital detail is in her selection of fabric for THE DRESS. Will she look her best in stark white in the subdued light of the church, or is she wiser to choose an off-white for a formal wedding frock? A golden-skinned, copper-haired bride - to - be we know found pure white too severe as her skin looked sallow against it, and somehow the color all washed out of her golden-flecked hazel eyes. After trying them all, an off-white, pink undertoned, was completely flattering. Her sister, a brownette with creamy complexion, chose correctly a true ivory which matched her own skin tones. Off-whites have many undertones or casts . . . pinkish, beiged or grayed, ice blue. Examine them by daylight and artificial light to find the one right for you.

Insist that your bridal headdress flatters your best features and side-tracks the not-so-good points. An extreme style is only for a classically perfect profile. A recent bride whose naturally platinum blonde hair was her greatest asset wore a head-hugging pearl cap which covered not only her lovely tresses but also her ears and part of her forehead. Her nose, never thought of as being too long up till now, came into most unfortunate prominence. Somehow she looked thin-faced and scrawny-necked. How we wished she had chosen a simple headdress and filmy veil rather than tucking her hair out of sight to substitute it with a stiff shoulder veil! On this bride rosepoint lace draped into a soft mantilla would have been enchanting.

Don't change your type on your wedding day! It disappoints your friends and certainly must disconcert the bridegroom. Don't allow last minute changes in hairdo's or have bobby pins and hairpins showing to spoil an otherwise superlatively smoothly planned wedding ensemble. Soft rosy lipstick is in better taste than violent flaming reds. More sympathetic too if you're inclined to either pale or blush when the exciting march down the aisle begins.

And when you walk down that aisle press your arms against your hipbones to accomplish these tricks: places your bouquet attractively and low enough to prevent you from nervously clutching it to your midriff . . . prevents the flowers from agitated trembling . . . and reminds you to keep your shoulders back, tummy in, head up. You won't have to be reminded to wear a happy smile . . . you know all's well!

Woman Editor Of Encyclopaedia

LONDON —(CP)— In the middle of the flying-bomb attacks on London in 1944 a woman began to edit a new edition of Chamber's Encyclopaedia.

Mrs. Margaret Dorothy Law is the first woman to undertake a work of this kind on such a vast scale, for she will be responsible for the publishing of 14,500,000 words in 15 volumes.

Mrs. Law, herself, prepared one quarter of the enormous index, although she had a staff of 100 to help her, and 52 advisory editors. She read 50 per cent of the page proofs and there were few days when she did not work at her office until late at night.

Tall, well-dressed, handsome Mrs. Law refused to worry about her task. "You can't fuss over a job like that," she said.

Members of her staff said she would settle some knotty point after a heated discussion and then, picking up her string bag full of groceries, calmly leave to catch the train to her home outside London, where she lives with her husband and grown-up children.

Expert Criticizes British Kitchens

OXFORD, England —(CP)— American Prof. John Immer says British kitchens are "terrible—they couldn't be worse."

"What a lot could be done to lighten and speed up the work of British housewives," he said. [illegible] replanning."

The professor, an expert on "material-handling"—the science of speeding up the transport and handling of goods—is equally critical of British production methods.

"Producton is primarily a frame of mind—that is, a philosophy," said Immer, here to study for a degree at Oxford University.

"Good production can never be obtained where the management and workers feel they are out to get the most from each other."

The slightly-built, 35-year-old professor admits, however, that he has found many examples of outstandingly good production here.

6—In Memoriam

BRISTOW—In loving memory of our dear son, Wm. Morley, who was drowned in the Otonabee River, 10 years ago today.
We have only your memory, dear son,
To remember our whole life through,
But the sweetness will linger forever,
As we treasure the image of you.
—Lovingly remembered by Mother, Father, sisters and brothers.

McINTYRE—In loving memory of John Arthur McIntyre, who passed on June 18, 1950.
"To live in hearts we leave behind, is not to die."
—Greatly missed by his wife, sons and daughter.

WOOD—In loving memory of my dear husband, Harold B. Wood, who passed away June 18, 1944.
Looking back with tenderness
Over the years we trod,
I bless the years I spent with you,
And leave the rest to God.
—Sadly missed and ever remembered by his wife, Eleanor.

7—Cards of Thanks

I wish to express my most sincere thanks and appreciation to the sisters and nurses, attending doctor and visiting clergy and to my kind friends and relatives for all their flowers, cards and gifts given me during my recent illness in St. Joseph's Hospital—Mrs. E. McCusker, Rubidge St.

Mrs. C. Graham wishes to thank her many friends who participated in gragging operations in the search for her husband who was drowned last Monday evening, June 11. The cottagers at Bensfort Bridge who kindly loaned their boats and services. Constable Jack McKendry of the Ontario Provincial Police, the Peterborough Fire Dept., Canadian General Electric and Ontario Provincial Police for use of their drags. Also Dr. Bruce Gordon of Trinity United Church for his messages of sympathy and many friends who sent mesages of sympathy and floral tributes.

Pleads Guilty Drunk Driving

Joseph McGrath, 342 Welch St., was sentenced to seven days in jail today when he pleaded guilty to a charge of drunk driving.

Constable William G. Scott told court that on Saturday afternoon he saw a milk truck swerving from side to side on Highway 7 inside the east city limits.

He said he blew his horn, shouted at the driver and told him to stop. Driver was McGrath, who was drunk, the officer said. A part bottle of Scotch whisky was found in the truck.

Lower School Begins Holidays

Summer holidays began today for Grades 9, 10 and 11 students of St. Peter's High and PCVS as the final June examinations for these grades were completed Friday.

Department of Education regulations this year required secondary school students to stay in school at least until June 8. Therefore examinations at PCVS for the Grades 9 to 12 began a week ago.

Today the Grade 12 and 13 students resumed writing examinations, physics papers in the morning for both, art in the afternoon for Grade 12 and history for Grade 13. On Tuesday latin authors and composition will fill the day for both grades.

Grade 12 students will begin their summer holidaying on Thursday afternoon after the German students write authors and composition. Most of the Grade 13 students will be completed on Wednesday when they write Algebra and zoology.

Several students will be writing the problems departmental paper on Friday while the Grade 13 examinations for PCVS will conclude Monday when a student will write Spanish.

SLAVES A CENTURY AGO—Born in slavery 100 years ago was Frank Sampler, above. His wife, Ophelia, was also born a slave, but a mere 99 years ago. Neighbors plan a big centennial celebration for the old couple, who live just a mile away from the house near Anniston, Ala., where Mrs. Sampler was born. From their own small, stone house, the Samplers can sit and watch their grandchildren, born in freedom, play on the steps of the old plantation house.

Court Dismisses Driving Charge

A charge of drunk driving against James Tobin, 30, 506 Elm St., was dismissed today by Magistrate W. R. Philp. Tobin pleaded not guilty.

The charge was laid after an accident the night of April 20 on Lansdowne St. Tobin testified he had had about three pints of beer at a stag party and was driving home when his car hit a car parked on the north side of the road.

Blinded By Lights

Tobin said he was blinded by the headlights of an eastbound car and the eastbound car was "crowding the centre line of the street."

Tobin said he didn't see the parked car. Owner of the parked car, Royce Godfrey, 66 Lansdowne St., said he didn't think Tobin was drunk at the time of the acciden. Two other witnesses agreed with this.

Two police officers, Constables William G. Scott and Robert Menzies, testified Tobin was staggering and appeared drunk.

A charge of careless driving against Tobin was also dismissed when the crown offered no evidence.

Dawson Allows 4 Hits As Balieboro Wins

Behind the four-hit pitching of Brent Dawson, Bailieboro turned back Welcome 5-1 recently in a South Durham baseball league game. Bailieboro is now tied with Newcastle for the league leadership.

The game was highlighted by spectacular catches by Bailieboro players, Ross Johnston and Alex Jackson. Neil Thompson had a perfect night at the plate for Bailieboro with two hits and a walk in three trips to the plate.

Welcome scored its lone run in the top of the first but Bailieboro matched it in its half. In the third inning Bailieboro added another run and then in the fourth and fifth three more runs to end the scoring.

Lineups:

Welcome White ss, Beebe gf, Elliott 1b, Mills 2b, Sleaman rf, Irwin c, Holman lf, Holdaway 3b, Chaniere p, Kelly replaced Beebe in 5th; Williams replaced Irwin in the 4th.

Bailieboro: M. Lord ss, N. Thompson 3b, Hie cf, G. Lord c, Dawson p, Greer 1b, Jackson 2b, C. Dawson rf.

WEST LOS ANGELES, June 18 (AP)—Actress Rhonda Fleming last night reported $12,000 worth of jewelry was stolen from her home yesterday.

Should Stand For Something Minister Tells Orangemen

The First Commandment, "Thou shalt have no other gods before me," was the text chosen by the Rev. Ivan C. Morgan in his sermon to approximately 200 members of the Orange Order attending the annual church parade at Murray Street Baptist Church Sunday evening.

Mr. Morgan stated that it should always be remembered that the Orange Order stood for something and not against something. Members of the lodge should therefore have a positive rather than a negative approach. This positive approach should follow the words of Christ, "Thou shalt worship the Lord thy God," which should always be incorporated in what the lodge stands for — the principles of Protestantism.

All Represented

All the lodges in the Peterborough West district were represented at the church parade. In addition representatives attended from Belmont, Fraserville, Emily, Omemee and Havelock lodges.

Rt. Wor. Bro. Morgan Brown read the Scripture at the service.

Soloist for the service was Mrs. Stanley Northrop, who sang "This Is My Prayer."

The parade was led to the church and following the service to the war memorial by the Salvation Army Band.

County Master Gordon Trennum laid the wreath. Also in the wreath-bearing party were Deputy County Master Ralph Langley, Deputy Grand Mistress of LOBA Mrs. W. G. P. Benton, and Junior Deputy Grand Mistress Miss Rose Sexsmith.

Chinese Drive Back Royals, But Cost High

By BILL BOSS.

WITH THE CANADIANS IN KOREA, June 18 (CP). — Mount Kakhul, a 1,500-foot, humpbacked crest southeast of Chorwon, changed hands twice that day.

The fighting represented the first major engagement with the Chinese for the 2nd Battalion Royal Regiment, and Kakhul was a bitter pill to hand back to them.

Sheer weight of numbers did it.

But the battle May 30, in which the Canadians exacted a better than 50-to-1 toll in dead alone, proved to them that their long months of training had been well spent.

Their two-mile gain from Unchon to Chail, villages in a little valley gateway to the Chorwon Plains, and their possession of Kakhul, were brief. But they did now allow vastly superior numbers to force them back before killing at least 300 of the enemy —possibly 500—at a cost, for the whole action, of six killed and 24 wounded.

Plan Simple

The plan was simple. While other companies deployed forward in the valley, clearing with artillery, flame and grenades through the villages of Chokhyon and Songjong to Chail, one under Major Harry Boates of Glace Bay and Westville, NS, would tackle the mountain. The attack was launched only after the front was rolled back well north of its reaches on to the plain.

The summit was almost within his grasp before Boates was stymied.

Leap-frogging his platoons — under Lieuts. Jim Cowan of Toronto, John Woods of Ottawa, and Don Stickland of Paris, Ont. — he had jockeyed them under fire around the first of Kakhul's two crests where suddenly they were pinned down by Chinese machine-gunners from the second, 100 yards north.

Just 100 yards, but to reach it meant descending a gully and scaling its sheer forward slope.

Determined to deny the Canadians access to the Chorwon Plains—to which Kakhul was virtually the key — the enemy opened up with mortar and artillery fire.

In pelting rain and with no high ground for observation, it was obvious that he was firing from guns previously dug in and ranged.

Heavy Shelling

For three hours he maintained one of the heaviest shellings to which any United Nations troops have been subjected in the threatre—working over the whole valley and mountain in a bombardment not seen by this correspondent since some of the more memorable German lacings of the Second World War.

The RCR in the little plain held ground. Equally steadily the RCR on the mountain tried to pry loose those few machine-gunners.

Woods' platoon could not get close enough to throw grenades, the only way to take them out.

Thinking that perhaps a bazooka team might be able to launch a rocket successfully, Woods detailed Pte. H. B. McCutcheon of New Toronto and Pte. R. B. Howlett of Woodstock, to go out protected by Bren machine-gunners led by Ptes. H. D. Dowling of Halifax and C. D. Bell of Sussex, NB.

The men could not get at the enemy. On their little plateau up there the Chinese had all the angles covered.

Woods sent out a six-man patrol under Pte. G. E. Gallinger of Ottawa to sneak around the crest.

All the while mortar and artillery fire was raining down. Stickland's platoon was only one-third effective. Boates shortly afterward suffered a shrapnelled leg. Cowan took over the company.

(The Army reported June 6 that Major Boates, whose wife, Nellie Anne Boates, lives at Hopewll, Pictou County, NS, had been wounded in action.)

Spot Reinforcements

Gallinger's patrol was the first to spot the reinforcements the enemy was hurling in. They were resting, confident that they could not be seen.

"Gosh they were nonchalant," said Gallinger.

The patrol killed the four closest Chinese and then worked its way back to the woods.

By then it was pressure on all fronts. Down in the valley and up on the hill the Chinese advanced in their hundreds. So a withdrawal was order — two miles, back to the morning's start line.

While Stickland organized the evacuation of dead, wounded and ammunition by Koreans, Woods and a rearguard held at bay the advancing hordes. Stickland had Pte. John Odell of Saint John, NB, help him while Woods' right hand was Cpl. B. G. Orton of Toronto.

It was dusk and they were shivering with cold before the RCR was reorganized on its positions two miles back.

Give-and-Take

Best killing had been by a company under Major Dick Medland, Toronto, out front leading the advance. Worst casualties from the shelling were by another under Maj. Don Duncan of Hamilton, which held steady right behind Medland. Also at both the giving-out and receiving ends was a company under Maj. Jack Peterson of St. Thomas and formerly of Peterborough.

His uniform soaked, his hands rippled by the ceaseless rains, Lieut. Wellington Hamilton of Niagara Fals, Ont., could barely hold the cigaret extended to him in the rain.

Puffing hard to keep the moist tissue burning, he summed up the battle:

"They were shooting at us. We were catching hell. But we had lots of targets and shot right back. Then the targets began getting thicker—and closer. Soon it was too many targets. Too many men with too many weapons against us and we had to fight our way back."

Professor Fired

MINNEAPOLIS, June 18 (AP)—Dr. Joseph W. Weinburg, the House of Representatives Un-American Activities Committee's "Scientist X," Saturday was dismissed as assistant professor of physics at the University of Minnesota. The House committee in 1949 named Weinburg as the "Scientist X," alleged to have transmitted atomic secrets to Communist agents during the war. Weinburg, then employed at the Atomic Radiation Laboratory at the University of California, denied the charges.

Find Woman's Body In Rooming House

CALGARY, June 18 (CP) — The body of a 32-year-old woman, Mrs. Elizabeth Simpson, was found Sunday lying in a pool of blood on a bed in a downtown rooming house.

Three men, including the woman's estranged husband, Stanley Simpson, were being held by police Sunday night as material witnesses.

The other two are Peter Bondzuk, who police said has been living with Mrs. Simpson, and Martin Shewchuk of High River, Alta.

Security Police Investigate Trip To Korea

TOKYO, June 18 (Reuters)—Informed sources said British security police flew to Korea Saturday with orders to find out how a young Englishwoman managed to smuggle herself from Japan to within 30 miles of the battlefront and visit her soldier husband.

Earlier this week, Mrs. Margaret Lasseter, 27, was found staying at Chosun Sun Hotel in Seoul, battered Korean capital. Earlier she had been reported missing from the Tokyo hotel where she had taken a room after arriving from France on a tourist visa. She stayed in Korea three days until military authorities flew her back to Japan.

Mrss. Lesseter refused to give away her secret. All she would say was: "I got there through an American-Commonwealth conspiracy involving air forces and armies."

She said she would leave Tokyo Monday for the French Riviera, to rejoin her 7-year-old son.

Climb City Hall Roof To Attend Meeting

LONDON, Ont., June 18 (CP) A determined parks superintendent and a policeman scrambled up a fire escape to the roof of city hall Saturday to get to a meeting of Ontario parks authorities being held three floors below.

They gained entry to the building through a window of a penthouse housing elevator machinery.

William Oaks, parks superintendent of New Toronto, found city hall locked when he arrived late.

Charge Confiscation

MONTEVIDEO, Uruguay, June 18 (AP)—Dr. Alberto Gainza Paz, former director of the expropriated Buenos Aires newspaper La Prensa, Saturday accused the Argentine government of trying to "confiscate" the paper by creating a fantastic debt. President Juan D. Perron's government gave the paper three days in which to pay 32,000,000 pesos ($2,270,000) in back claims for duty on newsprint imports. La Prensa has been closed since January.

2,000 At Shrine

MIDLAND, June 18 (CP). — More than 2,000 worshippers on Sunday attended the first of the silver jubilee celebrations of the Martyrs' Shrine Church. Largest group of visitors, 539 in all, came from St. Peter's Cathedral in London, Ont. Other busloads came from Toronto, Kitchener, and Kingsville parishes.

Would Aid Employment

TORONTO, June 18 (CP) — Walter Reuther, international president of the United Automobile Workers (CIO) said Sunday night his union's proposal of a guaranteed annual wage would stimulate full employment. "If they have to pay us for the full year, they'll find jobs for us," he told 400 members of the union's Toronto area locals.

Urges Building Reserve Of Executives

LONDON (CP) — Fred Lee, Parliamentary secretary to the Ministry of Labour, has called on the British trade union movement to build up its own reserve of executive talent to meet the demands of nationalized industry.

In his challenge, addressed to the General Federation of Trade Unions, Mr. Lee suggested labor leaders and educational authorities should get together without delay and draw up an industrial training scheme, as a starter.

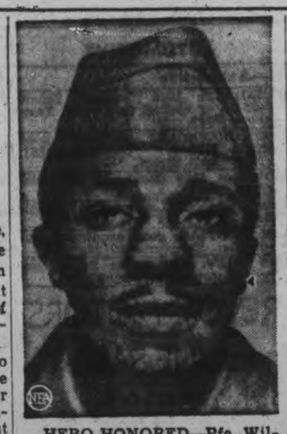
Under the plan, workers showing above-average ability and executive promise at summer schools or other classes could be selected for more advanced training in universities and technical colleges.

Must Create Pool

He contended it was the duty of those entrusted with the appointment of men to positions of responsibility in nationalized industries, to create a pool of able, efficient candidates.

"At present," he said, "the Trades Union Congress has no list of qualified persons they can nominate for such positions.

"I believe that until the trade union movement remedies this basic defect any conception of the workers enjoying greater control of industry will remain a mere dream of the future."



He added that the ministries of Labor and Education stood ready to place their experience and assistance at the disposal of the trade unions in organizing a workable scheme.

Medical Men Meet

MONTREAL, June 18 (CP).—Some 1,500 medical men are expected to gather here today for the 82nd annual five-day meeting of the Canadian Medical Association. Delegates will be from across Canada and a number of other countries. They will discuss medical economics, civil defence, international medicine, medical education, public relations, ethics and other matters.

Shelve Resolution

KINGSTON, June 18 (CP).—Cutting off of county grants to institutions using margarine was suggested in a resolution by the Ontario Concentrated Milk Producers' Association read to the Frontenac County Council Saturday Warden John Keyes said he thought the resolution went "a little bit too far" and the Council shelved it.

2 Freighters Damaged In River Collision

CORNWALL, June 18 (CP) — Two ferighters were damaged Sunday when they collided in the St. Lawrence river 18 miles west of here.

Both vessels are awaiting salvage crews from Kingston, due to arrive today.

The freighters were the Cartier Doc of the Patterson Steamship Company and the Shelton Weed of the Upper Lakes and St. Lawrence Transportation Company.

The collision, opposite Farran's Point, is believed to have resulted from a jammed steering gear on one of the vessels.

Won't Go To School Allowance Cut Off

AYR, Ont., June 18 (CP) — A 15-year-old Ayr schoolgirl, planning to get married June 30, told the truant officer she was too busy preparing her trousseau to go to school.

He promptly wrote to Ottawa and told authorities to cut off the family allowance paid the girl's mother.

A baby bonus ruling states a child must attend school to be eligible for payment.

Escape Hospital

SMITHS FALLS, June 18 (CP) —Two men escaped Sunday from a mental institution on the outskirts of town.

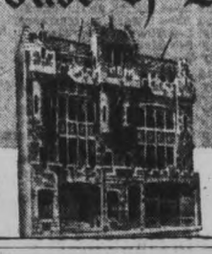
Plan To Restore Church Where Wolfe Buried

LONDON (CP)—Burned out by Nazi fire bombs in March, 1941, historic St. Alfege church in Greenwich, where King Henry VIII was baptized and General Wolfe lies buried, is to be restored to its ancient beauty.

Work is already in progress on the roof and other parts of the badly - damaged structure, but additional funds are needed to rebuild and refurnish the interior. Before the bombs struck, St. Alfege was one of the show places of the Greenwich area and was famed for its elaborate works by the master carver, Grinling Gibbons.

Extensive work is also to be undertaken in restoring the special corner set aside in memory of the hero of the Plains of Abraham. Before he departed on his Canadian expedition, General Wolfe lived in Greenwich. His Canadian battle flags and memorial plaque were destroyed by the German incendiaries which left nothing but the four scarred walls of the church standing.

Public Appeal



The Rev. G. S. Nason, rector of the church, said a public appeal for £9,000 would be launched and suggested support might be sought in Canada and other parts of the Commonwealth. If adequate funds are forthcoming, he hopes the work of restoration will be completed by the end of 1952.

The present church was rebuilt in 1718 on the ruins of the first St. Alfege, dating back to the 11th century. Thomas Tallis, master of the King's music during the reigns of Henry VIII, Edward VI, Queen Mary and Queen Elizabeth, was buried in 1585 under the chancel of the old church.

3 smart girls AND THEIR 3 SMART PLANS

There's hardly a girl—business or homebody—who doesn't wish she could feel secure about her financial future.

READ THE EXPERIENCES OF MARY, JOAN AND PEGGY—

Mary said: "One of these days I'm going to stop teaching school, and I've lots of things I want to do when that day comes. What's more, I'll not have to worry about money. Why? Because I have a Dominion Life Income Policy that will mature just when I want it. I'll get a cheque month-in-and-month-out for the rest of my life. It's a wonderful feeling when I think how easily and certainly I'm creating an income that guarantees my financial security for as long as I live."

Joan agreed: "You're right, Mary. I have a Life Insurance Savings Plan, too. I'm looking forward to the day when I can sit down and write all the stories I have in mind, without having to worry about selling them. To ME, that's freedom. Besides, it makes Mother feel so secure as well, now that Daddy has gone. She knows that if anything should happen to me she will be taken care of just as I take care of her now."

Peggy added: (Peggy is married and there's a much-adored 3-year-old Jon Jr., who is the light of her life.) "And I know all about it, too, because my Dominion Life Endowment not only protects me, but makes sure that my Jon will get the university training I want him to have no matter what happens. Of course, we may not actually need it for that. Perhaps it might set Jon up in business later. Who knows? It can take care of so MANY things. It's such a wonderful feeling of security for tomorrow and all the tomorrows."

New Soldiers Better Murphy Believes

By BOB THOMAS

HOLLYWOOD, June 18 (AP)—"New soldiers are better," observes Audie Murphy. "They don't fade away."

Murphy came up with this comment after returning from army duty for a film role in "The Cimarron Kid."

"I think today's army is better," he said. "Sure, the average soldier is a heck of a lot younger. But there are enough officers and NCO's with combat experience to give them the know-how. That's what we didn't have in the last war—enough leaders with experience."

Murphy, who won more medals than any other American soldier in the Second World War, added that the new soldiers are better trained. Training methods have improved through the experiences of the Second World War.

"In the last war," he said, "we got 13 weeks of basic training and then were sent right into the front lines. In most cases the training period is unlimited now . . ."

He added that conditions seemed to be better for enlisted men in the new army. "They don't have to salute officers off the post, for example," he observed.

Murphy will return for another tour of duty with the army in August.

Five Men Live In Arctic 4 Years Radio Only Contact With People

By CLARKE BEACH

WASHINGTON, June 18 (AP)—Five men were set down by plane in the Canadian Arctic four years ago in a place farther north than any person had ever lived permanently.

They established the Eureka Sound weather station, operated jointly by the Canadian and United States governments. Through reports continually being radioed from there and other Arctic stations US and Canadian scientists hope some day to be able to make accurate long-range forecasts.

Nobody has any money at Eureka. There's nothing to buy, and the governments pay all living expenses. For the most part the men just have their cheques sent directly to their banks.

The lowest annual salary, for cooks and mechanics, is $5,000, including bonus pay. Bonuses are $100 a month for living in the Arctic stations and an additional $100 paid during the four months of winter darkness.

No Eskimos live as far north as Eureka. The station is on Ellesmere Island, 850 miles north of the Arctic Ocean and 650 miles south of the Pole.

Little Mail

Mail is dropped from planes on Christmas Day and two or three other times during the winter. No mail leaves the station except during the spring airlift and when an icebreaker manages to sail there. Some years the icebreaker comes, some years it doesn't.

The big time of the year is the spring airlift, when a change of personnel and new supplies are brought in by successive flights of planes landing on the ice. They wait until March or April for this, because that is when the ice is thickest—about 100 inches—and flying weather is best. Flights continue off and on until the ice rots in June.

Eight men normally make up the station personnel—three meteorologists, a radio technician, two mechanics, a clerk and a cook. Everybody shares in the housework. And everybody helps on such projects as repairing machinery.

Radio Entertainment

Radio is the chief entertainment. Amateur radio operators throughout the world arrange conversations between the men and their families. The "hams" get a man's wife on long distance telephone and hook up the phone and radio.

The first of the Arctic weather stations was established by Denmark and the US at Thule, on the northwest coast of Greenland, in 1946.

On April 8, 1947, a party of five men was landed on the ice at Eureka.

Since then four more Canadian-

One of them, Alert, is 200 miles farther north than Eureka, but is not so cold. Alert is on the Arctic Ocean, and large bodies of water have a moderating influence on the weather.

Foot Bridge Solves Schoolboy's Problem

GOFTON FORD, Northumberland, England —(CP)— Douglas Nelson, a shepherd's son, will long remember his sixth birthday. It was the day Northumberland county council decided to build a foot bridge across the river Tyne to speed him on his way to school.

Before that decision was reached Douglas faced a real problem for a little fellow. Living in a cottage near the river the lad faced the prospect of wading daily across the 15-foot stream with his shoes in hand or detouring for many miles.

A meeting of the county council was called to consider his plight. A survey was ordered, plans were quickly approved and the special bridge was all set in time for Douglas' school-qualifying birthday.

Says Dutch Immigrants Happy In Canada

TORONTO —(CP)— A kind of religious truant officer is going back to Holland happy over his visit to Canada.

The Rev. W. J. Schouten came here to find out two things: are the 55,000 Dutch immigrants happy in Canada? and are they still going to church? He is going home satisfied on both counts.

Asked concerning his findings, he smiled and said:

"My people, now your people, are happy. They tell me they would never return to the country of their birth, despite the fact that they still love it."

As each of the new settlers landed in Canada he was handed a Dutch-English copy of the Bible, from the Reform Church of America.

Drunk Driving Laws Being Tightened Use New Evidence

OTTAWA, June 19. (CP) — The Government disclosed today that it is tightening the laws against drunken driving by allowing the use of chemical analysis as evidence of intoxication in court trials. Under present law, chemical tests are not allowed as evidence. The Criminal Code now is being amended to permit the result of a chemical analysis of a sample of blood, breath or other bodily substance to be used as evidence "on the issue whether that person was intoxicated or under the influence of a narcotic drug or whether his ability to drive was impaired by alcohol or a drug."

However, the amendment also will provide that no one is under obligation to give a sample for such analysis.

New Offence

The amendment also will provide a new offence in the drunken driving category—that of driving or having the care and control of a motor vehicle while "his ability to drive is impaired by alcohol or drug."

This will be distinct from the present charge of "driving while intoxicated or under the influence of a narcotic" and will be considered a less serious offence.

It will permit convictions in cases where it can not be proved that an accused is intoxicated, but where it can be proved that his ability to drive was "impaired" by alcohol.

Upon conviction, this offence will draw a fine of from $50 to $500 or a prison term of not more than three months, or both fine and imprisonment.

Punishment for subsequent convictions will be imprisonment of from 14 to 30 months for a second offence and from three months to a year for each subsequent offence.

11,000 Jam Church, Square At Mass Funeral

MONTREAL, June 19—(CP)—Montrealers, about 11,000 of them, jammed Notre Dame church and historic Place d'Armes in front of it, to pay final, sorrowing tribute today to the 35 persons who died in Friday's destruction by fire of Ste. Cunegonde hospice.

About 6,000 were able to get into the twin-spired old church in Montreal's heart of the business dsitrict. The rest stood elbow-to-elbow in the square where once Montreal marshalled her militiamen for defence training.

Around and above this Place d'Armes crowd places of business flew flags at half-mast while inside the church Msgr. Paul-Emile Leger, Roman Catholic archbishop of Montreal held the special funeral mass, assisted by eight priests.

In the front of the church 150 members of the Grey Nuns Order sat in a body. All of the top dignitaries of the Roman Catholic church in Montreal were on hand. Mayor Camillien Houde occupied a seat in the first pew.

Hundreds Standing

At the back of the church several hundred people, unable to gain seats, stood or knelt.

Outside Notre Dame a crowd of 1,500 to 2,000 gathered in the square while the service was going on.

The procession out of Notre Dame church began with 50 boy scouts and wolf cubs, members of the Hospice Ste. Cunegonde troop and pack, leading the way.

At this time it was estimated by police that perhaps as many as 5,000 people were jammed into historic Place d'Armes. Some 6,000 persons were inside in the church.

As the bodies reached the street all work had stopped in the large office buildings facing Place d'Armes. Workers swarmed to office windows and even lined the edges of the roof to watch the scene.

In his funeral oration, Msgr. Leger said that the victims were an eloquent proof of Christ's warning that death comes as "a thief in the night."

Ask House Pass Grants This Session

Universities and CBC Get Interim Aid Government Expects

OTTAWA, June 19. (CP)—Prime Minister St. Laurent announced today that the Government has decided to ask parliament at this session to vote Federal grants to universities and to approve an interim grant to the CBC.

The grants to universities will amount to approximately 50 cents per capita of estimated population—about $7,500,000. The total will be divided among the provinces in proportion to their population. Within the provinces the division among the institutions will be in proportion to their enrollment of students at university level.

He did not indicate how much the interim grant to the CBC will total.

The grants will be provided through supplementary estimates to be submitted to the Commons before adjournment of the present session, expected on June 30.

Interim Action

Mr. St. Laurent said in the Commons that the decision to make the grants was reached after preliminary examination of the recommendations in the report of the Royal Commission on Arts and Sciences. Aid to universities and to the CBC were two matters on which it was felt that, "interim action should be taken at the present session."

The CBC "has for some time been faced with the serious problem of attempting to meet rising costs from a relatively fixed income," he said.

"In order, therefore, to tide the corporation over until appropriate legislative provision can be considered, an interim grant will be proposed in the supplementary estimates shortly to be presented by the Minister of Finance. This grant will be designed to cover

Jumps Out Of Taxi Cab Taking Him To Hospital When Driver Reports Case

Toronto Man Found In Lane Charged With Murder After Fight Which Took Place On Busy Yonge St. Tram

TORONTO, June 19. (CP)—A 33-year-old man collapsed and died today after being stabbed on a street car. George Hobbs staggered from the car at busy Yonge and Bloor Streets and died as he attempted to flee from a taxi which was going to take him to hospital. Police said Hobbs had a record for theft. He was also known as Mulholland. He made his dash from the taxi when the radio dispatcher instructed the driver to await the arrival of police.

Ralph Lomax, found in a lane in the area, was arrested and charged with murder. Police said he declined to give a statement. They found a bloodstained pocket knife in the lane.

Hobbs died of two wounds in the neck—one at the Adam's apple and one behind the ear.

Bleeding At Throat

The street car conductor reported that when the two men left the car about 6 a.m., he noticed one bleeding from the throat.

Taxi driver Joe Lowry said Hobbs came up to his cab at 6:15 and he asked if he was badly hurt. Hobbs got into the cab and Lowry sent word by radio to his office for police. The dispatcher replied police would be there in 30 seconds. When Hobbs heard that, he left the cab. Lowry overtook him, got him back in the cab and then police arrived.

Hobbs died in the police cruiser on the way to hospital.

It was Toronto's second slaying in two weeks. On June 6 Mrs. Edwin Derkison was killed with a hatchet in her Yonge Street hardware store. Police say no solution is in sight for this slaying.

Hint Ottawa May Aid Car Industry

WINDSOR, June 19 (CP). — A hint that the Federal Government may aid Canada's hard-pressed automobile industry was given today by Health Minister Martin. Mr. Martin's assurance came in the form of a letter to the Sandwich East township council in reply to a resolution it passed last week calling on the government to loosen credit restrictions which the industry says are cutting sharply into its operations.

"The government is studying the whole anti-inflation program very carefully," Mr. Martin wrote. "If it is seen that the restrictions are working out harshly and to the detriment of any particular section of Canadian industry it is possible that toward the end of the summer a review will result in some easing all around."

Lay Off 12,000

Ontario's motor industry is planning to lay off more than 12,000 men as a result of what motor-car makers say is a Canada-wide slump in sales resulting from recent credit restrictions.

Many of the workers will be left idle for an indefinite time.

RC Archbishop Goes On Trial

BUDAPEST Hungary, June 19 (AP). — Archbishop Boszeph Grosz, 64, highest ranking Roman Catholic prelate in Hungary since the imprisonment of Joszeph Cardinal Mindszenty, goes on trial Friday on charges of plotting against the Communist government, black market currency dealings helping persons to flee this country and other offences.

This was announced in the Budapest press today, in a government indictment against the Archbishop and eight others. The indictment said all "confessed."

Among the others is Dr. Elajos Pongracy, a Hungarian employee of the United States information service in Budapest.

Marquis Of Blandford Weds Princess' Friend

LONDON, June 19—(Reuters) British newspapers today splashed the engagement of the handsome young Marquis of Blandford —who had been high on the eligible list as Princess Margaret's future husband—not to the Princess but to a friend of hers, a commoner.

The 25-year-old Marquis will marry Susan Hornby, 21.

The Marquis, a Captain in the Life Guards, has been considered one of Britain's most eligible young bachelors and often dated the Princess. He is heir to one of the country's greatest titles and fortunes.

Miss Hornsby was a guest of the during the fashionable Ascot Race meeting last week. Her father, Michael Hornsby, is a director of W. H. Smith and Son, a chain of bookshops and newsstands.

UK Bans Goods To Red China

LONDON, June 19 — (AP) — Britain announced today she is taking steps to block all shipments of strategic goods to Communist China through the crown colony of Hong Kong.

Sir Hartley Shawcross, president of the Board of Trade, told the Comomns that all exports from the United Kingdom to Hong Kong and China will go under licensing control next Tuesday. No licences will be granted for "goods which in the present circumstances could be of strategic and military importance."

Britain previously banned the export of rubber to Communist China.

Trying To Force UK Co-operation

TEHRAN, Iran, June 19 (AP)—Premier Mohammed Mossadegh appealed to United States Ambassador Henry F. Grady today to try to persuade British authorities to co-operate in Iran's nationalization of oil.

The ailing Premier called Grady to his bedside for a talk a few hours before what may be the peak of the oil crisis in this sensitive spot at Russia's side door.

London reports said the British-owned Anglo-Iranian Oil Company will come forward tonight with an offer of £10,000,000 in answer to Iran's cash demands. This is short of Iran's demands for 75 per cent of the oil profits since March, plus a deposit of the remaining 25 per cent to meet the company's possible compensation with government officials at 8 p.m., the deadline Iran set for satisfaction of her demands.

(Reuters News Agency said that British Ambassador Sir Francis Shepherd took the unusual step of calling on the Shah of Iran himself today to tell him of the British reply.)

King Cancels Visit To Wales In July

LONDON, June 19—(Reuters) —The king now convalescing from inflammation of the lung, today cancelled a two-day visit to Wales scheduled for next month.

The queen will carry out the planned program on her own.

It includes a visit to Cardiff July 18 for Festival of Britain celebrations.

The king Thursday night approved the itinerary of next's year's royal visit to Australia and New Zealand, indicating his doctors' belief that he will be fit enough by then to undertake the arduous tour.

There had been widespread speculation since his recent attack of influenze and during his present prolonged convalscence that the tour might again be postponed.

UN Jet Pilots Win Third Big Air Battle

TOKYO, June 19 (AP). — For the third straight day American pilots today beat Communist airmen in a big jet battle over northwestern Korea. United States Sabre jets damaged four Russian-type MIG-15's Tuesday as Allied infantrymen knocked North Koreans off key ridges on the eastern battlefront. On the sea fronts United Nations warships silenced a challenge by accurate Communist shore batteries. Twenty-seven Sabre jets battled 30 Red jets on Tuesday in the most evenly-matched of the current air fights. They ran their three-day score of six Red jets shot down, 12 damaged.

The battle spread over a wide area around Sonchon, 35 miles from the Manchurian border. It was the deepest recent penetration of Korea by Red jets in force.

The Fifth Air Force did not say, as it usually does, that all Sabre jets returned safely from Tuesday's air battle.

Heavy Barrage

North Koreans opened up with a terrific artillery barrage in an effort to halt Allied infantrymen in the east. But UN troops drove ahead two miles in their deepest penetration of that front this year and straightened Allied battle lines.

Fierce fighting broke out when the advance carried the Allies to the crest of a ridge line looking down on a Red supply area. A see-saw battle broke out and was the only noteworthy action along the front. It was still underway Tuesday night.

The dominating ridge changed hands six times in the afternoon.

Heavy Red artillery and mortar fire burst at tree-top level along the wooded hills. UN artillery roared back.

The ridges, reached in a pincer movement earlier in the day, form the southern rim of a punch

Breaking out in a pincers movement on an otherwise quiet front they captured heights looking down on a punchbowl valley the Reds have used as a supply and assembly centre.

The drive carried Allies within artillery range of a mountain

1,000 Men Search Bushland For Missing Quebec Boy 5

ST. GUY, Que., June 19. (CP)—Upwards of 1,000 men, assisted by army technicians and professional guides, gathered today in the bushland near this backwoods village at the southern confines of Rimouski county in an all-out effort to find alive little Alain Boucher.

Hope that the five-year-old boy, missing since Friday, survives has lessened but is not gone. Men arrived in bus loads from more than a dozen villages and towns and from as far as Rimouski, 65 miles away.

Technicians and men of the Royal 22nd Regiment came from Quebec with radio equipment. Reserve units of this lower St. Lawrence region joined them.

Cover 30 Miles

The army organized crews of searchers led by guides and sent them 30 miles out in all directions to form a vast circle which would move in gradually towards the point, near the home of Settler Paul Boucher, where the boy vanished.

The wives and daughters of settlers in the area, who have turned out thousands of meals since the boy's disappearance four days ago, worked ceaselessly preparing enormous amounts of food —all donated by the Red Cross.

The search was reminiscent of the search two summers ago through the eastern townships area of Eastman, Que., for Michel Fontaine, a six-year-old son of a farmer. This scouring of the country went on for days under army direction and with thousands of searchers involved. In the end the lad was found to have drowned in a shallow pond near his father's house.

Kitchener To Press For Housing Units

KITCHENER, June 19—(CP)— City council Monday night decided to press for a rental housing units under the plan announced last week by Premier Frost, and in which the municipality bears 7½ per cent of the cost.

Kitchener's housing situation is bad in the rental field, it was pointed out. The old army training centre at Knollwood Park is falling to ruin and there is no substitute rental accommodation for the 70 families involved.

Cobbler Baron Reaches Quebec

QUEBEC, June 19 (CP). —Sir Garnet Wolseley arrived here on Monday night aboard the Empress of France on his way to Brantford, where he hopes to find a job, and settle down with his bride of 10 months.

Sir Garnet a cobbler for six years in the Cheshire village of Walseley, near Liverpool, took over a 200-year-old Irish title 12 months ago, giving him the right to sit in the House of Lords in Westminster but without properties or revenues.

An uncle of Lady Wolseley, Andrew Ellison of Brantford, recently visited the couple, married last August and urged them to come to Canada.

"We were told there was opportunity in Canada," the husky Baronet said as he sat in his first class cabin in shirt sleeves. "And we made up our minds to come."

Sir Garnet and Lady Wolseley, both 36, haven't made up their minds about what they're going to do yet but they intend to live with Mr. Ellison until they can find or build a home of their own.

Russian Authorities Approve 600 Permits

BERLIN, June 19. (AP)—Russian zone authorities approved 600 permits for West Berlin exports today, indicating the announced settlement of the east-west transport squabble already is taking effect.

The permits were sent back to stamped, allowing goods to cross the Russian zone to west European markets.

The West Berlin city hall announced Monday night that East and West German authorities had agreed to resume conversations on a master trade agreement between the two occupational areas.

The agreement came after an implied threat by the Western Allies to embargo shipments of key industrial goods from West Berlin to the Soviet zone.

10-Year Prison Term In Sabotage Cases

OTTAWA, June 19 — (CP).— A prison term of 10 years is provided for anyone convicted of sabotaging equipment of the armed forces under a new offence being put into law under the Criminal Code.

This was disclosed today as the Commons gave first reading to a series of amendments to the Code.

The 10-year term is applicable to any one who commits sabotprejudicial to the safety or interests of Canada or the safety or security of the forces of any other state that are lawfully present in this country, such as the forces of the United States.

Under the new offence, sabotage will be an act which impairs the efficiency or impedes the working order of any vessel, vehicle, aircraft machinery or other equipment.

A Warm Reception

TORONTO, June 19 — (CP) — The temperature hit 85 in Toronto Monday. Queen's Park employees sizzled. The heating system was going full blast. Nobody knew why.

Canada Signs Pact Agreement

OTTAWA, June 19 —(CP)— Prime Minister St. Laurent announced today Canada has signed an agreement laying down the rules that will govern the forces of any Atlantic Pact country when they are serving in another pact country.

The agreement will affect Canada in two ways. It outlines the laws and regulations that will govern the conduct and rights of American, British, French and other servicemen training here. It also lays down similar rules for Canadians who go to Europe.

It does not, Mr. St. Laurent told the Commons, have anything to do with whether and what troops are sent abroad or who is to command them. It simply establishes the law for military units once they reach an Allied country.

The so-called agreement between the parties to the North Atlantic Treaty regard the status of their forces or, in abbreviated form, the NATO forces agreement was signed in London today.

Frost Names Committee To Improve Phone System

TORONTO, June 19 —(CP)— First step to institute a survey of Ontario's telephone needs—with rural lines receiving emphasis — was taken today when Premier Frost announced the appointment of a committee for the purpose of improving and co-ordinating the communications system of the province.

The premier said that the committee would be made up of chairman Robert Saunders of the Hydro Commission; Hon. George Challies, vice-chairman of the commission; Hydro Commissioner Strike; R. E. Smythe and H. A. Rogers.

Mr. Smythe is a consulting engineer who has made a study of rural telephone problems. Mr. Rogers is executive secretary of the Canadian Independent Telephone Association.

The committee has already held meetings and at present is engaged in setting up a staff to make surveys. A sub committee will be appointed made up of financial and technical experts recruited from the communications section of the Hydro Commission, the Department of Lands and Forests and the Ontario Northland Railway.

The premier said that the 500 rural telephone systems are being requested to co-operate with the committee. He said that the committee's survey would be carried out in conjunction with the existing telephone companies in the province.

"They all have their problems and we want to bring them into partnership" said the premier, "we wan to get their ideas on what can be done to improve the communications of the province."

Will Allow Police To Tap Telephones As Amendment Made In Criminal Code

OTTAWA, June 19—(CP) — The Criminal Code is being amended to allow police to "tap" telephones in places suspected of being gaming or betting houses, it was disclosed today as the Commons gave first reading to a series of alterations in the code.

The amendment will permit the issue of a warrant to enable police "to observe" visually or by means of mechanical apparatus, the operaton of telephones" in suspected premises.

However, the law will not permit the police to listen to conversations made over the suspected telephones. They will be allowed only to record the telephone numbers of any telephones to which calls are made from the telephone specified in the warrant.

This will be done by means of recording equipment installed by the telephone company in its central office to which the suspected telephone is directly connected.

Nor can the police require that the officers or employees of the telephone company listen to the telephone conversations passing through that office.

Firemen Pay Tribute 4 Peterborough Men

HAMILTON, June 19—(CP)— Firemen from 50 Ontario municipalities marched through the city's dowtown area today to pay tribute to their fallen comrades. More than 200 fire fighters—in Hamilton to attend the annual fire-fighters' convention — took part in the ceremonies.

Three wreaths were placed on the Cenotaph.

Special mention was made at the remembrance service of the three firemen and one volunteer fire-fighter who lost their lives in the May 19 fire in Peterborough.

Wider Representation Given On Hydro Advisory Board

TORONTO, June 19 (CP). — Premier Frost today implemented legislation creating an advisory committee that will give all walks of life representation in the affairs of the Ontario Hydro-Electric Power Commission.

The new advisory board, long mooted as a means of bringing the operations and administration of the commission closer to the people of Ontario, comprises members of municipal systems, the home and the press.

"The magnitude of Hydro's operations and its influence on the daily life of the people make it imperative that the commission should have the benefit of all viewpoints," said the Premier.

"The fact that five members of the board are identified with municipal hydro systems is recognition of the co-operative character of the publicly-owned enterprise."

Members will sit on the board for two years or other periods the government may deem advisable and will be paid on a daily basis. They will select their own chairman.

Appointed to the board are D. P. Cliff, Dundas, president of the Ontario Municipal Association; M. W. Rogers, manager of the Carleton Place Utilities Commission; C. H. Moore, chairman of the Fort William Hydro Commission; and J. C. Keith, general manager of the Windsor Public Utilities Commission.

J. P. Mather, Toronto manufacturer and formerly identified with the Wartime Prices and Trade Board; A. F. Macarthur representing labor interests. Grattan O'Leary, associate editor of the Ottawa Journal, the press; Mayor Marjory Hamilton, Barrie, the women of Ontario, and John C. Brodrick, St. Catharines, agriculture.

End Strike In Detroit, No Increase

Walkout Lasted For 59 Days Setting US Record

DETROIT, June 19. (AP)—Detroit's street cars and buses rolled again today after settlement of the longest major municipal transit strike in American history.

The AFL's 3,500 trolley-car and bus drivers—off the job for 59 days—restored service to defence-busy Detroit with their wage issue still unsettled.

Promptly at 5 a.m. EDT the big fleet of street cars and buses went back to duty. It serves a metropolitan area of approximately 2,500,000 residents.

Strikers roared their approval of a return to work Monday at a union mass meeting of 2,500. Their wage issue will be turned over to mediation. If that fails within 30 days, the dispute will go to binding arbitration.

The Motor City had taken the strike virtually in stride.

Suffered Little

Downown business was reported to have suffered only a limited degree. The riding public, which goes to a peak load of 1,000,000 passengers a day, shifted for itself with hitch-hiking and ride-sharing.

In the background lay a series of bitter court fights over Michigan's statute outlawing strikes of public employees.

The strikers returned to work at their old rate of pay.

The union wants an 8½ cents an hour increase. The city offers five cents contingent on the union's giving up certain "fringe" pay. The fringers bring average hourly pay to about $2.30 from the $1.67½ base rate.

The city-union fight over the controversial law, a relatively new curb on srikes, dominated the general picture. The wage issue became subordinate.

AT THE GREY NUN'S MOTHER HOUSE in Montreal, Rev. Sister Simone Desilets sorts out clothing contributed by Montrealers in response to the order's urgent appeal. Many brought clothing, then went upstairs to pay their respects to the two nuns who died while leading others to safety during last week's Hospice fire which took 35 lives.

Dollar Unchanged

MONTREAL, June 19— (CP)—The American dollar today opened at 7 per cent premium to the Canadian dollar, unchanged from Monday's close. That is, it took $1.07 Canadian to buy $1 American.

The pound sterling was $2.99⅝ also unchanged.

Philp Ponders "How Soon Is Forthwith"

The question of "how soon is forthwith?" arose in police court today. Magistrate W. R. Philp KC will give judgement Thursday.

The question arose during hearing of a charge of failure to report an accident against Reginald Eastbrook, 899 Western Ave.

The Highway Traffic Act states in one section that an accident in which there is personal or property damage must be reported "forthwith" to municipal or provincial police.

Sideswiped

Eastbrook, whose car was sideswiped by a truck on Highway 28 May 19 was hurt and needed four stitches to close a gash in his arm. The accident occurred about midnight.

Eastbrook did not report the accident to the OPP until almost noon the next day. He said his side hurt him after the accident and his arm was sore.

Crown Counsel V. J. McElderry KC, argued that 12 hours later was not sufficiently forthwith. Defence counsel W. J. Arthur Fair, KC, said that Eastbrook had been hurt and needed rest.

He said that 12 hours was a reasonable length of time, in view of the circumstances.

Mr. McElderry asked Eastbrook: "Don't you see that you don't give police a chance to protect you if you don't report the accident soon?" Eestbrook said he saw.

Prices Level Off From Early Dealings

TORONTO, June 19—(CP)—Prices levelled off from their early dealings as the session progressed on the Stock Market today.

Following yesterday's late selling, prices began dropping from the opening bell. At noon, however, enough support appeared to halt the downturn. Trading continued its extremely quiet pace of the last 17 weeks and volume for the first three hours of 616,000 shares was about 14,000 fewer than the same period yesterday.

In Industrials papers, steels, utilities, agricultures, constructions, refining oils and manufacturing companies showed a majority of losses. Foods were higher and liquors, banks and textiles were mixed.

Base Metal declines were small but they were numerous. Western oils were down pennies after trading mixed in the forenoon and golds were again mostly ignored.

Ottawa Gives Extra $700,000 Aid Gold Mines

OTTAWA, June 19 (CP).—The Canadian gold mining industry will receive an additional $700,000 this year from the federal government in the way of financial assistance. This will bring total assistance for 1951 to an estimated $11,200,000.

The increased assistance was announced Monday in the Commons by Mines Minister Prudham. He sponsored an amendment to a bill extending the Emergency Gold Mining Assistance Act for a year. The amendment was promptly approved and the bill itself is due to be given third and final reading today.

Mr. Prudham said that under the new legislation mines will be able to choose 1948, 1949 or 1950 as their base production year. Formerly the assistance was based on production in 1949. The payments are based on production costs and help mainly marginal, low-grade mines.

Finance Minister Abbott estimated the assistance, paid to an industry that is squeezed between high production costs and a fixed price for its product, will amount to $2.90 an ounce compared with $2.40 in 1950.

Dificult Formula

The subsidy is based on the following complicated formula:

The rate of assistance for this year will be one-half of the amount by which the average cost of production for each ounce of gold exceeds $22, with a maximum rate of assistance of $11.50.

This rate of assistance will be applied to the number of ounces of gold by which the number of ounces produced and sold this year exceeds one-half of the number of ounces produced in the base year.

Where a mine has been unable to increase production in comparison with the base year, the rate of asssistance will be applied to one-half of the number of ounces produced and sold during 1951.

Spokesmen for all parties supported the extension of assistance, but some disagreed with the method. Rodney Adamson (PC-York West) said the industry should be allowed to sell gold on a free market where the price probably would be $10 higher than the curent fixed price of $35 an ounce in American funds.

H. W. Herridge (CCF-Kootenay West) said consideration should be given to requests for a free market for gold. Victor Quelch (SC-Acadia) said he was opposed to a free market. No currency could be stable if it was based on gold, subject to wild price fluctuations on world markets.

There were these other developments:

1. Second reading—approval in principle—was given a bill authorizing the Canadian National Railways to build a 155-mile rail line from Sheridon, Man., to tap nickel-copper deposits at Lynn Lake, Man.

2. Third and final reading was given three bills aimed at avoiding double taxation for Canadians on business and other transactions with Sweden and France.

3. Members agreed to sit Saturdays in an effort to speed the work of the session, expected to adjourn June 30.

2 Artists Show Work At Public Library

An exhibit of the work of Stella Grier, RCA, nationally known portrait painter, and Christopher Adeney, Canadian landscape painter is on display at the Public Library.

Miss Grier, the daughter of Sir Wyly Grier, RCA, has achieved recognition as an artist both in England and United States as well as Canada. The majority of her exhibits in this display are pastels with some oils.

Mr. Adeney won the 1950 IODE competition for landscape painting and is an associate member of the Society of Painter-Etchers. He recently completed mural paintings for the Port Colborne General Hospital. His work is in both oils and water colors.

Permanent Move Later

The matter of changes of a permanent character in legislation covering broadcasting will be left until the fall session of Parliament.

"The government has also reached the conclusion," said Mr. St. Laurent, "that it is in the national interest to take immediate action to assist uiversities to perform functions which are quite essential to the country, and indeed to the proper administration of the government of the country.

"We are not yet in a position to ask Parliament to accept any permanent scheme for this purpose, but we have decided that grants should be made available for the forthcoming academic year along lines recommended by the Massey Commission."

Parliament will be asked to empower the Cabinet to make regulations to ensure that the recommendations of the Commission are carried out. It also will be asked to authorize Finance Minister Abbott to seek the "advice and assistance of an advisory committee to be drawn from the national conference of Canadian universities."

Ontario Civil Servants Get $60 a Year Increase

TORONTO, June 19. — Starting July 1, the cost of living bonus paid Ontario's 15,000 civil servants will be increased from $240 to $300 a year. The increase will add about $900,000 to the annual salary bill. Announcement of the enlarged bonus was made by Premier Frost Monday after a meeting of the joint advisory council, which represents both the government and its employees.

The average of civil service salaries, with the extra $60 a year, will have increased in about the same proportion as the cost of living since 1939, according to the Premier. The average now is about $2,592.

Considered in January

The Civil Service Association had asked that the present $240 yearly cost of living bonus be incorporated into salary, that an additional $120 bonus be given, and that there be instituted an arrangement for paying 25 cents weekly for each point rise in the cost of living index.

Premier Frost suggested that further consideration would be given civil service pay scales at the beginning of the year.

temporary layoff of 9,000 of its 12,000 production workers, announced Monday at Windsor that the 9,000 men will be laid off next Monday or Tuesday.

The entire plant will be shut down during a three-day inventory. When it reopens July 3, it will operate on a curtailed schedule and with a reduced working force.

Rhys M. Sale, company president, said Monday that his firm has no alternative but to cut down production "in accordance with the ability of the market to absorb the cars and trucks we turn out." He said the combination of increased taxes and credit curbs had brought about a sharp decline in sales.

800 Men Idle

Also in Windsor, the truck plant of the Chrysler Corporation of Canada Monday laid off 800 of its 900 hourly-rated employees because of a parts shortage blamed on a strike in a Canadian supplier plant.

The new Nash motors plant in northeast Toronto is reported slowing to a standstill. A month ago 80 men were released. Another 175 are scheduled to go June 25 on a layoff tentatively set for two weeks.

The United Automobile Workers (CIO) last week asked the Federal cabinet to revert to former credit rules to permit buyers to make a down payment of one-third of the sale price instead of the present one-half and to pay off the balance in 18 months instead of 12 months, as at present.

Shipping Strike Threatens BC

VANCOUVER, June 19 (CP)—A heavy labor squall today threatened coastal shipping in British Columbia.

The Seafarers' International Union (AFL) said it will strike against three companies Friday midnight unless the companies meet its wage demands.

A strike would tie up 22 ships of Canadian Pacific, Canadian National and Union Steamship Lines and hit hard at the province's tourist industry, which banks heavily on the coastal passenger trade.

The 900 seamen involved are asking an additional $30 a month above the basic deckhand pay of $153. The companies' best offer so far has been $13.87, which the seamen turned down in a referendum.

There was no announcement from either camp about further negotiations but it appeared certain more bargaining meetings will be held before Friday. A meeting was scheduled for Monday but failed to materialize.

List Royal Itinerary For Australian Visit

LONDON, June 19 (AP).—The King's itinerary for his 1952 tour to Australia was announced at Buckingham Palace Monday night in what was taken as a move to quash rumors that he might retire from the throne.

He had been scheduled to tour Australia and New Zealand with the Queen and Princess Margaret in January, 1949 but cancelled that visit because of his health. Doctors said an obstruction to the blood circulation in his right leg required that the King have plenty of rest.

Last night's announcement made no mention of the retirement rumor, but said the King would [illegible] of his tour next Jan. 22.

SUPPORTS UE

Nels Thibeault, leader of some 15,000 members of the Mine, Mill and Smelter Workers' Union, spoke at a UE meeting at the CGE plant gate today. He urged the 3,600 production workers to vote for UE at the June 26 elections. Top CCL officials, also members of the CCF party—Joe McKenzie, Charles Millard, and Pat Conroy—had tried to disrupt the union, Mr. Thibeault charged, and get the union funds for party politics. He said they were unsuccessful; the Mine-Mill union remained united and "kicked the CCL-CIO raiders clear out of Port Colborne and out of Sudbury." A situation, similar to the one in Port Colborne and Sudbury, faces the workers in Peterborough today, Mr. Thibeault contended.

Higher Grants In Lieu Of Taxes Ottawa Asked

OTTAWA, June 19 (CP). — Members of the Commons Monday urged the government to make greater payments to municipalities where federal property is located.

Finance Minister Abbott piloting a resolution preliminary to a bill putting the present grants-in-lieu-of-tax system on a permanent basis, gave no indication that the government intends to boost the payments. The resolution was adopted, and the bill received first reading.

The payments are made under a government formula, to municipalities where there is a heavy concentration of tax-free Crown buildings. They do not apply to parks, irrigation projects, canals and other works for the public good.

Mr. Abbott's resolution was given approval by the House after members from all sides of the chamber had expressed themselves in favor of one form or another of increased grants to the municipalities.

Canal Question

In the discussion on grants to municipalities, two Liberal members said these should be extended to municipalities touched by federal canals. The members were W. H. McMillan (L. Welland) and H. P. Cavers (L, Lincoln) whose ridings are traversed by the big Welland Canal.

They argued canals, while of benefit locally, also cost the adjoining municipalities heavily in expenses for police, fire protection, life-saving and other services.

J. L. Gibson (L, Comox-Alberni) said there is a terrible situation in connection with municipal taxation in Ottawa because of the preponderance of federal property. It did not appear the government was treating Ottawa fairly when its tax rate had to go to almost confiscatory levels. A person earning a normal salary in Ottawa could not afford to pay his civic taxes, with rates about double those of Vancouver.

Donald Fleming PC,(Toronto-Eglinton) said the federal government should not make use of an archaic, obsolete provision of the constitution to claim tax exemption for its property. Many of the federal services were revenue producing and there was no reason why the government should claim tax exemption for them.

Fight Gun Duel

Eighty miles to the northwest, Communist shore batteries fought a 1½-hour artillery duel with besieging United Nations warships.

The shore-to-sea battle erupted Monday afternoon at Wonsan, east coast port besieged more than four months. Accurate Red fire burst close to UN warships and shrapnel splattered on the decks.

Marine Corsair fighter planes and naval gunfire silenced the shore batteries. The navy said only slight shrapnel punctures were inflicted on UN ships.

American planes swept freely through a cloudless sky and hammered Reds across North Korea. Four UN planes were shot down Monday.

UN patrols fanned out along the front. They met little opposition Monday except in the central sector around Kumhwa, eastern anchor of the iron triangle.

Associated Press correspondent Nate Polowetzky reported from US Eighth Army headquarters that lack of any large-scale action for a week indicated the UN offensive has ended, at least temporarily.

United Counties Expect 11-Mill Rate

COBOURG, June 19 (ENS). — An eleven mill rate was in the budget of counties treasurer Wm. Barr in his estimate spresented at the opening of the June session of Northumberland and Durham Counties Council Monday afternoon. This rate is the same as last year. However, Council is faced with requests for increased grants plus applications for increased salaries, and these could affect the rate if they reached large proportions.

Council dealt with a large number of communications, most of them resolutions from other County Councils, which were referred to their appropriate committees.

Warden George Walton welcomed the Council at the opening of the session.

Defence Organization

A letter from the civil defence branch, office of the provincial secretary, urged organization of civil defence on a county-wide basis; referred to legislative and bylaws committee. A resolution from Murray Township in regard to the Trenton-Stockdale road, which had been recommended as a Department of Highways development road, was received and no other action taken. While the usual number of grants were referred to the finance committee, the request by Peterborough Civic Hospital for an increased grant aroused considerable interest. The grant last year had been $1,500 to cover hospitalization accorded counties' patients living in the area served by this hospital, but a letter from the hospital yesterday pointed out that costs were away up and asked for $3,500 more.

A letter from Sheriff Fred C. Richardson said that if increases for counties employees because of increased cost of living were being considered, that the staff of the counties jail were not civil servants and might rightly be judged as eligible for the increase. The family court report recommended that the grant this year be $5,625, an increase of $1,600 over last year. Bowmanville Memorial Hospital board asked for a grant of $10,000, in addition to their regular grant of $1,500, because of the fact that $50,000 still had to be raised to pay for the new hospital.

Most of the resolutions from other county councils were in regard to routine matters and were quickly sent on to their appropriate committees to deal with.

Report Received

The report of the grand jury, presented at the Spring Assizes, which criticized the counties home as dismal, lacking recreational facilities, and also needing ventilation, was read and failed to excite any of the Council. The Council ruled that the report be received.

"Are any steps being taken to remedy these complaints?" asked Reeve W. Roche, Port Hope. He was reminded that Deputy-Reeve L. Giddy of Port Hope was chairman of the board of management of the counties home.

Council was advised by the Department of Highways that the over-expenditure of $25,200 by the road department had been approved, and that the 50 per cent. subsidy would be paid. The department also notified the Council that the $349,600 road expenditure for 1951 had been approved. The department also approved the bylaw covering five miles of boundary road between Durham and Victoria Counties. The Department of Education approved the attaching of part of Hamilton Township and all Alnwick Township to the Cobourg High School area.

The auditors' report listed a surplus of around $1,259 for 1950, but the Department of Highways' decision to subsidize the over-expenditure on counties roads, changed the deficit into a small surplus.

Counties engineer Jack Jordan told the Council in his report that damage from winter and spring was the worst yet incurred by counties roads. Only a week ago a road had to be gravelled after a heavy rain due to break-up. However, there had been no break-up on granular base roads constructed since 1947. Up to May 31, 1951, maintenance costs had been $99,909 and construction $147,763.

The road commission recommended salary increases for the counties engineer and road department secretary. Road construction planned amounted to $22,500; paving, $32,000; maintenance, $16,000, and surfacing, $8,400.

Motorcyclist Suffers Broken Right Hand

A motorcyclist suffered a broken bone in his right hand Monday afternoon when his 'cycle collided with a car on George St. south of the wharf.

Keith Delahaye, Cameron St., was taken to St. Joseph's hospital for treatment.

A passenger on his motorcycle, Maxime Johnson, McClennan Ave., was shaken up, but uninjured. Driver of the car, Raymond Collet, 642 Frank St., was unhurt.

Collet, southbound on George St., was about to turn into the yard of the Beaver Lumber Co. He saw the motorcycle coming up behind him, but as he was well to the left, thought it would pass on his right.

As he turned left, the motorcycle hit the left rear door, breaking the glass and throwing Delahaye and his passenger to the street.

Oddfellows Not Peculiar Officer Says

TORONTO, June 19—One of the oldest fraternal organizations in Ontario, the Independent Order of Oddfellows, began its 97th annual convention at the Royal York Monday. More than 1,100 delegates from provincial points will attend the five-day convention.

Grand Junior Warden of the Grand Encampment of the Lodge, Lloyd Jones, of Hamilton, explained the history of the lodge. "The North American division of the order was started 133 years ago in Baltimore, Maryland," he said. "The first Ontario lodge was organized at Brockville in 1846 and conventions began eight years later."

How the order acquired its unusual name was explained by Mr. Jones, who has been a member of the order for 33 years. "Our name goes back to the days of the Guild System in Europe," he said. "A group of apprentices banded themselves together to form a mutual-aid society. And because the idea of helping the other fellow was so different from the prevailing theme of selfish living, their contemporaries gave the apprentices the nickname of 'odd fellows.'

Nickname Stuck

"And the old nickname has stuck," continued Mr. Jones. "But today, our members aren't very odd. We're ordinary men trying to help out our felows."

Mostly concerned with fraternal works, the organization has such public service programs as a cancer-polio-tuberculosis fund which gives aid to members and nonmembers alike. Since 1947 this fund has raised more than $300,000. Ontario branches of Oddfellowship total close to 65,000 members.

One of the highlights of this year's session is the 100th anniversary of the founding of the Rebekah Assembly, the women's branch of the Oddfellows. More than 500 women delegates are present for this special centennial meeting. Mrs. L. A. Burch of St. Catharines is presiding officer at the Rebekah sessions.

Bridges Destroyed

GENEVA, Switzerland, June 19 —(Reuters)— Floods have destroyed bridges, smashed a hydro-electric barrage and swept away power lines in the Val D'Herens. Reports reaching here last night said Sauterot power station was under water. The floods followed a series of violent rainstorms.

NAMED COUNSEL—Maurice Pratte, 29-year-old Quebec City barrister and graduate of Paris University in international law, has been appointed counsel for the World Health Organization of the United Nations. He is due to leave to take up his post in Geneva in the near future. Mrs. Pratte, the former Francoise Aubut, is a widely-known organist and is professor of organ at the University of Montreal School of Music.

Obituary

MRS. JAMES BAILEY.

MARMORA, June 19 (ENS).—Mrs. Ethel Bailey lifelong resident of the Eldorado district died at her home near Kellar's Bridge on Sunday.

She was born in Madoc township 73 years ago, her parents being the late Charles and Martha White. Although in failing health for some time, her condition did not become serious until two weeks ago. Widely known and highly respected, Mrs. Bailey took an active interest in the work of the Women's Institute, being a former president of the North Hastings district and a former president of the Belleville area. She was also an active member of St. Bartholomew's Anglican Church at Bannockburn being connected with the Willing Workers group of that church.

She is survived by her husband, James Bailey, who comes of a well known Marmora family and one son Douglas of Eldorado.

Four Young Scotchmen Entertained On Tour Of District Farms

John Edmison's greeting to the two young Scotsmen who were overnight guests Monday at his home in Smith township was that they couldn't have come at a better time because he had a bumper hay crop to take off, and he hoped they could stay a couple of weeks or longer.

The visitors are David Hamilton of Bathgate, West Lothian, and Arthur Young of the Orkney Isles. With them in their three months' tour of Ontario are Miss Anne Christie of Stirling and Miss Rosemary Belle Stewart of Kelso, Roxburgshire, who were guests last night at the home of Don Milburn.

Study Province

These representative Junior Farmers of Scotland arrived in Canada April 22 and are departing for home July 18. A few days in Montreal is the only section of their itinerary beyond the border of Ontario. Junior Farmers of the province and the Department of Agriculture arranged the details of their trip, providing them with an expansive range of acquaintance with the people, the methods of agriculture in this province and much of its urban and industrial background.

They have been interviewed by press and radio until it has become an accepted routine of their travel, but not of their observations and subject matter.

All four have been surprised by the custom of casualness in the opening of most rural meetings at which they have been guests.

In Contrast

They mention it at the risk of seeming to be critical, whereas it is only an observation in contrast with their own way of carrying on such affairs.

"Most of these meetings did not start on time, and in Elgin county, I think, it was an and a quarter late. But, nobody apologized to the meeting, and it seemed to be taken for granted."

Miss Christie remarked that it is a fundamental among farmers, junior and adult, in Scotland, to begin meetings on time.

"If a meeting is called for 7:30 p.m., then it starts sharp on 7:30," she said with a downward movement of her arm as if she were sounding a gavel for attention.

But, that is not a criticism, merely a reference to a difference in custom.

Canadian soldiers of two wars must have brought home eloquent reports of hospitality they received on their visits and leaves in Scotland.

Warm Reception

The four young Scots have been discovering that quality and reputation of their homeland, and the gratitude of Canadians. That is another surprise, because, they say, the warmth of their reception has been exceeding all their preconceptions of their trip.

"It's beyond words," said Arthur Young.

And Miss Stewart: "It has been the same everywhere, and it makes us happy to know that Canadians have that deep feeling toward Scotland."

Neither is this a criticism of their reception. They have all been putting on weight with already two months of dinners and abundant food, and no work.

"Twelve pounds" said Miss Stewart rather ruefully; "just imagine."

Impressions! They have a great store of them. Ontario looks like a land of opportunity,—in farming, too. "For any young man who will put his back into it," was the remark of David Hamilton, and it seemed to sound as an expression of his attitude, a sturdy and braw lad.

None Available

"If you want more land over here, apparently you can get it; you can buy it," said Miss Christie another forthright type. "But, in Scotland there are no farms to be had. They are established."

And farms have been families for many, many years, in most instances.

Another opinion "We have to farm more intensively than you do. To increase production, we have to get more out of the land we have, because we can't acquire more," said Mr. Hamilton.

"And we have to take good care of it," Miss Christie added. "We have to maintain fertility. We fertilize more heavily than you do. Eighty or ninety cattle on 100 acres! That is not unusual at home. It is something we have to do."

Home For Show

Miss Christie was thinking of home yesterday. "I do wish I were there. This is the week of the Royal Highland Agricultural Show".

It is listed in the Scottish events of Britain's Festival year.

Mr. Hamilton said he thought the ratio of mechanism on Scottish farms might be higher than in Ontario. There are tractors everywhere.

"I think you can still find some purebred Clydesdale horses," was a significant comment on the invasion of the agricultural machine.

He also mentioned that the inspection of dairy farms was particularly strict, and generally the care of milk for human consumption is scrupulously guarded. No other cattle or livestock are permitted in the same barn with a dairy herd. Light and ventilation are other conditions that receive inspectors' attention.

New Methods

- DOUBLE THE GROWTH
- INCREASE THE FEED VALUE
- TREBLE THE MILK AND MEAT OUTPUT OF CANADIAN HAY FIELDS

The farmer of a generation ago would hardly believe his eyes if he could see the bumper crops being grown by new methods in today's hay fields. Or see 100 steers grazing on a pasture that would have carried only 30 or 40 head in his day.

Scientific methods have brought about a miracle in stepping up the amount of hay or pasture produced from a field. Yes, and modern farm machines, like the forage harvester above, have made possible new methods of harvesting hay to retain its green, succulent vitamin-rich qualities.

It all adds up to a much greater output of milk and meat per acre of land . . . increased prosperity for farmers . . . a more bountiful supply of healthful foods for consumers.

For more than 100 years, Massey-Harris has been a leader in developing new and better farm machines.

Munificent Charity

One month ago today fire swept a block of buildings in Peterborough's business section. Four firefighters were trapped under a fallen wall and their lives snuffed out. Yesterday a cheque for $57,000 for the Mayor's Fire Victims Fund was given to the Fund's trustees. This cheque represents the sum of monies contributed voluntarily towards the relief of the four firemen's families. The three regular firemen and the one volunteer left among them fourteen children, twelve of or under school age, and their children's mothers.

* * *

The money welled like a spring of charity. The establishment of the Fund was spontaneous. Money began to pour in immediately from hundreds of different sources and in hundreds of different ways. There were small donations and large cheques from private persons. School children made collections in their classrooms and play-groups. Churches, clubs and welfare organizations made donations and held special money-raising bees. Shops, factories and offices gave their contributions as individuals, in employee groups and through management. Thus people from the city and its suburban areas, their hearts touched, opened their purses. But money in small coins and large bills came from all over the country and surrounding counties; it came from points as distant as New York.

* * *

It was a remarkable impulse of generosity and human kindness. All that was needed to free the impulse was an agency to receive the money. There was a minimum of organization. No city-wide fund-raising drive was undertaken. Nobody rang door-bells. There was no imposed canvassing. (A jar on a shop counter, labelled 'For The Fire Victims' is not an insistent demand by the storekeeper, but an opportunity he is giving his customers.) The $57,000 which came in from all these sources and from so many places was a true out-pouring of real charity: charity from the heart quickened by a realization of the need; gifts people have been moved to make because they themselves wanted to help.

* * *

Although it is a pity that a large fire and grievous loss of life had to be the cause, this manifestation of neighbourliness and humane concern for men, women and children in distress is proof that here in Peterborough and far beyond its borders, men are not machines and the heart still rules. The need was clear and definite; the monies were going directly to alleviate that need; the objects of the charitable impulse are to receive it. (The Fund Trustees, Judge Smoke, C. W. Bennett, T. J. Carley, the Mayor, and Mrs. Fred Hooper, president of the local Red Cross, will, we are sure, administer it to the best advantage of the victims' families.) Earlier this year the Community Fund campaign, organized to the hilt, and well-publicized, had difficulty meeting its $85,000 objective. At the end of the campaign week only $72,000 was reported. In a very short time, with a minimum of organization, $57,000 was collected for the Mayor's Fire Victims Fund. It is proof that the wells of charity have not dried up, and that if the need is evident, hearts touched, and there is assurance that money needed and donated for a specific purpose, will go to the specific charity, the money will pour in.

Indignation About Korea

Pierre Berton, a Canadian journalist, visited Korea on assignment. He has just returned and Sunday night broadcast some of his impressions of that unhappy land and the troops in it. Judging by his fervour as well as his words, Korea was a bit of a shock to Mr. Berton.

He had nothing bad to say about the military campaign. He was indignant about the attitude of troops, commanders and other westerners to the South Koreans. The American officers' mess in which he was housed refused membership to four resident newspaper men —accredited correspondents for well-known British and European agencies— because they were Koreans. Korean natives were treated callously, sometimes cruelly by U.N. troops. Mr. Berton cited rather shocking incidents. Whatever kind of democracy the 'Americans' were brought up in and fighting for— the Koreans and Chinese refer to all U.N. troops there as 'American'—they were giving a poor example of it. Their 'way of life' which is supposed to be superior to totalitarian, communist or any Oriental ways, the way of life which the war in Korea is supposed to be preserving and spreading, was not a way which Koreans could find attractive. Our commanders and government are supporting Singhman Rhee in the Presidency of South Korea, yet Rhee and his government are corrupt and undemocratic.

So Mr. Berton's strictures went. It is honest Canadian moral indignation, and it is well that the CBC aired his views. We do not question for a moment that everything he said as an eye-witness is true. Mr. Berton left out any question of morality; he pleaded for sane and practical conduct. As he said, U.N. can win the war in Korea and yet alienate Koreans and all their neighbours for a century. He asked that the troops there be made fully aware of their roles as ambassadors for western democracy. Korean respect and support, even friendship, had to be won, not tossed into the lap of the Chinese. One South Korean university graduate told the Canadian observer that he and other Koreans feared the Americans more than they did the Chinese.

While supporting many of Mr. Berton's pleas and sympathizing with his indignation, we are also aware of certain hard facts of the Korean war which Mr. Berton omitted to mention. U.N. troops in Korea are trespassers and despoilers in Korean eyes. They are not there to preserve Korea for Koreans; they are in Korea to keep that peninsula an outpost of the west. Korean peasants would be happier if the Americans went home. The U.N. troops cannot be happy either, in the role of foreign invaders in a poor country. Their distrust and dislike of the Koreans can be second only to the dismay and hatred felt by the South Koreans. There is this further fact: the first duty of troops in action is to win the battle, not to be spreading loving kindness. If the natives are in the way, have treacherous inclinations, or are occupying quarters needed for the troops, then out the natives must go, at the point of a bayonet, if need be.

Many Canadians are aware of these things; Mr. Berton must be. They know that the South Korean Government is nothing but a sham of democracy, that its President is a tin-pot foozler at best. And, of great importance in assessing the situation: Koreans in the mass are illiterate, wretchedly poor peasants with no knowledge of or experience in responsible self-government.

Mr. Berton's remarks are useful reminders that war is unpleasant, especially for the country in which it is being fought. An army is not a democratic organization inculcating gentleness. The military investment of a country always breeds mutual dislike and distrust between soldiery and populace. The Korean incursion is the operation of harsh politics on a world scale and not Arthurian chivalry in quest of a Holy Grail.

Peterboronian, If You Please

The Brantford Expositor had a kind word for this newspaper, recently, because we spoke of a native of Brantford as a Brantfordian. It appears that in Western Ontario, where there is a lamentable indifference to such niceties, several papers write of "Brantfordites" —a term which the Expositor quite rightly regards with horror.

Expressing its views on this subject, the Expositor writes thus:

> ——A resident of Halifax is not a Halifaxite but a Haligonian; one who lives in Galt is not a Galtite but a Galtonian, presumably; one in Toronto is a Torontonian. Coming to Cainsville, it is necessary to exercise care in spelling Cainsvillean, and the proper designation of a person whose home is in Peterborough had better be left to the Peterborough Examiner.

The Ottawa Journal says that the people of this city are properly called Peterborovians. Not so. They may be called Peterboronians, and that is what we call them in these columns, but by all the laws of word-formation, taste and euphony they may not be called Peterborovians!

The older inhabitants of the city prefer to call themselves "Peterborough men," we have observed. But that title may be claimed only by those with at least three generations of residence in Peterborough behind them. We recall a few years ago overhearing the following conversation between two women on a bus:

"Mr. —— is a fine man, isn't he?"

"Oh yes, indeed; a very fine man."

"But he's not what you'd call a Peterborough man, though."

The Mr. —— in question, we later discovered, had lived and worked in Peterborough for over thirty years, but his place of origin was the far-off and probably savage settlement of Cobourg. He wasn't a Peterborough man. But he might be called a Peterboronian.

NOTE AND COMMENT

June wedding news contains an item about a man who fainted on his way to the altar. Spotted Number One and the kiddies at the back of the church, we suppose.

Evolutionists say that man's appearance will not change very much during the next 200,000 years. In other words, he'll be able to put his foot in his mouth for a long time yet.

The Massey Report points out that Canada pays $175,000 a year for the maintenance of completely useless and inaccessible public records. Apply that money to a national library and something really useful could be done.

The Two World Centres

by
SEBASTIAN HAFFNER

THERE is a curious malaise in present Anglo-American relations which goes undiagnosed because it is so carefully prevented from breaking out into the open. Of course, all responsible people on both sides of the Atlantic realize that Britain and America simply cannot afford to fall apart, and official relations are not only polite but carefully cordial.

✧ ✧ ✧

ENORMOUS labour, and much anxious goodwill, is constantly spent on mending conflicts of policy, and it cannot be said that this labour is entirely fruitless. Just now, for instance, a compromise about the Japanese Peace Treaty has been achieved, after nine months of incessant negotiations— an important success of patient diplomacy. But in spite of all this, the list of items where British and Amercian policies are in conflict seems to grow constantly longer, and the task of reconciling them harder.

✧ ✧ ✧

THERE is the great disagreement on fundamental China policy, from which flow affiliated differences—on Formosa, on trade with China, on Korean strategy. There is the more general issue of trade with the Soviet world. There is the interminable wrangle about the Atlantic and Mediterranean Commands, which is not only a question of national naval pride, but hides major differences over strategy. A new and tiresome disagreement looms about Spain; and policies in the Middle East and South-East Asia, without actually clashing, defy effective coordination. And all these differences have accumulated in the last year or two, on top of the old hardy perennials—free trade versus Imperial preferences, currency convertibility, and Britain's refusal to merge with Europe.

✧ ✧ ✧

AT the same time, public opinion which is less informed and less temperate than official opinion, has become restless and somewhat sour on both sides. One must beware of exaggeration. There is still a great fund of insight and goodwill, and some mischief-making there has always been. But the tendency to get irritated with each other has undeniably grown both in Britain and in America recently, and, more dangerous, there is now in both countries a body of opinion which deliberately wants to dissolve the partnership. Britons are nostalgically groping for some neutral balancing position; Americans are toying with an impatient wish to "go it alone". This trend is not yet, in either country dominant. But it has grown recently and may still be growing. If it gets out of control, it may one day cause a catastrophe of quite immeasurable dimensions.

✧ ✧ ✧

FOR the fact is that the Anglo-American relationship is, at this stage of history, the sheet-anchor not only of security against Russia, but of any stability and order that exists in the non-Communist world. If it were dissolved, the break would run across the whole globe, and all of Europe, Africa and Asia would be thrown into violent confusion. This is so because Britain and America are each the centre of a far-flung international system. Moreover, the systems are interlocking; and any disturbance at the centre would reverberate to the ends of the earth.

✧ ✧ ✧

ONE of the great contemporary developments, which would make 20th Century history highly dramatic even without the totalitarian diversions, is the gradual shift of the world power centre from Britain to America. In the year 1900, the world revolved, politically and economically, around London. In the year 2000, it may very possibly revolve around Washington. But this is the year 1951; and the world has not one clear centre, but two. The British system, though no longer universal, is still very much in existence; the American one is still far from complete. Very roughly speaking, one could say that today the Americans, Western Europe, and the Pacific Islands from Japan to Australia are chiefly orientated towards Washington, while Africa and Southern Asia are still chiefly orientated towards London.

✧ ✧ ✧

THIS is, of course, an over-simplification. The North American and South Pacific Commonwealth nations, for instance, consciously try to keep an even balance in their British and their American relations; in the Middle East, British and American influences overlap, but the most extraordinary anomaly is that Britain herself—the British Isles—is in the geographical sense already a part of the American system in Western Europe—our physical security depends on the North Atlantic Treaty which is centred on American power—while it still remains, at the same time, the centre of an African and South Asian system which would collapse without its independent support. How little America is, at this stage, ready to assume even a part of the British responsibilities in these areas came out in the recent discussions about a Pacific treaty.

✧ ✧ ✧

HERE is, it seems, the real crux of the Anglo-American relationship. Britons, looking at the Commonwealth and at their still enormous sphere of influence and responsibility around the Indian Ocean, are easily forget that all the time their own physical security at home depends on the irreplacable American engagement in Western Europe. Americans, on the other hand, measuring the proportions of their own and Britain's contribution to European security (and to the current Korean war) are all too inclined to regard Britain as just another minor ally and to forget that she is also still a World Power centre in her own right. If the matter is really thought out, it will be found that the mutual position towards each other in which Britain and America find themselves is a highly special one indeed; and that it calls for a highly specialized relationship if it is to be successfully handled.

✧ ✧ ✧

IDEALLY, it calls for Anglo-American union; and the common language, partially common ancestry and history, and similar political beliefs and traditions make such a union appear just short of impossible. It must always be one of the most tempting and tantalizing dreams of higher Western statesmanship. But obviously it is not, at this moment, practical politics. The question remains: how are Britain and America to conduct their curiously and momentously intertwined affairs in the meantime? And this question is pressing. Goodwill and routine diplomacy are not enough, as the developments of the last two years are showing all too plainly.

✧ ✧ ✧

WHAT is needed is a special relationship at the highest level which makes sure, not that British policies and American policies are reconciled as best may be, but that an Anglo-American policy is shaped in advance and constantly maintained and adjusted; and that conflicting ideas and interests are composed, and compromises made, at the planning and policy-making stage, not afterwards, when policies are set and hardened.

✧ ✧ ✧

AT the vital place where such a meeting of minds and joint thinking-ahead should take place there exists at the moment a vacuum. And this vacuum, rather than any profound positive conflict of interests, causes the present steady deterioration of relations. Each country shapes its major policies without the other having any place in the discussion; and once the decisive thinking and inter-departmental negotiating is done separately in London and Washington and major policies are settled and set into operation, it becomes an almost impossible task for diplomats and officials to reconcile them if they do not, by a miracle, coincide. All they can do is, as one high State Department official privately put it, to keep conflicts "padded" and the padding, in the longer run, has a way of wearing through.

✧ ✧ ✧

THE special relationship between Britain and America which their objective position demands existed once and once only: from 1939 to 1945, when Mr. Churchill and President Roosevelt pre-shaped Anglo-American policy in personal correspondence, trans-Atlantic telephone conversations and frequent meetings. Only in retrospect can it be fully appreciated what a stroke of genius it was for Mr. Churchill to inaugurate this entirely unorthodox interchange. Nothing like it has been repeated or even attempted since; and through the unfilled gap that the lapse of that relationship has left comes an increasingly cold draught.

✧ ✧ ✧

IT may be impossible to repeat the exact Churchill-Roosevelt technique with different personalities. But it is essential for the functioning of the Anglo-American relationship that there should be some method of joint policy-making and advance planning at a high level; and it is a serious reproach to both the Truman Administration and the Attlee Government that they seem never to have given the matter even a thought, but have been content to treat their relations with each other like those between any two countries, and have allowed the "special relationship" between Britain and America to lapse by default.

✧ ✧ ✧

CLOSER treaty relations are no substitute for it. The North Atlantic Treaty especially, indispensable though it is, is not the full answer to the problem to Anglo-American relations. It is a purely regional alliance for the North Atlantic area, in which Britain inevitably plays a secondary role. But the point of the Anglo-American relationship is that it covers the globe and that the question of whose role and interests should be decisive in any particular issue or place cannot be rigidly settled in advance and for all time.

✧ ✧ ✧

RIGIDLY treaty relationships short of union may even in some respects be a hindrance to the full and free sorting-out of a continuous Anglo-American global policy. If statesmen with the power of decision see the need for such a policy, they will find their own method for working it out. What is needed is the fundamental realization, on both sides of the Atlantic, that a special Anglo-American relationship and a joint Anglo-American policy are indispensable to the stability of a world which is no longer British and yet not American; that with two Powers which touch each other so closely at so many points the only alternative to unity is conflict; and that unity does not come by itself but must be willed and organized.

SHANGHAIED!

Humour And World Affairs

OTTAWA CITIZEN

A THEORY expounded by such philosophers as Henri Bergson and illustrated by such writers as Charles G. D. Roberts, is that laughter is the one quality which distinguishes man from the beasts. In the current issue of The Montrealer, Novelist Hugh MacLennan pushes the theory a step farther and makes laughter the criterion of a civilized man. By inference, the better developed his sense of humour (in the best meaning of the word) the more rational a man is. Laughter becomes a measure of his judgement, his sense of proportion and perspective. This theory is probably not new with the Canadian writer, but as he presents it, the viewpoint has a special application in terms of present world conditions.

Whatever else they may do, totalitarian regimes hardly produce a climate suitable to humour; if they did, the hard, stern philosophies of Lenin, Stalin and Marx would probably not have taken such a tenacious hold on the Russian mind. At United Nations level the sharing of a common joke would probably break many an ideological impasse. National life too could stand a little more of the sanity and good sense that humour can bring. MacLennan illustrates the point with an American case. "One of the most preposterous menaces in American public life," he says, "is surely Senator Joseph McCarthy, yet every famous statement he makes is reported with solemnity. Roosevelt would have laughed him out of existence, but Truman lacks the Roosevelt touch. He gets mad instead, and shows it." No doubt Canadian parallels could be drawn.

One factor limiting the universal sharing of laughter is that humour is not all of a piece —as such studies as that of British psychologist Hans Eysenck have shown. Wit and fun have their national and individual idiosyncracies. Despite the scant encouragement which the Kremlin seems to give to humour, the Russian citizen is surely not incapable of laughter. The trick is to get both him and the citizen of the Western democracies laughing at the same things. To borrow the prefatory phrase of E. M. Forster in "Howard's End," the motto should be, "Only connect". The sympathetic meeting of minds which the international sharing of humour would bring could have most beneficial results. The problem is to bring it about.

Morale

(The Manchester Guardian)

Reports about a "morale machine" which is to be shown at the Festival of Britain might suggest that the natives of this island are in a sadly depressed condition. If they need to be patted on the back by a plastic hand in a wash-leather glove while a recording instrument tells them they are on top of the world —which is what the morale machine apparently does for them—it would seem that they must be sunk in a slough of despond as deep as the mud which once infested the South Bank site.

On the other hand, it can be argued that no one who was not ripe for hilarity would ever dream of approaching this instrument; they must be in the mood for mirth to begin with. One can well imagine loud squeals of merriment surrounding this curious gadget; the device itself may be mechanized but the hilarity will be entirely human.

It is a good thing that the morale machine has no feelings of its own to be hurt and depressed. It might be broken-hearted at man's complete inability to take it seriously.

Bible Message

(From the Authorized Version)

And Joshua said unto the people, Sanctify yourselves: for tomorrow the Lord will do wonders among you . . . And the Lord said unto Joshua, This day will I begin to magnify thee in the sight of all Israel, that they may know that, as I was with Moses, so I will be with thee. And thou shalt command the priests that bear the ark of the convenant, saying, When ye are come to the brink of the water of Jordan, ye shall stand still in Jordan.

And Joshua said unto the children of Israel, Come hither, and hear the words of the Lord your God . . . Behold, the ark of the covenant of the Lord of all the earth passeth over before you into Jordan . . . And it came to pass, when the people removed from their tents, to pass over Jordan, and the priests bearing the ark of the covenant before the people; and as they that bare the ark were come unto Jordan, and the feet of the priests that bare the ark were dipped in the brim of the water, (for Jordan overflowth all his banks all the time of harvest) that the waters which came down from above stood and rose up upon an heap very far from the city Adam, that is beside Zaretan; and those that came down toward the sea of the plain, even the salt sea, failed, and were cut off: and the people passed over right against Jericho.

And the priests that bare the ark of the covenant of the Lord stood firm on dry ground in the midst of Jordan, and all the Israelites passed over on dry ground, until all the people were passed clean over Jordan. (Josh. 3:5, 7-9, 11, 14-17.)

✧ ✧ ✧

Behold, the days come, saith the Lord, that I will make a new covenant with the house of Israel, and with the house of Judah . . . And they shall teach no more every man his neighbour, and every man his brother, saying, Know the Lord: for they shall all know me, from the least of them unto the greatest of them, saith the Lord. (Jer. 31:31, 34.)

"AND TO THINK THAT WE INVENTED GUNPOWDER"

HERE IS THE LIFE CYCLE of the Japanese beetle. Note that June and July are the critical months.

No "Cease Fire" In War on Jap Beetle

By HENRY PREE (NEA)

The Japanese beetle will probably make its debut a bit early this season, judging by the reports of damage to lawns by the beetles in their grub state.

A Japanese beetle is a most beautiful insect until you see it gathered in groups of a dozen or more on a single rose. And, because of the lack of deep frost in the soil last winter, we can expect the beetle to appear in greater numbers than ever.

Cynthia Westcott, the plant doctor, describes the Japanese beetle as an oval bug, just under ½-inch long, a gorgeous metallic green with coppery wing covers marked with fine longitudinal lines.

There are two patches of white hairs at the tip of the body and five rufts of hairs projecting from under the wing covers on each side. Identification is simple as the bugs are easily caught by hand. The grubs are now full grown, about an inch long, soft dirty white with brown heads, and usually are found in a curved position feeding on the grass roots.

These grubs will soon change to the adult state and emerge as beetles during June. Since they feed on about 250 kinds of deciduous fruits, shade trees, shrubs and garden flowers, plus practically every vegetable, it behooves the gardener to get ready his spray or dust and start the fight.

Traps are of little value as they catch only about 10 of those beetles which come within 15 feet of the trap. However, if you insist upon using traps place them in the open lawn—not in the garden or near your choicest roses.

Lawns should be grub-proofed now or next autumn with lead arsenate, using 10 pounds for each 1,000 square feet of area. Mix the lead with one bushel of sifted topsoil, or sand, and broadcast evenly over the grass. Rake or broom the mixture down to the soil's surface and water well immediately after application.

Results of tests with various materials for control of this insect, as reported by Dr. George S. Langford of the University of Maryland, indicate that DDT, BHC, lindane, aldrin, chlordane, methoxychlor, rhothane dieldrin and toxaphene are effective, either as emulsions or as wettable powders.

Use at the rate recommended by the manufacturer on the container. Results of laboratory tests, in which the beetles were exposed to spraying and spray residues, indicate that aldrin, chlordane, rhothane, toxaphene, dieldrin and methoxychlor compare favorably with DDT when used in similar concentrations.

Paralysis and death of the beetles occurred in from 1 to 24 hours following application.

Gardening Questions

Q—Should forsythias and similar early flowering shrubs be pruned now or during the summer?

A—They are best pruned shortly after they have finished blooming so that the new growth for next summer will have a chance to form flower buds during this summer. Remove one third of the oldest wood which has bloomed in order to encourage the growth of new wood.

Q—We have a weeping willow tree which is almost covered with lice; the leaves are turning yellow and I am afraid it will die. I have sprayed with lime sulphur but it has had no effect. Can you advise me what to do?—G. P.

A—If the insects on your weeping willo are plant lice, they can be controlled by spraying with Black Leaf 40 plus the soap that is recommended on the container. For a large tree this would take a power sprayer.

Q—When should white potatoes be planted and how much seed should be used for the small home garden patch?

A—Potatoes are a cool crop and plantings later than mid-June are rarely successful. Purchase one half peck for each 100 feet of row, spacing the seed pieces 10 inches apart and four inches deep in the soil.

Century Of Library Work Outlined In New Booklet

OTTAWA (CP).—On the heels of the Massey Commission's recommendation that a national library be established at once, a little booklet has been published to show how far Canada has come in the library field in the past century.

It is 100 years ago that the first Public Library Act was passed in then Colonial Canada. The Canadian Library Association, holding its sixth annual conference in Toronto this week, is putting out the 40-page booklet of pictures to celebrate that anniversary.

The publication of "One Hundred Library Years is nicely timed to fall in behind the report of the Massey Royal Commission on the arts, letters and sciences that it's high time Canada ceased to be one of the few cizilized countries without a central, national library.

The booklet demonstrates that while a national library may have been unusually slow in emerging, its establishment would crown an effort that has been steady and ever-widening.

The story of that effort is told largely in pictures, stitched together with just enough words to carry the tale along. The pictures record historic landmarks, show the aristocratic big-city barons of the library world and their more humble small-town counterparts, the libraries of yesterday and those of today.

On one page is a picture of Halifax's impressive new Memorial Library, on another one showing the way Triple Island Lighthouse off the British Columbia coast gets its books by aerial cable.

One shows the American philantrophist Andrew Carnegie visiting Ottawa during the years when he poured out $2,500,000 towards the development of 124 Canadian libraries.

Others show the way libraries have branched out beyond their primary role of lending books to take in the fields of music, art, films and education, the way they have embraced specialized fields, such as mechanics, and the way they use bookmobiles to get literature into the back reaches of the country.

One section of the booklet coincides nicely with another recommendation of the Massey report, showing the use of microfilm by the CLA's Bibliographic Centre in Ottawa to copy rare Canadiana and ensure its retention for posterity.

Marx Optimistic About Chances Of Comedians

By BOB THOMAS.

HOLLYWOOD, June 19 (AP) —"This is the age of the octogenarians," observed Groucho Marx.

He was referring to the age of many of the top-notch comedians including himself, Jack Benny (39?), Jimmy Durante, Eddie Cantor, Fred Allen, George Burns, George Jessel, etc.

"A lot of my contemporaries sometimes sit around and moan about the future of comedy. Most of them are middle-aged and they wonder where the new comedians are coming from.

"I tell them that as long as the money is good, new comedians will come along. Sure, they do not have vaudeville to give them experience, as we did. But they will come from night clubs; they will even crawl out of the woodwork. Come to think of it, some of them have"

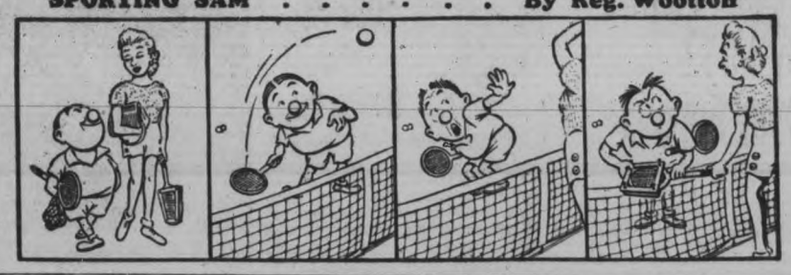
New Blood

Groucho cited some of the young comics who may replace those of his generation:

"That fellow Herb Shriner is terrific. I like Jack Carter; he's a little early Cantor and middle Milton Berle, but a great mimic. And then there's Lewis and Martin. And don't forget Danny Kaye, Danny Thomas, and Jack Carson, they are still fairly young."

Groucho, himself looking youngish, is currently wearing a gob's uniform for "They Sell Sailors Elephants." He and Bill Bendix portray sailors who woo Marie Wilson.

I menioned that most comics complained that TV was hard work.



"Not for me," he replied. "In fact, it's the only thing in my life that does not give me trouble. I get trouble from everything else—my family, my home, my cook, my agent, getting pinched by police.

"Of course, I was lucky to hit on a show that is a cinch for me to do. I couldn't stand doing one of those hour-long shows like Durante and Cantor, with all that memorizing."

Petes Victors By 14-12 Over Fergus

FERGUS June 19 (Special). — The Petes defeated Fergus Thistles 14-12 here last night to move back into a top-place OLA senior tie with St. Catharines. They finished a little stronger in the fourth quarter to win out, the score being tied 10-all to wind up the third chukker. It was quite even all through in a fairly clean game though it threatened to rough up in the third frame. All were minor penalties but for a five-minute mosconduct in the third to Dootch Vitarelli for protesting too strongly on a holding penalty.

The Peterborough Timbermen and St. Kitts have 14 points each with nine games played, while Mimico is next with 10, Brampton having eight, Toronto West Yorks and Hamilton Tigers being tied next with six points apiece and Fergus is in the cellar with four. Mimico plays at Peterborough on Friday.

A See-saw Tilt

Last night's encounter was speedy and a see-saw affair from start to finish, the Petes' punch in the dying minutes earning them the close decision. They led 4-3 in the first quarter, and had an 8-4 margin at the half but Thistles came on strong in the third to knot up the count at 10-10 before the final period. Petes were minus Ike Hildebrand, owing to the death of his father-in-law.

Dootch Vitarelli and Harry Wipper were leading lamp-lighters for Don Crowe's stalwarts, each hitting the mark three times. Bob Thorpe, Russ Slater and Nit O'Hearn scored a pair apiece. J. J. Hill and Bob Gear shone for the home squad with four markers each, with Elmer Harris good for two. Petes' players were: Wootton, Fitzgerald, O'Hearn, Wipper, Magee, Vitarelli, Dugan, Thorpe, Ashbee, Slater, Mason, Powless, Pammett, Whitnall, and Lalonde.

Summary:

First Quarter

Fergus—Hill (Harris)	4:15
Fergus—Smith (Lumley)	5:35

Out At The Kawartha

Cheered along by the "golfing-est" of weather many were the adherents of the slice, the hook and the dub who travelled the fairways of the Kawartha this past week-end. The increasing number of early morning golfers is substantial proof of an ever-increasing enthusiasm.

A number of matches got underway, and in the Kawartha Cup the following emerged victors in the first round: D. Menzies, F. Welford, D. Pearson, G. Myles, K. Lake.

In the President's Cup the following defeated some worthy opponents: M. Akers, B. Beggs, E. Hanbidge, B. Moulton, T. Mattucci.

The draw for the McRae Cup has been posted, and eight players appear.

The men's two ball and the mixed two ball remain the same as last week. However, indications are that these will come to life this week.

Considerable talk of the Canadian Open to be held at the Mississuagua Club, Toronto, is to be heard around the club. Signs point to a sizeable migration of players from the Kawartha journeying westward some time during July 4, 5, 6 and 7 to follow their favorites around this splendid course.

The tennis section have come along with news of their enjoyable Saturday trip to Cobourg.

The main event of the day, the mixed doubles, saw Rose and John Fletcher out-point Don Dummer and Marg Adams, two of Cobourg's top players, with scores of 6-2 and 6-4. Agnes Bubik, a newcomer this year, overcame her opponent by 6-3 and 6-2 in the ladies' singles. In the men's doubles, Don Lamont and Willard Elmsley were also victorious. However, sad to relate, Kawartha lost in 3-4 in total points, when in the deciding event, the second men's doubles, Trevor Clarke and Rod Stuart lost a close game 6-4 and 7-5 to their opposition.

Quakers Take Tilt

Quakers downed Woollens 7-4 in a speedy Fastball League fixture last evening at Quaker Park. Lomax pitched seven-hit ball, while Brooks and Coughlin gave up nine, each side having but two miscues. Lomax and Nokes hit homers, with Simmons belting a triple and Prescott a two-bagger. Quakers scored a run each in the first and eighth, two in the sixth and three next time up. Woollens counted three in the sixth and another in the seventh. Teams:

Quakers—Lomax p, Isaac 1b, Gunn c, Heafield ss, Prescott 2b, Land 3b, Horton cf Nolan rf, Simmons lf.

Woollens—Nokes c, G. Leonard 1b, McCarroll 3b, McMillen ss, Manbeck cf, Schell 2b, Borland rf Berry lf, Coughlin p, Brooks p, lf.

Umpires—Robson and White.

Royals, Wings Divide Doubleheader

By The Associated Press.

Montreal Royals enjoying a commanding lead in the International League pennant race, may find the sailing much easier if Mal Mallette continues his good work.

Mallette, bothered for years with a sore arm, turned in his third victory and first complete game Monday night in beating Rochester Red Wings 3-0 in the second game of a doubleheader.

Ed Yuhas, Red Wing right-hander, attempted the iron-man stunt. Yuhas stopped the Royals 5-0 on four hits in the opener but ran afoul of Mallette in the night-cap. Third-inning homers by Danny Lynch, Hal Rice and Russ Derry accounted for all of Rochester's runs.

Allows Three Singles

Mallette allowed only three singles, two of them scratch blows. He walked none and fanned three. Yuhas left for a pinch-hitter in the fifth, trailing 2-0.

The runner-up Chiefs edged Toronto Maple Leafs 3-2, scoring twice in the ninth to win. Vic Power singled home Charlie Weathers with the winning run.

Springfield's tail end Cubs upset the third place Buffalo Bisons 3-1. Alan Ihde stopped the Bisons on five hits and was in front all the way.

Alex Konikowski pitched Ottawa Giants to a 5-2 triumph over Baltimore Orioles. Marv Rickert accounted for both Oriole runs with his 10th home run.

LAWN BOWLING

By HERB MARTIN

With 26 rinks competing the annual Top Tailors tournament got away to a good start last evening. All rinks played two 10-end games, and when the score cards were handed in the following were listed as two-game winners: W. Jeffries, E. Wall, R. Knox, G. Coleman Sr., J. D. Fitzpatrick and F. H. Dearborn.

Most of the games were close and mighty well contested. Four of them went into extra ends and maybe there were a couple of one-sided scores but on the whole, the bowling was well above the average. The tournament continues this evening at 7:30 o'clock.

Just keep these dates in mind: the men's novice singles, Friday night, and the annual club singles next Monday night.

Omemee Blanked

OMEMEE, June 19 (ENS). — Sparked by Haddy Eakins three-hit pitching, Greenhurst Pavs blanked Omemee Combines 9-0 in a league game in Lindsay last night. The Pavs banged out 14 safeties off Johnson, while the Combines connected with three. Johnson sruck out two and Eakins whiffed 10. For the winners Richards starred at the plate, with two doubles and the only homer of the game in three times at bat. For the O's. Roy Crawford notched two singles and Johnson banged out the only other hit.

The win for the Pavs leaves them in undisputed possession of first place with five wins in as many starts. They meet the Combines again on the 27th in Omemee. Carruthers play in Omemee on Wednesday of this week. The line-ups:

Greenhurst — Deyell cf, McDougall 2b, James 3b, Richards 1b, Richmond lf. Growden rf, Parrish ss, Plumpton c, Eakins p; Eberts batted for James in the seventh.

Omemee — Stephenson 1b, Johnson p, O. Crawford 2b, R. Crawford ss, Parker 3b, Eggleton c, Parsons rf, Hickson cf, Pogue lf.

Umpires— Perry McIntosh, at plate, Bob Henry on base.

Yesterday's Stars

Batting: Monte Irvin, Giants—Singled with bases loaded in the 12th inning to score Hank Thompson with the run that beat the St. Louis Cardinals 5-4.

Pitching: Lou Brissie, Indians—Relieved Mike Garcia with the bases loaded and one out in the ninth, fanned Billy Goodman and retired Johnny Pesky on a grounder to preserve Cleveland's 9-7 victory over the Boston Red Sox.

SPORTS SHOW WINDOW

By CEC. PERDUE, Sports Editor

One meets a lot of chaps at a sportswriters' gathering—fellows you read but didn't know before. We met the Timmins columnist at Niagara Falls on Sunday—he came a long way for the scribes' meeting—and he knew Butts Johnstone, presently trying out with the Petes at third. Where he got the nickname "Butts" no one seems to know, but he has it. We were the only party from Central Ontario, but a raft of 'em showed up from Toronto, Hamilton, Western Ontario and, of course, the peninsula. Also, a number of guests, including Harold Banks, promotion manager of the Canadian Golf Association. Much talk about the Canadian Open in Toronto next month. Bert Niosi, too. Etc.

* * * * * *

Ivan Miller of Hamilton, prexy of the association, introduced an idea at the meeting which was the suggestion originally of Jim Vipond (Globe & Mail) and Wes McKnight, sportscaster. It received the full support of the gathering. They plan to stage a Meet-the-Stars Night in Toronto next March, charging a hefty fee to the members and public, the proceeds going to the Crippled Children's Fund. A number of big-name athletes will be on hand from the States and Canada. Like Joe DiMaggio or Ted Williams in ball, maybe Maurice Richard of hockey, several top men in football, Snead or Stranahan in golf, mayhap Joe Louis or some such in boxing. And so on. The idea has merit.

Kingsways Come Here

Kingsway Lumbermen play the Petes' senior balisters at 8.30 in Riverside Park tomorrow night. A Viaduct Major League baseball fixture and the second showing of Kingsways here this semester. Same squads meet on the Toronto diamond tonight. These Lumbermen have proven by far the best opposition the Petes have yet met on home terrain, their last clash in Riverside being a honey. The Whitehill crew have been pasting clubs like Croftons and Staffords, and even Oshawa Merchants—though the latter are gradually building up with imports and are now a short step in front of the third-place Lumber lads, the Petes being out in front yet. This should be a swell ball game to see.

* * * * * *

Jack Gatecliffe, who writes a lacrosse column several times a week in the St. Catharines Standard, remarked the other day anent indifferent OLA fan support there to date: "Just to prove that St. Catharines is still the hub of lacrosse in Ontario, it would be pleasantly refreshing and a boost to team morale to have 1,500 or more fans giving out with plenty of support at the next home game." Hah, that's considered a rather small crowd for senior lacrosse in this borough, which doesn't claim to be the hub of any Ontario sports—though we rate ourselves as a pretty fair athletic centre. The Petes' gutted-stickers regularly draw 2,000 or more, and have hit considerably over that mark for some melees. A big city and district following.

Petes Pluck Thistles

The Petes had to step briskly in the fourth frame at Fergus last night to eke out a 14-12 OLA win o'er the Thistles, as J. J. Hill and Bob Gear proved potent point-getters. But so were Dootch Vitarelli, Harry Wipper, Bob Thorpe, Russ Slater and Nit O'Hearn. A good game with the Thistles coming closer in every start. Ike Hildebrand was an absentee owing to the death of his father-in-law. Hamilton beat Brampton the other night, and latest standing we have shows St. Kitts and Petes atop with 14 points each, Mimico with 10, Hamilton and Brampton eight apiece, Toronto six, and Fergus four. Chuck Rowan sends along a list of top snipers to June 18, Don McPhail leading with 33 points, Dorney having 32, McMahon 27, Factor and Ferri 25, Horwood and Garbutt 22, Wipper and McDonald 21. Mimico is here Friday.

Ashby's defeated Woollens 12-4 in girls' softball last gloaming with E. Brown pitching neat ball, D. Callan fielding well and M. Boyce smacking the apple hard and often. R. Naylor led the losers at bat and J. Walling hit a triple. S. Harris and R. Naylor went good defensively. Marines, who recently won 7-3 in Cobourg, were downed 17-7 by the strong Westclox femmes in the other joust of the twin bill. M. Selkirk was in fine flinging form and her mates hit hard. M. Owen, B. Rumble of Clockers, and M. Gillen and M. Behan of Marines were neat afield. J. Hart led them at bat, as A. Anderson and B. Rumble topped Westclox. Tomorrow, it's: Woollens vs. Marines, and Cobourg vs. Westclox.

P of W Victorious

Prince of Wales intermediates of the School Softball League edged King Edward 9-8 yesterday in a nifty fray. They tallied twice in the first inning adding four in the third and three more in the fifth to win it. King Edward got a run in the second, three next heat and made a real bid with four markers in the fifth. Scharfe led the hitters. Teams:

Prince of Wales—Jay, Foster, Douglas, Aulbrook, Morley, Francis Scharfe, Ashby, Faulkner.

King Edward—Murphy, Rose, R. Rowe, W. Rowe, Stevens, Ball, Collins, Byers, Vogelsang McIntosh.

Umpire—E. Druery.

Remember When—

Kathleen McKane of England defeated Helen Wills Moody of the United States 6-2 6-2 on Wimbledon's courts to clinch the Wightman tennis trophy for England 27 years ago today. The United States had won the cup the year before, 1923, when it was first offered for competition.

Westclox Gain Easy One Over Marines

Westclox racked up another Girls' Softball League victory at the East City Bowl last evening, this time by a 17-7 score at the expense of Outboard Marines. They bashed out 15 safe blows off the delivery of J. Hart and had but two miscues behind four-hit hurling by M. Selkirk. Marines booted three, though M. Gillen and M. Behan went good in the field for them. M. Owen and B. Rumble stood out for the Clockers in this one defensively.

B. Rumble hit a triple and two singles in four, A. Anderson had three for four, and M. Owen belted a homer and single in six times to bat for Westclox. J. Hart got two of Marines' four bingles, 11 of them going down on strikes. Westclox broke out for four runs in the third and three more next time up. They were held then till the seventh when three tallied, and they piled up the count with a five-run outburst in the eighth. Teams:

Marines: M. Behan ss, V. Page 3b, M. Gillen c, A. LaPointe 2b, J. Hart p, E. Mantle lf, M. Connelly cf, M. Walling rf, E. Whittaker rf,B. McMahon 1b.

Cobourg Defeats Kawartha Team 4-3

COBOURG, June 19—Cobourg successfully opened its defence of the Kawartha Tennis League title over the weekend, defeating Kawartha, a Peterborough team, 4-3.

With three of Cobourg's top players out of action, a pair of newcomers to the team—Art McIntosh and Del Dillon—turned the trick. Their men's doubles win broke a three-all tie.

Central Triumphs

Central seniors hammered out a 23-1 School Softball League semi-final playoff win over Prince of Wales yesterday, and now meet King George on Wednesday at Riverside in finals. Five hurlers could not stem the tide of base hits, while S Brooks hurled two-hit ball for the winners and fanned six in five frames. J. Matthews hit a four-run homer in the fourth. D. Patterson pulled off a fine catch for the victors. J. Heron fielded well for the losers and J. Kent was best at bat for them. They got their runi n the first, whlie Central had six each in the first and fourh, four in second, and seven in the third. Teams:

Prince o Wales — Downer 2b, Kent ss, Godfrey 3b, Brown rf, Coit 1b, Heron c, Chambo c, Northrop lf, Johnson p.

Cantor Scores 10-Round Win Over Savoie

TORONTO, June 19 (CP). — Solly Cantor kept his left hand in Armand Savoie's face Monday night and gained a 10-round lightweight decision before 2,000 fans in a Maple Leaf Gardens main boxing bout.

Cantor, defeated by Savoie by a technical knockout three months ago, kept Savoie at a distance with his left hand most of the night. The Montrealer couldn't get close and had to be prodded several times by referee Sam Luftspring to speed things up.

Luftspring warned Savoie to "get fighting or get out of the ring." Savoie obliged with a series of rushes but couldn't dent Cantor's defence.

Cantor's win was revenge for the TKO three months ago. After that fight he said he was butted by Savoie and was unable to continue. His fight was a radical improvement over his earlier showing.

"I only really hit him twice during the whole fight," Savoie said after the bout. "I could not catch him."

Both men weighed in at 136½ pounds.

A Canadian Press scorecard gave eight rounds to Cantor and two to Savoie.

Savoie said the referee's prodding ruined his plan of attack. The Montrealer said his plan was to play it safe and then bear down suddenly.

Woollens Lose To Ashby's In Lasses' Loop

Ashby's trimmed Woollens 12-4 last night at the Bowl in a Girls' Softball League encounter. A seven-run splash in the fourth did the trick in a tight game otherwise. It was a case of timely hitting by Ashby's, plus good fielding behind steady hurling. E. Brown kept eight hits scattered after the first frame and fanned five, while L. Derry had six strikeouts but was belted in a couple of innings, and her support was wobbly.

D. Callan and E. Brown stood out defensively for the victors, with M. Boyce smashing out four hits in five tries, including a long three-bagger. D. Martin had a double and two singles in six times up. For Woollens, V. Revill and R. Naylor pulled off a double play, the latter and S. Harris being solid in the field throughout the game. J. Walling hit a triple, none of the losers getting more than one safe blow. Teams:

Woollens: S. Harris 2b, R. McInroy cf, J. Walling 3b, C. Ferguson rf, L. Derry p, D. Dunk ss, R. Naylor 1b, M. Cavanagh lf, V. Revill lf, D. Smith c.

Ashby's: D. Martin ss, J. Reynolds rf, J. Merritt rf, S. Wakeford c, E. Brown p, M. Freeman 1b, J. Dunk 3b, D. Callan cf, M. Boyce lf, D. Callan 2b.

Woollens	300	000	001— 4 8 5
Ashby's	011	702	10x—12 12 1

Umpires: Mowry and Whiteside.

Cleveland Indians Outslug Red Sox By 9-7

By JOE REICHLER,
Associated Press Sports Writer.

Baseball's big question — how good are the White Sox?—may get its answer in the next 72 hours.

Opening with a doubleheader today, Chicago's "rags-to-riches" club takes on the defending champion Yankees in an important four-game series in New York.

Both clubs rested Monday as only six teams saw action. Cleveland moved a step closer to the American League leaders, outslugging the Red Sox in Boston 9-7. Bob Feller, although hit hard, staggered to his 10th victory against one defeat. Harry Taylor was the loser.

The New York Giants nipped the St. Louis Cards 5-4 in 12 innings and the Chicago Cubs shaded the Boston Braves 5-4. The Giants trail the league leading Brooklyn Dodgers by 5½ games.

The Yankees must sweep the four games to displace the Sox at the top of the league, as Chicago leads by 3½ games.

Feller was supported by a 14-hit attack Monday and needed all of the safeties. He went into the last half of the ninth with a 9-4 bulge and appeared on the way to an easy win.

Trouble Starts

But Ted Williams received a free pass. Feller retired Vern Stephens but walked Bobby Doerr Manager Al Lopez summoned Mike Garcia who walked Clyde Vollmer to load the bases. Walt Dropo singled in two runs and Les Moss drove in another. Lou Boudreau walked to load the bases.

Lopez then called in Lou Brissie. The lefthander was superb, striking out the dangerous Billy Goodman and getting Johnny Pesky on a grounder.

Sam Chapman of the Indians got four hits including a home run. Al Rosen and Ray Boone also homered.

A double by Bruce Edwards followed by Bob Borowski's single in the last half of the ninth broke up a 4-4 tie and gave the Cubs their 5-4 win over Boston.

Monte Irvin's single off the left field wall scored Hank Thompson in the 12th inning with the run that won for the Giants over the Cards.

Sal Maglie, who relieved starter Dave Koslo in the ninth when the Cards tallied twice to tie the score at 4-4, was the winner. It was his 11th win, tops in the majors.

Whitey Lockman Willie Mays and Alvin Dark homered for the Giants.

Rangers Work With Mohawks

NEW YORK, June 19 (AP). — New York Rangers of the National Hockey League entered into a working agreement with Cincinnati Mohawks of the American League.

The Rangers sent Pat Egan, colorful veteran defenceman, to the Mohawks in the first move of the new deal.

In Cincinnati it was announced Clint (Snuffy) Smith, former star Ranger centre, has been named to succeed King Clancy as coach of the Mohawks. Smith lead the Rangers' St. Paul club of the United States League last season.

Clancy, former National League star and referee, may wind up as referee in chief of the American League. American League president Maurice Podoloff said "Clancy is being considered for the post."

The Mohawks last year were a farm club of Montreal Canadiens.

Egan, 33 was a great favorite with Ranger fans. He had played in 403 consecutive games. Each also saw service with New York Americans, Detroit Red Wings and Boston Bruins.

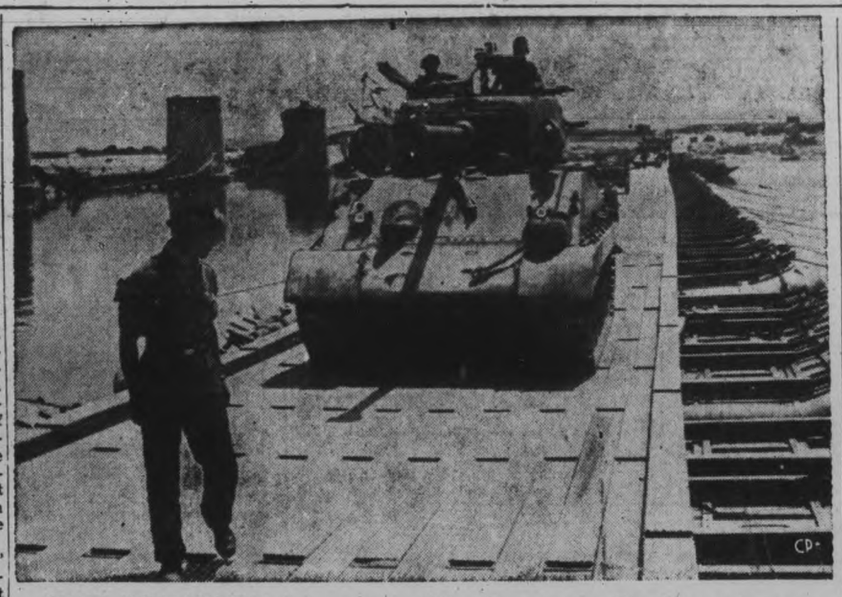
AWAITS SHIPMENT — Huge piles of grain, such as this, heaped on the ground awaiting shipment are a common sight in many parts of Saskatchewan. A large amount of the 1950 crop is just now being threshed and a shortage of box cars plus lack of elevator storage space has forced farmers to pile it in the open fields.

Frost Defends Operations Of Ont. Boards

TORONTO, June 19 (CP) — Premier Frost in a statement Monday defended the operations of provincial boards and commissions exercising semi-judicial functions.



In a prepared statement issued to the press, he upheld their power to hand down decisions not subject to appeal through the courts.

The premier's statement referred specifically to a judgment of Mr. Justice G. A. Gale of the Ontario Supreme Court, quashing the certification of the Toronto Newspaper Guild as bargaining agent for employees in the circulation department of the Toronto Globe and Mail.

"A great deal of consideration" had been given to the Gale judgment of June 1, "and its effect on governmental boards and commissions which exercise semi-judicial functions," the statement said.

"While, above everything else, not wanting . . . to deny natural justice or a fair hearing, one could not think of throwing administrative matters into the courts. Only chaos could result from this . . .

"If care is always taken to give a fair trial and a fair hearing of issues before our boards, then, of course, there is no possibility of this."

US Planes, RCAF Plan Air Exercises

NEW YORK, June 19—(CP)—The United States Air Force, working jointly with the RCAF, will hold air defence exercises throughout most of the country this weekend.

An estimated 210,000 civilian members of the ground observers corps will work around the clock Saturday and Sunday in the biggest test yet held.

The RCAF air defence command at St. Hubert, Que., will handle the Canadian operation.

The operation is the first in which the eastern and western air defence forces will be working jointly and at night. It is intended to locate weak spots in the overall defence set-up.

Post-Atomic Painting Started By Dali

PARIS, June 19—(AP)—Salvador Dali read his new mystic manifesto to a group of reporters Monday night and assured them that a new epoch of post-atomic painting was starting "with me."

"The young scientists who have advanced into the depths of modern science all are mystics," Dali said. When artists catch up with scientists, they, too, will be mystcs, he added.

Dali's credo? It's clear. Translated from the French, a part goes like this:

"The paroxitic crisis of Dalinien mysticism is based primarily upon the progress of the special sciences of our time, especially upon quantum physics."

Try To Sell Seaway To Missouri Basin

OMAHA, Neb., June 19 (AP)—Backers of the St. Lawrence seaway did their best Monday to "sell" it to the Missouri river basin.

The setting was a 15-state governors conference of inland America, called by Governor G. Mennen Williams of Michigan and Governor Val Peterson of Nebraska to discuss common resource problems and "mutuality of interest."

"The only obstacle (to the St. Lawrence seaway) which cannot be removed with dredges and blasting powder is the stubborn opposition of those who are looking at narrow sectional interests and forgetting the interests of inland America," Governor Williams said.

The proposed seaway and power project is "a prime example of a natural resources project that will contribute markedly to the nation's defence," army secretary Frank Pace Jr., told the conference.

Fine Speeding Boats

TORONTO, June 19 — (CP) — Owners of three water taxi companies and two power boat operators were fined a total of $100 Monday for speeding in restricted areas of the Toronto water front. Capt. Edward C. Hopkins of the Toronto Harbor Commission said he had clocked the boat operators at speeds ranging from nine to 18 miles an hour in lagoons where the speed limit is six miles an hour.

Former Hungarian Count Tells Rotarians of Home

"Hungary As I Knew It" might be the appropriate title for an address given by a former Hungarian count and a present resident of Peterborough County at the Rotary luncheon meeting, Monday.

Paul Cziraki, who owns a farm at Nogie's Creek, came to this country in 1948. Born in Hungary, he came to the United States in 1947, following a four months' stay in a displaced persons' camp and a six months' stay in Sweden. During the Second World War he was a commissioned officer in the Hungarian army.

Inherited Title

From his own explanation, the speaker was born into an upper class family. His maternal grandfather was first premier of Hungary following the revolution against Australian domination in 1848. From his father's family he inherited the title of count. However, the influence of the middle class, effective during his university army life, developed strong sympathy ties to this class.

He graduated from a Hungarian university with a bachelor of science of agriculture degree and then followed life in the Hungarian army.

Mr. Cziraki touched briefly on the historical, political, economic and social aspects of Hungary up until the end of the Second World War.

Chiefly Farms

He explained that agriculture has dominated the industrial picture because of the excellent flat farmlands that make up the greater part of the country. This dominance of agriculture gave Hungary its pattern for social, political and religious development.

The nine and half million population was divided roughly into three classes—large landowners with 85,000 to 100,000 acres, middle class owners with 200 acres and small landowners with six to seven acres.

Following the 1848 rebellion, initiated and fought by the middle class against Austria, resulted in the establishment of Hungary as a separate country, with a type of semi-democratic republic political set-up.

Communist Threat

The end of the First World War brought the first threat of Communism which was soon pushed out of the country.

"In 1938, we could see frightening shadows falling over our country," Mr. Cziraki said. "National Socialism, under Hitler, was threatening from the west, which was supported by a strong minority of German middle class landowners. At the same time the small landowners were being drawn into growing industry and brought under the pressure of Communistic beliefs.

"My people knew that to oppose these two strong streams would be suicide," the speaker continued. "And in 1941 the German troops entered the country. When we were given arms by Germany we fought the Russians, and when we could pick up arms ourselves we fought the Germans. This type of game was also going on in civilian life. My father was a leader of the Hungarian underground against Communists."

Politics Unstable

Politics, the speaker explained, as being very unstable with governments switching almost every month.

Turning to a brief description of the capital city, Budapest, at this time, he explained it as a city of gaiety and music with people living by the knowledge that life in this city would never be the same again.

In 1944 the Nationalist Socialists took over rule.

During his address, Mr. Cziraki referred to a few incidents which happened to him and his family during war years. One of them was a trek to Sweden which was successful in spite of severe food scarcity.

The speaker was introduced by T. J. Carley, KC.

The following guest Rotarians and guests were introduced by Charles Allen: Harold Jobbitt, Bradford, Pennsylvania; Charles Robertson, Brantford; H. H. Mathews, Port Arthur; Fred Lockhart, Toronto; J. H. Albard, Wassenaar, Holland; Dr. D. E. Vogan, Mercer Point; Art Perks, Rockford, Illinois; Rev. A. A. Mathews of George St. United Church; Carmen Jerry, Toronto; Art MacKinnon, Toronto; C. R. Dupp, Holland; Jack Harper, Toronto; Stewart McGill and Bruce Johnston, both of Peterborough.

EXPAND AIR CADET CORPS

The Air Cadet League of Canada will expand its present strength of 17,000 to 22,500 by 1952, president Harold L. Garner, general manager of the Peterborough Examiner, said Monday in Port Arthur. Mr. Garner, on a speaking tour in support of the expansion plan, said two new air cadet squadrons will be formed in the Port Arthur area.

Horses Rebel

Two horses being hauled south on Highway 28 Monday began to act skittish and overturned the stake-body truck in which they were riding. The driver, Jesse Spencley of Burleigh Falls, escaped injury and so did the horses. The accident occurred a half mile south of Burleigh Falls. Damage to the truck is estimated at $250.

Parking Meters Take $110,019 In Four Years

Parking meters have contributed $110,019.81 to the city treasury in the four years since they were set up as collecting posts.

City Clerk Outram mentioned this total of receipts in his monthly report Monday night to the council. Meters were put into operation on May 12, 1947, and the amount that is credited to them covers the period to the end of May 1951.

Incidentally, parking tickets at one dollar each, were down last month to 403 from the 616 of May last year. Meter receipts for the month also showed a slight decline from $2,697.83 to $2,610.

Total receipts for May at the office of the City Clerk were $7,-209.54, including police court $1,-662.06; licences $1,045.08; miscellaneous $1,825; meters $2,610; rest room $67.40.

Parking stickers brought in $50; bicycle licences $684; dog tags $272.

Of the 175 births recorded here in May (726 for five months) 107 were to city residents, and eight to unmarried mothers. The others were to rural residents.

Electricians Seek 25c-50c Wage Hikes

The International Brotherhood of Electrical Workers (AFL) are now engaged in contract negotiations with three local electrical contractors. Increases of from 25 to 50 cents an hour are being asked.

Twenty-five electricians, members of Local 1655, are negotiating their first master agreement with contractors Gordon Hall, Grant and Loucks, and Miller-Powell.

The man are asking $1.50 an hour. They say present rates vary between $1 and $1.25 an hour.

On the negotiating committee are president Don Delong, Ed McIlwain, Bernard Pearson and James Cameron.

Map To Remain In Plans For City Hall

The proposed map of the Peterborough district to be in colors in the terrazza floor of the new city hall was lifted from the level of debate to decision by the council Monday night in a motion by Ald. T. D. Miller, seconded by Ald. Graham.

The question of local geography is mosaic form was considered by the finance committee a week ago. Its report to the council was: "That the whole mater of the terrazzo for the lobby map for the city hall, as proposed, be referred to a small committee to be named by the Mayor, and that this committee arrange to submit its report for the next meeting of council."

The committee had been informed that the cost of the map, which is confined to a Peterborough neighboring area of about 40 miles or thereabouts, would be $3,425 as reported by the architects, Marani and Morris, Toronto. It was explained that the original price of $1,425 was quoted largely as a "guess" when costs of the building were approaching the stage of letting the contract.

Not In Conract

The floor detail was not included in the contract because this work is of such a specialized kind that there would be little or no competition if prices were invited. As the building proceeds to completion, the finish of the lobby had to be considered recently by the architects, and the quotation they received was $3,425.

The committee discussion was reported last week, including the position of some members that the difference of $2,000 was too small to "quibble about" in a building of that total cost and importance.

Finance report was adopted, and as instructed by its clause, Mayor Swanston named Alderben Miller, Young and Anglesey as the special committee to consider the proposed floor design.

Executor Disturbed

His Worship also said that the recent discussion here and the suggestion of possible omission of the lobby feature had reached Mr. J. W. Hungerford, head of the National Trust Co., executor of the will of he late W. G. Morrow, whose large bequest made the new city hall possible.

"The information I have is that Mr. Hungerford is disturbed by the news, and that if there was to be any change in the plan it should be taken up with them," Mayor Swanston said. It was afterwards mentioned that Mr. Hungerford had been most favorably impressed by the floor design when it was first laid before him, and ever since then, and also that the executor had not interferred in any way with the progress of the planning and building.

Ald. Miller recalled that Mayor Swanston was at the London convention a week ago when the committee vote was a tie, and that the action then was indecisive.

For those reasons he proceeded with his motion to decide at once that the lobby floor map should be incorporated in the building at the cost reported by Marani and Morris.

RESURFACING JOB

Warren Construction Co. has begun removal of the asphalt on several sections of Charlotte St. that are to be resurfaced. That is a hint to motor traffic to avoid that traffic artery until the work is compleed.

Canada Needs Nationalism Fisher Tells Teachers

John Fisher, noted Canadian radio announcer and lecturer, deplored the lack of nationalism in Canada during a two-hour speech to the Peterborough Teachers' Institute Monday night at Queen Mary School auditorium. Many people, he said, believe that nationalism is out-of-date but he assured the teachers that it isn't. Nationalism—pride of the country—"is a nice thing if it is not abused," referring to Adolph Hitler, Mussolini and Stalin

Mr. Fisher said that Canadians are not telling the Canadian story and have no enthusiasm to promote Canada. When Newfoundland "entered the fold, it was a beautiful illustration of Canadian life", but Canadians, he exampled, did little promoting.

He then demonstrated how the Americans, British, then later the Russians would have taken over Newfoundland. While the Americans were overgenerous, the British with the attitude "Take time out to think it over" or "Let's not be rash", Canada was a "happy medium". The Russians, he explained, would gradually take over and we would "soon never hear of Newfoundland again".

Partnership

The Canadian way, according to Mr. Fisher, was similar to a brother transaction or a partnership, each treating the other as an equal with the feeling "that while they were getting something they were giving as well".

"Canadians are compromise artists". He added that the "world must proceed by compromising".

Canadians, he explained, love to see nationalism in other countries but consider their country "soft in the head" or "queer" when they start to praise or visit the country.

"Canadians haven't the thirst to see their own country like the Yanks have".

Hollywood Effect

He dealt briefly with the Hollywood effect on Americans on their views towards Canada, a land of Indians, ice, snow and mounted policemen. The result is that Canadians are "moaning". The Swedes and the Norwegians make use of the resources at hand to promote their countries.

From Newfoundland to British Columbia, Southern Ontario to the Arctic Circle, Mr. Fisher discussed the "golden opportunties." Iron in the east and oil in the west will give Canada a stronger economic distribution if developed, predicted Mr. Fisher. Up until now, he said, when compared to Ontario, the eastern and western provinces "have been dragging their heels".

Iron ore along the St. Lawrence and Labrador will demand a dense population during the development and later, he said, and new cities will be formed. Alberta's oil and other natural resources such as "the scenic gems of the world", salt, cattle land and coal will even better Ontario's economic standing.

"Alberta can't help but win".

City Buys Land For $100 Bargain

City council gets possession of 24 feet of frontage on the south side of Charlotte St. for $100 from the Crown Assets Disposal Corporation, an agency of the federal government.

At $4 a foot that's a whopping bargain even in the estimate of the layman whose realty venturing necessarily holds him to the fringes of the city. At $500 a foot, a price certainly nearer the actual value, possibly still under it, the cost of the lot would be $12,000. However, that is in the field and approximations of the real estate dealers.

It may be recalled that the city made a substantial profit on the lot at the northeast corner of George and Sherbrooke Streets, which the council bought from the government and sold to Dominion Stores.

The Charlotte St. lot is more than 100 feet in length. It is being acquired by the city for the widening of Louis St. The rest of the 24-foot strip on the east side of Louis St., extending to King St., was bought from the Ferguson estate. The council is now in a position to proceed with the proposed widening whenever it wishes to do so, and pending the final clearance of the Charlotte St. corner property of its buildings.

That block was bought by the federal government for the site of the postal-customs building, and in the negotiations it was pointed out to the postal department and Crown Assets that the widening of Louis St. should be a convenience and general advantage to the new federal building, whenever it is erected and doing business.

D. F. Drummond Dies, Age 91

Duncan Ferguson Drummond, 759 George St. N., well known and highly respected resident of Peterborough city and county for many years, died in hospital Monday following a lengthy illness.

Mr. Drummond was born 91 years ago in Percy township, Northumberland county, son of Alexander Drummond and Mary Macfarlane. A few years later he moved with his family to Otonabee township where he farmed until 1899. At this time Mr. Drummond and Senator J. J. Duffus formed a partnership and secured the Massey-Harris implement dealer agency for Peterborough area. Mr. Drummond remained with this company 33 years.

In 1910 this partnership was dissolved by mutual consent and Mr. Drummond carried on alone until 1923, when he went into partnership with Stuart Hall and this continued until the formers retirement in 1932.

Nine years later Mr. Drummond purchased the W. H. Hamilton grocery store on Simcoe St., but was never actively engaged in the store business. He bought it for a nephew but the Second World Ware intervened and the nephew lost his life overseas.

A staunch church supporter, he was a member of St. Paul's Presbyterian Church until church union in 1925, when he joined St. Andrew's United Church. He was an elder of the latter for approximately 25 years. He was also a member of Otonabee IOOF No. 13 and of the Canadian Order of Foresters.

Mr. Drummond's wife, the former Maude Adams predeceased him. He is survived by one nephew, A. D. White, Toronto, a second nephew Jack White predeceased him.

The funeral will be held from the Comstock Funeral Home Wednesday at 3 p.m. The Rev. M. J. Aiken of St. Andrew's United Church will conduct the service. Burial will be in Little Lake Cemetery.

CGE Vote Result Symbol of Decency Or Betrayal—Conroy

"We are opposed to UE leadership, not just because they are Communists, but because they are no trade unionists," James B. Carey, international president of the IUE-CIO, told a CCL rally Monday night.

Mr. Carey, one of the two main speakers billed to address the CCL rally, spoke briefly in support of the IUE in its present struggle to oust the left-wing UE at the Petesborough CGE plant.

He urged the production workers at the plant to bear down hard in their electioneering between now and the Friday midnight deadline so that the IUE will get an "overwhelming vote—not just a victory but an overwhelming victory.'

A CCL spokesman estimated the crowd who came to the rally at 5,500. It included members of both IUE locals in Peterborough, and members of other CCL locals who are supporting the IUE in its fight to supplant the UE as bargaining agent.

Arrived Late

The committee in charge of arrangements were kept on tenderhooks until shortly before 11 p.m. At one time it looked as though Mr. Carey would not get to the city on time.

At 2 p.m. he left Omaha, Nebraska, by plane after attending a meeting dealing with inflation in the United States. He had to charter a private plane at Malton and fly to Oshawa (the pilot could not land in Peterborough because there is no airport here); and the final leg of his journey was a race to the Brock Street Summer Gardens by car.

A patient crowd filled in the interval by listening to extemporaneous speeches by IUE and other CCL officials and selections by the Citizens' Band.

Mr. Carey wasted no time when he arrived. He ripped into the UE, declared they were no union at all, and said their present gains in the United States are only obtained by "hitchhiking."

On June 26—when CGE workers are balloting on the union of their choice—the IUE-GE chain in the United States will open negotiations, he said.

Same Interests

He linked the union interests of the two countries.

"Workers in Canada and the United States must stand together, shoulder to shoulder, for their trade union rights."

The IUE president also criticized the General Electric Co. He said they oppose profit sharing, prospective wage increases, and even the present cost-of-living provisions

In the last quarter of 1950 he said that the electrical industry in the United States made 62.4 per cent profits, or 25 per cent after all taxes were taken off.

He described this as "immoral, the kind of thing that shouldn't be engaged in anytime."

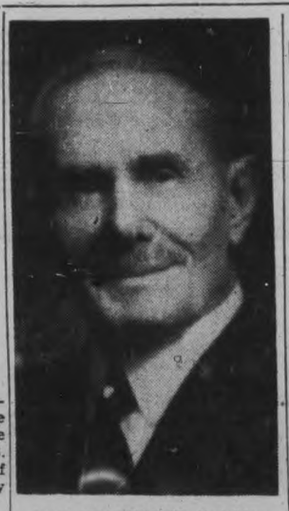
"You are on a great crusade to see to it that the working people have a chance to make their countries a better place to live in," concluded Mr. Carey. "Vote for a union that will serve the workers and the people of our respective countries."

Pat Conroy, secretary-treasurer of the CCL, launched a bitter verbal attack on the UE.

"As the vote goes, so Peterborough will become a symbol of decency in the trade union movement or a symbol of betrayal—a community willing to choose the Soviet Union against its own native land."

Vote For Soviet

"A vote for UE is a vote for the Soviet foreign office against your own country . . . it is a choice that makes Canada part of the Soviet Union."



Until five years ago the communists in the trade union movement were generally considered the radical wing, he said, and there was much sympathy with their position. The majority of trade unionists felt that a person had a right to membership regardless of his politics.

"But it has become clear in the last five years that they are only nominally trade unionists. Behind that facade, claiming to be spokesmen for the rank and file, they are actually serving the foreign office of the Soviet Union."

Legitimate trade unions have rejected unions dominated by the communist party "now and forever," said Mr. Conroy.

"So-called Canadian citizens belonging to so-called Canadian

22 PCVS Cadets To Attend Summer Camp

Twenty-two cadets from PCVS will attend the annual Ontario cadet summer camp June 28 to Aug. 16 at Camp Ipperwash on Lake Huron, 30 miles from Sarnia.

This year the camp will include trades training courses of seven weeks duration in motor mechanics, signalling and medical assisting. Camp activities will also include general cadet training, swimming and water safety courses conducted by the Canadian Red Cross Society.

All the instructors are especially selected to instruct teen-age boys and many are school teachers. Due to the extension of the camp period this year no teacher-instructors will be attending from Peterborough.

Those attending from PCVS will be: William Bruce, William Burgomaster, Harry Hele, John Colby, Ronald Forbes, Richard Hamlin, Gordon McClennan, Clifford Medland, Robert Nicholls, Morris Parry, Scott Pearton, Scott Allin, Robert Armitage, Robert Burrows, Ronald Cooper, Robert Corp, William Cruikshank, Ronald Davis, Richard McClennan, Donald Martin, Douglas Jennings and Frank Bennett.

At the completion of the courses a bonus of $60 will be received by the boys.

Civic Arena Turns Over $4000 Profit

Receipts $40,551.68 In Operation Recreation Plant

Civic Arena committee sent the council Monday night a cheque for $4,000 out of its revenue from operations of the Park St. recreation plant for the year ending May 31.

Assuming that the members of the committee would carry on, they were re-appointed for another year in a motion by Ald. Herb Young, seconded by Ald. Norman Graham.

An attached financial, audited, statement, showed total receipts for the year at $40,551.68, and expenses $37,659.51, leaving a revenue surplus of $2,892.17. Add to that the surplus of $7,737.23 carried forward from the previous year, and the current surplus amounts to $10,629.40.

Items in the year's receipts were: senior hockey $10,262.24; junior hockey $2,217.25; other hockey $2,560.08; skating $6,116.; refreshment booth $14,595,12; rental and commissions $4,800.99.

Some of the details of expenditure were wages and salaries $14,540.83; light, water, etc., $3,-650.12. equipment, etc., $2,165.25; booth expenditures, largely merchandise $11,053.95; insurance $2,-201.38.

Mayor Swanston reminded the council that the committee's year in office had expired at the end of May. He endorsed the tribute of Ald Young that the Arena committee was doing a good job.

MR. CANADA "LOCKS THROUGH"

The Canal Act may have been violated on Monday at Lock 22 above Nassau when a trim craft three and one-half feet from tip to tip and drawing about six inches draft was locked through downstream by lockmaster Ed Parberry. It looked, at times, like a small powerful submarine with a built-in broad flat rudder but when it surfaced its bow, or nose tip, it was a large 60-pound beaver. The animal had sneaked into the lock while some boat was passing through and became trapped. It explored every underwater nook and cranny but there was no outlet for such a big fellow. "There's nothing for it but to lock him through," said Parberry as he put his weight behind the valve gate capstan.—NN.

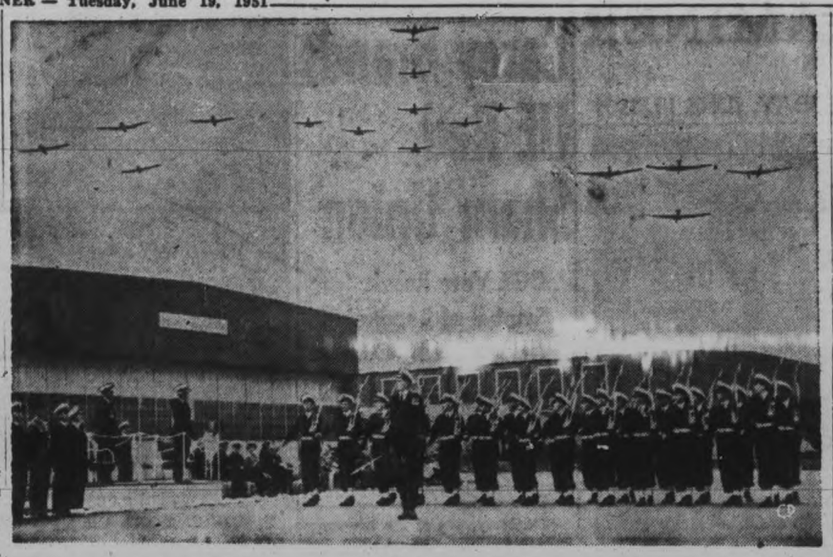
350 Students Take Trip To Guelph OAC

BRIDGENORTH, June 19 (ENS).—Three hundred and fifty children from schools in Smith Harvey and North Monaghar Townships attended farm and home week at Ontario Agricultural College in Guelph Friday.

Nine chartered buses took the children, and some of their parents, on the 145-mile trip. Twenty to 25 children from each school went along.



Included in the fleet was one bus-load of children and parents from Curve Lake.

At 11 a.m., the group arrived in Guelph and each bus-load stayed together. They were shown farm animals and ways of caring for them, calves with broken legs being mended and a dog being dissected to discover the cause of its death.

They visited the sunken gardens and the greenhouses with their beds of native and tropical plants. In the livestock parade, they saw prize cattle and a flock of sheep tended by two sheepdogs.

Girls in the group of Peterborough County students were most interested in McDonald Hall, where home economics is taught. The boys' fancies were caught by farm machinery and implements.

At 5.45 p.m., the nine buses left Guelph and a tired load of children arrived in Peterborough at 9.30. The trip was planned and conducted by the Teachers' Federation.

GOODBYE BOSS—This was the way the Navy said goodbye to their commanding officer when he left Dartmouth, N.S., for a new post in Ottawa. Capt. Edward W. Finch-Noyes is shown taking the salute from an honor guard as aircraft fly overhead. He is now deputy chief of naval personnel at Naval Headquarters, Ottawa.

J. ROYDEN GILLEY who has been appointed as director of University Extension at University of Toronto. Mr. Gilley succeeds Dr. W. J. Dunlop who retires July 1. Mr. Gilley will assume responsibility for the direction of a department which has now an approximate enrolment of 9,500 students. It conducts the general course for teachers, leading to the B. A. degree; evening tutorial classes, courses in business and industry, Royal Ontario Museum courses, extension lectures throughout the province, short courses, and correspondence courses for a number of business organizations.

Dr. R. A. Kelly Speaks To Buckhorn Women

BUCKHORN, June 19. — The regular meeting of the Buckhorn WI was held in the Community Hall with a good attendance of the members. President Mrs. B Hall had charge of the meeting.

An invitation to be the guests of the Apsley Institute in September was accepted.

A play by the young people of Selwyn, "Raggety Anne," is to be sponsored by the Buckhorn WI on June 19.

Dr. R. A Kelly, medical officer of health of Peterborough was the guest speaker. He spoke on "Preventive Medicine," which was very informative.

Lunch was served by the hostess, Mrs. N. Windover, and her assistants.

Sentence Quashed

TORONTO, June 19 — (CP) — George Volaine had a two-year penitentiary sentence for theft quashed by appeal court yesterday because the date on a court charge sheet was wrong. Volaine said evidence at his trial, where he was convicted of theft of $200 and a radio, showed the theft took place Feb. 3, 1950. The charge sheet listed it as Feb. 3, 1951.

Authorize $500,000

WASHINGTON, June 19 (AP) —The House of Representatives Monday passed a Bill to authorize spending $500,000 in 1952 for further research and control of sea lampreys in the Great Lakes. It now goes to the Senate. The eel-like lamprey has virtually wiped out commercial fisihng in parts of the lakes.

Murder Charge Laid By Police

CRYSTAL BEACH, June 19 (CP)—A murder charge was read to Edward Anthony Bassett as the 49-year-old electrician lay in hospital in nearby Welland, recovering from gunshot wounds.

But police said Basset was in semi-conscious condition and unable to comprehend. They said he is to be formally charged today or Wednesday when his condition improves.

Police said Bassett turned a shotgun on himself Saturday night after killing Mrs. Leone Bailey Peterson, 42, with a blast fired through the window of the cottage in which they had lived as man and wife.

The shooting followed a prolonged quarrel that broke out early Saturday when Bassett returned unexpectedly from his night-shift job to find Mrs. Peterson in the cottage with another man.

12 Pre-School Children Examined In Checkup

BRIDGENORTH, June 19 (ENS).—Twelve pre-school children were given complete medical check-ups Friday morning at Bridgenorth school. The check-ups were sponsored by the local Home and School Association.

The children, who will start to school in the fall, were the first group to take part in a mass check-up.

Dr. H. G. Carleton, medical officer of health for Smith Township, examined them. He was assisted by Mrs. Harold McKay, RN.

Water Sports Day July 2 At Little Lake

Monday, July 2, is being set aside for a mammoth water sports day at Little Lake in the heart of the city. The program is being sponsored by the Peterborough Kiwanis Club which has taken it over from the city as a Confederation Day feature. Proceeds will go towards welfare work.

The eight-hour list of events will start at 2 p.m., with outboard races in three classes: Class A, utility hulls and 5 to 5.4 horsepower motors; class B, hydroplane hulls powered from 7.5 to 10 horse; and class B, utility with 10 to 16 horsepower motors.

During the races it is expected that a flight of jet aircraft from RCAF, Trenton, will buzz the city. Peterborough Ornamental Swimmers will perform at 4 and 8.40 p.m. and there will be fancy diving demonstrations at 4.20 and 9 p.m. by outstanding members of the Dolphinette Club of Toronto; Canadian ladies' diving champion, Evelyn Buchanan, and former Ontario junior ladies' champion, Luis Payne, will perform. At 4.30 and 9.10 p.m. Stan McBride and Cliff McInroy will do comedy diving stunts.

Norma Gordon

Following this Canadian women's water ski champion, Norma Gordon of Bobcaygeon, and her water ski troupe will demonstrate skiing, aquaplaning and jumping. Herb Cardwell and sons will give a trick canoeing program at 5 and 7.40 p.m., to be followed by McIntosh brothers in a canoe tilting event. Fireworks at 10 p.m. will finish the day of events.

A second section of outboard racing will take place in the evening, starting at 7 p.m.; class B, utility, 7.5 to 10 h.p.; class C, utility, 12 to 22 h.p.; and class B, hydroplane, 8.1 to 10 h.p. There will also be open classes in both afternoon and evening races.

Joint chairmen of the Kiwanis regatta committee are W. G. Ovens and John Madden.

ROYALS IN ACTION—Riflemen of the 2nd Battalion, Royal Canadian Regiment, move across an open field littered with wreckage of war as they advance against Chinese Communist forces near the 38th Parallel.

To Sell Horsemeat

TORONTO, June 19 — (CP) — A chain of stores to sell horsemeat in Toronto is being planned by a city firm, it was reported Monday. The firm, using horsemeat for a co-operative in Saskatchewan, plans to open the stores in areas where the relative cheapness of the meat will make it popular.

Trade, Metals Subjects Of Conferences

By FORBES RHUDE
Canadian Press Business Editor

International trade and investment will be given a boost at the National Foreign Trade convention in New York Oct. 29-31.

They will be described in the main convention theme as essential to the defence and economic advancement of the United States and the free world.

The National Foreign Trade Council, Inc., New York, which is sponsoring the gathering, comments:

"The United States would be confronted with economic problems even more serious than at present were if not for foreign economic relationships established and maintained through peacetime business."

Another late-year meeting in the United States, of direct interest to Canada, will be the World Metallurgical Congress, first international conclave of its kind, which will be held in Detroit Oct. 14-19.

Exchange Ideas

Detroit headquarters of the Congress says that more than 500 'conferees' from Europe, Africa, Asia, North and South America, will join with thousands of American metallurgists for an exchange of ideas.

Walter E. Jominy of Detroit, president of the American Society for Metals, which is sponsoring the Congress, says that the economic co-operation administration, Washington, is embarking on its "largest technical-assistance program yet" in bringing over European "conferees." He states that a technical assistance program, covering visits of delegations from ECA countries has been established, following a request from the organization for European economic co-operation.

The visitors from abroad will arrive Sept. 15 and will spend about five weeks on this side, touring industrial, government and educational institutions.

A comprehensive summary of raw materials of the world as they relate to the metal industry will be presented to the congress, and visiting authorities from Europe, Canada and the United States will discuss problems of "conservation, utilization and substitution of strategic metals."

Port Hope Pelicans Down Garden Hill

PORT HOPE, June 19—Utilizing nine hits and five Garden Hill errors to score 10 runs, Port Hope Pelicans gained at 10-5 Durham County Rural Baseball League win here Monday night.

Big hitters of the game were Garden Hill's Tom Taylor and Andy Mercer, each with three singles in four trips. Ken Ashton and Micks collected two safeties each for Port Hope.

Davies Home Taken For Training School

KINGSTON, June 19 — The federal Department of Justice has taken over Calderwood, the former home of Sen. Rupert Davies in Portsmouth, as a training school for penitentiary officers.

The building, now being renovated, will be ready this fall for the first course of 25 officers. They are now trained in Ottawa.

Here And There In Sports . . .

By The Canadian Press

Several top United States professionals are expected to compete in the Ontario open golf tournament here June 29 and 30.

Included in the list are Jimmy Demaret, Fred Hawkins, Ed and Marty Furgol and Jack Burke, Jr.

Leading Canadian and US pros will compete for $2,000 with $1,000 going to the winner, $400 for second place and $200 for third.

Canadian pros expected to take part include: Bob Gray, Scarborough; Gordon Brydson, Mississauga; defending champion Murray Tucker, London Sunningdale; Dick Borthwick, Ancaster; Jimmy Johnston, Rosedale; Willie Lamb, Lambton; Bob Lamb, Toronto Summit; Lou Cumming, Toronto, and Normie Himes and Lloyd Tucker of Kitchener.

Leading a large contingent of amateurs from Ontario will be Nick Weslock of Essex Golf Club and Jerry Kesselring of the Kitchener Westmount Club, host for the event.

Goalie Al Rollins of Toronto Maple Leafs is nursing an injured hand.

He suffered a deep gash on the fingers of his right hand in a baseball game at Penticton, BC, Monday when he slid into third base head first. It required two stitches to close the wound.

Johns Joy, speedy five-year-old son of Bull Dog, Monday equalled Arlington Park's six-furlong track record in winning the $17,350 Myrtlewood Handicap at Chicago.

The sprinter, holder of Churchill Down's seven-furlong track record, triumphed by two lengths over the favored Hasty House Farm's Roman Bath, in 1:09 1-5, a mark which Carrara Marble established two years ago. Third place in the 12 horse field went to Prop, winner of the race last year. Unbridled was fourth.

Britannia, running 4-5 of a second off the track record of 1.43, beat out Major Factor in the sixth.

Ada Mackenzie of Toronto fired an 80 in the qualifying round of the Ontario ladies' golf championship at Lambton Golf Club, Toronto, Monday to take a three-stroke lead over the field of 129.

Runner-up to Mrs. Mackenzie, the defending champion, was Mrs. P. H. Shuttleworth of Hamilton. Anne Sharp of Lookout Point held show post with an 85. May Gay of Galt fired an 87.

Canada's tennis campaigners in Britain all made the second round of the Queen's Club London tennis championship Monday — a dress rehearsal for the Wimbledon tourney.

Lorne Main of Vancouver got there the easy way by a first-round walkover. Henri Rochon beat A. J. N. Snarte, Britain, 6-1, 6-1, and his fellow Montrealer, Brenden Macken beat another Briton F. Schel, 7-5, 6-2.

New York Giants, searching for a top-notch relief pitcher, Monday brought up Frank Hardy from Ottawa of the International League.

Hardy, 28-year-old righthander has won six and lost five so far this season, and among his victories are a pair of one-hit shutouts, and two two-hitters.

His 1951 record is 13 games, 79 innings, 58 hits, 30 bases on balls, and 44 strikeouts.

To make room for Hardy, the Giants optioned Roger Bowman, a lefthander, to Ottawa.

Who's the best hitter in the American League?

Why, Ferris Fain, says Connie Mack, retired manager of Philadelphia Athletics. Fain is the A's first baseman.

That's the answer the 80-year-old Mack gave to a group of inmates at the State Reformatory at Cheshire, Conn., during a question and answer session.

Children Baptized

COLDSPRINGS, June 19 — (ENS)—At St. Paul's United church on Sunday, the Sacrament of Baptism was observed. Two children were bautized: Bette Marie, infant daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Clifford Minifie, and Heather Diana, infant daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Amos Eagleson.

The Rev. P. C. Brown officiated.

Flowers at the front of the church were placed there in memory of the late Mrs. Charles Buttar, who was buried Saturday in St. Paul's cemetery.

Scenery Change Profitable For Edwards

By JERRY LISKA.

CHICAGO, June 19 (AP).—Ex-Dodger Bruce Edwards has belted only two hits since becoming a Chicago Cub last weekend, but both were key wallops of two victories in three starts by the Bruins since their amazing swap with Brooklyn.

Bruce, the catching bull, did it again for his new club Monday, doubling with two out in the ninth and scoring on Bob Borkowski's single for the deciding marker in a 5-4 Cub win over the Boston Braves.

Edwards' only other hit in nine official trips as a Cub was a three-run homer which blasted Brooklyn 6-4 Saturday, the day four Bruins and four Dodgers changed uniforms.

"I love that boy," shortled manager Frankie Frisch, who made it plain today he is tired of hearing that the Cubs made "such a lousy deal" with the Dodgers.

"If we don't make another deal, we've won two games," snapped the skipper of the seventh-place Cubs. "We got those players to play 'em and win. They're playing and we're winning."

'Wid Mathews club player personnel director, also beamed on the effective start of Edwards, who basked on the Brooklyn bench while able Roy Campanella stole all the Dodger glory behind the plate.

'Don't worry about Bruce's arm" said Matthews. "He has thrown out two men trying to steal on that supposedly bad wing. I'm satisfied that Bruce's arm has mended completely.

"The most important thing about Edwards is that he gives us fine generalship and leadership, as well as that long ball."

The deal sent Andy Pafko, 1950 all-star centrefielder, pitcher Johnny Schmitz, second sacker Wayne Terwilliger, and catcher Rube Walker to Brooklyn for Edwards, pitcher Joe Hatten, infielder Ed Miksis and outfielder Gene Hermanski.

A. R. MOSHER, President,
Canadian Congress of Labour, Ottawa.

LABOUR
IN PETERBOROUGH, ACROSS CANADA, IN UNITED STATES, SUPPORTS IUE - CIO

"The IUE-CIO will be a permanent institution of lasting benefit to the people employed in this industry and to your country. Don't let anything stand in the way of winning this fight. In the interests of your people and in the interests of your union you have to win."

PHILIP MURRAY, President,
Congress of Industrial Organizations (CIO),
Washington, D.C.

The Labour Movement in Canada, the United States, and throughout the world is composed of a close alliance of unions and central labour organizations. Only through this relationship do the working people have strength to strive for better conditions in their own plants and in society generally.

In Canada unions of the industrial type have joined forces in the 360,000-member Canadian Congress of Labour. These unions are also affiliated with the 6,000,000-member CIO. Both the CCL and the CIO are part of the International Confederation of Free Trade Unions which has 53,000,000 members throughout the world.

Working together these organizations make available to their affiliated unions the services of specialized departments, they give support to their affiliated unions in times of need, and they continue to build a greater and stronger Labour Movement.

These three big organizations—the CCL, CIO, and ICFTU—all stand dedicated to fight Communism. For this reason UE has been rejected and expelled from the central labour organizations of Canada and the United States. As a result UE is now independent and isolated, unable to ask for or get assistance from these other unions.

IUE-CIO is part of these major organizations. The members of IUE-CIO enjoy the brotherly relationship of the international trade union movement.

From Cape Breton, on the north-east tip of Nova Scotia, to Victoria and Vancouver on the West Coast; from unions throughout the United States, many of them composed of General Electric workers, have come greetings to IUE-CIO in Peterborough.

These trade unionists look forward to welcoming the Peterborough electrical workers back into the ranks of the Labour movement as members of IUE-CIO.

THESE UNION'S ARE WITH IUE-CIO

IN CANADA

"The British Columbia Federation of Labour, representing over 50,000 industrial workers in the Province of British Columbia, conveys to members of IUE-CIO our sincerest wishes for your success. Wages and conditions of the workers in B.C. have improved at an accelerated rate since the house-cleaning program success in 148."

Recall Eggs 15 Cents Dozen, Butter 18 Cents In 1880's

HAMILTON (CP) — "Choice butter is 18 cents and eggs are 15 cents, neither of which is high considering the size of the city."

But that was back in the 1880s.

Mrs. Hattie Leland, wife of Frank Leland, United States consul in Hamilton from 1878 to 1883, quoted such prices in a letter which has just been published here. It continued:

"Many people have an idea that it is much cheaper living in Canada than in the United States. However, that may have been in the past, it now is the reverse."

So prices brought criticism even in the good old days.

The letter, contained in a book entitled "Golden Thoughts at Ingleside," contains many descriptive passages on Hamilton and the surrounding area.

"Taking a look from the cars across the chimneys of Dundas—about five miles from Hamilton and soon to be connected with the city by horse-cars—you see Hamilton hugging the bluff further to the east, and speeding onward you wind around the head of Lake Ontario, called Burlington Bay, and the snorting engine soon pauses at the foot of this city."

Canadians "Slow"

Mrs. Leland was not as complimentary in her comments on the Canadian people of that time. She wrote:

"Canadians are a slower people than we are. They are good to hang on after they get an idea, but they haven't the quick wit to learn half and guess the rest that Americans have."

This is tempered with:

"But there are things the Americans would do well to copy from them. One is more uniform politeness or demeanor; they seldom forget what is due to others in that regard."

FIRE AFTERMATH— Firemen are seen searching through a mass of debris in an effort to locate more victims of Friday's tragic fire which swept through Hospice Ste. Cunegonde in Montreal's St. Henri District. Death toll was placed at 40—mostly aged occupants of the home for aged and orphans.

Fashion Vignettes

By Evelyn Kelly Croucher

ARTICLE 3

The fact that France's first lady, Madame Vincent Auriol, wears so much gray may have influenced this shade's widespread appeal, spring '51, for Madame Auriol's superb fashion sense, recognized on two continents, places her among the world's best-dressed women. For luncheon aboard SS Ile de France she wore gunmetal gray flannel. Her choice for the ship's concert was silk jersey draped asymmetrically, and for arrival in Washington a chic gray worsted. At one of the state dinners again she appeared in gray, this time gray Lorganza over silver lame.

Ten years ago a law was passed in the United States forbidding the sale of wild plumage of birds after May this year, at which time all stocks remaining in wholesale and retail stores must be turned over to the US Government. What puzzles us is just what will the Government do with all those feathers?

Talk about gilding the lily . . . have you heard about the newest laces and satins which are coated with colored metals? It's done by means of a silver base combined with color to give an exciting iridescent effect. Said to impart a very crisp texture to satin. This colored metal coating is permanent.

Another lace appearance . . . in bathing suits! Over satin or taffeta of course. We'd like to eye the one we heard about, all embroidered in gold, worn with a gold lace coat. We didn't hear if it just goes near the water. Then there's the taffeta suits which really rustle! Somehow they've managed to interweave taffeta with lastex and retain that moonlight rustle.

Pretty companion for a dark linen summer dress is a coarse net cap trimmed with pastel flowers and black velvet bows.

Those who know tell us that wool is almost certainly going to be in short supply come fall, and could be at still higher prices.

Cotton has joined the glamor chorus this season, all polished up and prettied, much of it crease-resistant. We like the gold or metallic threaded ones, which by the way are completely washable. And the iridescent chambrays which so help us look like organdie. There's a plaid cotton which looks for all the world like sheer wool.

Surely it wasn't possible, we thought, to find another clever adjective for maternity fashions. But they found it. Heir-conditioned is the apt phrase describing one firm's blessed event togs.

"Detecting mines, nothing! He buried his father somewhere 'round here this morning, and he's got the return tickets!"

FASHION NOTE—Following the trend toward more imaginative and abbreviated tennis garb, American girls struck a fashion note in the Kent Grass Court Championships at Beckenham, Eng. Gloria Butler wears a cotton eyelet ensemble with knotted bodice drawn up to bare the midriff. Barbara Schofield's dress is a slimmed-down, belted copy of a man's shirt, its skirt cut short over even briefer trunks.

Peterson-Wight Wedding

TRENT RIVER, June 19 (ENS) —Trent River United Church was the scene of a pretty wedding Saturday when Laurena Leora "Ciss" Wight, only daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Thomas J. Wight, became the bride of Flying Officer William Nels Peterson, son of Mr. and Mrs. Raymond D. Peterson, Milo, Alberta. The Rev. F. R. Vanderburgh, officiated.

The altar was decorated in a profusion of peonies, orange blossoms, Oriental poppies and ferns which formed an arch centred by a large white bell.

Before the ceremony Miss Margaret Chretien, Peterborough sang "Because" and during the singing of the register "Always," accompanied by Mrs. Rhoda Campney at the piano.

The bride, who was given in marriage by her father, was charming in a ballerina length gown of white Chantilly lace, made with very full bouffant skirt. The fitted basque featured a high stand-up collar, with small buttons to the waist and long sleeves with lily points. She wore a veil of French illusion net in triangular shape caught to a headdress of satin trimmed with small seed pearls, and carried a cascade bouquet of orchids and sweet peas.

Maid of honor for her cousin was Miss Anne Logan, Toronto, who wore orchid marquisette over taffeta in bolero style, with bouffant skirt in ballerina length, and Dutch cap and mittens to match. She caried a cascade bouquet of pink gladioli and mauve sweet peas. Miss "Tony" Free and Miss Harriett Blake of Campbellford were bridesmaids and wore similar gowns in yellow and pale green. Matching Dutch caps and mittens, and carried cascades of burnt orange gladioli and yellow snapdragons.

FO Carleton Longmuir of Havelock attended the groom and the ushers were FO R. J. Hawey and FO Larry Crawford, Ottawa.

The reception was held in the dining hall of the church with the bride's mother receiving her guests in a gown of ice blue crepe trimmed with insets of lace and wearing a natural straw hat and accessories, and a corsage of pink carnations.

Also receiving was Mrs. Roy Longmuir (in the absence of the groom's mother who is ill), wearing a copper tone silk gown, natural straw hat and a corsage of yellow roses.

The bride and groom left later on a weding trip to the United States. Travelling, the bride wore a navy silk polka dot dress with navy and white bonnet shaped hat, natural wool coat, and navy accessories, and a corsage of pink carnations.

FO and Mrs. Peterson will live in Ottawa where the groom is attached to the Mustang Fighter Squadron.

Mrs. Hugh Baker Hostess To WMS

MARMORA, June 19 (ENS) — Mrs. Hugh Barker of Eldorado was hostess on Thursday for the June meeting of the Women's Missionary Society of Fox's and Union United Churches of the Madoc charge.

Business reports were dealt with after which Mrs. Rollins led in the worship period, the theme being "Worship and Work."

Scripture readings were given by Mrs. L. Blackburn, Mrs. B. Carman and Mrs. G. Blackburn. A duet "Ivory Palaces" was sung by Mesdames R. Rollins and L. Blackburn. Mrs. C. Blackburn made a three-fold contribution to the program. She gave a reading "He Has No Ears," recited a poem "A Prayer For Every Day," and gave a talk on the March conference which she attended as district delegate, touching upon its highlights.

Howden-Davis

At the Springville United church manse on Saturday the Rev. E. F. Linstead performed the marriage of Edna Viola, youngest daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Jack Davis of RR 3, Peterborough, to Clayton Richard Howden, son of Mr. and Mrs. Roy Howden of RR 2, Omemee.

The bride was attired in blue sheer with white accessories and carried red roses. Attendant was her sister Mrs. Ronald Gibson who wore pink sheer with white accessories and her corsage was of white carnations.

Mr. Ernest Howden was groomsman for his brother.

The reception following was at the bride's home, her mother receiving in a figured silk jersey dress and white straw hat and wearing a corsage of white gardenias. The groom's mother also received, attired in figured silk with grey straw hat and wearing white gardenias.

Leaving on a wedding trip to Ottawa and the Thousand Islands the bride wore a figured silk jersey dress with matching accessories.

The couple will live at RR 2, Omemee.

Morton-McInroy

BONARLAW, June 19. (ENS) —St. Mark's Anglican Church, Bonarlaw, was the setting for the wedding of Miss Mary Hazel McInroy, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Murney McInroy, Bonarlaw, to Mr. William Glenn Morton, son of Mr. and Mrs. Wm. Morton, Campbellford.

Canon J. M. Brownlie performed the ceremony. Wedding music was played by Mrs. Harold Elliott of Bethel and Mrs. Leslie Rundle of Marmora was soloist.

Given in marriage by her father the bride was attended by Miss Beatrice Rathwell of Renfrew as maid of honor and Miss Marion Lovelace of Belleville as bridesmaid, frocked in green and yellow.

Mr. Morton Reid of Springbrook was groomsman. Ushers were Douglas Morton of Ottawa, brother of the groom and Donald McInroy of Belleville, cousin of the bride.

The bride wore a gown of white slipper satin with an embroidered yoke and peplum in chantilly lace, a coronet of seed pearls held her floor length veil and she carried American Beauty roses.

For travelling to Chicago, and other points the bride chose a white linen suit with navy accessories. They will live near Springbrook.

Out-of-town guests were from Peterborough, Oshawa, Lakefield, Whitby, Chicago, Campbellford, Belleville, Renfrew and Kingston.

"You'll have to overlook Willie—he was at the zoo yesterday!"

MARY MOORE SAYS:

Baked Custard Can Become Most Delightful Necessity

The consumption of milk and eggs needs no boost from me, for when one reads the tidal wave of protests in the newspaper when the price of either of them is boosted it is overwhelming evidence of their popularity.

So today I am going to give you a straight story on custards. You know they are good and good for you. You know they are the perfect dessert for the meal where the meat content is light or even nil.

Coming home last week on the train, for dessert I ordered baked custard, and decided to write a column about custards...then Doris dropped the bag of eggs.

That settled it—we either had to have scrambled eggs or custard—so with custard on my mind custard won.

First though you have to go to market and buy a dozen of extra large eggs in a paper bag. Then when you get out of the car you carry too many parcels in both arms. In your left hand is the bag of eggs and another bag containing asparagus. In holding the screen door with your knee while you try to unlock the door with your right hand the egg bag begins to slip from your grasp—and the next sound you hear is a soft plopp.

It was still possible to pick up four of them. Most of the rest had to be scooped up.

Perfect Baked Custard

Four large eggs, 3 cups whole milk (or 2 cups whole milk and 1 cup top milk or cream), 2 or 3 level tablespoons sugar, ½ teaspoon salt, ⅛ teaspoon freshly grated nutmeg. (Vanilla may be added if desired).

If medium sized eggs are used you will need five of them. Beat eggs until perfectly mixed with either wire whip or rotary beater, then add all of the remaining ingredients. Pour through sieve. You see we had egg shells to strain out, but it does take out the string bit of the egg white too. Pour into greased large baking dish (or individual custard cups) and stand in larger pan containing warm water. Bake at 325 to 350 deg. Fahr. for about 1 hour. Silver knife comes out clean, after it is inserted in centre of custard, when custard it set.

Now the reason I am interested in giving you this in June is because a baked custard is a delicious base for dessert while strawberries are very highly-priced. Strawberries may be halved and half of the quantity may be used for a custard-strawberry dessert than would be necessary for a straight bowl of berries.

This is also true of rhubarb. While it is plentiful many of us use it for dessert about twice a week. Put a large spoonful of carefully stewed rhubarb in the bottom of each serving dish. Top this with a large smooth spoonful of baked custard. Makes both taste better.

For chocolate custard pre-heat the milk in top of double boiler with 1 or 1¼ squares unsweetened chocolate. As soon as chocolate melts beat it smooth with rotary beater then proceed as in ordinary baked custard.

Next week watch for Annie's Cheese Pie. This looks like our custard pie but contains cheese too and is a great favorite with Roumanians.

CHATEAU CHEESE SAUCE

Here's a superb cheese sauce to liven up dozens of vegetable and meat dishes! Its distinctive Chateau flavor will show you why people who know cheese, insist on Chateau!

Cook tender asparagus shoots (fresh, frozen or canned), then smother them in this delicious, easy-to-make Chateau Cheese sauce!

½ package Chateau Cheese
1 cup milk
¼ tsp. salt
⅛ tsp. pepper

Cut Chateau into small pieces (it melts... spreads... slices to perfection), allow to melt in top of double boiler. Add milk, stirring gradually till smooth. Add salt and pepper. Pour it piping hot on the asparagus. Chateau has the protein content of meat yet it costs far less!

Snacks, main dishes... everything has a distinctive mouth-watering goodness when the main ingredient is mellow-mild Chateau. Buy it in the ½ pound package. Chateau is not a sliced cheese . . . you don't have to expose the whole package for a few slices. It stays covered, always fresh!

The delicious flavor of each of Borden's Fine Cheeses (ntellow result of cheese making for half a century) makes it traditional for cheese lovers to say, "Borden's Cheese, if you please!"

Other zesty Borden Cheeses include: Vera-Sharp (for the connoisseur), Chateau Pimento, Borden's Grated, Tiny Cheese.

CANABEC — A roquefort flavored cheese

OLD VINTAGE — Wine cured

OLIVE-PIMENTO — One of 6 Borden party spreads

BAUMERT Cream Cheese — Plain, pimento, relish or chive

DOROTHY DIX

Sponging Neighbor Needs Firm Hand At Other End

DEAR DOROTHY DIX: What is the remedy for a sponging neighbor? We have one who virtually lives on the community. She is always borrowing bread and butter and canned goods, and she wanders through our houses taking the new magazines and books we have not had time to read ourselves. She never returns anything. She sends her children over to us to care for when she wants to go downtown to the movies and they forage in our kitchens because they are always half starved. Worst of all, she is that pest—a morning visitor—who drops in when you are bathing the baby or panning the meals or sweeping the floor for endless gossip about nothing. When she gives a party it is literally on the neighborhood because we are all called upon for contributions. This woman's house is unkept. She never washes a dish until her whole supply is exhausted and her floors need a steam shovel to excavate them instead of a broom, yet she is strong and healthy and a college graduate. What can we do?

THE NEIGHBORS'

Dorothy Dix

ANSWER: Aplenty. You can refuse to let yourselves be held up. Nobody needs to be imposed upon. You can defend yourselves if you will.

Instead of grouching over this woman's grafting and recounting how much she has done you out of every time you meet, why don't you women stiffen up your backbones enough to put a stop to it by declining to accede to her demands? Of course, any housekeeper can occasionally find out at a critical moment when she is making a cake that she has run out of sugar, or that she is short on bread when unexpected company drops in, and then it is permissible to borrow from a neighbor. But habitual borrowing is nothing but petty larceny and the sooner you put an end to it the better. There is neither charity nor generosity in your feeding a family that is amply able to pay its own grocery bill.

There is nothing that shows what poor weak, craven cowards we are so plainly as the way we let people exploit us, even when we know that they are doing it. All of us have neighbors or friends like yours and even members of our families who work us to a finish, and we meekly submit to their exactions because we haven't the nerve to raise our hands in our own defense.

Yet we could defend ourselves by the simple process of refusing to stand up and deliver when set upon by these grafters. We could say "no" to the moochers. We could send the visiting children back home, and we could shut our doors in the faces of the deadbeats. So we don't deserve any sympathy for our sufferings. We encourage the whole tribe of spongers by being so easy to squeeze.

✧ ✧ ✧

DEAR MISS DIX: We are two girls 16 years of age. What can kids nowadays do about old-fashioned parents? Every time we come in after 12 at night, and every time we smoke or drink we get a good lecture. Would you give us some advice on what to do about our parents?

DOTTY AND MARGE

✧ ✧ ✧

ANSWER: It would give me great pleasure to give your parents some apparently much needed advice about you! A really good old-fashioned spanking to begin with, curfew at 8 o'clock every night, including Saturdays and Sundays, and confiscation of all cigarettes together with considerable curtailment of pocket money. Your parents aren't old-fashioned; they're too darn modern for your good and theirs. Drastic measures better be taken with you two unless both families are looking for trouble.

✧ ✧ ✧

DEAR MISS DIX: I'm a 17-year-old girl. I have a boy friend 22 who has been in service five months. During that time I haven't had a date. My school friends say I should have more than one boy friend, and they say he is too old for me. What is your advice? M. C. W.

✧ ✧ ✧

ANSWER: You are too young to be bound to one boy friend. You should go out on dates, and to dances but make sure of one thing. Let your serviceman know you are going out, especially if you made any promises to him about not accepting other dates. The age difference isn't too serious, although you probably would be happier with boys nearer your own age.

Mrs. M. Sproat Named Lecturer

FREDERICTON, June 19 (CP)—National meetings of Orange Lodge organizations this week began Monday with openings of the 77th annual session of the Grand Black Chapter, Royal Black Knights of Ireland, and the 13th annual meeting of the Grand Crystal Chapter.

The 121st annual convention of the Supreme Grand Orange Lodge of British America and the 60th annual meeting of the Supreme Grand Lodge, Loyal Orange Benevolent Association, will be held Wednesday and Thursday.

The Grand Crystal Chapter met with the Grand Senior Preceptress, Jean Miller of Hamilton, presiding. Col. T. Ashmore Kidd, Kingston, president of the Triennial Council of the World, LOL, visited the chapter.

Miss Miller was re-elected grand senior preceptress.

Other officers elected included second lecturer, Mrs. M. Sproat, Peterborough.

Designing Women Learn Many Arts In Craft School

PROVIDENCE, R.I. (AP) — There's much to be said for marrying a designing woman—if she comes from the Rhode Island School of Design.

Many a man spends a good part of his spare time with hammer, saw and screwdriver fixing things because the little woman wants them fixed up. You can't expect her to do it herself, can you? You can, if she comes from a Design School.

A visit to the school here showed a Canadian girl, Louise Knight from Grimsby Beach, Ont., running a drill press. In a corner was Nancy Reutti of Pittsburgh operating a band saw. She's one woman who can cut out her own cornice boards.

Carolyn Harris of Elwood, Ind., was busy operating a metal lathe and the girl at the work table, Christine Guarino of Providence, was building a chair which she herself designed.

This is because the school believes that women who know how to use hand or power tools make better designs than those who just sit around at drawing boards.

Thorough Training

In their senior year the girls take shop practice in metal working alongside male students.

"The first semester is spent in learning the functions of tools," explained Earle Young, instructor in woodworking. "They also learn about various kinds of wood, how to measure it and how to dress it.

"During the second semester they construct projects of their own design: tables, benches and magazine racks, chairs.

"The project for this year is 'My Room'. The student must think of his or her own problem—here in Providence—at a school with few dormitories, making it necessary to rent a room. She has such and such economic means. What fits her problem? What can she afford?

"The objects constructed in this shop are inspired by this situation."

Opposes Treaty

THOKYO, June 19 (AP)—The supreme adviser of Japan's 70,000,000 Buddhists spoke up today against an early peace treaty. Takanao Yoshida said in an interview such a treaty, propelling an immature Japan into the society of free countries, might spur Russia into action. Yoshida, just back from a six months tour of the United States, was the first Japanese leader to publicly oppose early conclusion of a peace treaty.

Eye Witnesses Commended By Magistrate

Paul Minicola, 86 Morrow St., Monday was convicted of failing to remain at the scene of an accident, April 21 and fined $25 and costs.

Minicola testified that a girl had been driving his car, and as she drove around the southeast corner of Hunter and George Sts., the left hand front door swung open, and the driver lost control.

Minicola's car hit a parked car on the south side of Hunter St., damaging the rear of it to the extent of $179. Owner of the parked car was Margaret Swinton Staynor.

Minicola said he and the people in his car were at the scene of the accident for about three to five minutes. He said he didn't think he had to stay there, so asked one of his passengers to take the license number of the damaged car.

A passerby, Grange Elliott, McKellar St., testified he saw the crash, and noted the license number of the Minicola car. He left a note giving the license number under the windshield wiper of the damaged car.

Two other witnesses, Frank Chapman and Jim Flowers, saw the two cars shortly after the collision and reported the accident to police.

The three witnesses — Chapman, Flowers and particularly Elliott — were commended by Magistrate W. R. Philp for their assistance.

He said "Most of us are possessors of cars and therefore we are interested in the enforcement of the Highway Traffic Act."

Trent River Honor Rev. F. Vanderburgh

TRENT RIVER, June 19 (ENS) —Rev. F. R. Vanderburgh brought to a close four years of ministry in the Trent River United Church Sunday when he preached his farewell sermon.

A large congregation including visitors in the village were present and the altar was banked with summer flowers.

Rev. L. Murray of Kensington Prince Edward Island assisted Rev. Vanderburgh in the service and brought greetings from the Maritimes.

Rev. Vanderburgh officiated at the baptism of Sheila Armstrong Wright, infant daughter of Mr. and Foy Wright and William Thomas Thomoson, son of Mr. and Mrs. Harold Thompson was received into the church.

At the close of the Sunday School Service Rev. and Mrs. Vanderburgh were presented with a leather wallet and sum of money by Harold Vanvolkenburgh on behalf of the congregation, with Mrs. Thos. J. Brown reading the address.

Highway No. 30 from Havelock to Trent River is getting a service renovating. Hills have been cut down and hollows filled in. Many beautiful shade trees have been felled, which all in all gives a clear vision of almost two miles.

The H. J. MacFarlane Co. of Picton has the contract.

Ernest Scott Funeral

The funeral for Ernest Scott, 239 McGill St., who died in Ingersoll Friday, was held from the Comstock funeral home Monday. The Rev. Ivan C. Morgan of Murray St. Baptist church conducted the service.

Pallbearers were Roland Hunter, William Nash, Ronald Nash, Roly Crant and Graham Strickland. Burial was in Little Lake cemetery.

DEGAULLE VOTES—Gen. Charles DeGaulle, leader of France's Rightist RPF Party, casts his ballot in the nationwide parliamentary elections, at Colombey-Les-Deux-Eglises. It was the first time the DeGaullists contested a National Assembly general election since April, 1947, when they were organized. His party won the largest single representation in the Assembly.

DOCK WALKOUT—Two lone members (right) of the CIO American Radio Association picket pier 30 in San Francisco. The Maritime tie-up hit all U.S. coasts and idled 60,000 in 3 CIO unions, after labor leaders and shipowners became deadlocked. At left are idle dock workers.

Packing Workers Honor Matthews

Not the least of the possessions of Mr. Gordon S. Matthews is the Laz-Y-Boy chair and its companion footstool which the hourly-rated employees of Canada Packers presented to him recently.

That is what he told them in reply to the grateful speech of presentation by Mr. Alf Barber of local 210, United Packinghouse Workers, and the mistiness in his eye betrayed the warmth of his sentiment.

The members of the Union knocked off work at 11.45 a.m. and assembled in the canteen. Then they called in Mr. Matthews for the surprise they had prepared for him, and declared their regret that he was retiring from the managership.

Showed Interest.

Mr. Barber told him the men were presenting the chair, last word in comfort, as something, "to remember us by in your retirement." It was meant as a token of the appreciation they felt for all the fine and generous things he had done for the men, showing his interest in their person and individual well-being.

Mr. Barber said relations with the company through Mr. Matthews had always been sincere and friendly, and the employees were going to miss him, and also offered their best wishes in the years ahead of him, and also said they had remembered Mrs. Matthews by sending her a bouquet of roses.

Mr. Matthews said briefly that it was a real surprise. He thanked the men for their kindnes, especially in sending flowers to his wife, and said he thought there had been good relations and understanding within the Peterborough plant of C. P. C.

Like Their Movies

WASHINGTON, June 19 — (AP) — The census bureau reported Monday that Americans spent $1,566,890,000 going to the movies in 1948— including $85,815,000 for popcorn, candy, chewing gum and the like bought in motion picture theatres.

3 Million Membership

CLEVELAND, O., June 19— (AP)— The Young Men's Christian Association reported Monday its total of members and participants in the United States this year reached an all-time high of 3,692,500. Girls and women are joining in increasing numbers.

Mrs. Charles Buttars

BEWDLEY, June 19 —(ENS)— Many friends and relatives attended the funeral of Mrs. Charles Buttar on Saturday afternoon from her son's home.

Her pastor, the Rev. Preston Brown, of the Cold Springs charge conducted the service.

Mrs. Buttar, formerly Lillian Linton, is survived by her husband, one son and daughter-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Buttar, Bewdley; two grandchildren, Warren and Joyce; a sister Mrs. Thomas Buttar, Bewdley; and two brothers, Mathew and John Linton of Plainville.

The pall-bearers were all nephews, Messrs. Harold Buttar, Louis Buttar, Alen Watt, Allen Linton, Earl Linton and Gordon Buttar.

The many beautiful flowers were borne by Messers. Edgar Buttar, Frank Ritchie, William Benson, Ralph Benson, Clifford Manley, Harland Scenes, Milton Lacey and Allen Buttar.

Interment was made on St. Paul's cemetery, Cold Springs.

CGE Pipe Band Enters Scottish Gathering

Among the famous bands taking part in the Fifth Annual Scottish Gathering on June 29, 30 and July 1 in Hamilton Civic Stadium will be the C.G.E. Peterborough Works Band. The band will be under the direction of its pipe major, Alex K. Milne.

Thousands of visitors from all parts of Canada and the United States converge on Hamilton every year to attend the brilliant event. Thirty famous bands from both countries participate. Among the outstanding items on the program is the flood-lit march past of the massed pipes and drums, the band contests in which the Peterborough band will compete, traditional Scottish games and piping contests. The pipes and drums of many of Canada's Scottish regiments take part in the gathering.

Norwood Institute Selects Course

NORWOOD, June 19 (ENS)— The Norwood Women's Institute met at the home of Mrs. Gerald Baker with 22 members present and two visitors.

The members decided to take "Your Food and Your Figure" as the short course.

Mrs. M. D. McPherson gave the highlights of the District Annual held at Lakefield.

Mrs. Fred Gardner reported on the historical research conveners conference in May. She mentioned in particular the Tweedsmuir history books and the display of antiques.

Lunch was served by Mrs. Roy Baker, Mrs. A. Watkin, Mrs. H. Baxter and Mrs. B. Davidson.

Mrs. E. Ford Buried

The funeral for Mrs. Elizabeth Ford, 583 Aylmer St. who died Saturday, was held Monday from the Comstock funeral home. The Rev. C. G. Boyd of St. Paul's Presbyterian Church conducted the service.

Pallbearers were Howard Clarke, Joseph Clarke, Stanley Johnson, Thomas Ford, Frank Huffman, Howard MacDonald. Burial was in Norwood cemetery.

Unemployment Low

WASHINGTON, June 19 — (AP) — Unemployment in the United States last month reached a new post-war low for May, the government reported Monday. The Bureau of Labor statistics said that despite cut-backs in the auto and other durable goods industries employment continued at an all-time high for the season. Employment off farms was given as 46,100,000.

Restore Canute's Church

ASHINGDON, Essex, England, (CP).—Canute's Church, built in 1020 to commemorate the Danish King's conquest of England, has been restored and rededicated. The church was in grave danger of collapse and subscriptions from Denmark helped raise the £3,000 needed for repairs.

Marmora Man Flew With Read

UNHAPPY AIRMAN—Harry Albert Read of Vancouver finds after eight years, he has a broken back, suffered in a parachute jump into Sweden in 1943, while serving in the RCAF. Doctors for years had told him he was a psychriatric —his injury all in his mind.

MARMORA, June 19 (ENS)— No one is more interested in the case of Pilot Harry Albert Read than Flying Officer Stanley Kerr of Marmora.

Read has been eight years trying to convince Department of Veterans' Affairs that he really suffered a broken back when he parachuted from his crippled Halifax bomber over Sweden after fighters mauled it during a raid on Berlin.

Kerr, a flight-sergeant at the time, bailed out over Germany to become a prisoner of war. Of the crew of seven to which Kerr and Read belonged, the Marmora man has seen only three others, G. W. Patterson, J. Taylor, and B. Bates, who bailed out over Germany at the same time.

Mr. Kerr has the highest regard for Read, whose case was raised recently in the House of Commons by John Blackmore (S-Lethbridge). A letter received by Kerr's parents in 1943 from Read while he was in hospital states that the crew refused to fly with anyone else.

"A spirit like that helps an awful lot," he wrote.

The case now is being handled by the DVA.

Just Between Neighbors

NEWPORT NEWS, Va., June 19 (AP)—Mrs. James L. Lupon and Mrs. Dewey Moore have adjoining hospital beds. The same doctor attended them as each gave birth to a baby. The husbands don't have far to walk to exchange cigars. The families are next-door neighbors in this city's suburbs.

Ex-Mayor Jailed

JUNEAU, Wis., June 19 (AP)— Verne H. Knoll, 34, a former mayor of Beaver Dam, Wis., was sentenced Monday to 30 to 56 years in the state prison on 64 charges in the disappearance of nearly $250,000. Knoll, 34, had pleaded guilty to all 64 counts of forgery, obtaining money under false pretenses and larceny. The sum involved was money which clients entrusted to him as a lawyer.

Want Camel Driver

LONDON, June 19— (Reuters) —Sixteen people Monday answered a newspaper advertisement asking for "camel driver, with experience of difficult animals in unusual situations." Dr. G. L. Hogben, who wants to demonstrate a crop-sprayer with the aid of a zoo camel named Joan, has narrowed the applicants to a short list of six and will make his final choice next week.

Senator Davies Life Member Of Press Union

LONDON, June 19 —(CP)— Colonel J. J. Astor, chairman of The Times of London, today was elected president of the Commonwealth Press Union.

It was the first annual general meeting of the organization under the "Commonwealth" designation, the name having been changed from Empire Press Union on recommendation of the seventh Imperial Press conference held in Canada last year. Col. Astor has headed the Union since 1929.

Col. Astor and Senator W. Rupert Davies, publisher of the Kingston Whig-Standard and former chairman of the Canadian section of the Union, were elected to honor life membership. In that office they join the founder of the Union, Sir Harry Brittain.

Referring to last year's Imperial Confference, Sir Harry said the deliberations had been a tremendous success from the standpoint of results attained. Canada treated the delegates royally.

Keep Pace With Times

"I have always valued deeply all that the word 'Empire 'means and as founder of the organization I proposed the change in the Union's name with rather a sore heart," he said. "But for the sake of wider interests one must be realistic and march with the times."

Lord Burnham, president in the absence of Col. Astor convalescing from a lengthy illness, reported on the resolutions adopted by the seventh Imperial Conference.

Much, he said, had been accomplished in the defence of press freedom and exchange of information throughout the world. But much remained to be done, especially improvement of Commonwealth press communications.

In this and other matters the union would continue to exercise constant vigilance and initiative, he added.

Clear-Cut Survey

J. M. Hardcastle, chairman of the New Zealand section, said the report on the Canadian conference represented a clear-cut survey on the problems that confronted newspaper publishers throughout the Commonwealth.

"The press today faces great dangers to its responsible functions of collecting and reporting news through channels under its own control," Hardcastle said. "The press must enjoy the fullest confidence of the public and gain universal trust in its integrity to publish all the news that is fit to print."

The meeting re-elected Lord Iliffe honorary treasurer and endorsed the CPU council without change in membership.

trade unions have betrayed their own nation when the chips are down," he said. And he singled out the various peace congresses as a case in point.

World Issue

"Their purpose is to get hold of the productive forces of the various nations. Canada and the United States and other nations will then be left defenceless."

He tied in the union fight at the Peterborough plant with world politics: "It is part and parcel of a world issue."

Mr. Conroy denounced Soviet unions as "state company unions," and said that economic security must go hand in hand with individual freedom. The first looked after man's material needs, he said, and the other was in the realm of the spirit but was just as necessary.

Under communist rule, Canadians would lose this individual freedom, he said, and the state would be all-powerful.

"The mass of the people should have the right to challenge the power of the state at all times," stated Mr. Conroy.

The choice is between freedom and slavery.

Mr. Conroy concluded by urging all employees to come out and vote. He charged that the UE wanted to win the contest by default.

Joe McKenzie, CCL representative, was chairman of the meeting.

Obituary

MRS. HARRY HAYWARD

HARWOOD, June 19—(ENS)— Following a short illness Mrs. Harry Hayward died in the Cobourg General hospital on Thursday.

Mrs. Hayward was the only daughter of Mr. and Mrs. G. A. McAloney of Greece's Point, Quebec, and came to Harwood four and a half years ago, a bride. Since then they have been in charge of the Harwood post office.

The funeral service was held on Saturday to St. Peter's cemetery, Cobourg, with the Rev. A. W. Smith in charge assisted by Captain Rea of the Salvation Army.

Mrs. Hayward is survived by her husband, and her parents, Mr. and Mrs. McAloney, and one brother, in Greece's Point, Quebec.

SEA BURIAL—Final tribute was paid Canada's greatest naval figure with traditional burial at sea of Admiral Percy Walker Nelles, who built the Royal Canadian Navy into a potent fighting power in the Second World War. He was a graduate of the Lakefield Preparatory School. A final volley was fired from the deck of HMCS Saulte Ste. Marie as Chaplain J. W. Carter scattered the ashes of the 59-year-old sea dog over the waters of Esquimalt harbor.

German Merchant Fleet Being Created On Elbe

By BRACK CURRY

HAMBURG, June 19 (AP).—A new German merchant fleet is being created on the banks of the Elbe River.

Hamburg's building ways are crammed with the steel skeletons of new ships.

Officials says orders from German and foreign companies will keep the shipyards of this largest German port humming until 1953.

Most of the new carriers will swell the war-decimated German merchant fleet. Operators expect 1,000,000 tons of German shipping afloat by the end of this year.

They now have 800,000 tons—only 120,000 of which were part of the proud pre-war fleet of 4,200,000 tons.

Germans contend that the Allies are discouraging the quick rebuilding of their merchant fleet even though all restrictions on ship design were lifted last April.

The western occupation powers still control the capacity of German shipyards.

Cut By 50 Per Cent.

The Germans says wartime bombing and dismantling cut Hamburg's shipbuilding potential by 50 per cent. The 33,000-man working force has dropped to 16,000.

Hamburg still seethes over the dismantling of the big Blohm and Voss shipyard—Germany's largest and oldest.

"This shipyard was not destroyed as a war industry, but as excess capacity," a Hamburg city official said. "Hamburg will never be satisfied until it is rebuilt."

The loss of Blohm and Voss leaves Hamburg with three big shipyards. The economic co-operation administration has released 85,000,000 marks ($20,200,000) to help finance reconstruction of Germany's merchant fleet.

Canada, South America, Scandinavia, Panama, the United States and The Netherlands have placed orders.

ACCIDENT VICTIM—Andrew Green, 33, Montreal fur designer born in Czechoslovakia, told police he was struck by an automobile June 5 and taken to a mysterious house, put to bed and nursed by a woman. Later, he said, he was driven from the house, put in a taxi and taken home. His story came to light when anxious relatives took him to a hospital.

LIBERAL NOMINEE—Cecil A. Miller, Frenchfort, PEI, farmer, is the Liberal candidate in the June 25 federal by-election in the island riding of Queens. He is opposed by Progressive Conservative candidate J. Angus MacLean.

Long Service Ends For Prison Guard

PRINCE ALBERT, SASK., — (CP)—Equipped with one of the longest "records" in Western Canada, prison guard Robert Campbell Wilson has retired from his duties at the penitentiary here.

Mr. Campbell is retiring at 65 after 37 years service that started at Edmonton in 1914 before the penitentiary was moved here in 1920.

"There's been a wonderful change in the system," says Mr. Campbell. "The prisoners haven't the dislike for the guards that they used to have. They have a real chance now."

But the veteran of five or six prison breaks is planning to say goodbye to that with trips planned to visit his four daughters and a son, all married.

Keep Up Bombardment

TOKYO, June 19 (AP)—Warships of four nations joined Monday in the relentless bombardment of the key North Korean transportation city of Wonsan.

Participating in the shelling of the east coast port were the Canadian destroyer Sioux, US destroyers, South Korean patrol craft and the Thai gunboat Bangpakong.

The Wonsan area, has been under naval siege for four months.

Sober Wedding

BRANTFORD —(CP)— Celebrating their golden wedding anniversary Mr. and Mrs. J. H. Rigglesford recalled that when they were married in England, the bride wore a navy blue wedding costume with a black hat. England in 1901 was in mourning for the death of Queen Victoria.

Emily Students Hold Oratory Contest

FAIRVIEW, June 19 (ENS) — Miss Eleanor Bowles, teacher, and her pupils of SS No. 10, Emily (Orange Corners), school presented a oratorical contest in the school when 19 of her pupils took part. This contest was sponsored by the Smith WCTU.

Jim Hoskin was chairman. Between contests the children sang a number of choruses, accompanied at the piano by their teacher.

Mrs. Elmer Milburn, contest convener, presented the medals and congratulated the teacher and pupils for the faultless way they had presented their speeches.

Mrs. Reg McMullen presented a prize to Jim Hoskin, who had won second prize for his poster at the recent county convention. The pupils had their posters all on display.

Those taking part in the contests were:

Children 9 years and under—Bonnie Strain, Lorne Miles, Wayne Boyce, Viola Kelly, Diane Fry and Eileen Dowdall. Winner of bronze medal was Wayne Boyce.

10 to 12—Thelma Boyce, Billy Hoskin, Bob Kelly, Glen Brown, Earl McCall, John Fry, Dorothy Jackson. Winner of the silver medal was Thelma Boyce.

13 to 15—Douglas Jackson, Shirley Boyce, Beverley Hoskin, Doreen Dowdall, Jean Hoskin, Donna McConnell. Winner of silver medal, Douglas Jackson.

Judges were Miss Margaret Milburn, Mrs. Max Archer and Mrs. Harold Lewis.

Harry Jackson congratulated the children and commended the WCTU for the splendid work being done among the school children. All children present were presented with a little treat from the WCTU.

Says Liberal Gov't Being Economical

OAK LAKE, Man., June 19—(CP)—Justice Minister Garson Monday night described the Liberal government as "economical" and denied charges of extravagant government spending.

Speaking at a meeting on behalf of Grant MacEwan, Liberal candidate at the June 25 federal by-election in Brandon, the former premeir of Manitoba said, "actually our federal non-defence expenditure in comparison with those of the provincial and municipal governments show that we have been not extravagant but economical."

Three-quarters of the budget, he said, covered war and defence costs, public debt interest—including interest on Victory Bonds—old age pensions, family allowance, health insurance and other social services. The remainder went for general expense of government and the civil services. This amounted to $600,000,000 of the total budget of $3,700,000,000.

Accept 300 Homes

WINDSOR, June 19 — (CP)—An offer of 300 rental homes under the Ontario-Dominion housing scheme, announced last week by Premier Frost, was accepted Monday by Windsor Board of Control. Mayor Arthur Reaume said the 30-home offer, Windsor's share of the 5,000 family rental homes in the scheme, has been accepted as a stop-gap.

James Van Zandt Doesn't Approve Using Seaway

WASHINGTON, June 19 (CP) — Representative James Van Zandt (Rep. Pa.) said Monday the great majority of the United States' steel operators are not interested in the Labrador-Quebec ore or in the St. Lawrence seaway and power project.

Van Zandt criticized in a House of Representatives speech a recent statement by Maj.-Gen. Lewis A. Pick, chief of army engineers, that the waterway part of the seaway project was necessary to provide the US with needed iron ore from Labrador.

Van Zandt said the seaway is being sought by only five of the smaller (American) steel companies who, he said, have invested in the Labrador ore project.

Van Zandt questioned the reputation of Pick as "an engineer and truthful person.'

Van Zandt, referring to published reports of a speech Pick made in Cornwall, June 4, told the House that Pick was quoted as saying in defence of the seaway

"'We must have steel to take care of our oncoming needs. We need this waterway. We cant get sufficient steel without i.'"

"In other words," said Van Zandt, "General Pick believes that those of us who oppose this economic monstrosity (the seaway) are 'allowing selfish interests or motives to destroy' the United States and Canada."

Young Sault Quadruplets Take Flying Trip To Toronto

TORONTO, June 19 (CP) — Four small girls in blue wore eight pink ankle-socks Monday. But they only had seven shoes. And a press conference was delayed while mother hunted for the other shoe.

To Mrs. C. O. Hargreaves of Sault Ste. Marie, it was just another incident in the life of a mother of quadruplets.

She patted a perspiring brow with a handkerchief. Her husband wiped beads of sweat from his upper lip.

But the quads, 20 months old, didn't mind the heat.

Janice grinned. Or was it Joyce? It could have been Joan. Maybe it was Jennifer. They're all blonde and blue-eyed and strangers have trouble telling them apart.

The four, plus parents and accompanying bags of baby clothes, arrived by air Monday from Sault Ste. Marie. The will meet Premier Leslie Frost during a three-day visit here. Then they will continue to Montreal for an appearance at the Canadian Medical Association convention. They'll be home Saturday night.

Catches Finger

Janice began to cry. She had caught one probing finger inside a half-opened suitcase.

Mrs. Hargreaves persuaded her to "see Joanie looking in the mirror—wouldn't Janice like to look in the mirror."

Janice forgot the finger. She looked in the mirror at Janice.

Joyce was biting on a comb.

Mrs. Hargreaves is young, pretty, and seems to take all quad activity in her stride. Certainly they keep her busy. But she's managing.

"Now they're learning to feed themselves and getting very independent about it,' she said, "they don't want any one to help them."

the Last Class

Once in the 19th century there lived a famous author, Alphonse Dauder, who saw an invader conquer a province of his country. The invader passed an order that all the current teachers were to be replaced by foreigners, who would teach only about the conquerer's country. The story, called "The Last Class". In the story, a teacher tried to impart the learning of a lifetime in the few brief hours left to him. He didn't go around rapping knuckles or shouting for attention. He didn't have to. His emotion-strained voice, stressing love of nation, purity of language and loyalty to customs, reached even the youngest students' hearts. And as they filed out of class, knowing that on the next day they would be taught by a foreigner, they grieved for the many things they had taken for granted . . . and were about to lose.

How fortunate we are that we can go back to school and know the same teachers will be there; that we may learn from them whatever we choose. How vital it is that we protect our institutions of freedom and keep them strong.

Discuss Change In Rent Rules

TORONTO, June 19 (CP) — A change in rent rules to enable landlords to evict unsatisfactory tenants from rented rooms in private homes was discussed Monday by the Ontario legislature committee on rents.

Members felt home owners would be more willing to rent part of their dwellings to house-hungry fellow-citizens if the notice period were reduced from the present six months to three months. The change would apply to landlords who rent no more than one-third of the rooms in their homes.

The committee also took up the question of penalties for violation of a proposed rule to enable landlords to repossess their properties. The rule, discussed last week, would enable a person who owned a house to get possession for his own use on six months' notice, provided that it be rented or sold to no one else within a year.

It was the committee's feeling that a 10-per-cent reduction in the maximum rental or 10 per cent of the sale price would be fitting penalties.

Judge Approves Paying $435,000

TORONTO, June 19 (CP) — Judge T. H. Barton Monday approved payment of $435,000 to the directors and solicitor of the estate of the late Joseph E. Atkinson, former publisher of the Toronto Daily Star, for their duties in cleaning up the estate.

L. H. Snider, counsel for the Public Trustee objected to payment of $375,000 to the National Trust Company Ltd., and of $60,000 to Alexander Stark, solicitor for the estate, as "much too high."

The $12,500,000 estate of Mr. Atkinson, who died in 1948, will be administered by its trustees until the death of the last of its annuity beneficiaries, when the residue will go to the Atkinson Charitable Foundation.

Runaway Stars Seen In Groups

LOS ANGELES, June 19. (AP) —Palomar's "big eye" has reached 2,000 million million million miles into space and found vast groups of runaway stars which further support the theory that the universe is exploding, a noted astronomer reported today.

This is described as the first significant work of the 200-inch Hale telescope in the area outside our own milky way or galaxy.

The achievement constitutes a long step toward determining the size and nature of the universe, the position of the earth in it, and whether there may be many more earths and solar systems similar to ours.

This was reported by Dr. Milton L. Humason in a paper prepared for the Astronomical Society of the Pacific. Dr.Humason is secretary of the Mt. Wilson and Palomar observatories.

In 1942 Dr. Humason calculated the runaway speed of star bodies 250,000,000 light years away. The new work takes the measurement on out to 360,000,000 light years.

Belmont Cuts Rate 17 Mills

HAVELOCK, June 19 (ENS)—The tax rate for the townships of Belmont and Methuen has been set at 64.9 mills which is a reduction of over 17 mills from their rate last year of 82.2 mills.

The rate in detail is as follows:

	Mills
General County	7.9
County roads	9.2
Hospital debenture	1.3
Chemong causeway	1.
Hospital grant	3.
General school rate	11.3
High school area	5.6
Township rate	16.4
Roads and bridges	9.2
Total	64.9

The main reason for the decrease is that school sections 1, 4, 7, 8, 10, 11 and 14 are not levying this year and the increase of $90,000in the local assessment.

Bethany WMS Meet At Home Of President

BETHANY, June 19—(ENS)—The Women's Missionary Society of the United Church held their June meeting at the home of Mrs. T. J. Jackson, president. The scripture lesson was read by Mrs. Donald Lowes and Mrs. H. Coppins. The secretary, Mrs. H. Jakeman, read the minutes and correspondence, which included a letter of thanks for cards and papers sent to Trinidad. The treasurer, Mrs. Milby, reported the sum of $10 from a recent collection of salvage.

Mrs. Jackson reported a bale of used clothing sent to headquarters at Toronto for distribution. Mrs. G. Waddell gave a paper on Christian stewardship, stressing the privilege and power of prayer. Mrs. C. Rowan presented the chapter from the study book, "Which Way Japan?", assisted by Mrs. Coppins and Mrs. M. Wright.

Following the closing exercises and prayers, lunch was served by the hostess. Mrs. Donald Lowes invited the members to meet at her home in July, and at this meeting Mrs. T. Metcalfe, the Presbyterial president, will be the guest speaker.

Thomson Says Frost Using His Ideas

PICTON, June 19 (CP)—Ontario Liberal leader Walter Thomson said Monday night that he is premier of Ontario in absentia.

Mr. Thomson told a Liberal rally here that "everything I suggest (Premier) Frost does . . . many people are saying I'm making a lot of promises I can't carry out. It's not so."

He said his recommendations for low-cost housing and improved cancer care have been adopted by the Ontario government.

"The government is just trying to appease the people," he said.

Apsley Choir Honors Don Landry, Leader

ASPLEY, June 19 — (ENS) — Members of Trinity United church choir gathered at the home of Mrs. Herb Tucker on Thursday for a social evening. Music supplied by Sidney McCauley and Arthur Wilson (violins) and Mrs. Herb Tucker (piano), was very much enjoyed. A sing-song with Miss Marie Tucker and Mrs. R. Fitzgerald at the piano followed. A contest was conducted by Mrs. D. Newberry and won by Don Landry.

In a few words, Mrs. W. Lean assured Mr. Landry of the choir's appreciation of his efforts to attend practice and train the members for the 48th anniversary services of Trinity United church and expressed regret that owing to the fact that his work next year will take him farther away they will not be privileged to have him. Mrs. Newt Stephens presented a cream and gold travel clock.

Mr. Landry thanked the choir for the gift and said he had always enjoyed working with them and he expressed the hope that he might be able to help again at some future time.

Lunch was served by the hostess and helpers.

Bungles Job

LONDON, June 19 — (AP).—Lord Beaverbrook's Daily Express claims today that Sir Oliver Franks has bungled his job as British Ambassador to the United States and should not be sent back to Washington. "Most Americans never heard of him," the paper says in an editorial.
